Campus Chest Collects $2300 As Drive Ends

As the West Campus Chest campaign closed this week, an approximated total of $2300 was collected for the support of its seven charities.

The final sum is a considerable increase over the $1300 collected through last year's drive. Chairman David Schimmel said, "All of us who worked on the drive were well pleased with the results of the campaign."

THREE DIVISIONS

The three division winners were Tau Epsilon Phi among the fraternities with an average of $2.40 per man; House M in the freshman race with $2.37 per man and in the independents, House GG. Contributions ranged from a few cents to the sum of $32 from one philanthropic supporter.

Schimmel stated that since the Campus Chest is supported and planned by the students, any constructive criticism as to the manner in which the drive might be better conducted, would be appreciated in improving next year's campaign.

The drive was the realization of the efforts of Fred Downey, publicity chairman, John Kopf, chairman of collections, Mickey Sieckler, coordinator, and Reynolds Price, secretary.

COORDINATORS

Serving in the capacity of coordinators were Edgar Fisher for the freshmen; Paul Callahan for the independents; and Al Johnson for the fraternity group.

"To each of the workers who gave so unselfishly of their time and effort, we owe our sincere thanks. It was due to their help and the many students who contributed so generously that our drive this year did so well," Schimmel said.

"As we have improved over last year's campaign, so we hope that the drives will continue to improve in the future."

Society Initiates 25 In Formal Ceremony

At the Fall meeting of Delta Phi Alpha, German honorary society, 25 new members were initiated in formal ceremony.

New members of the national society are: Christine Ford, Mary Dunn, Marie Ann Scheller, Elizabeth Darlene Conner, Coburn Gum, Carolyn Culbreth, Nancy Van Dever, Phyllis Marion, Barry C. Harris, Franklin Lamney, Dolores Gregory, Gordon Perkins, Fleming James III, Carl Bitzer, Ralph Bohnenberger, Patricia Ann Stewart, William Wright, Richard Hug, Paul Weeks, Carl Bentz, Eva Jo Newlin, Ingrida Zarins, Elizabeth Springsteen, Dennis Mahoney, and Royce H. Riddick, Jr.

Meeting in the Green Room of East Duke Building, the group heard Dr. Walther Baum of Oersherule at Wilhelmshaven, Germany, tell of life in Germany, illustrating his descriptions with films.

James Farber is president of the organization.

ANTHONY AMBLES—"The Young Man With the Horn." Ray Anthony, shown parading through the throng of students at last year's lawn concert, will return this spring to play at Joe College Weekend, May 1. Featured with the Anthony band will be Tommy Mercer, Jo Anne Greer, and the Skyliners, a vocal quintet.

Pageant in Chapel

Chapel Choir, English Department To Direct Annual Pageant Sunday

For the 22nd consecutive year, the Department of English and the Chapel Choir will present the annual Christmas Pageant in the University Chapel, 8 p.m., this Sunday evening.

Combining 200 student voices and "living pictures" depicting highlights of the Nativity story, the pageant is a dramatic version of the traditional Christmas story, written by Dr. Hersey E. Spence, professor emeritus of the Divinity School.

Under the direction of J. Foster Barnes, the Choir will present background music using traditional carols and anthems for the scenes which will include "The Annunciation," "The Visit of the Wise Men," and "The Birth of the Christ Child."

STUDENT ROLES

Student appearing in the elaborately arranged settings are Nathaniel Greenblatt in the role of the prophet; Patricia Burrus, the angel; Neil Ferguson, the Madonna; Raymond Moore, Joseph; Ernest Boston, Marvost; Bonnie Reardon, the shepherds; Lawson, Doyle Masters and Albert Best, Bruce Pate, and Sidney Barham, the wise men.

Dr. Robert E. Cushman of the Divinity School will read the narrative, and Mildred Hendrix, chapel organist, will accompany the choir.

Dr. Spence, who has directed the production for many years, composed the pageant 22 years ago and is the author of its Nativity Choir will first participate in a candlelight procession before commencing the program.

The entire pageant is directed by Dr. Arthur W. Kale, with Kenneth G. Reardon of the English department in charge of the dramatic scenes.

Shoe and Slipper Sets May 1 As Date for Annual Weekend

By SUE SMITH
Coed News Editor

That famous "Young Man With a Horn," Ray Anthony, will appear at Duke with his band and vocalists the weekend of May 1 for the annual Joe College dance and concert, announced Dick Taylor, president of the Shoe and Slipper Club.

According to Taylor, "Anthony will return to the campus for the Joe College Weekend series in response to an overwhelming vote in his favor by the students. During his appearance here last year, Anthony expressed his appreciation of the warm reception the students gave him, and his hope of soon returning to the campus. On this basis I foresee the 1954 Joe College Weekend as eclipsing all others in terms of enjoyment and student entertainment."

100 DANCES

Featured with the Anthony band, which plays an average of 100 major college dance dates a year, are Tommy Mercer, Jo Anne Greer and the Skyliners, a vocal quintet.

Anthony, who was born in Bentleyville, Pa., landed his first name band job at the age 17 with Al Donahue's band. After a brief engagement with Jimmy Dorsey, he joined Glenn Miller in 1940 and made several coast-to-coast trips.

Anthony, hailed as America's greatest musical name since the days of the late Glenn Miller, won the nationwide disc-jockey poll as America's top dance band shortly after he signed with Capitol.

MSGA Commends Holiday Resolution

Expressing its gratitude to the administrator, the Men's Student Government Association passed a resolution Wednesday night commending the action of the administration in extending the Thanksgiving holidays.

The resolution stated that "the Men's Student Government Association, on behalf of the student body shall express its deepest appreciation to the Duke University administration for its recent declaration that henceforth the Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving Day shall also be University holidays."

In other action taken during the meeting, the legislature voted to let the president appoint representatives for the independent students living outside Few Quadrangle.

Agendas of future MSGA meetings are to be posted on the bulletin boards on the campus.

Only Eight More Days . . .

SANTA BABY!! Freshman-Coed Margaret Weeks gives Santa Claus a smile and tells him she's been a good girl. For this she gets a peppermint stick and his promise that she can go home in only eight days . . . AND that goes for the rest of dearmoldake. The University's 5000 students will scatter over 48 states and at least a dozen foreign nations for the celebration of the yuletide season.

IFC Slackens Ruling For Coming Holidays

According to a ruling of the Men's Interfraternity Council, freshmen living in the same city as fraternity men may ride home with them for the Christmas holidays, after securing permission from Bill Jennings, chairman of the IFC rush committee.

The Council also ruled that transfer students may be pledged by a fraternity at any time, but that the transfers must have a "C" average for one semester here before they can be initiated. President Jim Bradt also stated that, according to the constitution, if representatives miss two successive meetings the fraternity will be fined $5.

A fraternity whose identity was withheld, turned itself in for drinking at a social function, and this case will be tried at Tuesday's meeting.

The date for Greek Week, annual event sponsored jointly for pledges of both campuses by the Panhellenic Council and IFC, was set for March 10-13.

On Censorship

We who write the editorial columns of this newspaper normally go about our stasks of reviewing, discussing and criticizing events of the campus and the outside world without much thought concerning the freedoms and restrictions under which we labor. It takes such an event as occurred at the University of Georgia last week to make us stop and take stock of our own situation.

Georgia's campus paper, the Red and Black, recently advocated the admission of Negroes to that university. This editorial stand brought down the wrath of one Mr. Roy V. Harris, a regent of the school. Immediately a censorship board was established for the college paper. Since that time two sets of editors have resigned their positions on the Red and Black.

All this gives a college paper cause to examine seriously the system under which it operates. Here at Duke there is a body known as Publication Board which consists of both appointed faculty and elected student representatives. This group supervises the basic organizational and operational structure over this newspaper and all student publications, but it imposes no direct censorship.

Rather, the publication operate under a general code of ethics. This code says nothing about what views a newspaper shall take, but concerns itself with how the newspaper shall express its feelings. In other words, slander or vulgarity would be cause for an editor's dismissal, but an honest opinion presented in a like manner would give the board no excuse for even considering censorship, no matter how violent its disagreement with the editorial expressions of a publication. In our time, at least, this is the way things have worked at Duke, and we have faith that they will continue that way.

There is also the question of how much influence the administration exerts as individuals and as a group. We have heard students make the comment that this newspaper is controlled by the powers that be up in the administration building. This is as far from the truth as it is possible to stray. We have printed opinions and views in the past with which we knew certain University officials disagreed. We are bound to disagree in the future, but we have confidence that our right to print our beliefs will not be denied at that time either.

The editors of this newspaper have never had to "clear" their thoughts with any individuals save themselves. No self-respecting editors would have it otherwise; and it is inconceivable that with all its aims and ideals, Duke University could ever institute a system of censorship on student publications.

Looking upon the Georgia case, it makes us wonder if we realize how fortunate we really are. May the attitude regarding censorship on this campus ever be as enlightened as it is today.

The Coliseum Breed

There is something rotten in the city of Raleigh. And, more specifically, the decay involves the crowds who attend the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum, home of the North Carolina State basketball team.

Basketball on the West Raleigh campus has been taken away from the students and has been turned into a professional production, featuring organ music, spotlights, jazz bands, and an applause meter.

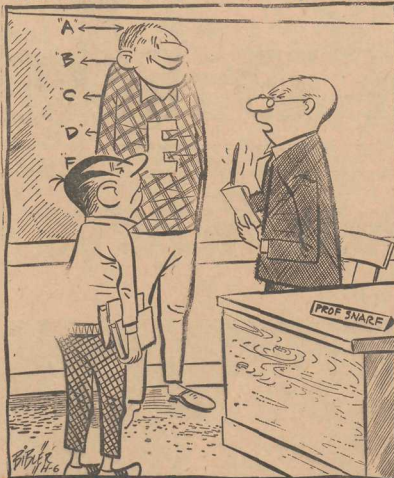

The Raleigh fans are not fans of North Carolina State College, but rather fans of the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum and what it stands for. And to them the Coliseum means an opportunity to cheer for a winning team, jeer the opposition, boo officials, and chant childish slogans.

We do not resent State's fine basketball team and we appreciate the enthusiasm the student body has for its team. But we do resent the way in which the citizenry of Raleigh has abused basketball at State.

We are proud that the people who support Duke basketball are not of the Coliseum breed, and that when they come to Duke Indoor Stadium, they come to see a college basketball game and behave accordingly.

The Sixth Column

A Sour Turkey Prods Some Minor Reforms

By LEE EDWARDS

Hip, hip, hooray and a plump tom turkey to the administration (they can store it in the deep freeze until Xmas), who, after countless years of student protest, pleading, and persistence, finally broke down and gave those who will be here next year four days of Thanksgiving vacation. Student acclaim ran high in spite of a loud snort by approximately 500 seniors who wondered why the big boys waited until only the week after this year's Thanksgiving to release the happy tidings.

They could have waited two weeks as a matter of pure decency before slipping the siletto between the third and fourth ribs of the unprepared fourth year man or woman.

But after all, the important thing is that something was done for the students. Bestowing of the major reform set this columnist's brain to buzzing, and after much cudgeling of gray matter, the following list of minor reforms was compiled (Duke motto: the difficult things we never do; the impossible takes a little longer).

FOR THE HOME:

(1) Cold water in the saucets in the dorms. There is nothing like working out down at the gym and coming back to a luke warm mouthwash. What do they have against cold water? It's not intoxicating.

(2) A decent color for the walls of the rooms. The University interior decorator must have had a hangover when he selected the present color, which must be embarrassed to be out in the open where everyone can see it. Even the lobby in the Astor is more exciting.

(3) A few more men's rooms on East. If a guy wants to comb his hair after 6 p.m., he must either take a book out of the library or get a date in Aycock.

FOR THE GARDEN:

(1) Unchained lawns. Grass is for people to walk on and lie on and sit on and talk on. How does the University expect to put the students at ease if it points the manicuring and tending of the lawns towards the visitors rather than the students?

(2) Walks that do not become water-logged at the first heavy dew. Why can't all the walks be like the ones along the main quadrangle? Oh yeah, that's right. The "workers" in the Administration Building don't go near inner quads on their way to 10:15 coffee.

(3) Just one cop who is more interested in preventing people from breaking into cars rather than putting the slug on those few breaking parking rules.

Now, of course, these reforms would cost some moola—nothing much, you understand, a few thousand fish maybe. But where can the school get a few thousand herring or mackerel for the students if they are erecting a new administration building, renovating an old administration building which has had one-third of it taken away from the proposed recreation center so far, and importing important and far-flung speakers like Robert Lester and William Laprade?

I don't know what to say. Perhaps I have said too much. Anyway, they're watching us. We're in good steady, capable, brave, clean, honest, reputable, truthful hands.

Doubletalk

Sisters Offer Yuletide Gift Suggestions

By NANCY and BETTY NORTHINGTON

The December issue of almost every magazine is sporting a multi-page spread on gift suggestions. These ideas are fine for the untutored masses, but don't you feel the need of presents befitting the campus atmosphere? Eartha Kitt isn't the only one with a Christmas list; here's one for the University.

Somebody please take pity on James B. Duke; end his frustration; present him with a lighter, or at least a match, for that long-anticipated cigar. No unfair discrimination, now; Wash could use a blue-and-white slip-cover for his armchair—and not Carolina blue, either.

With florists' prices the way they are, Red Friars and White Duchy might appreciate brightly wrapped packages of carnation seeds and small bags of Vigoro. Keep individual needs in mind; how about a pair of bifocals for each campus cop—so he can finally get the big picture?

Speaking of gifts—Santa, in the person of Ted Ziegler, came early this year for us. At last here is a well-written comment on Doubletalk:

Fie On Those Sisters

Please let's don't be petty
Miss Nan and Miss Betty;
Cease now your attacks on the Male.

We're quite well aware

That short-cropped hair
Is enough to make fair damsels quail;

And so, you assagay,
Is masculine grey,
Be it charcoal, Oxford, or light;
Male sartorial gluttons
And their collars (with buttons)
"Crawl from woodwork" when cameras they sight.

If you came from this town
We could well put you down—
"Go get excited by a store . . ."
But lie on you two
You'll soon get your due:
Your due and a little bit more . . .

Your sweet ears will be covered with blisters,
From attacks on the NOTHING-
TON sisters.

Letters to the Editor opinion on the West Campus male is not representative of all East coeds. There are quite a few of us who have just the opposite view.

Do Duke men think we are as snobbish, unfeminine and false as these letters have indicated? I truly hope not, because we haven't meant to give that appearance.

Can't we stop saying nasty things about each other? If you prefer a girl at Greensboro to a Duke girl, that's your business. That's no reason for hating East Campus girls though. There are some of us who like you. Let's stop this foolishness and be friends.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

Here's a sad cotton tale; poor Paul was in a stew about his hare until his paw wrote: "I eat you got a bun on because your girl left you. Now, lettuce look at the bre's facts. To get in on the bunny huggin', smart rabbits foot it down to any toiler goods counter for Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's biggest-selling hare tonic. So fuzz thing tomorrow, invest 29¢ in a bottle or handy tube. Contains soothing Lanolin. Non-alcoholic. Grooms the hare. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test." Sheedy tied Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he's a jump ahead of every Tom, Dick and Harvey. So what're you waiting for? Get Wildroot Cream-Oil today, and ask for Wildroot at your barber's. You're bound to like it!

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another far more extensive and comprehensive survey—supervised by college professors and based on more than 31,000 actual student interviews—shows that Luckies lead again over all other brands, regular or king size...and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better—first, because L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And second, Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky!

'Study in Sin' Opens Tuesday in Branson Hall; Fox Stars in Lead Role of Marks' Production

By JUDY KASLER

Senior Staff Reporter

Student-written and student-directed, Denny Marks' A Study in Sin opens its two-night run next Tuesday in Branson Hall, with the one-act play transporting the audience between the realistic and metaphysical worlds.

Following the performance, which will be free of charge, Kenneth Reardon, director of Duke Players, will preside over an author-meets-critic session. Author Denny Marks will answer queries and comments during this session which is similar to those held by the Carolina Playmakers.

STAR ROLE

Alvin Fox, long to be remembered for his final scenes in Waiting for Lefty and The Adding Machine, stars in the role of an English artist who has been murdered after four of his old college friends find out that he has seduced their wives. Having been granted a reprieve from Hell, he returns to earth to seek revenge.

SIN CAST

A Study in Sin features in its cast Paul Lucy of Summer and Smoke fame, Judy LaPever, star of Remains to be Seen, Lenore Green, Larry Taishoff, Waiting for Lefty, Virginia Hillman, Remains to be Seen, Dave Brown, Anything Goes, Sally Hazen, Norwood Long and Jack Edmonds.

Marks' play is the second original student production and laboratory production to be put on at Duke. Such a production gives the students a chance to use their talents to the fullest extent possible in all technical, acting and directing repartments.

Due to regulations which forbid their traveling with the team, the three often have to miss as much as two full class days.

Dave Hartman, public relations director of WDBS, urges that students listen to the broadcasts which will begin fifteen minutes prior to each game.

Last of Christmas Dances Held Tonight; Fraternities Sponsor Party for Children

By SAMMY STEPHENS

The last of the Christmas dances will be held tonight. Phi Delta Theta hangs its sword and shield at the Washington Duke for the annual Christmas dance. The Washington Duke is also the lucky spot for the Theta Chi dinner dance at which Dean Herring will speak.

Sweetheart time—Dottie Staub received the Sigma Chi Sweetheart Cup and Janet Ray took the Phi Kappa Sigma honors. Congratulations to them and to the fraternities.

The basketball game against William & Mary headlines Saturday night. Duke seems to do better on the home court and we think that Drew Pearson might predict a Duke winner.

Here comes Santa Claus . . . or so the children will be saying from the Durham Welfare Agency this Sunday when Zeta Beta Tau and Lambda Chi Alpha jointly sponsor a Christmas party for them.

Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Kappa Sigma are real nature (?) lovers and plan cabin parties for this Saturday . . . but Baby, it's cold outside!

Is it the cold weather that creates all this loving action? Sue Blades is pinned to Tom Butters, Judy Kasler to Jack Marks, Mary Lou Bridgers to Hugh Maddox, Eleanor Terry to Tim Jones, and Betty Jo Myers to Ed Ashdown. Barbara Lehman is engaged to a boy from Le Jeune.

By the way, Coeds, you might check with Eartha Kitt for a few suggestions before writing your letter to Santa Claus.

Brown Is Victorious In WAA Swim Meet

Brown House placed first and Southgate second in the inter-dormitory swimming meet, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, Dec. 8.

Arlene Schmidt won first place in the back-stroke, the breast-stroke and the free style.

After a series of tryouts, the Nereid Club has selected the following women as new members: Harriet Gould Ann James, Sarah Holdvader, Carolyn Lacey, Jo Ingalls, Happy Goldthwaite, Shirley Lindquist, Fran Pfeiffer, Billie Thomason, Pat Strawn, Judy Hudson, Betsy Webb, Sally Hodges, Sally Schumaker, Sarah Dula, Ann Gilmore, Jody Newland, Nancy Day, Pat Gregg, Elizabeth Caine, Skip Kurlbaum, Marilyn Green, Arline Schmidt, Uhrlig and LaVerne Olney.

Freshmen Meet Tonight

Freshmen from both campuses will meet informally tonight in a joint assembly and talent show at 8 p.m. in the Woman's College auditorium, moving on later to the East Campus gymnasium for a "Rock Hop."

Admission to the show and dance is free.

Well-Known Reindeer Tells All

NORTH POLE, ARCTIC. Looking very dapper for an 18-point buck with chalked muzzle and matching white tail assembly, Dasher, famous front-running reindeer for the S. Claus Parcel Service, stated today:

1. Conditions on the northern tundra are pretty much the same as ever. No-o, TV hadn't affected the grazing habits of the middle-class herds.

2. That despite reports to the contrary, you don't ever thoroughly adjust to sub-zero weather, regardless of the warm esteem people hold you in.

3. Rumors of a reindeer strike for Christmas Eve are unfounded. Somebody's got a termite in his antler.

When asked about the most popular Christmas gift down through the years he replied without hesitation: "Menswear by Manhattan. I've helped haul Mr. Claus's sled, roe and buck, nigh unto forever . . . so I ought to know . . . nothing makes a man happier than shirts, sportshirts, ties, pajamas, beachwear or underwear labeled Manhattan. Don't know whether it's the live style that makes a man look and feel so good, whether it's the traditional tailoring detail, or the array of fabrics, patterns and colors that are all so unmistakably quality. I'll admit one thing. I've kind of wished sometimes that Manhattan would make deerwear."

Housemasters Link Freshmen, Administration

By BILL STUBBS
Chronicle Staff Reporter

Bridging the gap between West Campus freshmen and the administration, Duke's 24 representatives of the housemaster system are as overseers to the dormitory life of the first year undergraduates.

Hand-picked each spring from approximately 100 applicants, the ten housemasters (graduate students) and 14 assistant housemaster (juniors and seniors) begin their duties with freshman orientation week, during which the select 24 are feted with a kick-off dinner and indoctrination program.

PRIMARY OBJECTIVE

The primary objective of a housemaster to give each freshman the feeling that he is a part of his new home and to help him get the most out of his education, is impressed upon the housemasters during this program.

Then begins the mass of responsibility which "place you squarely astride that invisible barrier separating the administration from the student, according to Perry Koziah of High Point, N. C., serving his second year as a housemaster. "It's a situation that at times proves uncomfortable to you because of the two points of views."

HOUSEMASTERS MEET

Serving as intermediary between the dean's staff and the Freshman House Council, composed of one student representative elected from each floor, the housemaster meets often with each of these groups in an attempt to lessen the common problems of the system.

Compensation for the labors of the housemasters, who serve as the administrative arm of the University's Freshman Office, comes in the form of $500 a year for housemasters and free room rent for assistant housemasters.

Engineering, Pre-Med Head List of Majors; East Favors English

By JOHN PEARSON

Senior Staff Reporter

With fraternity open houses and chow trains on the upswing, the question "What are you majoring in?" is an omnipresent one. Food for anemic conversation is provided by an expansion of the question—just what departments have the most majors, whether there are more engineers or pre-meds, and queries of a similar nature.

According to figures compiled in October, 1953, there are among the undergraduate men 826 general students, 279 pre-meds, 278 in business administration, 179 engineers, 35 in education, 32 students of religion and 16 in preforestry.

In addition 296 have not yet chosen their majors. Most popular of the general majors are economics with 165 students, political science with 119, English with 109 and history with 103.

A comparison of the present freshman and senior classes shows 131 pre-med freshmen and 25 pre-med seniors. There are 179 engineering students among the freshmen compared with 79 of the seniors. Here appears a definite trend away from the strenuous demands of math and science and toward pursuits of culture.

On East campus there are only 14 women taking B.S. degrees. More popular with the women are English with 117 majors, elementary education with 90, sociology with 63, and political science with 55 students.

Tomorrow Night

Blue Devil Frosh Seek Third Win Against Spider Yearlings

By JIM ENGLISH
CHRONICLE Sports Reporter

Coach Tony Drago's vastly-improved Blue Imps tackle a powerful University of Richmond freshman quintet tomorrow night in the Indoor Stadium in a preliminary contest to the Duke-William and Mary varsity game. The Spiderettes have a strong team, and the Imps will have to be at their best to win their third test of the season.

Intramurals

By DAN LEHMAN

Basketball grabs the spotlight this week since the football play-offs scheduled for next week may have to be postponed until after Christmas.

The Division I champion was to be decided today with the two powerhouse Sigma Chi and SAE finally going at it. The winner of this game is to draw a bye in the first round of the play-offs.

PLAYOFF PAIRINGS
The Division IV winner, House N, sporting a six won-one tied record will take on the Division V champions, House G. The Division II leader, who will more than likely be Pi Kappa Phi, will meet the Division III top place team, the Law School.

Wrestling weigh-ins will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of next week between three and four in the intramural office. Entries must make these weigh-ins to be eligible for competition.

SCHEDULES ANNOUNCED

Basketball gets into full swing next week with the scheduling of four games for Monday. In the season's openers, starting at five-thirty in the afternoon, two freshman games are on tap with House CC squaring off against House O and House G plays House J. Starting at 6:20 p.m., House K is pitted against House M and House L opposite the IM football winners House N. At 7:10 p.m., House I is scheduled to meet House P and Theta Chi "B" team will meet the ATO "D" squad. All of the above mentioned frosh teams are A groups. In the two night caps the KA "D" team faces the Sigma Nu B team and Delta Sig "A's" will meet the Beta "B's."

Duke Quint Meets Indians Tomorrow

Cagers Seek Rebound Win

By TOM MARTZ
Senior Sports Reporter

Coach Hal Bradley's Duke basketball squad will attempt to return to winning ways here tomorrow night when they face the Indians from William and Mary at 8:15 in the Indoor Stadium. After scoring over 100 points in their first two wins of the season, the Blue Devils were upset by Vanderbilt last Monday night in a game played at Nashville.

The William and Mary team which comes to Durham tomorrow night is anything but experienced. Hit hard by losses through graduation and a cribbing scandal, Coach Boydson Baled has only one letterman returning from last year's Indian lineup.

SECOND HIGH SCORER

John Maloney, a six-foot five-inch senior, is the lone returnee. A good all-round ball player, Maloney was second high scorer on last year's team and also gathered in plenty of rebounds. Adding much-needed height to the starting five will be two seniors, Charlie Cornell, a six-foot six-inch forward, and 6-8 center Howie Bollermann. Tom Stubbs and Monty Knight, two inexperienced seniors, will start at the guard positions.

In their season opener, William and Mary toppled Hampton-Sidney 73-58. Last year the Indians finished with ten wins and thirteen losses, one of the victories being scored against Duke at Williamsburg by a 85-82 score.

DRIESELL STARS

About the only bright spot for Duke in their loss to Vanderbilt was the stellar performance of Charlie Driesell who poured in nineteen points for the Blue Devils. The Nashville five jumped into the lead at the start and had the upper hand except for a brief moment in the last half.

Sparked by the twenty-two point total of Dan Finch, the Vandies made it three wins in a row previously having defeated Furman and Texas Tech. The Duke squad was way off in its shooting and were repeatedly called for rules infractions, with Captain Bernie Janicki having a technical foul called on him during the heated play of the fourth quarter.

Duke also missed ten free throws, Don Tobin missing on four.

AVERAGES OVER 92

For the first three games of the season, Duke averaged over 92 points per contest while the opposition averaged slightly over 69 points. Joe Belmont leads the individual scoring with forty eight points followed by Janicki with forty three, Rudy D'Emilio with thirty nine, and Marv Decker with thirty four. In the rebound department Decker and Marty Doherty lead with twenty eight each while Janicki has eighteen.

Bradley is expected to revise his line-up slightly for tomorrow night's contest. Driesell may replace Doherty at the pivot with either Decker or Mayer paired with Janicki at the forwards. D'Emilio and Belmont are expected to get the opening call at guards.

Falcone's Grapplers Open With Generals

Coach Carmen Falcone's Duke University wrestlers will open their schedule against the always strong Washington and Lee Generals tomorrow afternoon on the Duke mats.

It is the first match for the Duke grapplers, captained by letterman Fred Campbell. Besides Campbell, who wrestles in the unlimited division, are lettermen Jerry Chadwick and Jim Roth. Pete Landau, who was on the squad last year but did not letter, is another grappler Falcone is counting upon heavily.

Last year the team won five dual meets while losing two, and they captured the state championship for the fifth straight time. Against Washington and Lee last season, the Blue Devils eked out a slim 14-13 triumph.

Freshman Wrestlers Meet South Norfolk

The Duke freshman wrestling team will initiate its 1953-1954 season Saturday against South Norfolk High School at Duke Indoor Stadium.

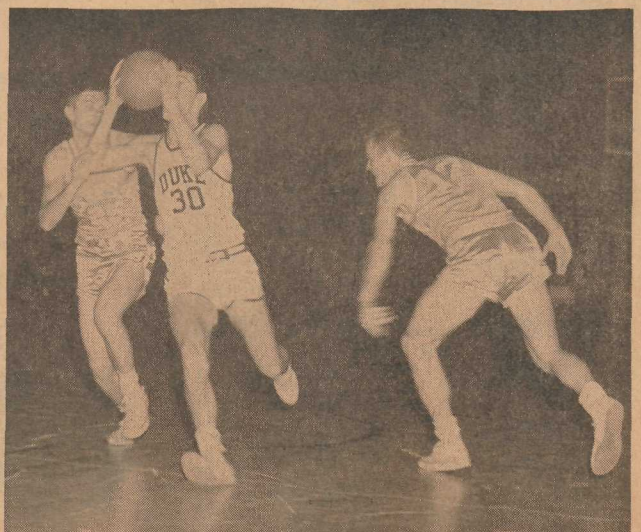

This is the first freshman wrestling squad in several years. It was formed because the ACC will not allow freshman participants in varsity competition and the frosh turn-out proved adequate to warrant a squad.

The probable line-up for Coach E. P. Harrison's grapplers will be: Bob Enholm, 123 pounds; Mickey Smiley, 137 pounds; Sonny McCordorick, 147 pounds; John Mostellar, 157 pounds; Dave Tolmack, 167 pounds; Fred Shephard, 177 pounds; and Norm Simpson, heavyweight.

It is impossible at this time to foresee how successful the Blue Imps will be this season, but Coach E. P. Harrison has been satisfied with the progress of his youthful mat-men.

JOE BELMONT (30), one of the most consistent players on this year's Blue Devil five, drives for two points against the Vols last Saturday. Two Tennessee forwards, Herman Thompson (25) and Lewis Neyland (17) try in vain to stop the hard-driving sophomore. Joe currently leads the Duke cagers having garnered 48 points in the first three games. Duke won the game 101-61.

All-American Team

After the bowl games have been played, the sports staffs of the college newspapers will select an All-American team, which is to be compiled by the sports staff of The PITTSBURGH NEWS, student publication of the University of Pittsburgh.

Watch the CHRONICLE after vacation for the publication of this team.

Each school sends in its selection for a first eleven and the second and third teams are selected on the basis of the total number of votes.
