Summer School Will Open Here June 9, July 20

This summer's university program of instruction will consist of two-week terms—June 9 through July 17 and July 20 through Aug. 27—as announced by the Summer Sessions office.

The program includes instruction in Undergraduate and Graduate Faculties, the School of Forestry, the Divinity School, the School of Spanish Studies and at the Marine Laboratory at Beaufort, North Carolina.

Japanese Civilization, a new course intended to promote understanding of Japan, will also be available.

After their course cards have been written and approved, students may register in advance for summer school on the following dates: graduate students, May 3-June 5; undergraduates, May 17-June 5. This exempts them from being present on June 9, the date for general registration.

Dates for the writing of course cards for the 1954 Fall regular session are as follows:

TRINITY COLLEGE
April 26-27, rising seniors
April 28-29, rising juniors
May 3-5, freshmen and rising sophomores

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING
April 28, rising seniors
April 28, rising juniors
May 3, rising sophomores

WOMAN'S COLLEGE
April 26-27, rising seniors
April 28-30, rising juniors
May 3-5, rising sophomores

SCHOOL OF NURSING
May 6-7, all students planning to enroll

DIVINITY SCHOOL
May 6-7, all students
GRADUATE SCHOOL OF ARTS AND SCIENCES
May 3-4, all students.

Modern Dance Club To Present Recital

The Modern Dance Group will present its annual dance concert Tuesday, March 2, at 8:15 p.m., in the Woman's College Auditorium.

The program will be divided into three sections, the first of which will be entitled "Manhattan Tower," choreographed and directed by Lenore Green, assisted by Dickey Chaste and Jack Evans.

The group is sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

¶Duke Hospital announces the publication of the first issue of the Inter-Com, a newspaper which will serve the more than 1400 employees of the Hospital and Medical School.

¶Featuring all phases in ballroom dancing, lessons will be offered weekly for students from both campuses in the East Campus Ark beginning Thursday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m.

¶Professor George Boas of Johns Hopkins University, will speak on "A Statistical Universe" at the Philosophy Club meeting in the East Building at 3 p.m., Feb. 24.

East Candidates ...

COED CONTENTENDERS — Candidates (who secured petitions prior to Sunday afternoon) for the East Campus Elections which will be held March 1 are: (sitting l.-r.) Betsy Brittain and Julia Allen, nominations for Chairman of Judicial Board; Nancy Roehm and Dial Boyle, candidates for president of WSGA; (standing l.-r.) Kay Meyers, running for Secretary of Judicial Board; Mollie Merfert, nominee for Treasurer of WSGA; and JoAnne Withrow and Virginia Wolley, for Chairman of Social Standards. Nominations closed yesterday.

Boas Will Lecture Tonight To Open Arts Weekend

Speaking tonight on "Modern French Painting: The Transformation of the Object," George Boas, professor at Johns Hopkins University, will open the first annual Duke Arts Weekend.

Co-sponsored by Student Forum and the department of aesthetics, art and music, Mr. Boas is scheduled to discuss techniques of criticism and to answer questions in regard to the general subject.

Continuing the series of events on Thursday night, the Baroque Singers, a trio accompanied by harpichordist Lincoln Stoddard, will present a recital using selections from their repertoire of unusual post-Renaissance music.

Miss Elizabeth Bowen, sometimes termed "the greatest living English woman novelist," will speak Friday night on "The Novel on Both Sides of the Atlantic."

All programs during the weekend will be held in the Music Room of the East Duke Building at 8:15 p.m. The programs are open to the University community and to the general public without admission.

'Peer's' Second Issue Will Appear in March With New Features

The second edition of the Peer, containing more cartoons and two new features, will go on sale about the middle of March, announced editor Lee Edwards.

"The second issue of the Peer will have a much lighter tone with the majority of the stories having a collegiate scene. Realizing the popularity and this campus's need for more cartooning, the Peer will have two full page cartoons and several smaller ones," said Edwards.

He continued, "Two new departments will be movie and television sections which will comment on Durham and nationwide forms of entertainment."

A third and final edition of the Peer will be published in May.

Seniors Should Sign Cards Before March

Trinity College seniors, eligible for graduation in June, must sign diploma cards before March 1, announced Dean W. C. Archie's office. These cards may be obtained in 105 New Administration Building.

Women Students Extend Dormitory Closing Hour To 1 A.M. Saturday Nights

By SUE SMITH
Coed News Editor

By almost unanimous vote Monday night in Woman's Student Government Association meeting, women students passed a rule revision extending the East Campus dormitory closing hour on Saturday night from 12 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Fran Schneidewind, Chairman of Judicial Board, in proposing the change to the student body, explained that discussion in Judicial Board and Student-Staff Committee meetings had also concerned extension of the closing hours on Fridays and Sundays from 11:30 p.m. to 12 p.m.

Judicial Board Acts Against Vandalism; Threatens Culprits

The damage done during the recent snow to windows all over the campus and the damage inflicted upon the concession machines has forced the Judicial Board to prepare to take the severest possible steps in dealing with the culprits if they are apprehended.

"If students continue to abuse concession machines, there is a possibility that they may be removed," said Paul Parker chairman of the Judicial Board. "If the culprits of this current vandalism are caught, they will get the sternest possible penalties that the Board can mete out."

The Judicial Board was "pleased that there were no cases of cheating brought before them as a result of the recent semester examinations," added Parker.

The maximum penalty of suspension was imposed upon another man who was accused of stealing books from the shelves in front of the Union dining halls.

Reasons given by the Student-Staff Committee for not proposing this latter change to the East Campus General Staff were that classes are held on the following days and that certain confusion might arise in the making of this change on Fridays and Sundays.

WORK BRINGS RESULTS

The Saturday night revision, to go into effect this weekend, is the result of work by the WSGA Council, Judicial Board and the Student-Staff Committee. Recommendations for the revision of house closing hours were brought to Judicial Board last fall.

After discussion in Judicial Board and WSGA Council meetings, the Judicial Board took the proposals for changes in hours on all three nights to the Student-Staff Committee.

INFORMAL DISCUSSION

This body, composed of representatives from the faculty, the house counselors and the student body, met in informal discussion periods and decided to present only the Saturday night revision to the East Campus General Staff which passed the change by a majority vote.

Chapel Funeral Services Held Here Friday For Fearing, Advisor of Student Activities

Funeral services for Robert Beveridge Fearing, advisor to student activities in Trinity College, who died at the Veterans' Administration Hospital on Wednesday, were held Friday, at 10 a. m. in Duke Chapel.

A native of Elizabeth City, Fearing had been a member of the Duke Staff since 1935. He was former director of the Duke Band for eight years and had served as manager of Quadrangle Pictures since 1945 when he returned from military service.

FEARING

Fearing was graduated from Elizabeth City High School and entered Duke in 1926. He also studied at the Toledo Conservatory of Music where he received his Artist's Certificate. Previous to joining the Duke Staff, he served on the Conservatory faculty and from 1932-33, he headed the violin department at Lousburg College.

Active in church and civic affairs, he was director of the Trinity Methodist Church choir, program director for the Kiwanis Club and a member of the board of directors of the local Red Cross Chapter.

Fearing was an honorary member of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honorary fraternity; a member of Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity and of Beta Omega Sigma, undergraduate leadership fraternity.

Indian Lecture

Dr. Putcha, physicist from India, will speak on Indian problems of today at 7:15 p.m., Feb. 25 in the Men's Graduate Center.

Home-Made Culture

There have been signs that the student body is more than a sponge, that it can contribute to the university as well as take. An outstanding example is this week's "Three-Arts Program" sponsored by the Woman's Student Forum. Not a plan superimposed by faculty or administration to force "culture" on the students, the program is student-initiated and planned.

There have been other hints this year of an increasing student interest in creative art. In December, an original play by Denny Marks was presented. The newly formed Areopagus Literary society challenged any fraternity to equal its presentation of an Henrik Ibsen play last Friday night. Much of its own choreography is done by the Modern Dance Club. Hoof 'n' Horn is presenting another student-written-and-directed musical this spring. These together with literary and artistic contributions to the Archive and Duke Peer form a picture of growing activity in the realm of arts, the significance of which will be felt increasingly in the future.

This year's Arts Weekend, for example, could be but one step in the direction of annual arts festival in which both students and professionals participate in a series of workshops and programs. We can look forward with a certain amount of pride to such programs as the "Three-Arts" weekend. It is something peculiarly our own.

Students' Loss

We note with deep regret the passing of Robert B. Fearing, an able and hard working member of the University staff for the past 19 years. His work was primarily in the field of student activities; and it is the students, past and present, who shall always remember the great encouragement he gave and the willingness with which he helped them in their extracurricular activities.

Nearly every student activity at one time or another, depended upon Mr. Fearing's wonderful aid and guidance. And his efforts with the Duke Band, Hoof and Horn, and the Quadrangle Pictures deserve special praise. Indeed, the students of this university can help but feel a great loss at the passing of this man who was on interested in seeing them attain their ambitions.

Letters to the Editor

Co-Educational Dorms

Editor, the CHRONICLE;

Sir, after speaking to the house counselor of one of the dormitories on East Campus who prefers to remain anonymous for obvious reasons, I was struck with the idea of establishing at Duke University, the policy followed by a small college in Western Pennsylvania.

The policy is one which, although definitely vetoed by our Victorian administration, would meet with the approval of the entire West Campus community and, I am fairly certain, a large majority of the East Campus population. This innovation that I propose is that of coeducational dormitories.

Hendrix To Give Recital

At the next meeting of the Music Study Club, Friday at 4 p. m., Mildred Hendrix, Duke Chapel organist, will give an informal organ recital and demonstration in the Chapel.

Dean's List Announced

The Woman's College announces that 27 per cent or 268 of the upperclassman and 24 per cent or 61 of the freshman made the Dean's list or a B average last semester.

Achieving Dean's list rank means upperclassmen are entitled to two cuts per semester hour.

It seems to me that this idea, if adopted, would serve to bring about an increase in the much lamented "school spirit."

I find it a system of such a nature that would result, not in a depreciation of the morals of our great university, but in the alleviation of the unhappy state of unpreparedness of our graduates.

An alternative to this proposal, I offer that instead of placing the hapless men who are unfortunate enough to be apprehended on East after the curfew hour in police custody... they should establish rooms in the various houses that grace East for these people.

As was mentioned before, these suggestions are brought forth after discussion with an East Campus house counselor, and her guarantee that they would have her whole hearted support.

Congressional Investigations

Morse Proposes Legislation; Barth Attacks Committees

By MIKI SOUTHERN

Senior Staff Reporter

(This is the first in a series of articles on international and national affairs written by Miki Southern and Judy Kasler who attended the Christian Citizenship Seminar in New York and Washington recently as representatives of the CHRONICLE and the University. This article is an account of an interview with Senator Wayne Morse and a speech by Allen C. Barth, Washington journalist.)

With the declaration that "you don't have to resort to police state," Wayne Morse, independent senator from Oregon, announced his intention of presenting a bill in Congress soon providing for the safeguards of a civil court for witnesses appearing before Congressional Investigating Committees.

Lashing out against some of the methods used by these investigation groups, the Senator, who bolted the Republican Party before the last national elections and was re-elected from his state by a 2-1 majority as an "independent," listed points in his bill which he believes will guarantee witnesses the same rights which they would have in regular courts of law.

BILL FEATURES

Features of the bill include the right to a bill of particulars, the right for full legal counsel, cross-examination privileges, elimination of the use of anonymous material in prosecuting the case, the right of the defense to present its own case (within a specific time limit) and the right to appeal contempt of court charges.

Baritone Harrell's Concert Is Pleased And Well-Received

By VIRGINIA HILLMAN

Last Thursday evening Mr. Mack Harrell sang a well-chosen program of songs in Page Auditorium.

Opening the program with the Latin songs, Mr. Harrell had an excellent opportunity to display the deep, sombre tones of his baritone. The "Et Jesum benedictum" was a magnificent study in the richness of that type of voice.

The French lyrics, though fresh and delightful and often amusing, were too light and quick to do justice to the voice. In several of the songs there was too great an emphasis on the text, and the musical element suffered.

In the hauntingly beautiful songs from Schubert's "Winterreise" Mr. Harrell reached the peak of the evening's performance. He kindly explained the story of the long journey told in the course of the songs, and he gave to each song the subtle colouring needed to effect the necessary change of scenes.

The American songs were pleasurable, but not as interesting as the others. The "Steal Away" was a wonderful example of the classic Negro Spiritual.

Altogether the songs were well-accompanied, and with Mr. Harrell's fine baritone voice, the evening was a success.

Mr. Morse declared flatly, in answer to a student question, that the Communist party should be outlawed because "it stands for the overthrow of the government by force... and the government has the right to protect itself."

SEMINAR SESSION

Whether Congressional committees are the correct method for this "protection" was discussed in another seminar session with Allen C. Barth, editorial writer for the Washington Post, who pointed out that in legislative government, these committees are set up to glean information for the public not obtainable any other way.

The Un-American Activities Committees, he stated, were appointed to expose the spread of Communism in the United States, not to prepare a basis for legal action against individuals or groups. Other committees set up for similar purposes have served the public well, Mr. Barth commented, but the committees investigating Communism have presented "a grave problem even when their intent is to investigate a general problem."

TYRANT LEGISLATURE

Changing that the McCarthy committee had "summoned and questioned individuals of the press, educational and religious bodies... even Bishop Oxnham, in an intimidating manner..." the Washington newspaperman warned that "a tyrant need not be an individual but (could be) a body of men in a legislature." Barth attacked the Loyalty Oath required for teachers as "grave and dangerous impropriety," and urged that university faculties "keep to themselves the authority to hire and fire... to preserve academic freedom."

Neither of the two men commented on the chances of the bill's passage in Congress.

'Y' Representatives Journey To Atlanta For Student Council

In an effort to gain new ideas for the local organization, three members of the Duke YMCA will attend the annual Southern Area YMCA Student Council in Atlanta, Ga., this weekend, Feb. 26-28.

Vice-president Bill Huntley, junior cabinet chairman Steve Tope, and freshman 'Y' president Mickey Smiley of the local YMCA will be among the approximately 300 delegates from 70 colleges and universities throughout the South who will attend the meeting this year.

Placing special emphasis on its interracial program, the YMCA will hold the conference at Atlanta University, a Negro institution.

The principle idea of the annual conference is to plan the activities and objectives of the YMCA for the coming year.

Other YMCA conferences coming up soon are the National YMCA Conference in New York City and the Blue Ridge Training Conference.

The Fan's Fare

By CHARLES WRAY

A better brand of basketball and increased spectator interest has caused basketball in North Carolina to rise to a success level the sport never before enjoyed.

The better basketball, both from the viewpoint of the players and the spectators, is good; in fact, it is very good because now there are two sports instead of one carrying the financial burden of a big-time athletic program. But with all good must come the bad, and there is definitely something wrong with basketball in the hotly-contested Big Four area. Namely, the students of the participating schools have gone overboard for the sport and in all Big Four gymnasiums the basic principles of good sportsmanship have been discarded.

There is nothing wrong with going to a ball game and yelling your lungs out for your favorite team. Even an occasional "boo" at an officials' decision can also be tolerated, but things are in bad shape when an injured opponent is "boomed" and when fans hurl abusive remarks and sometimes their fists at the officials after the game.

Those of us present at the recent George Washington game saw flagrant "booming" of the officials, and the further the Blue Devils got behind the louder the protests of disagreement became. Also after the game, a fan took a wild swing at one of the Mills twins who officiated the game. (In all fairness, however, it must be said that no one knows whether it was a student or not who took the "poke" at the official.)

Nevertheless, the fact remains that both incidents occurred in Duke's gymnasium and neither did anything to enhance the reputation of our University.

Because Duke athletic officials and students have the reputation of treating our guests as such, visiting teams have long liked to visit our school, but such student conduct as has been evidenced here, particularly at the GW game, doesn't go unnoticed.

There is no justifying our actions by pointing at other schools as examples. Duke University has long been a leader both scholastically and athletically, so let's make our school a leader toward making the sport of basketball a better game.

Remember, visiting teams and coaches are the guests of our University—let's treat them as such.

Conference Swim Meet Begins Thursday In Raleigh; Six Schools Send Contestants

The first annual Atlantic Coast Conference swimming meet will be held this week, Thursday through Saturday, on the campus of North Carolina State College.

The event will find contestants competing for individual honors instead of a team title, which was decided on the basis of regular season dual competition.

SIX SCHOOLS ENTER

Six of the eight ACC schools will compete—Duke, Clemson, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, and the host State team. Wake Forest and Maryland do not have swimming teams.

The host State team will be the heavy favorites to cop individual honors, since the Wolf-pack emerged from their regular season schedule with the team title. The Pack won the team title last Thursday by defeating North Carolina, 53-31. It was the second win of the season for the first ACC champions over the Tar Heels.

Coach W. S. (Jack) Persons' Duke team will enter the three-day event, but only captain Ron Walske and the 400-yard freestyle relay team are expected to be a threat for top honors.

Walske has beaten the best in the conference in dual competition this season in his specialty, the 50-yard freestyle. Numbered among his victims are State's Don Sonia.

Sam MacMillan, Dave DeWitt, Fred Watkins, and Walske form Persons' 400-yard relay team.

WRESTLING

The varsity and freshman wrestlers each have two meets this week.

Today both teams are at Chapel Hill to meet the UNC grapplers, and tomorrow they return home to face a strong State team.

Devils Need Triumph To Gain Top-Seeded Tournament Position

By HERB LODDER
Senior Sports Reporter

After picking up their eighth straight win, the Blue Devils roll on to their second conference game with South Carolina's Gamecocks here tonight at 8:15. Currently leading the conference with a record of 7-1, the Devils need only this victory to sew up the top-seeded spot in the ACC Tournament in Raleigh.

In the game played earlier this season the Gamecocks faced the Devils on the wrong night. Hitting for nearly 50% of their shots, the Duke five won an $9-69 decision.

Although the visitors do not possess an impressive record, they have played some sterling games this season. The State Wolfpack barely edged them, 68-62 in Charlotte. They have the power and are capable of upsetting the highly-favored Blue Devils.

SCORING LEADER

Coach Frank Johnson has a fairly well-balanced squad, but forward Joe Smith figures to be the man to watch. Currently leading the USC scoring, he tied with Bernie Janicki for high honors in the previous contest. Both collected 20 points.

Tom Hofferth will pair off with Smith at the other forward, while Bob Peterson or Mervin Rabinowitz and Jack Hufford will start guard. Lee Collins, a 6-8 giant will be in the center slot.

EXCITING WIN

Last Saturday the Blue Devils came from behind to down the UNC Tarheels, 67-63. In an exciting game played in the Woolen Gym, the Devils never seemed to get started.

The game was tied up 38 all at half-time, thanks to the fine outside shooting of Rudy D'Emilio and Joe Belmont. The third quarter saw the Tarheels pull ahead by as much as seven points, yet Duke, rated fifth in the nation offensively, grabbed the lead early in the fourth quarter and was never headed thereafter.

Phi Psi Dates . . .

FRIDAY FORMAL—Phi Kappa Psi held its Founder's Day formal dance Friday night from 9-12 at the Hope Valley Country Club. Pete Geissler's Pastels provided the music. Sponsors and their dates were: Merrimann Jacobs with John Larsen, Ellenor Terry with Vince Anderson, Suzanne Smith with Reg Hamel, Mary Patton with Bob Burnham, Kay Kerr with Doring Dahl, and Joan Boyd with Bill Patty.

Group Meets March 12 Duke Surgeons Elected

The Southeastern section of the Orthopedic Appliance and Limb Manufacturer's Association will hold its annual regional meeting at Duke Hospital and Duke Medical School, March 12-13, it was announced today.

Dr. Barnes Woodhall and Dr. Guy L. Odom, Duke neurosurgeon, were named president and program chairman, respectively, of the Southern Neurosurgical Society, a society comprising about one-fourth of the nation's brain surgeons.

GYMNASTS LOSE

Duke's gymnastics team dropped its fourth meet of the season last Thursday, losing to a strong University of North Carolina team, 56-23.

The win evened the Tar Heels record at 3-3.

Blue Devil Captain Jack Evans injured his arm in a fall from the rings and will be lost to the squad indefinitely.
