Four Sororities Veto "Name-Band" Weekend

Pan-Hellenic Council Cancels Proposal To Sign Tommy Tucker Next Month

A special motion of the dance of the Women's Pan-Hellenic Council to sign Tommy Tucker and his orchestra for a two-night series of Pan-Hellenic dances was voted down Tuesday night by four sororities in a committee meeting held in the East campus.

The negative votes—cast by Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Epsilon Pi, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Sigma Kappa—eliminated the motion to sign Tommy Tucker for the proposed February 20-21 dances. Lucille McLean, chairman of the Pan-Hellenic dance committee, said last night. By ruling of the committee, a unanimous vote of the thirteen sororities was necessary to permit signing of a "big-name band." While the sororities are three-fourths vote of active members was required for acceptance by individual sororities of the terms set by Tucker's agent. Fee for the two-night dance, according to McLean, would have

"Concerning The Case Of The Concave Coed"

By POLLY POYSELT.

It's as GOOD to be back. Careless, happy, still with smiles on their faces, hapless victims still trudge to the Union.

Daily exercise is all duly enacted in grasping tightly one's partially severed crown in the grey light of dawn, and rousing hard for two table-sets of liquid pulp and one free eye wash. Sheer guts and manual dexterity net an at least two mouthfuls from one grapefruit before one reaches from sheer exhaustion for the coffee. Campus activity having slightly depleted the abundance of cracked cups, one now sip her tea in ever increasing anxiety over when Union Potentates plan to wash the coffee pot, incidentally, numerous cracks are already appearing in the blue plates.

Blue Monday—Water Glasses

The naked look of the Tuesday morning hardboiled egg is only surpassed by the fine aroma of freshly grained fried apples on Thursday. What more aromatic one ask of life? Diced liver pate with lemon sauce.

On Thursday, gourmet cooks blandly praising their particular state's tidbits, find their whole case shattered by the Union version of a New England boiled dinner. The only virtue is there's no taste of the inevitable hawks' jaws and black eyes. One is fain to come to think of it... there's no taste.

Oyster show? Perhaps dieticians let the bedraggled oyster take a trial plunge in a milk dip... before serving the milk, hot and steaming. And delicious Southern sausage rolls. Every few weeks the accumulated dough of the week's baking is firmly pressed into "light, fluffy" rolls gently sprinkled with sparse particles of sausage.

Foodless Fridays

Meatless Tuesdays, Eggless Thursdays, and Foodless Fridays are all well and good. Stomachs shrink, eyes glassy, vitamin chips are eaten. The Union's hearty health-seekers crawl to Sunday repast. What's there? Food for a king! Bounteous abundance of meat bread and drink presented in appetizing array. What more aromatic, what, worn out by lack of food the entire week is fain to weak to raise his fork. Cheer! Your Sunday's dinner will be in Wednesday's soup.

A North Carolinian by birth, Broughton has been active in state politics for many years, beginning his career as state senator in 1927. Upon expiration of his second term in the legislature, he accepted temporary position of public service and assumed the responsibilities of President of the North Carolina State Bar Association. In 1936 he was the keynote speaker at the State Democratic Convention and in 1940 he was elected Governor of North Carolina.

Mr. Raleigh Lawyer

Following the expiration of his four-year term of office as governor in 1946, Mr. Broughton has been engaged in the practice of law in his native city of Raleigh. The four-year term of Mr. Broughton is one of a series of political speeches being sponsored by the local Young Democrats' Club, which is under the leadership of Jerry Stone. Senatorial election is scheduled to follow Mr. Broughton's speech with a political discussion at the same time. The location and hours of Mr. Broughton's appearance will be announced in the near future.

Name Committees

Heading the committee to raise funds for and to choose the class gift is Dot Dunham, senior-class treasurer. The other members of her committee are Betty Kohl, Emily Boyer, and Fish Filbrick. According to the four-year term of Mr. Broughton is one of a series of political speeches being sponsored by the local Young Democrats' Club, which is under the leadership of Jerry Stone. Senatorial election is scheduled to follow Mr. Broughton's speech with a political discussion at the same time. The location and hours of Mr. Broughton's appearance will be announced in the near future.

Recently Miss Janice Van Taylor, former adviser of the senior class, was replaced by Mrs. Hazen Smith, assistant dean of the Woman's College. The new, well-selected senior W.A. representative is Susanne Thompson, Program.

To recognize the members of the class of 1948 who are graduating in January, the class will sponsor a banquet after Christmas.

TIME OUT

By JACK FOSTER

Well, Old Father Time and Old Man Football gave their final kicks almost simultaneously. The big Michigan eleven showed itself to be just as powerful in sunny California as it was in its native Middle West. The Pacific Coast league decided to confine Rose Bowl invites to the Big Nine—looks like they've made their bed, etc. We'd certainly like to see a Michigan-Notre Dame contest this season, but it doesn't seem likely that Mr. Leamy would.

The Devil Cagers left early this week for their annual Garden assignment. After meeting with NYU there last Wednesday, they moved to Philadelphia where they will meet a powerful Temple five tomorrow night.

We dug ourselves out of the snow bank in which we had been trapped since early last week to return to this basket of enlightenment in time to see Gerry Gerard's basketball score a rather inspired victory over the Maryland Old Lions. We were particularly impressed with the performances of guards George Godfrey and Tommy Hughes. Though none of the Dukes played up to their usual par, the aggressiveness and speed of these two men was rather outstanding.

Next Monday, Jack Persons will entertain the University of Virginia as his 1948 swimming team makes its debut. With eight lettermen back and a number of very promising freshmen out, we expect an improvement over last year's rather mediocre season.

With basketball in full swing and swimming and wrestling due to begin within a week's time, the winter sports card at Duke is getting underway with a vengeance. We might point out that each of these three winter sports hold a great deal of interest and excitement for the sports fan. Basketball may get all the publicity, but for the lover of thrills there's nothing to top a good wrestling card.

Turn About—Students Grade Professors At Midwest School

Student ratings of their instructors and courses will be a part of a new and inclusive plan for evaluation of faculty services recently adopted by the faculty of the University of Michigan College of Literature, Science and Arts, the Associate Collegiate Press announced recently.

Expected to go into effect on an experimental basis during the current academic year, the plan also calls for judgment of faculty services by faculty committees from each teaching department. Results of such evaluations of teaching, research, administration and public service are to be available to the faculty members themselves and also to University personnel officers.

"Successful teaching is to be regarded as a primary factor in the new evaluation system," a report by the Committee on College Problems points out. "It is a first obligation of an educational institution to provide good teaching and encourage proper advisory relationships between a teacher and his students."

In addition to the student ratings of instruction and course content, the evaluation of a faculty member's teaching effectiveness will include information concerning enrollment and grades in his classes, teaching activities outside the classroom, and reports of colleagues and counselors, the report notes.

Students will be asked to "grade" their instructors according to a printed form distributed in the classroom at the end of the semester. These rating forms may get all the publicity, but for the lover of thrills there's nothing to top a good wrestling card.

Students will fill out these rating forms anonymously. The information on them will be transferred to tabulating cards for use of the faculty evaluation committees, and the results will be made available to the original forms for his own study.

Blue Devils Begin 1948 Indoor Sports Schedule

Matmen Meet Terps Jan. 17

With their initial contest looming closer and closer, the unheralded matmen of Duke are intensifying practice in order to be in top shape for this opener. Daily grunts and grunts issue forth from the depths of the old gym where the followers of the art of twisting art are sharpening up in preparation for the Maryland Terps who will be entertained here at four o'clock on Saturday, January 17th.

Though student interest lags, the members of this year's team are anxious to prove themselves worthy of the sport by putting their all into the season's competition. Coach Falcone reports that he is disappointed in the lack of student support behind his men, but in the same breath, that he is proud of the attitude of the team members in not being daunted by neglect.

Leading the wrestling team this year are several lettermen from last season who return to form the nucleus of the present group. Probably the outstanding figure on the team is Mike Kusturiss, a Law student who won in the 135 pound division of the year's intramural program. Kusturiss holds from Pennsylvania and was a member of the team in his weight while in school there. Francis Jouanet, letterman from Ohio, is another contender for the 145 pound class, while Joe Fitzsimmons, also a letterman, is the man to beat for the top spot in the 165 pound division. Other contenders for the latter two will come in the form of Ben Jordan, two time winner of the intramural 165 pound class, and Richard Harrison, a sturdy freshman, who also won in his weight in intramural.

In the unlimited division the top men are Howard "Spider" Heide and Hugh Stinch. Heide, a 200 pound senior from Baltimore, has no example of status, has won the intramural title last season and proved his worth in intercollegiate competition. Stinch, also an example of status, has won the intramural title two consecutive years and seems to be the logical contender in the dreadnaught class.

Other promising first year men are Robert Clark, 135 pound Olympian, Jack Wandy, 155 pounds of dynamite from Oklahoma, John McMillers, 165 pound standupger from South Carolina, Dan Moser, 128 pound, from Georgia and George Cranford, lightweight 121 pounder. Wamsley, Moser, and Cranford all won their weight in intramural competition.

As a whole this year's team does not appear a world beater but there are several members who should give many headaches to other schools.

Swimmers Meet Virginia University Here January 12

Duke University's swimming team will meet the splendors of the University of Virginia in the first meet of their 1948 schedule on Monday, January 12, at 5:00 P.M. Last year's Duke taskmen beat Virginia handsly; however, according to advance reports the Virginia team has improved greatly. Coach W. S. Persons, swimming coach, made the following comment: "The team (U. of Va.) is much better than last year's, and I will be happily surprised if we beat them. They have several excellent swimmers in the 220 and 440 classes, and a very good diver."

According to Coach Persons, the "backstroke" event is chosen for Monday's meet, but will be picked during the latter part of the week.

The Duke Varsity Swimming roster includes several men from last year's squad, and several very promising freshmen tankers. In the freestyle division are Bill Adams, Southern Conference Quarter-mile champion; Bob Buehler, 220; John Elliott, Emmanuel; Emmett; Gilbreath; Gray; Key; Miller; Overdort; Rem; Rose; and Jim Stock, letterman.

The Breaststroke includes Coach Fitchell; Don Gresh, Florida High School champion; Rex Neelley, Ken Saturday, former captain of the team; and Godfrey Emmett, the younger brother of one of Duke's greatest swimmers.

In the diving class, Dick Brumby and John Connor (Eastern Scholastic champion), and Jim Overdort are the leaders. The greatest array of promising talent lies in the backstroke division. Gene Burrell, Paul Gubbius, Fred Andrews, Don Clausen head the list.

Swimming schedule: January 12—Virginia, Durham; January 17—Florida, Durham; January 21—Emory, Durham; February 6—Army, West Point, N.Y.; February 7—Yale—New Haven, Conn.; February 14—Georgia Tech, Durham.

February 16—N. C. State, Raleigh; February 21—V.P.I., Blacksburg; February 24—North Carolina, Chapel Hill; March 5—Southern Conference Championships; March 20—Eastern Intercollegiate Championships.

Limited Number Of Tickets Available For Jack Kramer-Bobby Riggs Match

"A limited number of tickets are now available to January 20's feature tennis match between pro champion, Bobby Riggs and Amateur Jack Kramer, current holder of top national amateur USLTA ranking, at Woolen gym in Chapel Hill," the Daily Tarheel has announced.

According to an announcement from the UNC Athletic department, a number of tickets for spectators who are not students at Chapel Hill will be on sale at two dollars each. Tickets may be purchased at the Woolen gym box office.

The national exhibition tour has begun its Southern swing, with Kramer leading four matches to three.

Australia's Dinky Fells and Pancho Segura, noted South American tennis star, will appear on the Woolen gym program January 20th, the Athletic Association has revealed.

Intramurals Continue

With the end of the Christmas holidays, Duke intramural activities have resumed with football as the feature sport. Wrestling and swimming will also be held shortly for those interested in either sport. While boxing, previously planned for the intramural program, has been discontinued due to lack of interest.

It is interesting to note that several of the members of Varsity athletic teams such as wrestling and basketball began their careers by participating in their respective sports under the intramural program.

Blue Devil Five Meets Temple

Marking their second appearance on their current northern swing, Duke's basketball quintet squares off against Temple University in Philadelphia's Convention Hall tomorrow night, following yesterday's big game against the Striking Violets of New York University in Madison Square Garden.

Gerry Gerard's hoopers ran up a string of three victories in four starts prior to their swing north.

Opening their vacation schedule in Lynchburg against Washington and Lee December 29, the Big Blue went on a scoring spree to win 72-59 with Tommy Hughes leading the scoring parade with 18 points. Closely following were Ben Collins at the center position with 15 points and Capt. Doug Ashton and Walt Poplin with 12 and 11 respectively.

Returning to Duke Stadium after Xmas, the Blue Devils swamped Hanes Hootery 70-46 with Hughes again in the line-up with 20 points followed by Collins with 12 markers.

The Tennessee Vols handed the Blue Devils their first defeat of the New Year when they won a heart-breaker from the Duke squad by the close score of 62-58 in the Duke Indoor Stadium January 3.

Getting off to an early lead the Vols from Knoxville looked like they had the game all sewed up. However, in the closing minutes of play, the Big Blue turned on the steam to use the score at 54-54. Then, however, Montgomery of Tennessee got hot, sinking a foul throw and two buckets to put the visitors back in the lead from where they went on to win by a four point margin. High-point men on the floor was Youmans of Duke with 17 followed by Montgomery of Tennessee with 15.

On the first day of school after the end of vacation, the Blue Devils entertained the Terps of the University of Maryland, and handed them a 54-42 setback in a very dull game in which neither team seemed to be able to get started. Another feature of this tussle was that the officials merely called the number of the player committing the personal fouls but did not indicate the

Indoor Track Team Prepares For Meet At Chapel Hill

Under the direction of Coaches Red Lewis and Robert Chambers the Duke indoor track team is holding daily workouts in the outdoor board track. The big event of the coming season will be the Southern Conference meet scheduled for Chapel Hill on February 28. Both varsity and freshman events will be run in this feature attraction.

Members of the team include Neighbourgh, Young, Bullock, and Griss, Jackson, Colvin, and Bowles are handling the pole vaulting duties, while Ashton and Colvin handle the broad jump division. Davis, Rowe, Wilson, and Browner, sprinters; Ross, Denton, Scoggin, hurdler; Ellsworth, Spearman, and Spach, distance men; and O'Leary, shot-putter, comprise the balance of those working out at the present time. O'Leary was the conference outdoor champion in his division in 1946.

Coach Lewis reports that the team is woefully short on hurdlers and sprinters, in addition to needing additional men in the other events. He requests that any interested men report to either him or Coach Chambers and join the daily 3:30 drills.

nature of the foul, thereby inviting repeated cries of "Why" from the confused spectators.

Returning home after their northern swing, the Blue Devils play three games next week featuring the big attraction against the Red Terrorers of North Carolina State in Raleigh on Saturday. Coach Case's "Hoover Hotshots," led by forward Dick Dickey and center Les Horsh are reputed to be the outstanding team in the Southern Conference and one of the best in the nation following their recent trouncing of St. John's in Madison Square Garden. Also on tap for next week are two home games against George Washington on Wednesday and Clemson on Friday.

Other outstanding games scheduled for the Big Blue this season include the return game against N. C. State, two games against North Carolina and single games with Navy and Georgia Tech, both of the latter being played away.

Government Grant For Work In Scientific Or Medical Studies

By JOHN MENDENHALL

Grants running into thousands of dollars a year for study and research have just been announced by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service. The fellowships, designed to develop research workers in the line of medicine and related sciences, are to be established at the major universities of the country.

Details of the grants, as announced by Assistant Dean James Slay, are as follows: The fellowships are divided into four types, ranging from the Bachelor level to the specialized post-doctorate. They are for one year each, and may be renewed, providing work for the previous year has been satisfactory. The grants may be used at any school or institution of approved standing, and the only requirement as to type of work done is that it must be of a scientific nature, and by a scientist major or as part of a program including a large amount of scientific work. There is no obligation attached to the receipt of the aid, and the fellowships may be discontinued at any time by the choice of student.

$1,200 Minimum

Grants, which start at $1,200 per year for single room or women without dependent dependents, are tax free, and, in addition, should not be added to by additional fellowships from other sources. Limited teaching will be allowed, and of course, income from the "GI Bill" may be used. The amounts allowed for each type of grant are as follows: Single Bachelor level, $1,200; Married Bachelor level, $1,400; Single Master level, $1,600; Married Master level, $1,800; Married Doctor level, $2,000. "Married" in each case means "with dependents."

The fourth category, that of specialized postdoctorate work, carries no set stipend, but is determined by the individual case. Grants may not be used for full or part, or one dropped completely, but must be completed. It will be allowed within the rules of the institution attended. Grants are made each three months for the year, but work may be started at any date after the grant is made.

Dean Slay urged that all interested persons see him as soon as possible, in order that a fellowship committee may be formed and review the applications.

taken out at the main desk, has increased from a normal 200 a day to about 360. In the two days preceding Christmas, about 700 books were taken out for the holidays from that desk alone, with a much larger increase recorded in the reserve room.

Officials of the Women's College library report similar conditions there with near-capacity attendance. The doors of the Women's College library are open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on week days, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays, and 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

No Change Planned
No special librarians will be hired for the exam crowd, nor will the books be lengthened for either the West or East campus libraries. Powell added. This is the fact that the libraries are already short-staffed and that there is a general shortage of books and literature in that department. J. Foster Barnes in Room 201, Men's Union.

return to New York's City Center next month.

National Tour

They recently completed their first American tour, a series of performances at the Hollywood Bowl, and the New York engagement was the eighth season at the City Center.

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo's extensive repertoire of classical ballets has been supplemented with many modern numbers to make a total of 27 ballets. Mary Ellen Moylan returns to the company as a featured ballerina after an absence of two years during which time she appeared in the Broadway productions "The Day Before Spring" and "The Chocolate Soldier."

Other Dancers

Other featured dancers in the company include Leon Daniellian, acclaimed as one of the brilliant classical dancers of our time and Ruthanna Boris who joined the company from the Metropolitan Opera corps de ballet. Ivan Boutchkoff and Paul Strauss share the position of conductor for the symphony orchestra.

Reservations may be placed with the company. J. Foster Barnes in Room 201, Men's Union.

Jammed night and day with record crowds of students studying for the impending final exams, the West campus library is estimated by library officials to be handling twice the normal amount of trade usually serviced as construction is being speeded on the $1,500,000 addition to the building.

He first received his A.B. degree from Trinity in 1896, and won his M.A. in 1904.
