Edens Discloses Wide Revisions

Chautemps Speaks

French Ex-Premier Reviews European Weaknesses Here

By DEAN BELK

Reviewing the weaknesses of the political and economic conditions of France and Europe, M. Camille Chautemps spoke at a banquet in his honor at the Men's Graduate Center Saturday night.

He believes the big problem in Europe is unity. The continent is divided into small countries that are weak because there is no free flow of trade. Premier Robert Schuman's plans for pooling the coal industry was the first effort to remove this barrier. So far, the plan has worked well. The European Defense Community should have been the second, but fear of a new Germany caused the French National Assembly to reject it.

Three times in a lifetime France has been desolated by the German armies. During the 1940 and 1944 bombings two million homes were destroyed.

M. Chautemps lost his home, and his personal possessions were stolen. The Germans shot four brothers, a son-in-law, and two nephews. Many other families have suffered similar hardships at the hands of those they now are called upon to rearm, claimed the former premier.

The former Premier thinks Mendes-France will lead France for a long time. The present Premier is a man of strong character who has surrounded himself with young, unknown men. These are men of a new generation who will bring something "new" to France.

Chautemps said the Russians are not to be trusted, and that he is not impressed with their noise. For the present, the West must bear with them. In the future, however, he is sure we will win the cold war.

Trustees Raise Fees Due to Higher Costs; Endowment Enlarged

The Board of Trustees has approved annual increases of $100 in tuition and $50 in room rent, it was announced by President A. Hollis Edens at Founders' Day exercises Saturday. The increases will go into effect in September.

The income derived from the increased fees will be used, stated Edens, for the support of the University's annual expenses, student activities, renovation of dormitory interiors and increased scholarship funds.

Prefacing his announcement of the increase, Dr. Edens said that among major private universities in the nation, Duke has ranked "close to the bottom" in cost. He added that room rent has not been increased on West Campus since the erection of the dormitories, while East Campus has suffered "slight increases."

Dr. Edens also stated that there have been no "large increases in tuition since Duke became a university 30 years ago. Dr. Edens announced that $2,250,000 has been added to the endowment of the University since the beginning of the fiscal year. However only the income of $90,000 will be available to defray part of the cost of running the University. The total cost of maintaining the University, he announced, is approximately $7 million annually, with a deficit of $900,000.

Dr. Edens also discussed freedom to the Orange Bowl in his informal address. "Academic freedom is not a bulwark for exhibitionists," he stated. "It is not preserved by shouting about it; it is preserved by practicing it," he continued. Dr. Edens went on to state that Duke has always and will always defend the right of instructors to present the truth as they see it, without fear.

On the Orange Bowl, Dr. Edens said that he supports Duke's appearance "enthusiastically and wholeheartedly," although, he "personally feels that sports should be confined to the season in which they are normally played." "However," he concluded, "I believe in democracy, and therefore let the majority rule."

DR. EDENS

University to Install New OP, Cut System for Juniors, Seniors

President A. Hollis Edens highlighted Founders' Day exercises in Page Auditorium Saturday by announcing that the Undergraduate Faculty Council had approved wide revisions in the present quality point and attendance systems.

According to a bulletin released by the Council, the plan, described by Edens, will provide for virtually unregulated attendance for junior and senior students, tempered by a graduated scale of requirement "hurdlers" which will make it necessary to maintain a 1.5 average out of a possible 4.0 in order to graduate.

The plan, which goes into effect in September, also stipulates that continuation in college will be impossible for freshmen who do not maintain a quality point ratio of 1.2, sophomores, 1.4, and juniors, 1.6. The quality point ratio, or average, will be computed, as heretofore, by dividing the quality points earned by the semester hours carried.

Under the new system, graduation requirements will be as follows: Trinity and Woman's College, 124 semester hours and 248 quality points with a quality point equivalent of 1.9; the College of Engineering, 148 semester hours and 296 quality points with a 1.9 average.

The purpose of the new system is to stimulate the production of "quality work throughout the four-year period." According to a Faculty Council source, it is generally felt that the "emphasis will be shifted so that the individual student will meet his academic obligations, if he will, with little or no attendance regulation in his last year. However, it will no longer be possible for students to receive degrees with 124 quality points and 130 hours as in the past."

Absence regulations will remain unchanged, according to the bulletin, for underclassmen with the exception that the double-cut penalty governing attendance before and after holidays will be supplanted by a penalty of reduced quality points per unexcused absence. This rule will also apply to the upper classes.

Text of New System

A commitment to quality instruction has long been a guiding principle of Duke University. By constant study the faculty and administrative officers have endeavored to develop means by which the objective may be achieved on the highest level. Effective action, it must include assumption of responsibility by the student. With this in mind, and on the basis of careful and extended consideration the faculty has approved a change in the point system which will stimulate the students of the three undergraduate colleges to do quality work throughout the four-year period and an accompanying relaxation of the absence regulations which will place the responsibility for class attendance on the students of the junior and senior levels.

The new regulations fall into three areas: (1) Quality instruction, (2) attendance for continuation in college and for graduation from college, (3) absences.

(1) Quality instruction. In the three colleges, Trinity College, the Engineering College, and the Woman's College, the quality point values which will be assigned to letter grades are: A, 4.0; for an A-, 3.5; for a B+, 3.0; for a B, 2.5; for a C+, 2.0; for a C, 1.5; for a D+, 1.0; for a D, 0.5; for an F, 0.0.

(2) Requirements for continuation in college and for graduation from college. The requirements in this area will be supplementary to those now in effect. They consist of a minimum of 124 quality points for graduation from Trinity College and 148 quality points for graduation from the Engineering College and 296 quality points for graduation from the Woman's College.

THE COLLEGIUM MUSICUM, a group of singers under the direction of Mr. William Klenz, is shown practicing for the "Singing Christmas Tree," to be presented Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Chapel. This service, which is sponsored annually by the YWCA senior cabinet, will last approximately half an hour. Presenting liturgical hymns and carols of the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, the singers will use chimes in addition to their own organ during the program.

Debaters Trek to Charlottesville Tourney For ACC Contest on Stormy National Topic

Despite recent pressures exerted by influential members of the United States government to curtail debate on the national topic for 1955: "Resolved: That the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the communist government of China," eight Duke debaters traveled to Charlottesville, Va., this weekend for expressly that purpose.

The Duke debaters were Tom Gilchrist, Jim Harbison, Bruce O'Dea, Tom Chapman, Carl Stewart, Keith Davis, Norval Fortson, and Don Burdick.

Accompanying the students were foreman director Joseph C. Weinherby, and law student Harry Bernard, who will assist in the judging.

The Duke debaters did not fare as well in this tournament as in the South Carolina debate tourney. However, Chapman and O'Dea did manage to win their respective series.

Union Board Seeks Holiday Suggestions

The Student Union Board of Governors has requested that all students, who plan to remain at the University over the Christmas vacation, leave their suggestions at the Student Union office as to which portion of the Student Union they would prefer to have open during the holidays. The Student Union office is located on the first floor of the new Student Union building.

Colonel Calls Latin America Defense Flaw

"Latin America could be the Achilles heel in the defense of the United States," Col. C. F. Buck of the Armed Forces Industrial College emphasized here at the second week of meetings of the National Resources Conference.

Hemispheric solidarity is vital to U.S. defense, and the greatest threat to solidarity right now is the possibility of Communists infiltration in South America.

Protection of the 20 independent nations of the Western Hemisphere south of the United States could become a major problem in the event of a third world war, he declared.

"We should learn the lesson well that the destinies which affect our neighbors also will affect us."

The total Western Hemisphere from Alaska, with its greatest strategic importance and extensive industrial possibilities, to the tip of South America, with its many important raw materials, comprising one-fourth of the world's land area and one eighth of its human population, might well be the world island of the future," he said.

EDITORIAL

Thank You

The increase in fees announced by the President here Saturday will mean a bigger and better Chronicle for our readers. If current plans are successful, the Tuesday edition will be expanded and the proportion of advertising will be slashed to a maximum of 40%.

The financial picture for the Chronicle has been growing progressively worse since the late forties when the cost of printing started its spiral. As of the end of the last fiscal year, the net worth of the Chronicle stood at approximately $200. The annual expenses have ranged around the $17,000 mark with printing and engraving the prime expenses. Losses for last year topped $1,500.

The result of the financial pinch has been all too evident: the Chronicle has been forced to run an absurd amount of advertising. Although the picture for this year is brighter due to an increased space rate, another deficit year seems inescapable.

The renaissance will be here with September, and our readers will thereafter be more protected from the ad men who take particular delight in squeezing editorial matter into corners such as this one in which we are residing.

We would like to utter a rather stifled "thank you" to the Board of Trustees for rescuing us from our financial strait jacket. THANK YOU.

point ratio (q.p.r.), and in case of graduation a minimum number of quality points. A student's q.p.r. is calculated by dividing the quality points earned by the semester hours carried (not semester hours passed).

For continuation from the minimum requirement will be: 1st year to 2nd year, 18 s.s. credit and a q.p.r. of 1.2; 2nd to 3rd year, 42 s.s. credit and a q.p.r. of 1.4; 3rd to 4th year, 66 s.s. credit and a q.p.r. of 1.6; 4th to 5th year, if needed, 90 s.s. credit and a q.p.r. of 1.75.

The s.s. and q.p.r. in this table refer to accumulated hours and quality points earned. The q.p.r. is based on the 4 to 0 quality point count.

For graduation from the minimum requirement will be: Trinity and Woman's College, 124 s.s., 248 q.p. and a q.p.r. of 1.9; Engineering College, 148 s.s., 296 q.p. and a q.p.r. of 1.9.

(3) Absences. The regulations which will govern absences and tardies are comprised of the following:

(a) The present regulations on absences and tardies, save the double cut penalty before and after holidays, will apply to students in their first and second college years of residence. The number of quality points deducted for excessive absences will remain the same.

(b) For absences before and after announced holidays two quality points (new system) will be deducted for each absence in each class and all consecutive classes for all students. (In the case of students in their first four semesters such absences that count as regular absences under regulation (a) above and also result in direct quality loss.)

(c) The instructor will report to the Dean any student who in his opinion is causing his work or that of his class to suffer because of his absences or tardies.

The new system will become effective in September, 1955. The University, however, recognizes fully its obligation not to impose unfair hardship on those students who have developed their programs under the old system. The plan, therefore, includes wide discretionary powers to deans relative to the application of the regulations to students now enrolled.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

Members of the Braxton Craven Chapter of the Future Teachers of America will gather for a party tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the Presidents' Club Room in the basement of the Woman's Auditorium.

The department of history has recently announced a lecture by visiting scholar Professor Douglas Adair of William and Mary College, Editor of the William and Mary Quarterly, on "Alexander Hamilton: Some Unresolved Problems," in the Student Union building, room 208, Thursday, Dec. 16, at 3 p.m.

Dr. James W. Miller, chairman of the department of philosophy at William and Mary College, will speak on "Dramatic Implications in Plato's Dialogues" at 4 p.m. tomorrow, in the Green Room, East Duke building.

The joint UNC-Duke Physics Colloquium will meet tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. at the University of North Carolina. Dr. Henry Newson will speak on "Neutron Resonances in the Kilovolt Region."

A concert by the Duke University Concert Band will be presented in the Woman's College Auditorium tonight at 8:15 p.m. The concert will include music by Moussorgsky, Beethoven, Chesnokov, Barber, and others. Highlighting the program will be the first performance of an original composition by Dick Trevvarthen. Bandmaster Harold Andrews will conduct. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The Campus Chest Committee will soon begin deliberating on charities that will be chosen to be recipients of student collections to be made this spring. If any student has a charity that he is especially interested in and would like to see the committee consider it, he should turn it in to Herbert Lodder, Box 4778, or House L-205.

While all charities submitted may not receive funds the need and appropriateness of each one in regard to the Duke community will be carefully considered.

The annual Faculty Club Christmas party will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 17, in the West Campus Union. Dinner will be served promptly at 7 p.m. All tickets, both for members and their guests, must be secured from the treasurer of the club, Mr. H. S. Morgan, room 102E, Allen Building, prior to 5 p.m. tonight. No reservations will be accepted after this date.

Joining in their annual Christmas dinner tonight will be members of the Woman's Student Government Association Council, the faculty and administration and guests from the Men's Student Government Association in the East Campus Union.

At Christmas Time
Remember the Lady
Who Scrubbed Behind
Your Ears . . .

We needn't remind you that Mom rates the best on Christmas. But we do venture to suggest that if she needs an ear trumpet, she'll buy it herself. What she wants from you is something that will show that you know she's still full of life, with nary a cobweb on the belfry.

This Christmas, pay Mom the compliment of treating her as a contemporary. Let your gift tell her that she's on her mental toes and going strong. We think one of these books might do the trick.

The Rogers and Hart Song Book. So swiftly time moves! It was only yesterday that Pop had to wait his turn to dance to some of these favorites with the sweetest dame in the world and you can bet your life she'll thank you for this beautiful collection! . . . $7.50

Robert Crowell's Story—Here's the autobiography of a man who was turned into a woman. Written with grace and restraint, we think it will fascinate but not shock. Believe us, Mom will not put it down! . . . $3.00

View from Pompey's Head, by Hamilton Basso. A very fine novel, with a Southern setting. We think it will be kept among Mom's favorites. . . . $3.95

Goodbye, My Lady, by James Street. A tender and beautiful animal story, a little reminiscent of "The Yearling", and a wonderful gift. . . . $3.00

Burl Ives Tales of America—Here is a glorious folklore round-up, collected and set down by the famous singer of folk ballads. . . . $3.95

A King's Heritage—by King Peter II, of Yugoslavia. Exiled royalty always carries a romantic appeal, and we think Mom will delight in this frank story of the handsome young man who was thrown out of a job by the power-happy politicians. . . . $5.00

Good Morning Miss Dove, by Frances Gray Patton. The beloved North Carolina author has hit the jack pot with this novel. It's a book club choice, a best seller, and everybody is talking about it. Mom will enjoy it too. . . . $2.75

Free Love and Heavenly Sinners, by Robert Shaplen. We think Mom will feel rakish when she reads this lively account of Henry Ward Beecher's fall from grace! It has all the charm of a good gossip session. . . . $3.95

The Second Treasury of Early American Homes, by Richard Pratt. If Mom enjoyed the first volume of this luxurious treasury, she'll find the second even more delightful if she merely longed for it, here's your chance to bowl her over! $12.50

Shadows in Silver, by Kocher and Dearstyne. People, plantations, towns and cities of Virginia, as recorded in old photographs. A jewel of a book! $7.50

The Dog—If Mom has a weakness for the snuffy tribe, tuck one of these charming cartoon books in with her other presents. She'll appreciate the chance for a good laugh! $1.00

Shut! We Can't List 'em All! The shop is just bulging with books Mom would enjoy. Come look them over, and remember, if it's lively enough for you, Mom will like it too!
