Liddy Hanford Elected President Of WSGA

Morgan Wins Y Head; 717 Members Voted

Rick Morgan defeated Neil Williams Wednesday for the presidency of the Young Men's Christian Association in the largest election of the organization ever held here.

Morgan tallied 373 votes against Williams' 329 to win the election in which 717 votes were cast.

Joe Goodman was elected vice-president over Bob Longworth, Don Fry defeated Lin Hollowell for secretary, and Glenn Warren won the treasurer's race from Tom Biggs.

Morgan has served as vice-president of the 'Y' during the past year and is president of the junior class. He and Williams were selected by the Board of Directors from a list of prospective candidates to run for the office.

Goodman, who had 355 votes against Longworth's 325, was president of the Freshman Council last year.

Don Fry received 384 votes in his victory over Lin Hollowell, who had 293 votes.

Glenn Warren was elected treasurer with 430 votes over Tom Biggs with 241 votes.

Also elected in the balloting were eight faculty members to serve on the organization's Board of Directors. Elected were Dr. Allan Carter, John Dozier, Dr. William Fairbank, Dr. Clyde Manschreck, Dr. James Phillips, Dean Howard Strobel, Dr. James Truesdale, and Dr. Richard Watson.

Al Wheeler, outgoing president, said "it is an excellent slate of officers and the 'Y' could not lose. I am very pleased with the large turnout."

The new officers will be installed next Tuesday at a banquet in the Old Trinity Room at 5:30 p.m.

LIDDY HANFORD AND ELLEN BRADLEY

Bradley To Chairman New Judicial Board

By SHIRLEY MOORE

With 81 percent of the active members voting, the Woman's Student Government Association has elected Liddy Hanford to the presidency of the organization and Ellen Bradley to the chairmanship of Judicial Board.

Other major offices have been delegated to Sue Ratts, vice-president of WSGA; Betty Quillian, secretary; Sarah Thomas, treasurer; Ginger Atwood, assistant treasurer; Sandy Batcliffe, secretary of Judicial Board; and Marty Ellis, chairman of Social Standards.

Expressing her post-election gratitude, Miss Hanford said, "To the students of East Campus I would like to say a sincere thank you. It will be a pleasure to work with the excellent council which they have chosen, and with the student body backing us up. I see no reason why 1957-58 should not be a most successful year for WSGA."

Of her future plans for Judicial Board, Miss Bradley stated, "It is my most sincere hope that next year through the newly-elected officers the problems of the student body can be brought to light and solved in a realistic, concrete, and true way."

The new dormitory presidents and judicial representatives elected by each house are: Alspaugh, Bess Hart and Nancy Urban; Aycock, Peggy Wood and Kay Davis; Bassett, Shirley Ann and Jody Doughton; Brown, Laura Penfield and Margaret Stennis; Giles House has elected Dot McCall and Julie Bay; Jarvis, Mary Irving Carlyle and Carolyn Groth; Pegasus, Barbara Barksdale and Charlotte A. Douglas; Southgate, Carolyn Grosz and Eleanor De Rienzo.

The Town Girls have chosen Mary Jo Plinnhard and Rosalie Bryan; the students who will live in the dormitories now under construction, designated A and B, have chosen Sue Bevans and Kitten Barringer, and Carleese Mott and Vee Taylor, respectively.

Newly-elected Publications Board members are Judy Brugh, Alice McKee, Helen Randolph, and Nancy Nutter.

CODE PREVIOUSLY TABLED

MSGA Specifies Rules And Penalties For West

Refusing a host of amendments offered from the floor, the MSGA legislature Wednesday night passed a penal code for West Campus as amended by the special penal code committee.

The code had been tabled when previously brought before the legislators January 9, and the special committee amended the code to meet the objections of the legislators.

Major changes according to committee chairman Pat Patton in existing regulations are: 1) The maximum penalty for freshman car violations was expulsion — now suspension. 2) Removal of repeated excessive drinking from expulsion penalty (on grounds that it is covered elsewhere in the code) 3) Simple willful presence at any form of mob violence was removed from penalty. 4) Transfer of meal tickets and athletic books was removed from any penalty at all. 5) Under academic probation, the Judicial Board no longer has the power to require the achievement of certain scholastic averages.

The Penal Code must be approved by Dr. Herbert J. Herring before it goes into effect. If Dr. Herring refuses, members of the student government have indicated that the bill will be submitted to the students in a referendum to obtain their opinions on the matter.

Attorney General Bill Baker said that by making the penal code part of MSGA legislation "theoretically MSGA is a litigant in all cases of violations of the penal code." An amendment by Bill Kloman, one of the few accepted from the floor (now Section 6 of the code), reiterates the power of the Attorney General of the Association to act as prosecutor in cases arising from infraction of the regulations.

However Baker said that the powers of the Attorney General had in reality been changed little, and that the Attorney General, while he has the right to appear as prosecutor, will in actuality never exercise it except

Campus Chest Extends Drive; $1800 Contributed

When the Campus Chest Drive reached its original deadline Wednesday, only $1,800 had been collected, so the drive has been extended until next Wednesday, March 13.

Dick Jacques, drive chairman, said "I doubt if we will approach the goal, but we would like to get another $1,000."

The goal of the drive is $4,500 from West Campus students. East Campus held its drive in the Fall.

Jacques explained that the fraternities especially have been comparatively weak in their contributions. He said some fraternities have been "tremendous," but "one 60-member fraternity turned in $11.60 and another with 50 members turned in $19."

The freshmen are contributing over $1 per person. So far the first-year students have given nearly $700.

The independents have given a total of approximately $250, but much more is expected this week.

Steve Hankins, head of independent collections, said the entire drive should "hit $3,000."

Further lauding the freshmen, Jacques said they "have been fair and generous in their support of charities."

From the money that is collected the Campus Chest Committee will give funds to three Durham charities: the John Avery Boys Club, the South Side Child Care Center, and the Red Shield Boys' Club. Nationally, money will be given to the American Cancer Society, the Heart Fund, Radio Free Europe, and CARE.

Jacques urged the drive's collectors to continue their efforts every night until next Wednesday in an attempt to get more contributions.

Ivy Honorary Society Taps Forty Freshmen

Forty freshmen women were tapped for Ivy, the freshmen scholastic honorary, Monday evening, March 4, in WSGA assembly, when they were presented with small ivy leaves.

Margery Newton, president of Ivy, presented the dormitory scholarship cup. Aycock claimed the cup from Pegasus with an average of 2.8123, while Jarvis took second place from Giles with an average of 2.7697.

The following freshmen women achieved the necessary 3.25 average or above in order to be tapped into Ivy: Polly Akin, Susan Alexander, Rae Allen, Elizabeth Blandford, Jean Blankenship, Lena Bradley, Jane Chaney, Catherine Clark, Carol Corder, Frances Darrah, Lee Day, Diane Dill, Joan Gavitt, Margaret Grady, Jane Hastings, and Sarah Hunter.

Seventy-Five Angier B. Duke Finalists Arrive At University To Compete For Scholarships

Earlier today, 75 finalists in the competition for Angier B. Duke scholarships arrived on campus to participate in final tests and to be entertained at numerous functions.

This afternoon the finalists who are outstanding high school seniors from this region, were guests at a luncheon held in the Private Dining Room in the East Campus Union. From 2-5 p.m. they underwent a series of tests and this evening are participating in a dinner held in the Social Hall of the West Campus Union.

Tonight the finalists will attend the Duke Players production of Shaw's Major Barbara. A reception in the Flowers Lounge will follow the play.

Saturday morning the Awards Committee will interview the finalists. The last event on the agenda is a luncheon to be held in the Social Hall of the West Campus Union. Dean Cox, John Dozier, Dr. Herring, and four student speakers are some of the 211 who will attend.

An Angier B. Duke award is worth $1,000 a year for four years. It is renewed only upon the fulfillment of certain conditions.

The state of North Carolina has been divided into nine geographical regions. One girl from each of three regions and one boy from each of six will be selected. Two high school seniors will receive the award from two regions in South Carolina.

Nine at-large awards will be made from six other regions. These regions include Washington, D. C., Florida, Virginia, Tennessee, Maryland, West Virginia, and Georgia.

Class Holds Concert

The sophomore class on East Campus will hold its first jazz festival tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the Woman's College Auditorium.

Four combos will participate in the program including "The Quartettes," Norman Delancy's combo, "The Hot Totties," and Jim Crisp's band. See page Eight for story.

TOWER TALK

It's the same topic but with a new angle. Instead of listening to continuous pleas for improvements on the campus the maintenance department did something all by itself. Twelve men planted twelve bushes near the East Dope Shop, and the effect is a daily reminder that spring is approaching.

This leads us into the next item that also concerns spring. Birds are a delightful addition to East, but must they arrive from the south in droves to distract the students? With the worm plague in the fall and the birds in March what will be awaiting us in May?

A big nod of approval is extended to the Campus and Public Affairs Committee of the Freshman Y for their regular Dink-Bow newsletters. It's good to know that there are other hound dogs in the world besides the one on the record.

In the midst of editorial discussions about elections, trustees, and jazz carnivals Sally decided to have a moment of silence. She slammed her dainty fist on the desk, and the sound of the blow was outdone by the shattering of a neon light bulb. Thus, Ash Wednesday was ushered in.

No Parliamentary Palaver

With the two major issues of election rules and a revised penal code, MSGA legislature shamed all its critics by running an intelligent and well-ordered meeting Wednesday night.

Wading through the intricate mass of parliamentary procedure, President Fisher came out, dazed but triumphant, with legislative approval on Patton's intelligent adjustment of a penal code, which will now be sent to test administrative reflexes. Legislation to govern MSGA elections was accepted with a minimum of palaver, thereby avoiding the confusion that threatened to wreck last year's election.

The entire meeting was a pleasure to participants and spectators.

'The Lonely Crowd'

One of the leading hotels in New York has sent out announcement stating that they have begun a collegiate register. With the precision of an IBM machine, this register has alphabetized colleges and students' names. There are spaces for comments and addresses so that visiting collegians may contact their cohorts, rather than be alone in New York City.

Man is by nature a gregarious animal, but our modern sociability is well on its way to becoming a disease. We have forgotten how to be alone.

Classes are over—we look for somebody to walk to the Union with. Once there, it is imperative that we have buddies to sit with, the music's not enough. Back in the room for an hour of study and we turn on the radio... and so it goes.

Gone is the appreciation of the Gothic spires against a spring-new sky. Gone is ability simply to eat without jabber and jazz. Concentration is never so complete that we could bear the thought of sitting in an empty room, just reading.

Now we herd together in homogenous mobs, for to think too differently is to think alone. Solitude that used to be so praised is the object of scorn. If you do want to be alone, you're more than a little odd.

So, we shall continue in our flocks until someday, when we need to be alone, we will discover that we have forgotten how it is done.

The Newcomers

Well, the big day's over. By now most of the congratulations are over since all those who cross the paths of the new Georgian wheels have crossed and gone on their way.

And they cross many paths, these Newcomers—Newcomers who aren't really new because most of them have already shown their ability to work and recently a desire to help.

After every election, there are things that need to be said, things that we know already but because of human weakness, must oft be repeated. One of these things is that the smiling congratulatory faces will soon turn into frowning critical faces demanding hard work and results from these Newcomers. This work will entail long hours and the ever-present burden of responsibility. The smiles and soft words will fade in time, but the demands for work will grow.

Another thing that must be said has been hinted at all year and it comes to mind every time the new dorm is mentioned. Next year is a decisive year for the Woman's College, and even the indifferent ones can feel the excitement of this impending change.

In leadership, work is only a fraction of the job; the most important thing is the depth of character and insight into human nature. Invaluable is the patience to keep insight and perspective when the pressure gets heavy. Our Newcomers must have these qualities for the future of the Woman's College.

This type of leader cannot be manufactured if it is not already there, but often potential ability needs only a push to make itself evident.

The Newcomers will have time to prove themselves.

By GORDON FIRTH

Misalliance is not one of Shaw's major works. It is extremely talkative—even for a Shavian piece, lacking in any definite plot, and one devil of a play to present effectively. Duke Players present it very effectively.

Under the direction of Victor Michalak the intellectual satire has the coordination to make it, if not always fast, funny. The curtain rises on a colorful Victorian setting which establishes the mood of all the cluttered confusion and farishness that is to follow. Many of the characters are outstanding, and all give commendable performances.

Leon Fisher, as the underwear manufacturer with literary pretensions, Mr. Tarleton, plays his role with the appropriate energetic and innocent airs. It takes most of the first act for him to warm up, but he emerges with a polished, humorous style. If Mr. Fisher does not put across some of his early speeches, it may be because he does not understand them; and it may be that Shaw did not intend them to be clear.

George Autry, playing the spoiled, aristocratic Bentley, gives an exacting, convincing performance. His British accent is hilarious and his temper tantrums vigorous. As the middle-class mother, Mrs. Tarleton, Kay Couchman brings naturalness and clarity to her part. Mary Lou Coker shines as Shaw's conception of the modern femme fatale.

Enhancing the comedy are Martha Hester, as the independence-loving female aviator, Lena; Kermit Brown, as a stiff-necked and humor-conscious Percival; Steve Debrovner, upsetting order and propriety as Gunner; Ty Heineken, as the bullying Johnny; and Jim Fulcomer, as Lord Somerslaw.

The first act passes slowly in many spots, with much Shavian ado about every subject under the sun. There is no precise story, but rather a series of family rows and misalliances in love-affairs, things which Shaw claimed "all the playgoers... never get tired of." With the arrival of Lena and Percival, via a plane crash into the family greenhouse, the talkativeness turns to horseplay and the production assumes a luster which never dims until the final curtain.

Music Saves DUSSR
Sanitary Conditions

By R. WEBB LEONARD

There's a big nasty rumor that the Duke University Dining Halls have been temporarily deprived of an 'A' rating by the N. C. Dept. of Health. Seems that instead of the usual tour of the kitchen, the inspector decided to eat a meal—the truth will out! Had it not been for the aesthetic quality of the music, we'd probably all be eating down at the Toddle House now.

But the best story comes from the "eyes" boys over at Allen. Last week upon seeing all the long black Cadillacs parked in front of the Chapel and the small groups of chauffeurs "shooting the bull" and the funny little men chewing their big fat cigars, Editor Mac suspected that something was a-brew'n'. A Chronicle reporter called a vice-president's office to find out when the trustees were meeting; here is the reply: "Trustees meeting? We don't know anything about a trustees meeting. They usually meet sometime in June." The next day we find out that a civil rights bill has been defeated, and the name of the place has taxes have been raised $200 per, been changed to DUSSR. Funny thing is: I believe that the vice-president didn't know about the meeting; he's just "on call."

Campus politics are in full swing. But both parties are having trouble drawing up platforms: everything that's been on previous platforms has already been accomplished either by Allen or by accident—so they're starting with a blank slate. They thought there'd be trouble finding candidates for top notch, but they finally took the advice of this column and went to the funny papers. They missed Pogo but they came up with Dick Tracy's right-hand man (who is now investigating the penal laws) and Little Abner's "ideal" (who just gets fearless and fearless).

The staid and august jurists who sit on the Judicial Board proved themselves in rare Duke form last week. It almost looked as if they'd been tutored in Allen when during the session one of the justices referred to a campus organization as "a bunch of asses." His Honor should have first considered himself.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, the Chronicle;

I am glad that I am leaving Duke, because, after reading your issue of last Tuesday, I am sure I am the only undergraduate student on campus who likes it at all. I drink, too.

Lee Simmons

Editor, the Chronicle;

I can no longer restrain myself concerning the paradoxical situation found in the editorials "Tact and Tension" and Procrastination Vs. Politics." of February 15th Chronicle. Your comment in "Procrastination Vs. Politics"—"It is degrading, that the Duke women are content to spend their college careers partying, playing bridge and procrastinating."—has greatly mystified me. May I ask WHY they should run for offices? What reward do they get? One needs merely to re-read the previous paragraphs of "Tacts and Tension" to find the answer—a prime example of frustration. For months Pan-Hellenic discussed next year's ruling problem; each individual sorority devoted hours of meeting time to the problem; polls were circulated; a decision was reached—first semester rush. But another group (not a Greek letter group) reached another decision—second semester rush.

I present the question, "Is this our school or are we merely attending as guests?" I don't think I need to answer that. Rushing is not the only case where this has happened. Look at the Honor Code, the drinking rule, the Divinity School petition.

There comes a time in everyone's life when he finds himself himself at a brick wall is useless, and he carefully retreats hoping, at some time, eventually to bypass the wall. I say Duke students are not degenerate or apathetic—they are just stymied. If you don't believe me, ask one.

Players To Give Shaw's "Misalliance" Tonight As Year's Last Presentation

Misalliance, final play of the season for the Duke Players, will be presented for the second and last time tonight at 8:15 p.m. in Page Auditorium. Senior Leon Fisher, vice-president of the group, stars in the production, opposite Mary Louise Cofer, who has played leading roles in The Merchant of Venice and The Reclining Figure. Kay Couchman, a performer in several Hoof 'n' Horn productions, plays a major supporting role, backed up by Ty Heineken, Jim Fulcomer, Steve Debrovner, Kermit Brown, George Autrey, and Martha Hester.

Stage managers for Misalliance are George Autrey and Gary Tunmer. Committee chairmen are Linton Brooks, lights; Ginger Keister, make-up; Leon Fisher and Diana Seeff, publicity; Nancy Keever and Robert Burns, properties; Jerry Allen, scenery; and Marguerite Linsert, costumes.

Quartet To Perform

A program by the Smetana String Quartet from Prague, Czechoslovakia, to be presented tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m. in the East Duke Music Room, will comprise the fifth concert of the Chamber Arts Society this year.

Guest cards for non-members of the Chamber Arts Society will be available at 7:30 p.m. before the concert. Prices are $2.50 for single admission guest card, $2 for student guest cards.

Vitro Offers Early Professional Recognition For M.E.'s, E.E.'s, Physicists, Mathematicians

Apply Your Knowledge At Once In One Of These Advanced R & D Fields

The Vitro Research and Development Laboratory in Silver Spring, Maryland, invites engineering and science majors to discuss a professional assignment in one of these important fields:

Undersea Warfare. Vitro teams are responsible for all phases of research, development, design, prototype fabrication, testing, etc., for the weapons systems presently used in the most advanced Navy submarines. Vitro's work in this advanced region of the national defense program, involves new concepts in Torpedoes, Mines, and Sonic Detection. This is a demanding area of study and development work for the graduating engineering or science major.

VITRO LABORATORIES IDEALLY LOCATED

Each of the three Vitro locations offers its own wealth of attractions. The largest Laboratory is located in Silver Spring, Maryland, a delightful suburb of Washington, D. C. Within easy driving range are beaches, lakes, mountains, offering a wide variety of recreational recreation.

The city itself offers sports attractions including major league baseball, football, and ice hockey. Scattered throughout its parks are public golf courses, tennis courts, and bridle paths. Washington, D. C. offers over 1000 musical and theatrical events each year, many of them at no cost. Schools in this community are outstanding. Homes and apartments of all types and prices are readily available.

Vitro's West Orange, New Jersey Laboratory is situated in the beautiful Orange mountains near one of the most attractive suburbs in the entire State. New York City is only 40 minutes away by automobile. An Armament Test Activity is maintained in Florida at Eglin Air Force Base. This installation is near Fort Walton Beach, a summer resort area on the Gulf of Mexico, with fine white beaches, and a multitude of other attractions.

Laboratory Visits Scheduled By Vitro Representative

Personal inspection of the Vitro facilities, together with an opportunity to meet with staff members, enable the graduating engineer to evaluate more accurately the organization. The Vitro representative will provide interested seniors with details on how such a visit may be arranged.

NEW $2 MILLION LAB NEAR COMPLETION

The new building to house Vitro's expanding operations in the Washington, D. C. Area, will include engineering and drafting offices as well as a complete model shop and testing laboratory. Vitro has maintained laboratories in the Washington Area for the past ten years.

Full Tuition And Lab Fees Paid By Vitro

Vitro staff members desiring to work toward an appropriate degree or take individual, specialized courses in conjunction with their work assignment, are encouraged to do so by means of Vitro's Educational Assistance Program. Many Vitro staff members have taken advantage of this opportunity with full tuition and laboratory fees being paid by the Company.

Interested M.E.'s, E.E.'s, math and physics majors are invited to make appointments now for a personal interview with a Vitro representative. The Vitro representative will provide first-hand information on available opportunities. Appointments may be made with the Campus Placement Officer

Squadron Initiates 9 Juniors And Seniors

The William A. Sally Squadron of the Arnold Air Society held its formal initiation Tuesday in the Union Ballroom and initiated three seniors and six juniors into its membership.

The initiates include seniors Neil H. Harley, Roy E. Moore, and Jack Pettit and juniors Charles H. Chittum, Lee C. Cleveland, Darryl W. Copeland, Jim S. Culp, Wendell J. Springston, and Paul Van Wyck.

Final competition was also held at the meeting for the Junior Class Speech Contest, which was sponsored by Republic Aviation Corporation. The winners were Bob Hankins, first place, who spoke on "Turbo-prop Power Plants"; Lee Cleveland, second place, "The Development of Guided Missiles"; and Charles Chittum, third place; "Jet Aircraft in Commercial Aviation."

FASTER, FASTER!

Pick up your paper every morning and what do you read? "CRISIS IN HIGHER EDUCATION." That's what you read. "ENROLLMENT SPIRALLING UPWARD—DESPERATE NEED FOR MORE CLASSROOMS, MORE TEACHERS." But classrooms, alas, do not spring up like mushrooms, nor teachers like mayflies. So what must we do while we build more classrooms, train more teachers? We must get better use out of the classrooms and teachers we now have. That's what we must do.

This column, normally a vehicle of good-humored foolery, of joy that wrinkled care derides, of laughter holding both his sides, will today forsake levity to examine the crisis in higher education. My sponsors, the makers of Philip Morris Cigarettes, as bonnie a bunch of tycoons as you will see in a month of Sundays, have given cheerful consent to this departure. Oh, splendid chaps they are, the makers of Philip Morris! Oh, darlin' types they are, fond of home, mother, porridge, the Constitution, and country fiddling! Twinkly and engaging they are, jaunty and sociable, roguish and winsome, as full of joy, as packed with pleasure, as brimming with natural goodness, as loaded with felicity as the cigarettes they bring you in two convenient sizes—regular in the handy snap-open pack, and new long-size in a crushproof flip-top box—both available at moderate cost from your favorite tobacconist. Light one now. Light either end. No filter cigarette can make that statement.

Let us then, with the gracious connivance of the makers of Philip Morris—Oh, splendid chaps! Oh, gracious connivers!—take up the terribly vexing question of how we can turn out more graduates with campus facilities as they now exist.

The answer can be given in one word: speedup! Speed up the educational process. Streamline courses. Eliminate frills. Sharpen. Shorten. Quicken.

Following is a list of courses with suggested methods to speed up each one.

PHYSICS—Eliminate slow neutrons.

PSYCH LAB—Tilt the mazes downhill. The white mice will run much faster.

ENGINEERING—Make slide rules half as long.

MUSIC—Change all tempo to allegro. (A collateral benefit to be gained from this suggestion is that once you speed up waltz time, campus proms will all be over by 10 p.m. With students going home so early, romance will languish and marriage counselors can be transferred to the buildings and grounds department. Also, housing now used for married students can be returned to the school of animal husbandry.)

ALGEBRA—If "x" always equals 24, much time-consuming computation can be eliminated.

LANGUAGES—Teach all language courses in English.

DENTISTRY—Skip baby teeth. They fall out anyhow.

POETRY—Amalgamate the classics. Like this:

*Hail to thee, blithe spirit
Shoot if you must this old gray head
You ain't nothin' but a hound dog
Smiling the boy felt dead.*

You see how simple it is? Perhaps you have some speedup ideas of your own. If so, I'll thank you to keep them to yourselves.

© Max Shulman, 1967

The makers of Philip Morris have no interest in any speedup. We age our fine tobacco slow and easy. And that's the way it smokes—slow and easy—a natural smoke.

Gina Bachauer, Greek Pianist, Will Present Concert On March 5

Gina Bachauer, phenomenal Greek pianist who made her New York debut in 1950, will present a concert here on Friday, March 15.

Currently a guest artist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, as well as a concert star with appearances scheduled throughout the country, Miss Bachauer, a native of Athens, will be the fourth of five attractions in the Duke All-Star Concert Series.

Miss Bachauer studied piano at the Athens Conservatory and later with Cortot in Paris and Sergei Rachmaninoff. She gave concerts in Italy, Yugoslavia, Austria and Egypt, and was in France preparing for a third Italian tour when the war broke out in Greece. When the Germans took over, Miss Bachauer's family fled to Egypt where she gave over 600 concerts and recitals in army camps and hospitals.

Although widely acclaimed in Europe and the Near East for her talent described in "Musical America" as possessing "an irrepressibly sunny spirit—endless patience and fortitude," Miss Bachauer was virtually unknown to audiences in the United States until 1950.

as in the past, when MSGA laws were constitutionally disputed or when MSGA was directly affected.

Discussion on the code waxed hot for two hours, and the votes on amendments to the floor were close. President Fisher repeatedly had to call for divisions, a voice vote not being decisive.

Amendments voted down from the floor included several dealing with firecrackers, one removing quad ball as an offense, and one removing drinking on campus and/or the possession of alcohol as an offense.

Scholarship Changes Meet Tuition Increase

The average value of University scholarships will be greater next year, according to Scholarship Committee head John M. Dozier.

Dozier said that the increase in tuition charges would be taken into consideration when scholarship awards for 1957-58 are made.

"It is the hope and expectation of the Scholarship Committee," Dozier said, "that no Duke student will be forced out of the University by the increase in the tuition charge. Further, an earnest effort will be made to evaluate correctly the financial situation of those students seeking assistance."

Emphasizing that scholarships would not automatically increase by $200, Dozier urged scholarship holders to apply soon for renewal of their grants.

Application blanks for scholarship aid and scholarship renewal are available now in 217 Allen Building. The blanks must be filled out before April 15, 1957.

Dozier indicated that scholarships not provided by the University (Merit, GM, etc.) probably would be larger also, since organizations offering scholarships would be notified of the increase in tuition charges.

Although the increase in tuition will make larger scholarships possible, the number of students receiving financial assistance from the University will be approximately the same next year.

OFFER $25 FIRST PLACE PRIZE

Friends Of Library Hold Contest

The Friends of the Duke University Library are offering prizes of $25, $15, and $10 in their annual contest for "the best personal libraries acquired by students during their college careers."

The competition is open to undergraduates. The individual collections and an interview with the judges will determine the winners.

Those wishing to enter must see T. M. Simkins in the Rare Book Room of the West Campus library on or before April 12. They must submit to him ten books from their collection for display and a complete list of their holdings. East Campus entrants may contact Mrs. Hicks in the Women's College library.

Fifteen-minute informal interviews for each contestant are scheduled for April 23, 2-5 p.m., in the Rare Book Room. The three prizes will be awarded April 24 at 4 p.m., in the same room.

Neither the number of books nor their value is of primary importance in the judging. Collections may be specific or general. Modern textbooks are not eligible. Emphasis is placed on the student's knowledge of the contents of his own library and its usefulness for the purpose for which it was collected.

Judges will be Merle Bevington, Miss Marianna Jenkins, and Dr. David Bradley.

The Undergraduate Committee of the organization conducts the contest. Miss Frances Acomb serves as chairman with Robert Durden and Simkins as members.

Ten books from each collection entered will be displayed in the West Campus library April 12-28. The winning collections will be exhibited April 29-May 13 in the Women's College Library.

Winners will also be announced at the Friends of the Duke University Library banquet on April 25. Their names will be in the commencement program.

Last year there were nine entrants in the competition, which is the average number of contestants each year since the first contest in 1947. This average compares very favorably, mented Mr. Simkin, with the averages at other schools such as Princeton, Yale, and Virginia, where similar competitions are held.

American know-how in nuclear physics, in mechanics, in technical fields, has long led the world — yet we accepted our ideas of the workings of the mind from Europe.

Now an American science of the human being has been developed — and American know-how of man himself is refuting all the "impossibilities" Europe laid down.

"What's it like to work for a big, expanding company like IBM? What would I be asked to do? Would I get ahead fast?" These were some of the questions that filled Bob Everett's mind as he faced up to the big problem, "How can I put my M.B.A. training to the best possible use?"

Bob came directly to IBM from Cornell in July, 1956, with an M.B.A. in finance. He was immediately assigned, with twenty-nine other M.B.A.'s, to a Business Administration training program. This six months' program comprised general orientation in the entire IBM organization, a six weeks' field trip to the

Developing a new system

Syracuse branch office and several months at the Poughkeepsie manufacturing facilities. There he gained a functional knowledge of IBM machines, particularly the 700 series of giant electronic computers.

His training completed by January, 1956, Bob was assigned to the Methods Department as a Methods Analyst at IBM World Headquarters in New York City. Here, with the cooperation of operating department personnel, he worked on the development of systems and procedures for the various Division areas. In addition to normal methods techniques used in developing systems and procedures, he studied these projects in terms of possible machine application for either IBM high-speed giant computers or conventional accounting equipment. One project was the study of the Machine Ordering procedure with the objective of simplifying and mechanizing it and at the same time improving the source information to provide for a more complete analysis of sales and production backlog.

"What's it like to be in BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AT IBM?"

Two years ago, Robert Everett asked himself this question. Today, as Administrative Assistant to the Divisional Controller, Bob reviews his experience at IBM and gives some pointers that may be helpful to you in taking the first, most important step in your business career.

Filtering out the "hot" projects

Promoted the same year

By December of the same year, Bob was promoted to his present job—Administrative Assistant to the Controller of the Data Processing Division. "The first function of an Administrative Assistant," says Bob, "is to filter out the 'hot' projects from those that can be handled later. You follow through on projects assigned by the controller and keep him posted on their progress." Bob's new position affords a pleasant diversification of work: charting divisional responsibilities of the controller's function . . . plans for decentralization . . . costs of regionalization . . . summarizing key financial and statistical information for presentation to top management.

Bob points out that there are many areas in Business Administration at IBM for men with an M.B.A. or a B.S. in accounting; corporate, general, and factory accounting; internal audit; methods; payroll and taxes. Administrative and management positions constantly open up at World Headquarters, IBM's 188 branch offices, many plants and laboratories.

Why Bob picked IBM

Bob made a careful study of existing opportunities before selecting IBM for his career. He had a dozen campus interviews; took nine company tours. IBM's M.B.A. program interested him—because, as he says, "It gave me a chance to review the entire company before starting an actual line assignment." He was intrigued by the increasing use of data processing equipment in finance and he knew that IBM was a leader in this field. Salary-wise, he found IBM better than many, but it was company growth potential that motivated his choice. "Opportunity certainly exists at IBM," he says. "Growth factors alone will account for many new executive positions. A second factor is the trend toward decentralization, which also creates new jobs. These factors, plus IBM's 'promote-from-within' policy, add up to real opportunity."

"Opportunity certainly exists at IBM"

IBM hopes that this message will help to give you some idea of what it's like to be in Business Administration at IBM. There are equal opportunities for E.E.'s, M.E.'s, physicists, mathematicians and Liberal Arts majors in IBM's many divisions—Research, Product Development, Manufacturing Engineering, Sales and Sales Assistance. Why not drop in and discuss IBM with your Placement Director? He can supply our latest brochure and tell you when IBM will next interview on your campus. Meanwhile, our Manager of College Relations, Mr. P. H. Bradley, will be happy to answer your questions. Write him at IBM, Room 10002, 590 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"The future looks unlimited"

"I wanted a career that offered variety, opportunity and a chance to work with people," says Lewis William Post, C.E., Michigan State, 1950. "That's why I went to work for the telephone company."

"My initial training—two full years of it—probed every phase of company operations and acquainted me with all of the jobs in the Plant Department, where I was starting."

"Today, as Plant Engineer, I'm responsible for preventive maintenance of all field equipment, installation of new facilities for wire and cable, and I work with architects and builders on telephone needs in new buildings."

"Selling's part of my job, too. I sell ideas—like the wisdom of planning for telephone service when you're building. Recently I advised an architect and an owner on telephone wiring and outlets in a new $160,000 medical center. I enjoy getting in on the ground floor of such projects and making contributions both as a civil and a telephone engineer."

"In my area of Chicago there are 30,000 telephones, home and business. More are being added every day. There's expansion everywhere in the telephone business—all across the country. To me, the future looks unlimited."

Lew Post's career is with Illinois Bell Telephone Company. Many interesting career opportunities exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer can give you more information about them.

The shoe is on the other foot

Soon you will decide on the kind of company in which you want to invest the knowledge you have acquired through engineering education.

You will probably have more companies to consider than those who graduated before you... many more than the men who collected their sheepskins before 1950. While the number of engineering graduates once exceeded the number of openings, today there are more good opportunities than there are capable young men to pick up the pay checks. In short, the shoe is on the other foot—YOUR foot!

Although we recognize that fact, we cannot relax our standards. We still want only those who have the creative spark, the imagination, the talent to make important contributions in our organization. No doubt you will understand why... when you read our booklet. It tells about the exciting progress of helicopters and indicates something of the part Sikorsky has played, and will play in their development.

This informative booklet is yours for the writing, no strings attached. Should you be considering Sikorsky as a company where you might like to get started, then tell us, too, a little about yourself. Address your letter to Mr. Richard Auten at our Bridgeport Personnel Department.

The dance is sponsored by the Social Standards Committee.

Rotary Foundation Awards Grants To Duke Students

Rotary International has awarded two of its Rotary Foundation Fellowships for advanced study abroad to a graduate political science student here and an alumnus of the class of 1953.

Florence Coffee of the graduate school of arts and sciences will use her award to study political science at the University of Melbourne, Australia.

Henry B. Clark II, a 1953 graduate, will study theology in some European university preparing for a teaching career.

Clark is now studying with a scholarship at Union Theology Seminary. In his undergraduate days he was in Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Beta Omega Sigma, Tau Kappa Alpha, and Sigma Chi. He was president of Phi Eta Sigma, Methodist Student Fellowship, Student Religious Council, and Kappa Chi.

Miss Coffee graduated with honors from the University of Texas in 1956. She was a member of Mortar Board and Delta Delta Delta.

Committee Will Study Constitution Of MSGA

Five Trinity College students have been appointed to the special committee to study constitutional revisions in the Men's Student Government Association.

Serving on the committee with Neil Jones, chairman, are Bill Baker, Bill Kloman, John Amster, and Warren Wickersham.

The committee plans to meet with members of the political science faculty to arrive at suggestions for reconstructing the MSGA Constitution.

Penal Code Passed By Spirited MSGA

TEXT OF PENAL CODE

SECTION 1. The following actions are deemed to be extremely serious to the well-being of the Duke University Community. These offenses shall be treated accordingly by the Judicial Board of the Association. Those found guilty of these offenses shall be liable to expulsion as the maximum penalty.

A. Cheating (including plagiarism), B. Forgery, C. Assault and battery, D. Theft, E. Violation of Women's Living quarters, F. Perjury, G. Possession or Use of Fire-works, H. Fraud (including falsification of auto registration, meal tickets, or laundry slips), I. Willful and malicious damage of University property of students, J. Illegal possession of firearms and ammunition, K. Any other offenses which the Judicial Board deems a serious breach of honor or decency, L. Repeated and accumulated convictions of any of the offenses listed below.

SECTION 2. The following actions are deemed to be serious offenses against the Duke University Community. These offenses shall be treated accordingly by the Judicial Board of the Association. Those found guilty of these offenses shall be liable to suspension as the maximum penalty.

A. Hazing, B. Drunkenness, C. Violation of examination procedure, D. Aiding and participating in any form of mob violence, E. Gambling, F. Violation of freshman car regulation.

SECTION 3. The following actions are deemed to be minor offenses against the Duke University Community. These offenses shall be treated accordingly by the Judicial Board of the Association. Those found guilty of these offenses shall be liable to suspension as the maximum penalty.

A. Violation of the East Campus Curfew, B. Rowdiness, C. Drinking on Campus and the possession of alcohol on campus, D. Willful presence in any form of mob violence, E. Participation in any form of "Quad Ball," F. Transfer of meal tickets or student athletic books, G. Failure to respond to the summons of a Court established by the Men's Student Government Association.

SECTION 4. Penalties which the Judicial Board may levy for offenses against the University shall include the following, which shall be defined as follows:

A. Expulsion: Recommendation of immediate dismissal and denial of readmission to Duke University and denial of any form of recommendation from the University.

B. Suspension: Dismissal from Duke University with the right to be readmitted when the Administration permits.

C. Suspended suspension: the guilty person is allowed to remain in school until the semester he is in is completed. The case is then reviewed again, along with the man's semester academic and conduct record. Then it is decided whether the penalty of suspension or perhaps something lighter is to be imposed.

D. Disciplinary probation: the threat of suspension if again apprehended committing the same offense of equal or worse consequence.

E. Academic probation: the penalty of no cars during the semester or for as many semesters as the Board feels the penal and warrant.

F. Administrative Failure: A failing grade may be awarded in any academic course.

SECTION 5: The Judicial Board shall not contravene the preceding sections to demand the maximum penalty in cases of violations of these sections. Rather the Judicial Board shall exercise its own discretion of levying the penalty. Leniency is greatly urged in those cases which merit it.

SECTION 6: In accordance with Title 9, Chapter 4, Section 1, it is hereby recognized that the Attorney General of the Association may act as prosecutor in cases arising from infractions of the above regulations.

Minah Explains Absent Grade "A" Rating Signs

Explaining the sudden absence of the "A" health rating signs, Theodore W. Minah, Director of the Dining Halls, said that the dining halls are being re-examined to include new equipment being installed.

Minah stated that the dining halls have the highest rating now, but that "We have asked the health department to withhold giving us a rating until we've completed this work. This will add to our score, and we naturally want to get the highest score possible."

New filtering systems are being installed over the kitchen ranges, and automation is being introduced to the kitchens in the form of automatic washing machines for pots and pans. The total cost of this equipment will be approximately fifteen to twenty thousand dollars.

He said that health department officials have been called in to insure that the equipment is installed to meet the National Sanitation Foundation standards. The work is being done in the West Campus kitchens only. The installation should be completed this week.

"We've always been rated very highly and usually with commendatory remarks," Minah added.

Since 1946, 3 million people have been fed in the dining halls without a single case of food poisoning.

Military Ball Heads Weekend Of Events; Parties, ACC Tournament Call Students

By "BILL" BICKETT

Attention folks! The military is on parade today and who's to accompany them? Why, the Hillside Joymakers, of course, as 8 marks the hour for the Navy-Air Force Ball on West tonight. Dress uniforms and bow ties are the attire for the gents, and to accompany them will be many a fancy-free girl, among whom will be the new queen. Wonder who she'll be!

But while the above still remains a mystery, let's move on over to Raleigh for we hear the Sigma Nu's White Star Cotillon is just about to begin. The destination is the Country Club; and with Jack Victor's orchestra to set the pace, you can well believe there's a rocking time a'foot among the week-end plans.

Beating that basketball at the Atlantic Coast Conference are the Blue Devils tomorrow and many a Duke fan has made a date to go "rooting." However, in case your Lincoln Continental is out of gas, there are plenty of other things rife here at home for the next two days! One idea for a variety is a Calypso Party which is exactly what the Phi Delta's have agreed to endorse. The crowd will all be out at Turner's Hall tomorrow nite!

Golly ding, it's more pinnings again as Love continues to hold first place on our popularity poll. Among those who think it's a marvelous institution as of now are Marty Ellis and Jack Pettit; Cindy Lusby and Bill Richardson; Mary Sheperd and Bob Browning; Mary Lou Walker and a boy from UNC; Ginger Bole and Dick MacEwen; Leslie Noller and Dick Watson; plus Gail Lundburg and Charlie Duke. Seems that Cupid's arrow sure does have a way of hitting its mark!

IFC Changes Rushing Rules For Non-C Men

Subject to the approval of Dean Robert Cox, the Interfraternity Council has made several changes in the rushing rules applying to non-C freshmen.

Non-C freshmen will be allowed to attend fraternity functions as the guests of the fraternity. They may also enter the fraternity sections and eat at fraternity tables.

They may not, however, attend any "chow-trains" held by a fraternity. The non-C's may not participate in any form of pledging or pledge training until they have made their average for at least one semester. They may not represent a fraternity in intramural competition.

Duke Scratched From ACC Tournament As Gamecocks Register Big Upset Win

By ART SANTO DOMINGO
Chronicle Sports Reporter

Duke's ubiquitous malady, foul shotitis or the inability to hit from the foul line, killed their hopes of meeting UNC in the ACC tournament at Raleigh. The Devils, who didn't score in the last three minutes, missed six consecutive free throws as they were downed by South Carolina, 84-81, in the opening game of the tourney yesterday afternoon.

They actually beat themselves and showed everyone how to blow a good-sized lead to a team they aheaded twice this season.

The Devils got off to a fast start and led by 36-16 midway in the first half. Playing casually, the advantage dwindled to five at the half, 45-40, when Grady Wallace made two field goals and Bobby McCoy sank a foul shot.

In the second half the Duke lead fluctuated between two and five points. With 8:05 to go, Cookie Pericola put the Gamecocks ahead for the first time on two foul shots, 67-66. The lead switched hands several times, but when Hayes Clement put in a layup, the Devils led 75-70, and it looked as if they might hang on.

Then, after the Dukes had missed six foul shots in a row, Wallace stunned them when he hit a three point play with 20 seconds to take the lead, 82-81. Later, with six seconds left he made two more foul shots to ice the game. In all Wallace had 41 markers while Jim Newcome led Duke with 20.

As has happened often, the game was won at the free throw line. Duke made more field goals, hitting on 34 of 83 for 41%, while they failed miserably at foul shooting with only 13 of 25 for 52%. That was the story. Maybe the chow man sold too many apples.

In other games Maryland clipped Virginia, 71-68, UNC smashed inept Clemson, 81-60, with Lennie (defense) Rosenbluth setting an ACC tournament record as he hit 45 points, and Wake Forest knocked off State to advance into the semi's.

Weatherman Against Blue Devil Linksmen

Bad weather has hampered the Blue Devil golfers this year. Under the direction of Coach Dumpy Hagler the varsity qualification rounds will start as soon as the rainy weather leaves.

This year Coach Hagler will devote his full time to the golf team and the golf course now being constructed. Hagler has relinquished his post as line coach for the football squad.

THREE LETTERMEN

Three lettermen are returning to the links in the persons of Bill Beson, Ward King, and Dick Risley. Newcomers who will vie for top ratings are Dick Sederoff, Jack Benson, Hugh Patterson, Sandy Hinkle, Chet Glitz, Dick George, Dave Askin, and Tate Lanning.

As to the upcoming season Hagler pointed out that he had no idea which teams would be the strongest in Atlantic Coast Conference. He estimated that North Carolina and Wake Forest would probably have good squads.

FOUR AWAY MATCHES

The Devils play four matches, with Ft. Jackson, South Carolina, Clemson, and Davidson, on opposing courses over the spring recess. The first home test is with the Deacons of Wake Forest on April 5.

Hagler made one final comment about this year's team. "We could surprise anyone. Anytime we play a match we expect to win it."

One of three top Duke contenders for a championship at the ACC Meet this weekend is junior Sam Menefee. Sam will be competing at 157 pounds. His record for the season was 4-2, but both losses were in the 167-pound class.

McElhaney, Meffert Are Seeking Wrestling Titles

Led by the three M's, McElhaney, Meffert, and Menefee, seven Duke wrestlers are in Charlottesville today and tomorrow for the ACC Wrestling Meet.

Captain Hal McElhaney, in his final wrestling appearance, will defend the 191-pound championship he won last year. His performance last year won him the award as Outstanding Wrestler in the ACC.

Bill Meffert (147) is one of the favorites in his division. Meffert had a perfect 6-0 record in regular season matches this year.

Sam Menefee, down 10 pounds to wrestle at 157, also is considered a serious contender for a title. Menefee had a 4-2 mark for the year, both losses coming at 167.

Dick Bergeson and George Esposito, who surprised Carolina by shedding seven pounds to drop to a lower class, will do the same for the conference meet. Bergeson (123) and Esposito (130) have not been used at these weights, so their chances are anybody's guess.

Jim Girand (137) and Bud Martin (167), a pair of sophomores, will be making their first bid for an ACC crown.

Newcome's 15.9 Is Sixth Best In ACC

Jim Newcome, Duke's talented forward, wound up sixth in the ACC individual scoring list, according to final regular season totals released this week.

Newcome scored 367 points in 23 games for a 15.9 average. His one-point showing last Friday against Carolina kept him from finishing fifth. Jack Williams of Wake was fifth with 368 in 23 games, one point ahead of Newcome.

Grady Wallace was first with a 31.0 average, Lennie Rosenbluth second (27.0), Herb Busch third (20.0), and Vince Yockel fourth (19.9).

Bucky Allen was the only other Duke man in the top twenty. Allen had 284 in 21 games for a 12.4 average.

Cary Weisiger, New Devil Track Sensation, Has Chance At Red Lewis' Duke Mile Record

By RUTH SZEKELY
"I know he'll break Red Lewis' record before he graduates; it's just a question of how long."

Al Buehler was talking about Cary Weisiger, a tall, friendly, good-looking freshman who's about as fine a person as you could want to meet. The record spoken of is the Duke mile, set at 4:15 by Lewis in '33, and Buehler's statement implied what most all those who follow track around here know: that Cary's the finest distance runner we've had in over two decades.

TRACK-MINDED HIT SCHOOL

Coming from Pittsburgh's track-minded Mt. Lebanon High School, he started running cross-country and track there his junior year, having stuck with football and basketball up to then, but he had trouble with an injured foot and it wasn't until last year that Pennsylvania fans sat up and took notice.

At the Mansfield, Ohio Interstate Relays, he broke a 17-year-old mile record in 4:29; set new mile and half-mile marks competing against 30 schools in the Bethany, W. Va., meet—along with many more throughout the season—and ended up gaining a close second in the Pennsylvania state mile.

NOT MUCH TROUBLE

Then he came down here, led a fine frosh cross-country squad to the North Carolina championship and landed up in New York one week-end running in the ICAA meet. And two weeks ago at the ACC Indoor Games in Raleigh he took the freshman mile and half-mile without too much trouble.

As to just why it was Duke he decided on instead of one of the Big Ten schools he was considering, Cary said: "No significant reason, really. . . my folks and I just sat down and compared schools as to which seemed to offer the best for me scholastically, athletically, socially, religiously, and so forth, and Duke won out." Scholastically, he hasn't yet decided on a major, although still considering pre-ministerial.

And as for the immediate future and the "just how long" question, he seems to have the necessary winning bug and perhaps it won't be very long at all. He took the mile in Raleigh, in 4:29, but with the poor Cow Palace track taking six or seven seconds off a mile, that brings his best as of now down to around 4:23—and the outdoor season's just beginning.

"He stands now where Jim Beatty (U.N.C.) and a lot of fellows stood in their sophomore year," said Buehler. "He's got about a year on them; and he took this double victory in Raleigh like a veteran." Freshmen won't be around next year when Cary hits the varsity circles, but Carolina will still offer plenty of competition with miler Cowles Linfert. And this season there's always the 4:10 Freshman Collegiate Mile to go after!

"It's really a pleasure to work with somebody like Cary," mentioned Buehler again, "Duke's mighty lucky to have great runners like Joel Shankle, Dave Sime, and now Cary."

Cary's admiration for Buehler is mutual, both as a coach and as a person. . . and with a team like that it's hard to go wrong.

East Campus Better Than Hanes House! Well, In Basketball, At Least, By One Point

Much to the glory of East Campus, Southgate squeezed by Hanes House with a one-point victory in the finale of the WAA inter-dorm basketball tourney in the Woman's College gym Monday night.

Fighting to a 35-35 tie at the end of regular play Monday night, each team had scored in the two-minute overtime when Hanes House fouled in the last seconds. A free shot by Toy Strite brought the Southgate team a 36-37 win and the Basketball Cup for the second straight year.

Plans for the next WAA Open House, to be held in the Woman's Gym on March 22, are now underway.
