Y Plans Annual Dance For Carolina Week-End

PIC Magazine Sends Photographer to Dance

Highlighting the Duke-Carolina weekend, the YMCA will present its annual dance on Saturday, November 22, from 8:30 p.m. until midnight.

"Endeavoring to retain the pace of the Duke-Carolina weekend," announced dance chairman Dave Jones, "the YMCA is sparing no cost to give the campus the best dance of the month. The decorating committee has been given the financial green light, and it is estimated that near $200 will be spent on decorations alone."

42,000 Streamers
The dance is to feature completely different and unusual decorations added to the campus over 42,000 crepe paper streamers to decorate the Woman's Gym. In a previous year, the streamers were used to decorate the gym at Duke during the week.

This week the YMCA invited some of the nation's leading magazines, including Pic, Life, and Look, to the campus for the Carolina weekend. Pic has already accepted the invitation and has requested pictures of the dance.

'Cosmopolitan' Features Duke In March Issue

Duke will be featured in an article to appear in the Cosmopolitan magazine for March, 1948. Mr. Ralph Martin, a representative of the magazine, is now visiting the University for the necessary material concerning the University's history and organization, gathering information from various sources including administration and department heads and others.

This week, a Cosmopolitan photographer will be on campus to take pictures of the campus to illustrate the forthcoming article. Following the dance game last weekend, Martin and his wife, who has assisted him in his work, returned to New York to begin work on the article. While at Duke, Martin and his wife will be conducting the University faculty excellent.

WSGA Chooses Handbook Staff For '49 Edition

Recently chosen members of the 1948-49 WSGA Handbook have been announced by Mary E. Bobbitt, WSGA's first editor and business manager, respectively.

Members of the editorial staff are: Cecil McLean, Joan Craig, Cynthia Barrell, and Alice Povey. Those who will serve on the business staff are: Dolly Brim, Donna Gleason, Mildred Frazee, Joan Hull, and Sybilie Roscoe.

The Handbook, an official publication of the Woman's Student Government, will be sent to freshmen early in the summer. It consists of the constitution and by-laws of the WSGA, activities, and general information.

Quadrangle Pictures May Face Shut-Down

By BOB GOSSETT

Celebrating its twentieth year, the Quadrangle Pictures is in this season in need of greater student support if the bi-weekly magazine is to continue operating according to house manager Hal Hutton.

Need Crowds
It is the hope of Quadrangle Pictures that attendance throughout the fall will remain on par with that registered at the Wednesday and Saturday dances.

The organization which is strictly a non-profit student-service organization has been operating at a loss through out the war and succeeding years. They have been drawing during these slack years upon a surplus fund which was built up during depression and which is now totally exhausted. Mr. Robert B. Fearing, director of student activities, announced that over a thousand students attended the presentation "Let Me Live" on October 1, surpassing a record of several years standing, and nearly 1,000 students attended the Disney feature "Make Mine Music" last week.

The decision concerning the possible closing of Quadrangle Pictures was made this fall by the Motion Picture Committee of the University which declares that greater attendance than has been experienced during the past few years is necessary to insure the future of the organization. Two nights a week should the pictures be discontinued this year and the surplus fund should be available to other student activities. The Committee consists of (Continued on Page 4)

Change Schedule Of Class Meetings

Of Class Meetings

All class meetings on East are to be held the fourth Monday of each month, WSGA has announced. These meetings will take the place of the regular Monday night assembly presented by the administration.

The dance, emphasizing the fraternity circles during intermission, will be held at 11:30 p.m. on Monday night.

Amateurs Play

Tommy Farr and his Duke Ambassadors have been signed to play for the dance, and Farr has stated that he will present some of his newest arrangements.

Tickets for the dance, Jung announced, will go on sale Tuesday afternoon. Prices are set at $1.75 date and $1.25 stag.

Members of the dance committee warn that there may be a shortage of tickets because of the large influx of out of town guests for the Carolina weekend.

Correct wear for the evening will be a tuxedo, white dress, and the no corsage rule will be in effect.

Due to the intermission there will be a reception for the members of the Board of Directors, the Senior Y Cabinet members, and their dates, the dance chaperons, and guests. At this time the evening will be conducted by the Duke Ambassadors.

The Junior Y Cabinet members will be given the Duke Y Cabinet members.

SGA Makes Election Revisions

In a special convention Wednesday night, called by the Men's Student Government Association, several changes were made in the Men's Association constitution.

Most important among the changes made according to Al Sharpe, chairman of the revision by the Men's Association, is that "the membership fee of the Men's Student Government Association shall be $2.00 per person to be paid upon initial admission to the association for four years."

Masks will be given out at the new gym. Prices will be $1.00 for women, and they will be worn until the unmasking after intermission time at approximately 11:30 p.m.

Players Schedule "Joan Of Lorraine", "The Late George Apley" This Spring

Full Theatrical Season Opens Thanksgiving

By Jon Wells
Amusements Editor

Maxwell Anderson's "Joan of Lorraine" and "The Late George Apley" by John P. Marquand and George S. Kaufman were announced this week as the Spring productions of the Duke Players. The season starts on Thanksgiving Day with James Thurber's "The Male Animal", directed by Kenneth C. Readon.

An extensive search is now being conducted for an actress to play the title role in the only Southern performance this season of Anderson's hit, the play played on Broadway by Ingrid Bergman. In the play, which will be given March 11 and 12, an actress named Mary Grey is fighting with her conscience over whether or not she should play the part of Joan of Arc. She finds peace of mind in the act and set "play within a play."

Spring Production
May 6 and 7 have been named as the production dates for the story of the staid Back Bay Bostonian George Apley, based on Mr. Marquand's Pulitzer Prize novel, according to business manager Henry McLaughlin.

Tickets for "The Male Animal" to be given matinees and evening of November 27 and the evening of November 28, will go on sale in the Page auditorium office on Monday, and will continue daily thereafter from 2 to 5 p.m.

Reeves and Cahoon In National Society

According to a recent announcement, Dr. Robert J. Reeves, professor of radiology at the School of Medicine and Dr. B. Cahoon, Jr., technical instructor in the same department have been named to national office of the American Society of X-Ray Technicians.

Mr. Cahoon, the only Southerner on the committee, will serve as chairman of the three member committee on problems of education and registration. Dr. Reeves is to fill the position of advisor to the group.

Met Star Ferruccio Tagliavini Sings In Page Concert Dec. 4

Ferruccio Tagliavini, Italian tenor star of the Metropolitan Opera company, who appears in Page auditorium December 4 as the third of the current series of all-star concerts, has made a record number of concert, opera and radio appearances since his debut at the Met in January of this year.

Having completed two full-length films, he has been heard a number of times on the NBC Telephone Hour, his latest broadcast being with his wife only last week.

Tenor's Tours
Before returning to his second season with the Metropolitan and many American concerts, he toured Latin America, giving broadcasts, concert and opera performances in the major music centers there.

His debut at the Met as Rodolfo in "La Boheme," the same role in which he gave his first professional performance in Florence, Italy, made him the most widely-discussed new opera star in some time, and he continued his success a short time later in "The Barber of Seville."

Announced in last week's Chronicle as January 6, the performance date for the Page auditorium appearance of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will in reality be January 16. The famed dance group is not included on the regular concert series, but is an added attraction.

Tickets To Coed Ball On Sale November 19th

Announce Results Of Rifle Contests

Sharpshooters of the Duke ROTC unit, firing in three matches last week, defeated Columbia University 1634-1543, and lost to the University of Colorado 1634-1644 and the University of California at Berkeley 1634-1771. The men who fired in the ten-shot contests were: H. R. Merlin, R. E. Thigpen, N. E. DePuy, W. B. Wilmer, and G. Persen. Results of the pistol match with Tulane will be released when they are received.

This is the unit rifle team participating in five-shot matches with the Universities of Wisconsin and New Mexico. Ten-shot matches are being held with Dartmouth College, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and Brown University. The results of these matches will be announced next week.

To climax many weeks of speculation on both campuses, Social Standards will present the 1947-48 Chanticleer Beauty Queen at its annual Coed Ball Thanksgiving Eve.

Scheduled to extend from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., the dance, according to June Sumner, decorations committee chairman, will enjoy a novel color scheme to complement the "Black mask" theme.

Sale of tickets will begin on November 19 in the East campus, with first priority for purchases going to seniors.

Dance Figure
Preceding the presentation of the beauty queen, WSGA president Marge Frey, Social Standards members and their escorts, and the Beauty Court will be introduced, after which five new members will be tapped into Social Standards.

Following the dance, members, including those just tapped, and their escorts will be entertained at a breakfast in the Pan Helt house. The breakfast committee in charge of the reception is headed by D'Arlene Brink.

Galifiankis Announces Frosh Plans

Nick Galifiankis, newly elected president of the Freshman Class, announced today prospective plans for this year's freshman class.

An administrative council, which will this year be comprised of the class officers, house presidents, representatives of the Stag and Town Boys Club and chairman of the standing committees, will begin to function next week.

Among the first business the council will take up will be the possible installation of more pencil sharpeners and the establishing of a freshman treasury by the sponsoring of a student talent show.

Galifiankis said that it was hoped that it would be possible to form an inter-campus Freshman Council of the officers of the Women's, Freshman Class and the Men's Freshman Class for the purpose of coordinating of Freshman social activities. He said he hoped a dance before the Christmas Holidays would be possible through the council.

He was under the supervision of Linda Vetter, the following chairman have been appointed: Sue Gettner, figure committee, Midge Slaughter, flowers committee, and Bufo Extravise, invitations committee.

Alumni Of Engineering School Convene, Elect New Officers Homecoming Day

Music Study Club To Present Cahn, Anderson In Program

In its seventh annual student recital, Music Study Club will present Helen Cahn, coloratura soprano, and Jack Anderson, bass-baritone, Tuesday, November 25, in the Woman's College auditorium at 2:30 p.m. accompanied by Mrs. Eugenia Saville, instructor in the Music department.

Miss Cahn, a senior from Blahodiv, S. C., began her voice instruction under Mr. Ernest Brown of Charlotte, N. C. In 1944. During her four years at Duke, she has continued her studies with Mrs. J. Foster Barnes. Miss Cahn is a member of the Duke Chapel Choir, the Women's Music Club, and the Music Study Club.

LOUISE PARKER, Sophomore I think vandalism between Duke and Carolina actually detracts from the big event.

One way to abolish such acts is to make any group caught in the process of raising property feel like a heel and maybe students will in time realize that vandalism is really very silly.

MILTON CRANDALL, Freshman

Vandalism has no place on the men and there is no excuse for any kind of attitude. In the point of wanton damage it is merely a waste of money and the lowest form of life.

Award Homecoming Decoration Prizes

Beta Theta Pi, Alspaugh, "L" Take Honors For Displays

By POLLY POVIZZI

"Prizes awarded for Homecoming Decorations at Missouri-Duke half-time climaxed some of the keenest competition ever witnessed on both East and West campuses," Homecoming officials noted this week. On West, Beta Theta Pi carried away first prize in the fraternity decoration group for its display of a carnival featuring caged tigers and a tiger ferris-wheel. Sigma Nu netted second prize with a "life-sized" facsimile of a Life cover portraying the Missouri tiger. Roast tiger in House 1's "Warm Reception" won first prize for them among the Freshman dorms.

Colorful displays on East were topped by Alspaugh House's Storybook Land with parades on such old familiar stories as "Little Black Sambo," "The Old Woman Who Lived In A Shoe," and "The Cat and the Fiddle." Highly original was second-place Brown House's marquee, featuring "Wallace Wade's Victory."

Honorable Mention

Cited for honorable mention were Giles House on East, and Fraternities ATO, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Phi, and Sigma Chi.

Awards, based on originality, adaptability, and workmanship, were presented at half-time after the Duke band had concluded its activities by forming a line facing the Duke stands. Dante Germino, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Decorations, with the assistance of Leba Segall, president of Sandals, presented the awards to the various representatives. Also during half-time, Bill Elias, President of BOS, introduced Gordon Smith, SGA President, over the public address system, whose welcome to the Alumni was replied to by Amos R. Kearns, '47, president of the General Alumni Association.

School of Forestry Host to Freshman

Representing the Chief of the Forest Service, Raymond R. Fevrie completed a tour of Duke Forestry School this week. Mr. Fevrie came to the United States to work with the commission on forestry products and timber for the world under the Marshall Plan. Since the completion of this work last week, he has been sent by the United States Forest Service on a tour of forest interests in Virginia and the Carolinas.

Library Exhibiting Etching By Ronald In East Art Gallery

Twenty-nine prints, etchings, wood engravings, and lithographs by the contemporary French printmaker, Georges

Rouault, are now on exhibit in the Art Gallery of the Woman's College library.

Rouault is one of the most devotional painters of the Twentieth century. Influenced by the philosophy of Hells and Bloy; that art in the past represented evil as being beautiful, he has represented the ugliness of sin in his paintings. Prints on exhibit include several series of The Passion.

Dr. Robert L. Flowers, President of the University, Dr. Charles E. Jordan, Vice - President, Mr. Herbert J. Herring, Dean of Trinity College, Mr. Charles B. Markham, Treasurer, and Mr. Fevrie.

Student Organization
Quadrangle Pictures is almost entirely a student organization. Mr. Fevrie who acts as Resident Director being the only exception. Its organization is similar to that of a large city movie, being staffed with ticket sellers, ushers, and floor captains. It is now in its twentieth year of existence having had its start on the East campus in 1927 with the silent pictures. It was first sponsored by the 'Y' and for many years it contributed to that organization from its surplus funds.

The now non-existent surplus was originally set up as a fund to replace the equipment when this became necessary, but the fund actually turned out to be a balance wheel to tide the Pictures over in the lean years. Mr. Fevrie explains that depression years are boom years for Quadrangle Pictures and conversely since during the hard years more students confine their movie going to the campus than to the first-run shows downtown.

Present Problems
Quadrangle Pictures' present difficulties are due not so much to the expense of the film used but to operating cost such as labor, express and delivery, and maintenance which have almost doubled in recent years. The pictures shown are all second-run, the showing of first run pictures to such small audiences, students and friends of the University, on only two nights a week being virtually impossible. The sound equipment in present use is considered to be among the finest in the state. The projectors are carefully inspected and serviced every two months. One of the functions of Quadrangle Pictures in the past has been their annual presentation of the Birthday Party. These performances which were started by Mr. W. W. Upchurch began as home talent productions containing excerpts from the famous musical comedies. These performances eventually made the addition of such attractions as name bands and famous personalities including Paul Whitehead and Tommy Dorsey.

Law School Gets Latty's Portrait Of Judge Bryson

The faculty of the Duke University School of Law has formally accepted an oil portrait of Judge T. D. Bryson painted by Mrs. E. P. Latty, announces Harold Shephard, Law School dean. Mrs. Latty, wife of Professor E. R. Latty of the Law School, has studied art at the University of North Carolina, the University of Michigan, and art schools in South America.

In commemoration of Judge Bryson's twenty years of teaching there, the painting will be hung in a prominent position in the School of Law. Judge Bryson retired from the Duke Law School faculty at the close of the past summer semester after having served the school as both professor of law and as university counsel since coming to Duke in September, 1927.

The oldest class represented, '92, had three members registering: Mr. D. T. Edwards of Kingston and twins, Dr. H. T. Flyer of Durham and Dr. A. W. Flyer of Greensboro, who were famous football players in their day. Others from classes prior to the turn of the century were: W. J. Edwards, '93; C. W. Edwards, '94; J. H. Separk, '96; W. W. Graves, '97; J. P. Bredelove, '98; and H. B. Craven.

Homecoming actually began on Thursday when G. R. Bailey, '97, from Great Neck, L. I. N. Y., and Sid E. Lurie, '42, from Springfield, Missouri, arrived in Durham.

Arnall Urges Reform "In Own Backyard"

By BETTY BROWN

"The place where we stand today is holy ground," declared Ellis Arnall in his talk before a capacity crowd in the Woman's College auditorium Wednesday night.

Presented by Student Forum, the former governor of Georgia asserted that the place to begin reform is "in our own backyard," since the economy of the world depends on a balanced economy within the United States.

The subject of Arnall's talk was "The South Today." However, he did not limit himself to the South, but stressed the fact that all sections of this nation are dependent on each other and that all nations of the world are inter-dependent. Declaring that the South is not an isolated area, he said that we must think in terms of the nation and the globe.

Arnall emphasized this point by stating that we are one world because humankind is the same everywhere and that a nation is the composite of all its people. He declared that the solution for peace lies not in a powerful military machine, but "in the hearts and minds of men."

Stating that fate and circumstances have made the United States the leading world power, he said it is our duty, from a motive of "intelligent selfishness," if for no other reason, to aid in the rehabilitation of war-torn countries and to support democracy. However, we cannot do this successfully unless our own internal economy is balanced. It is not the part of the individual to speak out in international tribunals, but he can be and is a factor in the human equation and, if he has will, faith, courage, and optimism, all things are possible, Arnall said.

Arnall's policy would begin with the recognition of the common heritage of this nation to all sections and races. He would break down sectionalism and develop the South along with the rest of the country, since her problems are common to all sections.

Arnall also said that he does not fear Communism or war with Russia because he believes that democratic principles are inherent in our people and that they will never accept Communism. He said it is better to discuss democracy than Communism and that a positive, rather than a negative attitude is necessary.

He would follow a friendly, but firm, policy in dealing with Russia.

The statesman believes that the only danger in capitalism is its tendency toward monopoly. He said that he favors competitive free enterprise in which all individuals have equal opportunities for economic success.
