First 'Peer' Makes Debut Today

Duke Institutes Thanksgiving Holidays

New Policy Gives Students Week End Recess Next Fall

Duke students will have full Thanksgiving holidays starting next year, administration officials announced this morning. Beginning in the fall of 1954, classes will dismiss on Wednesday and resume on Monday of the Thanksgiving week end.

All schools in the University graduate and undergraduate will be affected by the calendar change. However, the professional graduate schools, such as the Medical School, will be allowed to institute the policy or not as they so desire, officials said.

The new policy came about as the University adopted the practice of formulating the calendar two years in advance. The new holidays will be included in the 1954-55 and 1955-56 catalogs.

According to the announcement the recess will begin on Wednesdays at 5 p.m. Classes will be resumed on Mondays at 8 a.m.

There has been much discussion and agitation by the student body in the past to get Thanksgiving holidays. The student governments of both campuses and this newspaper have long advocated that the holidays should be given.

Opinion in administration circles is that the change is for the better and that nearly everyone is glad to see it come.

IFC and Sororities Plan Greek Week

Plans for a combined annual Greek Week, sponsored jointly by Pannellenic Council and the Men's Interfraternity Council, were approved at a meeting of IFC last Tuesday.

Tentatively scheduled for March, Greek Week will include a chapel service, pledge banquet, dance and "community days" for pledges of both campuses. West fraternity members will compete in field days events during the week-end.

Weekend fraternity socials will not be permitted unless arranged at the office of Dean Cox before 11 a.m., Friday, of the same week.

Fraternities may sign up for appointments at the Chanticleer office.

EDITOR'S EVALUATION—Freshman coed, Judy Imman, sells a copy of the Peer to Bill Duke, editor of the Chronicle, while Tom Taylor, Chanticleer editor, looks over a copy of the new feature magazine with Lilybet Muse, editor of the Archive. When, after a two month period of planning and preparation, the first copies of the Peer are sold, tonight and over the weekend, it will mark the advent of the fourth publication on the campus.

CBS Correspondent

Costello to Speak on Monday; Presents U. S. Policy in East

White House correspondent Bill Costello will speak in Page Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 7, under the auspices of Men's Student Government Association, Robert S. Botnick announced.

Costello's lecture, open to the public without charge, will be "Communism on the March."

Having served as chief of the CBS network's Far Eastern Bureau in Tokyo from 1946 to 1950, and having been an on-the-spot reporter of events in Korea, China, the Philippines, Indo-China, Indonesia, Ceylon, India and Pakistan, Costello is very familiar with the Asian scene.

At present covering the Eisenhower administration in Washington, Costello has also reported on the office of the President under Roosevelt and Truman.

An officer of the Radio Correspondents Association and a member of the Association of Radio News Analysts, the Overseas Press Club and the National Press Club, Costello is a native of Minneapolis and a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Minnesota.

Quintet Performs

Performed by the New Art Wind Quintet, a program of music by contemporary composers will be presented in the Music Room of the East Duke building at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow night.

Feature Publication Will Contain Stories, Cartoons and Poems

Making its debut today, The Duke Peer, newcomer to campus publications, goes on sale in the dormitories on both campuses, Hanes House and the Graduate Dormitory.

Sporting a two-color cover, the 28 page magazine contains articles, stories, jokes, and cartoons designed to appeal to the whole student body, presented with a format similar to the Saturday Evening Post and Esquire.

TWO SHORT STORIES

Included in the issue are two short stories: "A Better Horse," by Bev Furlough, and "From Sock to Sincerity," by Denny Marks. Four features—"Rinky-Dinks: Heroes of the Bench" by Karl Sheffield; Lee Edwards' "Hexes of the Twentieth Century;" "A Devil of a Question," by Frank Green; and Connie Mueller's "The Building Likes To Be Different"—complete the table of contents.

Balancing these longer works are several cartoons, poems, and a page of jokes entitled "Strictly for Laughs," as well as many filler jokes. An editorial page is also included in the magazine.

PEER SOLD

The Peer will be sold by representatives in the dormitories as well as in the dope shops on both campuses. Notices of the dormitory representatives and their room numbers will be posted over the campuses.

"The success of the Peer will depend primarily upon the support that the students give it. I hope that everyone will buy it and I feel that definitely everyone will like it," Lee Edwards, editor of the magazine stated.

"We don't kid ourselves that we can top the Saturday Evening Post or Esquire in appeal, but everyone on the Peer is striving to publish a magazine with facts, features, and jokes, a combination to which no other campus publication can lay claim.

Gill Talks in Raleigh At Chapter Banquet

Edwin Gill, North Carolina State treasurer, will speak at the tri-chapter Golden Anniversary celebration of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional fraternity in business administration, Saturday night in Raleigh.

Raymond G. Woolever, grand president of the fraternity, is slated to address briefly the members from chapters at Duke, Carolina and Wake Forest. Master of ceremonies will be State Senator O. A. Kirkman, past national president of the group.

Following the banquet, 44 pledges from the three schools will be presented at a dance which will be held in the Virginia Dare Room of the Sir Walter Hotel.

Chapel Choir Sings 'Messiah' on Sunday

CHRISTMAS CHOIR—Ushering in the Christmas season this year, the Chapel Choir, under the direction of J. Foster Barnes, will present for the 25th consecutive year Handel's Messiah in the Chapel, Sunday at 4 p.m. Mrs. Mildred Hendrix, the University Organist, will accompany the 200-voice mixed choir. The ten solo recitatives and arias will be sung by seven members of the Choir and guest concert tenor, William Kirkpatrick.

The Fourth 'B'

That Duke has finally succeeded in its goal of books, brains, and bricks, no one can deny. We have a big library, a large and intelligent faculty and a campus with symmetrical lawns and buildings. It is an impressive University, but one of its most important internal components is in need of overhauling—student-faculty relations.

It is not enough for undergraduates to attend lectures at which their minds are stimulated or engage in class discussions that last only fifty minutes. Much can be absorbed outside the classroom through informal meetings between the teacher and pupil.

One of the most priceless ingredients of this modern age of video, cinerama and picture magazines is conversation; and conversation with a man who knows his subject and who is an accredited instructor should be enjoyed as often as possible. Yet most Duke students are offered little opportunity to indulge in such conversation. We have only those hurried few moments after class, those inconvenient office hours of 10:30 to 11:30 on Wednesday and Thursday mornings, or those too infrequent faculty coffees.

It has been the practice among too many of the faculty at this school to expect the students to be the aggressors in out-of-class associations. But we believe that if student-faculty relations are to be beneficial to the students the professors should make a more conscious effort to get together with their students.

Instead of the stately professorial frown, a casual invitation to students to drop by the office at a certain time, or even, if convenient, an invitation to the home of the professor would do much to further the educational interests of our University. We know of several professors who have adapted the latter plan to the great satisfaction of both parties.

Besides those wonderful three B's of books, brains and bricks, we suggest the addition of a fourth 'B'—bull sessions—which is just as important as the others for intellectual success.

Doubletalk

Dinks Invade East Campus; Desk Girl Stops Monopoly

By NANCY AND BETTY NORTINGTON

And now the creators of Muffie, the silent telephone ring, bring you Welby Lou, Girl Deskgirl—the story that asks the question: can this girl from a little residential town in the States find happiness as the employee of a wealthy and tobacco-scented university?

The scene is a dormitory office; it is evening. Welby Lou speaks. "I'm sorry; she's not in. The note for you says that she's gone to Moscow on a Poli. Sci. field trip. You're welcome."

Girl's voice: "All of us on second have blind dates with the hopscotch team from Wood U. Just write a clear description along with the name of each caller and slip us the word while we're signing out. There'll just be twenty; it won't be any trouble, will it?"

Door bangs and two sets of footsteps are heard.

First electrician: "We're going to check the lights upstairs, Miss."

Second electrician: "Are we ever!" Their steps fade out.

Welby Lou: "Strange that they should be wearing dinks—and that peroxide hair—just about the height of a tansom—why, those men aren't electricians at all! Stop! Cease! Desist! Go away! Go directly away! Do not pass Go! Do not collect two hundred dollars!"

Utterly humiliated, outfoxed by a mere slip of a girl, they sink off into the darkness.

Announcer: "And so today's episode comes to an end. Tune in tomorrow, folks, and find out what happens to Welby Lou, Joe, Sam, Ermintrude, Harbrace, Maxwellton, Angelina, Billy, Kent, Manny, Mo, Jack—and what of the two hundred dollars? What has become of the missing in-and-out card?"

Meanwhile, back on the campus: the last "Doubletalk" described the male of a type, males and females of which exist in almost any group, including the girls on East. Wasn't it the individual reader who extended the description to cover all of West Campus? Isn't there a proverb that says "hit dog hollers" and another that begins "if the shoe fits . . ." And, Mr. Baker, exactly how does one learn to be a woman?

Letters To The Editor

The CHRONICLE welcomes letters from its readers although it reserves the right to delete them if space is limited. All letters must be signed. We will withhold names on request.

Band Blasts

Editor, the CHRONICLE:

Im angry . . . I'm perturbed . . . and what's more, at this point I'm boiling over. The object of concern is the appalling mistreatment of the Marching Band on occasion during this past football season, and especially at the Duke-Carolina game.

Messrs Biehl and Schareges—it is you in particular to whom I direct these remarks. Now, I don't think anyone is against the card tricks as a novel method of displaying school spirit, etc. BUT, if could not plan and coordinate the card tricks so that your illustrious voices wouldn't drown out the band announcer and thus destroy the continuity of the band show, then your offices as chairmen of the Pep Band and the card tricks should have been filled by men who either have enough common sense to figure out this simple problem of timing, or a little more of that "live and let live" attitude which is necessary among campus organizations.

For the student body's information, this topic is not one which is new to Messers Biehl and Schareges; they have been reminded of this injustice since the beginning of the season and upon so many occasions that it isn't even funny.

has it always been traditional that it always been traditional that the time between halves of a football game be dedicated to a marching band show, but we have copied this extra attraction of performing with cards from a school which probably would not have developed it had they had a band the caliber of ours. Does the student body realize that the Duke Marching Band is unequalled in the South in the quality of its productions, and that the bands in the nation which put on the type of continuity shows that the Duke Marching Band produces could be counted on the fingers of one hand? Probably not; the student body hasn't been given the chance this season to follow the band's half-time performance.

DRAYTON JUSTUS
President, Duke Marching Band

We try to make it a policy to print all letters sent to us and it is for that reason alone that the above comment appears on this page. We feel that this matter at this time should have been taken to the people involved rather than presented to the public in general.

As we have stated before editorially, the band is only part of the show. They are good and we recognize that fact; but it seems that this time they are literally blowing their own horns a little too loudly.

It takes coordination and timing, as the letter states, to make an extensive half-time show successful. But successful should not be one-sided. It will take Pep Board and the Band working together to make things run smoothly.

East Housecleaning

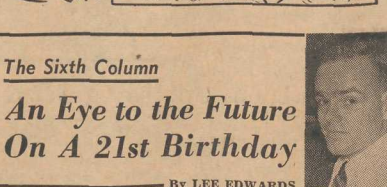

Editor, the CHRONICLE:

. . . Girls, your articles and letters attacking us may be the thing to do. All you have to do is tell us we're wrong and we'll come back into the fold. Don't hold your breath until we do, however.

It seems to me you should clean your own house before you start talking the neighbor's apart. (For you who don't

The Sixth Column

An Eye to the Future On A 21st Birthday

By LEE EDWARDS

With the rich chocolate cake half-eaten and the new gray jacket slung over the back of the chair, I settled back on my bed and stared at the yellow walls for about a minute. The day had arrived. With no pushing or urging on my part, my twenty-first birthday had arrived, and I was legally an adult with all due rights and privileges under the Constitution.

I felt no different than I had the day before, but I knew from all the books and fables of my first twenty one years that I should experience a strange transformation from callow, impetuous youth to level-headed, solid maturity. Looking around the room, I wondered what would cause the miraculous change.

What mystic power would make me keep my temper, would teach when to deliver the polite phrase or necessary word of criticism; would lead me along the path of logic to the right answer for the many problems that I was already encountering and would confront in later life?

It did not seem possible to me that there was such an object or symbol of wisdom and truth, at least lying around in front of my nose. And then I remembered that I had received a letter from home, from my father who had a half century of scars, smiles and collected wisdom etched on his memory.

I read the letter through and then once again more carefully. It contains some remarks that are said so well they deserve a wider audience than the one originally intended.

"Now here I am before a typewriter cogitating what to tell a son on his 21st birthday. It's not a bad idea to pass along any wise words of counsel even though my own experience teaches me that life unfolds its lessons with little directions from either seniors or juniors involved in it."

"We have discussed this before but it bears repetition—never sew yourself in some occupation for the sake of money or prestige. The pursuit of happiness is your constitutional right although it is not included in the Fifth Amendment which is about the only part of the Constitution which is talked about today . . ."

"You yourself are emerging into what will probably be the most adventurous era of many centuries and while it is not a peaceful world you face, it certainly promises not to be a boring or tedious one . . ."

"Finally, my only hope is that you get a sense of accomplishment out of whatever you do and contribute something—even if it's a minor something—to the welfare of others as you advance your own well-being."

Simple words all of these but they have the ring of truth and wisdom about them which makes me want to use them as a guide. And nothing has really changed——the cake is still half-eaten and the walls are still dirty yellow, but something inside me has gone from dullness to brightness from crookedness to straightness. Whether this is maturity I do know, but I shall learn—in time.

understand this last sentence, ask the Northingtons to decode it. They are good at sarcasm."

If you think you are lily white and pure, then don't bother reading this, but just remember one thing. It is a long established custom in this country that the boy ask the girl for a date. As long as you are getting numerous calls, you may be quite acceptable. You who haven't heard the phone ring lately had better look at your self and I don't mean the outside.

If you're satisfied, then I certainly am. Greensboro might be a long way from here, but it is closer than East Campus and I'm not alone in my views.

HERMAN D. SHERON, JR.

I wonder how the editor of Life or Esquire or The Saturday Evening Post felt on the night the first issue of his magazine appeared on the newstands. Was he nervous or did he dispell black fears by listing in a little red book his top professional writers, his color pictures and his large volume of advertising? As for me, I am not nervous—I am petrified because who can predict what will succeed or not? All of us on The Peer believe in a magazine that anyone will enjoy if they like light reading and viewing.

If you like The Peer, buy it. We have plenty of copies for all—including the entire staff of the Archives.

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another nation-wide survey — based on thousands of actual student interviews, and representative of all students in regular colleges — shows that Luckies lead again over all brands, regular or king size...and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better — for 2 reasons: L.S./M.F.T. — Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky!

Approaching Holidays Bring Gala Affairs; Fraternities Plan Big Christmas Parties

By SAMMY STEPHENS

Christmas holidays are rapidly approaching—but then they always are this time of year. The cool Yule brings with it a vast avalanche of gala festivities. Before we review the events to come, let's catch up on those we missed last week.

The Thanksgiving week was highlighted by a colorful Coed Ball given by the Social Standards Committee on East. The Pi Kappas led the field in fraternity functions. They started the week with a serenade for Pat Sommedahl of Alsbaugh and their weekend consisted of their annual Rose Ball at the Raleigh Country Club preceeded by a serenade and dinner on Friday night and a dinner-dance at the Castle on Saturday night. The Pi Kappas were not alone, however, as the Phi Deltis entertained their brothers from Chapel Hill with a dinner-dance at Smith's Lake on Saturday night.

Due to an error in computation, the poll on dating a few weeks ago listed only four Jarvis women as being pinned. In reality 16 in that house are sporting fraternity jewelry. We are extending apologies from the poll-taker.

The finalists for the sweetheart of Sigma Chi include Dotie Staub, Polly Pope, Ann Wall, Barbara Worthington, Margaret Ware and Eleanor Walton of Salem College. The Sweetheart will be announced at the dance tonight. Tonight's social calendar also includes a formal dinner-dance given by the Betas at Carolina Inn.

HOME IS WHERE THE BUCK IS

OR... Who did you say is a boy's best friend?

Once there was a sophomore whose father had a bad habit of saying "No". Vehemently. Particularly about money. Ask him the Big Question and his jowls would turn a fetching shade of vermilion.

So Junior, his need needed by three days of living on liverwurst sandwiches, cast about for a New Approach. Found it, too. Right at the Western Union office. He just sat down and worked out a wire to Negative Polarity Pappy. A brisk little wheeze... to wit: "Must have twenty dollars immediately. Urgent. Please flash by telegraphic money order." Results? Our sophomore was caressing the cash within two hours.

What's Junior's major? Psychology, of course.

It's darned good psychology to wire home at other times than just when you need help and comfort. For holiday greetings—Mother's Day—good news about grades—things that would make Home Happier. Try it next time. Just head for your local Western Union office.

How silent is the night?

Watching the serenity of Christmas skies we are conscious of deep silence. Yet the stars are talking to us all the while—talking in radio waves that are full of meaning to scientists probing the depths of space.

The important discovery that some stars produce radio waves was made by a Bell Laboratories scientist while exploring atmospheric disturbances which might interfere with transoceanic telephone service. His discovery marked the birth of the fast-growing science of radio astronomy. It is telling us of mysterious lightless stars that broadcast radio waves, and it promises exciting revelations about vast regions of space concealed by clouds of cosmic dust.

And so from the probings and skills of Bell System scientists and engineers has come another tool to help man understand better the universe in which he lives. These men are a proud team—members of a still larger team engaged in research, engineering and administration and working on telephone problems in all parts of the country. We would like you to consider joining them.

There are employment opportunities with the companies that provide telephone service, with Western Electric, and with the Bell Laboratories. We need young men for the leaders in tomorrow's Bell Telephone System. Check today with your Placement Officer for details.

Church Fellowships Spread Christmas Joy With Carols, Parties, Presents for Needy

Meeting at Watts' Street Baptist Church, the Baptist Student Union will join with members of the local church in a fellowship supper at 6 p.m., Dec. 13, and a program of carols and devotions later. Baskets for the needy residents of Durham will be collected and distributed that evening.

Members of the Duke BSU are urged to attend the regular meeting Dec. 6, at which a list of items needed for the baskets will be read.

Methodists will go caroling, accompanied by Keith Grimson and his accordion Dec. 12, leaving the East Duke Building at 7:30 p.m.

Patients in McPhearson's Hospital and the infirmary will be visited as well as the residents of Faculty Apartments and local chaplains.

After the caroling, an informal party will be held in the fellowship hall of Asbury Church on Markham Stret. Folk games, led by Bill Barker, and musical skits by Don Smith and Packy Jervy will be included on the recreation program.

MARGE and GOWER CHAMPION met as shy schoolkids at dancing school. Their paths criss-crossed for years as each worked hard to make a career. Finally, Gower, back from Service, "teamed up" with Marge. After months of strenuous rehearsal, they were a sensation, creating original "dance stories" for TV, movies and stage. They are now Mister and Missus.

'Adding Machine' Successful Despite Lengthy Monologues

By DIXIE HOWE

The bareness of the stage, lack of props, lengthy monologues, and a framework of fantasy in no way detracted from the audience's ability to visualize and identify themselves with the characters and situations in Elmer Rice's The Adding Machine, the Duke players' production, which opened Wednesday night and will continue through Saturday. The presentation was very successful in almost every respect.

Bill Neale's portrayal of the cowering Mr. Zero, who seldom dared to assert himself, was outstanding. His grasp of the character was both real and convincing down to the smallest mannerism and expression.

Of the supporting cast, special mention must be made of John Doeblar as Mr. Zero's Graveyard companion, Alvin Fay, and Judy Lefever. Sally Morse gave satisfactory interpretation of Daisy, and Sally Macomber, while somewhat unconvincing, was good at keeping a steady pace through long speeches.

While the central theme of the play was depressing, there was a great deal of successful comic relief, which made a most enjoyable and stimulating play.

ZERO HOUR — Bill Neale stars in the leading role of Mr. Zero in the Duke Players production of Eleanor Rice's play.

Tau Ep, FF, House M Lead In Chest Drive

Expressing "satisfaction" with preliminary collection reports Dave Schimmel, chairman of Campus Chest, stated, "the results so far don't seem completely satisfactory but I hope that all the groups will do as well as the two leaders are doing at this time."

In the freshmen houses, house M is now in the lead with an average of $2.94 per man solicited. House I with $2.29 and house CC with $1.78 per man are second and third respectively.

Among the independents, FF is currently in the lead with an average per man of $1.110. GG is close on the heels of the leader with an average of $1.107 while HH is third with $1.095. Tau Epsilon Phi, in the fraternity division, is heading the list with an average of $3.38. Phi Kappa Sigma with $2.50 and Kappa Sigma with $2.22 are second and third respectively.

This is the result of the first in a series of three collection.

Persons Announces Varsity Swimming Slate; Team Faces Rough Thirteen-Meet Schedule

By DICK SHAY

Senior Sports Reporter

The 1954 edition of the Duke University swimming team opens their toughest schedule in history against N. C. State on December 10 at Raleigh. Coach Jack Persons has nine returning lettermen from last year's squad that won 7 out of 9 meets.

Returning lettermen are headed by Captain Ron Walske, from Baltimore, Maryland. Ted Beacham, Dave DeWitt, Bill Fuller, Dave Rogers, Sam McMillan, Tom Todd, Ernie Hamilton, and John Hamilton are the other returning members of the team. Newcomers Lew Marvin, Charles Hauser, Fred Samuels, and Tyson Jennette give Coach Persons' squad depth in every event.

THE LINE-UP

In the individual medley, 100 yards each by back breast, and freestyle strokes, Fuller and Rogers are the Duke hopefuls. The divers are John Poppenberg and Samuels. Swimming the quarter-mile will be Hauser and Jennette. Rogers and Fuller will be the back-stroke. The relay team will be composed of Walske, DeWitt, Hamilton, McMillan and Beacham.

NINE DUAL MEETS

Nine dual meets have been scheduled against some of the best opposition in the country. U. N. C. has a strong team with many veterans returning from last year's team that placed fifth in the NCAA Championships. Pitt and Georgia Tech have unusually good teams.

The closest meet of the year should be with V.M.I. Last year Duke beat them in the last event.

Duke will be favored to defeat the other teams on their schedule.

Freshman Wrestlers
Have Seven Matches

After a lapse of several years, Duke University will once more have a freshman wrestling team.

Coach Pat Harrison expects a fairly good year, since many of the candidates have had high school experience. In some years, very few men have wrestled in competition before.

The tentative schedule lists matches with South Norfolk High School, Davidson, UNC, and N. C. State, but more schools are expected to be added to the schedule.

Sorenson's Gymnastics Squad Practices
For Opener; Seven Lettermen Are Back

"With less than two weeks remaining before the first meet of the season, members of the Duke gymnastics team have begun to concentrate on improving their form," according to Coach R. S. Sorenson.

Prospects for this year are considerably brightened by the return of seven lettermen from last year's team, which won four of eight meets. The lettermen include Captain Jack Evans, Pete Tolleson, Blair Mathies, Richard Jones, Art DeBevoise, Bob Prothero, and Mac McKinney.

Other members of the squad are William Murray, John Werback, Dan Stillwell, William Knott, and Jack Johnston. Coach Sorenson has announced the following tentative schedule for the team: Dec. 15—Syracuse University, here; Jan. 16—Army, there; Feb. 6—Navy, there; Feb. 16—North Carolina, there; Feb. 20—Georgia Tech, there; Feb. 26—North Carolina, here; March 6—Southern Inter-Collegiate Gymnastic League Championships, here.

Intramurals

By DAN LEHMAN

A big letdown occurred last week in intramural circles as the big game between SAE and Sigma Chi was mistakenly scheduled for last Friday but hasn't been played to date. In the only Division I game played the KA "A" team trounced the Betas, 16-0.

Pi Kappa Phi, the Division II leaders eked out a 6-0 win over Delta Tau Delta to finish their season with a 7-1 mark. The KA "B" team, only victors over the Pi Kappas beat PiKa by a 13-0 count in another Division II contest.

UNBEATEN LAWYERS

The Law School remained undefeated in Division II play as they trounced Sigma Nu, 21-0. The second place Divinity School won over the Tau Eps, 18-0. In another hard fought Division II game the Tau Eps played the KA "D" team to a 0-0 stalemate.

In the only Division IV game the House P "A" team closed out the division play with a 7-0 win over House J.

In the intramural cross-country meet, the SAE's once again emerged victorious. Taking five out of the top ten places they beat out freshman House 0, which had the meet winner.

ENTRIES DUE

All wrestling entries are due in the intramural office on Friday, December 11. Coach Falcone and the varsity wrestling team will be in charge of the workouts and events. Weight classes are as follows: 125, 137, 147, 157, 167, 175, and unlimited. Weigh-ins will be held in the IM office from three to four the following Tuesday thru Thursday. Anyone failing to make the weigh-in will automatically be disqualified.

IM basketball entries are also due in the intramural office on Friday, Dec. 11. Last year 95 teams were entered in twelve divisions, and an enthusiastic turnout is expected this year.

Conference Meets

The Atlantic Coast Conference formed last spring when seven big schools left the over-sized Southern Conference, meets here tomorrow amid reports that the new circuit may consider expanding to 10 teams with issuance of invitations to West Virginia and Virginia Tech.

Virginia after weeks of speculation, was admitted as an eighth team last October and presumably will be made an active basketball participant here tomorrow to insure an eighth team for the annual tournament in March.

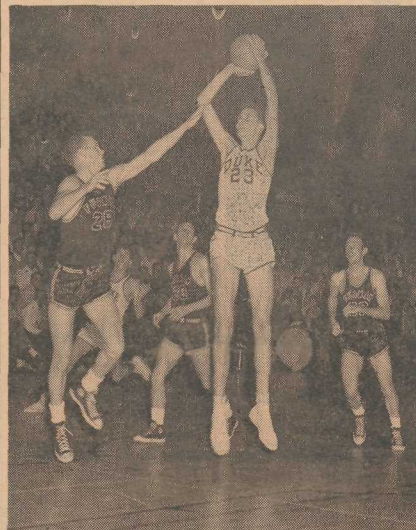

Forward Jack Kalbfus of Greensburg, Pennsylvania, was the individual high scorer with 27 points on ten field goals and seven charity tosses. Other high scorers for the Blue Imps were Center Bob Lakata with fourteen points and Forward Dick Rosenthal, who contributed ten points.

OTHER STARTERS

Others on the first five for Coach Anthony Drago's frosh were Jim Rogers, Bob Thumemel.

Sam Rosensold led the visiting Sailors with thirteen points.

The Blue Imps were in complete control of the contest, jumping into a quick 11-2 lead early in the game and maintaining a 38-25 halftime advantage.

OPENING WIN—Duke's Marty Doherty, playing the pivot, leaps into the air to get off one of his favorite jump shots in Duke's record-breaking 110-76 win over Furman's Purple Paladins. Doherty contributed thirteen points to the Blue Devil attack.

Frosh Cagers Face Deaclets
Tonight; Carolina Tomorrow

Duke's freshman basketball team moves over to Wake Forest tonight to battle the always-tough Wake Forest Deaclets in Gore Gymnasium. The game is scheduled to begin at 6:15 and will precede the Wake Forest varsity encounter.

The Deaclets are supposed to be one of the best yearling teams to represent the Baptist institution in years. They will have two All-Staters in their respective states, Jackie Murdock and Ernie Wiggins at the forward posts with 6-6 Jim Cilly at center. Pete Romich, another All-State performer, and Jon Gerdes will get the starting call at guards.

Tomorrow night in a preliminary to the Duke-Tennessee test, the Blue Imps will return to their home courts to battle the UNC freshman aggregation. The tap-off for this game is also slated for 6:15 p.m.

SAME LINE-UP

In both week-end games Coach Tony Drago is expected to leave intact the same starting line-up, which sparked the Imps to their opening win over the Service Force team.

The frosh cagers started off their 1953-54 season on the right foot Wednesday night by trouncing the Atlantic Fleet Service Force of the Norfolk Naval Base, 78-60, in a preliminary to the Duke-Furman varsity clash.

Forward Jack Kalbfus of Greensburg, Pennsylvania, was the individual high scorer with 27 points on ten field goals and seven charity tosses. Other high scorers for the Blue Imps were Center Bob Lakata with fourteen points and Forward Dick Rosenthal, who contributed ten points.

Others on the first five for Coach Anthony Drago's frosh were Jim Rogers, Bob Thumemel. Sam Rosensold led the visiting Sailors with thirteen points. The Blue Imps were in complete control of the contest, jumping into a quick 11-2 lead early in the game and maintaining a 38-25 halftime advantage.

Blue Devils Capture
Opener With Furman
As Selvy Scores 40

By TOM MARTZ

Senior Sports Reporter

Led by their two veteran co-captains Bernie Janicki and Rudy D'Emilio, Coach Ed Bradley's 1953-54 edition of the Duke basketball team squares off against the Volunteers from Tennessee tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m. in the Duke Indoor Stadium.

The Blue Devil will be in quest of their second consecutive victory of the season, having downed Furman in the opener. Duke will take to the road for the first time Monday, traveling to Nashville to play Vanderbilt.

VETERAN VOLDS

Tennessee's squad is composed of five juniors, six sophomores, and four freshmen. Heading the list of seven lettermen from a club which won 13 and lost eight last year and finished fourth in the Southern Conference, is Ed Wiener. Wiener led the team in scoring last year.

Starting at center will be six-foot, one-inch Carl Wiles. Playing opposite Wiener at a forward slot will be J. D. Byington while Billy Lovelace and Dan Boggett will be at the guards.

In their opening game the Vols overpowered a weak Wolford squad, 107-63.

VANDY EIGHTH

The Vanderbilt team which Duke faces on Monday did not have too good a record last season finishing eighth in the Southeastern Conference, but it lost only one man through graduation. Dan Finch, the team's captain, is one of the high scorers in the school's history averaging 20.7 points per game last season.

The team itself is a high scoring aggregation, scoring eighty or more points in nine of nineteen games last year. In their only meeting last season, the Blue Devils edged Vanderbilt, 94-88. The Commodores won their opener from Sewanee.

OPENING WIN

The Blue Devils opened their season last Wednesday night in the Indoor Stadium with a sensational 110-point performance against the outclassed Furman Purple Paladins. The 110-point standard broke the old mark for the Duke gym, established last year in Duke's 102-45 triumph over VMI.

Joe Belmont and Bernie Janicki paced the Duke attack with 21 and 18 points, respectively, but the game's outstanding performer was Furman's Frank Selvy, who scored 40 points.

Mary Decker hit for fifteen, and Rudy D'Emilio and Marty Doherty each scored thirteen in the lop-sided win.

Monogram Club Hears
Deacon Coach Speak

At the last regular meeting of the Varsity "D" Club, Pat Preston, assistant coach of the Wake Forest Deacons, but formerly a Duke All-American, substituted in the absence of Tom Rogers, head coach for the Baptist Hollow eleven. Preston related to the club a few of his experiences as a coach and a professor.

There were numerous articles of business settled. Dues were set at one dollar a semester, with assessments for the Christmas Banquet.

Secretary Wayne Cunningham announced that open houses will be held again this year for club members and their dates following the Saturday night basketball games.

Falcone's Grapplers
Open December 12;
Generals Come Here

Duke University's varsity wrestling team will face an extremely difficult schedule this year with limited material. Such personally strong teams as Maryland and Virginia Military Institute figure to be too strong for the Blue Devil grapplers.

The team will be led by Captain Fred Campbell in the heavy weight class. Jerry Chadwick, another stellar performer, is back in the 157 pound class.

INJURY HURTS

At 123 pounds will be Jim Roth, but the 130 pound weight is blank. Greg Raimondo, who was counted on to fill the post, injured his shoulder during the past summer and will be unable to fill the position.

After Pete Landau at 137 pounds is another open class. The 147 pound division, which Kit Weir may fill, James Eckels and Bill Buchheit, who have not reported for practice, occupy the 167 and 177 pound classes respectively.

THE SCHEDULE:

Dec. 12—W & L	Durham
Jan. 9—Davidson	Durham
Jan. 14—Maryland	College Park, Md.
Feb. 13—VPI	Durham
Feb. 23—UNC	Chapel Hill
Feb. 24—N. C. State	Durham
Feb. 27—VMI	Lexington, Va.
