Free Seats Go On Sale For Series

Tickets for the 1950-1951 Duke University All-Star Concert Series are still available to freshmen, according to J. Foster Barnes, director.

Only a limited number of tickets will be purchased on Saturday morning in the YMCA office at West Campus in the YMCA office Saturday morning. Freshmen women may purchase their tickets Monday morning in the East Duke building.

Travel Opens

The concert series opens with Helen Traubel, famous Metropolitan Opera Wagnerian soprano, on October 16. The next featured will be the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra of London, directed by Sir Thomas Beecham.

The series includes, later in the season, Alexander Brailowsky, pianist; Giuseppe Di Stefano, tenor, and the Vienna Choir Boys.

Two extra attractions, not part of the concert series, have been scheduled. Lauritz Melchior, world-famous hercule tenor, will sing at the East Duke building. There will be a presentation of the opera, "The Barber of Seville," by the Duke University Opera Society.

WDBS Opens Tonight With Hour Broadcast

Duke's new radio station WDBS will take the air for the first time this year with an hour broadcast tonight from 10 to 11 p.m. announced station manager Bob Cook. The program will feature a series of "soft" announcements to be aired during Orientation Week for the benefit of incoming freshmen.

WDBS, operating on a frequency of 960 kilocycles, is Duke's newest organization, which began broadcasting a program of music and news at the school year last spring. The entire operation is carried on by a crew of student engineers, and a business and production staff.

Choice for Freshmen

Pointing out that WDBS is a new organization, Cook added that the station offers unlimited opportunities for freshmen interested in working on the separate staffs. A meeting for all those interested in working on any of the staffs will be held at the office, Gray 96, Saturday afternoon, September 16, from 10 to 11 p.m. Freshmen interested in WDBS work should plan to be interviewed at this time, Cook added.

Plans for the current year call for a regular operating schedule to take effect after the formal opening night early in October. WDBS will cover both campus and area current events. Now operating only on West campus, WDBS will include East Campus as soon as the booster transmitter to be located on East campus and now in order, arrives. In conjunction with the freshman Orientation program, WDBS will feature announcements about orientation, general information about Duke University, and "live" interviews with freshmen.

Flag Ceremonies

Two flag raising ceremonies will mark the opening of the academic year on East and West campuses next week. In West Campus, a flag ceremony will be held at 9 a.m. on Saturday, September 16, at a Naval ROTC color guard unit will present the colors to President Hollis Edwards. Senior class president Tom Powers and senior class president Tom Powers will also participate in the ceremony. Mr. Phillips will raise the flag to the strains of the Star-Spangled Banner.

East Campus ceremonies will be held Wednesday, a day earlier. Mr. Edwards will present the flag to senior class president Constance Woodward. Prior to the ceremony, Dean Roberta Brinkley will formally open the college in an assembly to be held in 204 East Duke building.

No Hazing

Beta Omega Sigma, honorary sophomore leadership fraternity and the Freshman Advisory Council (FAC) will be asked to make the program work smoothly. Upperclassmen are expected to report any observed violations or hazing or freshmen to members of BOS or FAC.

The purpose of the traditions program is to impress upon each freshman the importance of class loyalty and to develop a class spirit to Duke University. Upperclassmen are not to harrass or maltreat freshmen, and nothing is included in the traditions program which the freshmen might consider an affront to his dignity or honor.

Dean's Office Offers Small College Environment

Orientation Chief Archie Continues Traditional Work

By Nick Hennessey

Beginning his second year as Dean of Freshmen, Dr. William C. Archie yesterday launched a busy week as chief of the orientation program by welcoming the some 650 members of the class of 1954 to Trinity College and the College of Engineering.

A tradition at Duke for many years, the work of the freshman office, headed by the affable French professor, is designed to provide within the framework of a large university a personal touch similar to a small college environment.

Typical of Freshman Week is the registration of new students during the ensuing year.

Graduate Center On Hospital Drive To Be Ready '51

Contractors have until 2 p.m. September 20 to submit bids for Duke's multi-million dollar graduate center dormitory. A. S. Brower, Duke business manager and controller announced this week. Plans for the new building already been completed and distributed to prospective builders. The building is the first project under Duke's $12,000,000 Development Program. Designed to hold 400 students, the new dormitory will also provide dining and recreation facilities.

Construction is expected to begin immediately after the contracts have been let, and the building should be ready for occupancy by the Fall of 1951. Fresh Statistics

Figures released this week by the Freshman Association showed 630 freshmen boys registered as of September 8. Of that total, 172 are from North Carolina and 145 from other Southeastern states.

From the Mid-Atlantic states are 213 freshmen; 29 come from New England, 23 from the Midwest, six from the Southwest, seven from the Far West, and 12 from foreign countries. Included in the 630 total are 17 veterans, the lowest number in several years.

Freshman Week in High Gear

YM, WFAC Work As One Thousand Arrive on Campus

Activated by the arrival of nearly a thousand freshmen on both campus and Freshman Orientation Week swings into high gear with a full program including course counseling, a special open house, placement examinations, and a Duke Freshman Day sponsored by the Durham merchants.

Recent freshmen were met on campus and at train and bus stations by arm-band-wearing 'Y' men, under the direction of Bob Windom, YMCA Orientation Week chairman. Thirty-six 'Y' men are on duty during the week to assist the freshmen.

A new feature of the program this year was a reception held yesterday afternoon for freshmen of freshmen, providing the opportunity to meet the Honorable Charles E. Smith, President of the University, and the Honorable J. H. Hollis, University president, and other school officials. 'Y' men served refreshments and morning at placement examinations. At traditional East-West social open house, Saturday evening, and at the opening of the Women's Center, the YMCA and the Woman's Freshman Day, freshmen will jointly sponsor the affair.

Jenkins, Huckabee Named Associate Undergrad Deans

Appointed Associate Deans of Undergraduate Instruction, Dr. Mariana Jenkins and Miss Ellen Huckabee will replace Mrs. Hazen Smith, who resigned last year to return to Atlanta, Ga.

Miss Jenkins has taught in the department since she came as visiting lecturer in 1948. She is partly responsible for the enlargement of the art appreciation and art history curriculum and for the excursion to Washington, D. C. art centers.

A native of Cincinnati, Ohio, Miss Jenkins received her B.A. from Bryn Mawr in 1931, her M.A. from Radcliffe in 1932, and her Ph.D. from Bryn Mawr in 1942. Her work abroad includes study at the American College for Women in Constantinople, the Sorbonne in France, and the University of Nancy. She has also done independent work in England, France, and Italy, especially on 18th and 17th century art.

Recent Lectures
Previous to her professorship at Duke, Miss Jenkins taught at Bryn Mawr and at Wheaton College in Norton, Mass. In 1953 she was assistant to the New York University art historian, Dr. Walter Friedlander. Later with the Boston Museum of Fine Art, she lectured in the extension program. Though she will continue to teach the survey course in art, Miss Jenkins anticipates the broader contacts in

Blue Devils Work Hard For S. Carolina Battle

The football Blue Devils are hard at work, pointing for the Duke-South Carolina clash at Columbia on the 23rd. Much work is needed before that opening game. Various departments are working on pre-season all-around blocking and tackling need a bit more polish.

Much pressure has been brought to bear on the Devils by various national sports publications. Several players have been named on pre-season all-around lists. Other magazines predict a post-season game for Duke.

This year's schedule is one of the toughest in years for the Big Blue, and a successful season would again place Duke on top in the pigskin world.

Job Situation Looks Pretty Good to Dozier

More applications and more available jobs make the employment situation "look pretty good" for the coming year, John M. Dozier announced today. He is director of student employment for the university.

Jobs are available on campus and downtown and the general increase in opportunities is a reflection of the national trend caused by the current international situation, he said.

He urged all students desiring jobs to register with him in his office, 209 Administration, after they have completed their schedules.

Students may obtain part-time work both on the campus and in downtown Durham through Dozier's office. Students should register as soon as possible after their schedules have been made and approved.

of absence from Duke, and has twice returned to Washington for temporary duty. Previous to the war, she was on the dean's staff at New Jersey College for Women and was assistant dean of residence at Duke from 1937 to 1941.

A.B. Duke Frosh, As Top Scholars, Matriculate Here

Nine freshmen this year hold Angier B. Duke Regional Scholarship prizes of $750 a year each following completion of high school. They are Elizabeth Moss, Wilmington; Anne McDonald, Raleigh; John T. Butters, Jr., Wilmington; Ashton Griffin, III, Goldsboro; Calvin Holland, Raleigh; Robert H. Gresson, Greensboro; John S. Nesley, Gastonia; and John D. Ashton, Asheville.

Candidates for the awards were first screened locally in their respective high schools, tested, and finally brought to the campus for a week end of interviews and tests as guests of the University. Both faculty and alumni participated in making the final selections.

One Year Prizes
The prizes are awarded for one year and are renewable each year, on the condition that the holder maintain a scholastic average in the upper quarter of his class and further that he show evidence of developing the qualities of leadership which served as the basis for the original selection. Maximum value is $3,000.

This year's group makes a total of 21 who have qualified in the past three years for the prizes. In past years prizes were awarded to four boys and two girls from the state. The number was increased this year so that, when all awards are renewed, there will be 38 holders of prizes in residence.

The prizes are designed to stimulate young men and women who possess outstanding leadership and scholastic traits to become citizens with a genuine interest in society and ability to influence and direct the course of affairs.

Double Registration

Miss Mary Grace Wilson, Dean of Residence, has announced that it is most important that students register all meetings and social functions occupying East Campus buildings not only in her office in East Duke Building but also in Mr. Charles Duke's office on West Campus. In previous years many conflicts in place and time have resulted from neglect of this double registration.

Duke 'n' Duchess Mag Editor Announces First Issue Oct. 1

Waltt Washington, editor of the Duke 'n' Duchess "humor" magazine, has announced that October 1 will be the date of issue for the first appearance of the publication. The October issue will follow a Freshman theme in hopes of "showing them what really goes on around here outside the 'Y' handbook."

The D 'n' D editor also said

"we are appealing to the freshmen to work with us. Particular magazine, has announced that we want photographers, cartoonists, and writers. Also a few students of outstanding ability, highest caliber, and unexcelled quality are needed to deliver the theme in hopes of 'showing them what really goes on around here outside the 'Y' handbook'."

The offices of the D 'n' D are here outside the 'Y' handbook."

BE A LEADER!

Leaders of tomorrow are being made today—on the college campuses of America. And the Army ROTC is training the best of them.

Prepare now for leadership in national emergency and in the competitive world after graduation. Get your U. S. Army Commission, and learn to be a leader of men in civilian life while you earn it.

Point your path toward success in business and industry — success and leadership in the duties of citizenship — by learning in Army ROTC courses — by making the quick, sound decisions that count. Of such stuff is leadership made.

Punch Cards Take Place of Tickets For Union Meals

Two new regulations are now in effect in the East Campus Union, according to Mrs. Isabelle Howe, dietitian. Meal cards which are punched at each meal, replace the old meal tickets this year. Cards are issued monthly and may be obtained in the Union.

Students are no longer required to return trays after meals this year.

East Campus dinner hours during freshman week are as follows:

Breakfast—7:30-8:30 a.m.

Lunch—12:30-1:30 p.m.

Dinner—5:30-6:30 p.m.

Trials and Tribulations On Leaving for College

BY DIANA HEARD

Her mother was crying, her friends were gasping about her little brother was sitting on her overnight bag, her boyfriend was fumbling with the cottage he'd bought in a train-time surge of tenderness.

She hunched into the club car to sit beside three other girls with new hats, sweaters, and Whitman's.

"Do you have a fur coat? I don't either, but I thought I'd be the only one, but I'm going to get one Christmas."

"What are you going to major in? Sociology may be fun, yet I've heard that it's easy because you don't have to read much. I just hated Pilgrim's Society."

Progress, so I know I won't like religion either."

"Oh, do you really want to play bridge? I heard everybody at college played canasta till four or five o'clock in the morning, after she comes in from the theater or the local Cafe Society."

"I got 17 letters, but I only answered the first ten. I really hope it won't hurt my chance not answering them. You didn't answer any? Oh!

"Oh, look at those girls in white. I bet they came down to drive us out to the campus."

Her trunk hadn't come, her roommate was prettier than she, her F.A.C.'s room was decorated, her iron wouldn't work, and her hair wouldn't curl. But—

"Dear Mom, I met the cutest boy at the open house, and he said he wanted to take me to the movie two weeks from Saturday."

Remodeled Jarvis, New Call Systems Ready for Coeds

Cordless PBX switchboards in Alspaugh and Giles, new switchboards in Pegram, Brown, and Bassett, a freshly-painted Pegram, and a new social room in Jarvis are among the many improvements welcoming new students on East Campus.

Similar to those in Jarvis and Aycock, the PBX switchboards in Alspaugh and Giles make it possible for telephone calls to be taken and made in the halls. Telephone calls may be received in the halls of Pegram, Brown, and Bassett, but out-going calls must be made in the office. A new public address system will be installed soon in the auditorium.

In addition to Pegram, Aycock's social room, Dean Brinkley's house, the Infirmary, and the banquet room in the Union have been painted. Brown and Bassett are newly-washed.

A social room and office similar to those in Aycock have been constructed in Jarvis. Improvements in East Duke Building include a new roof and a redecorated Alumni Room.

Yankees Capture East House Counselor Jobs

Returning counselors are Miss Mary Moss Wellburn in Jarvis, Miss Evelyn Barnes in Alspaugh, Miss Harriet Taylor in Giles, Miss Polly Barwell in Pegram, Miss Jean Bruckman in Bassett, and Mrs. Frances Whitaker in Brown. Mrs. Whitaker will also serve again as assistant dean of residence.

Trained in physical education at Michigan State Normal and in guidance at the University of Michigan, Miss Brown has taught at Kalamazoo College and has been a house counselor for a dormitory of 200 girls. For many years she has worked with girls as Girl Scout executive in Wilmington, Delaware, as camp director, and as a hospital worker during the last war.

Miss Marple has been here during summer school as assistant counselor on West Campus. Originally from Springhouse, Pa., she received her A.B. from Trenton College and her A.M. from Syracuse. For three summers she has done social work in Philadelphia.

No Shortage

No difficulty is anticipated in placing transfers in Durham homes this fall according to John M. Dozier, assistant to the vice president in charge of miscellaneous affairs.

Approximately 175 transfers were, not able to secure rooms on campus, he explained, but available rooms in town should be sufficient to handle the demand.
