

ERC Members Should Register For Spring Courses—Herring

Dean Reverses Plan For Late Registry Offered Yesterday

Reversing the statement which he made at the general assembly yesterday concerning the time of registration for members of the Registered Reserve Corps, Dean H. J. Herring advised all members of the ERC to register for their courses at the regular time and place in a special statement to this newspaper yesterday afternoon.

"Although we have received no official information concerning the details of the plans for members of the Army and Navy Corps and the information dated December 28, 1942, because of the uncertainty of the individual members of the corps may be called, it seems advisable for all ERC students to make early course cards at the date named for their classes," the dean said.

Herring's statement continued, "Students who pay their fees in advance and are called by the beginning of the second semester will get the full amount of their tuition refunded. Those who are unable to finish the semester will receive a proportionate refund of their tuition based on the number of days of school which they have attended."

Concerning his statement earlier in the day, when he had said that the general assembly that members of the ERC need not register late if they found it impossible to remain in school, Dean Herring said, "Instead of late registration either in advance or later for members of the ERC as a group, now seems feasible to register for their class groups."

Dean Herring stressed the fact that students should return to school for the spring semester if at all possible. Students who leave the university will be subject to immediate call, while those who return to school may have an opportunity to continue their studies for a limited time. No students should depart from school prior to their final examinations. Those who are called to the armed forces, and all who receive call to report before taking their final examinations, should be given the opportunity to leave after leaving the school.

As has been made clear at the general assembly, plans have been laid to register all members of the ERC who find it impossible to return to school. Instead of a late registration for school, however, now has been decided to have them register in the usual order.

Campus Wardens To Get Armbands

Enrollees of the first campus OCD air-raid warden training course numbering thirty-seven students and faculty members will be awarded their official banners Tuesday night at special ceremonies in the Union ballroom at 8:15 p.m. The program is completing a program of ten weeks' duration in the fall semester.

At that time, pictures will be taken of the assembled group for inclusion into a group of photographs to emphasize the contribution of the university towards OCD training.

The emblems to be awarded are heavy-duty armbands with the O.C.D. air raid emblem on the face. The armbands measure three by four inches and are for official use only, during blackouts and air raid warnings.

W. E. Whitford, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the campus, announced that the names of the successful course members eligible for the O.C.D. award in a short time will be announced by the commencement of the second semester, the newly appointed wardens will be given their O.C.D. armbands by Whitford to posts about the campus for duty during emergencies. Whitford urged the fifty-five graduates, whose names were printed in the last issue of the Chronicle, to be proud of their position and to be ready to respond in the event of an air raid.

Junior, Senior Men Approve Voluntary P.E.

Special pressure yesterday created a voluntary program of physical education for the spring semester for all juniors and seniors after attempts to initiate a compulsory system of physical conditioning had failed earlier this semester.

Dean of Trinity College Herbert J. Herring appealed to the undergraduate men yesterday at the Trinity general assembly to condition themselves now for future entrance into the armed forces. Following his address, when he asked all present in the auditorium to arise if they approved the new plan, practically every student who rose to sign up for the program, and at the time of the assembly over a hundred names have been counted.

The course, physical education 100, will include tumbling and vaulting exercises, conditioning exercises such as sit-ups, chin-ups, etc., wrestling and a hand to hand fighting, boxing, and the use of the obstacle course and cross country running. Emphasis was laid on the fact that this is not a lecture type of course. There will be four sections for juniors and seniors to select from. Sections will be held in the fourth period Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings; fourth period Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday mornings; 4 to 6 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons; and 4 to 6 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Students who cannot register in these sections may elect any regularly scheduled physical education class for freshmen and sophomores. These classes will include "voluntary" the same type of training.

In all classes, the Army Air Corps physical fitness test will be the basis of the program. This test requires the student of his relative physical condition and progress.

University officials include the ruling, W. E. Whitford, superintendent of West campus, said he had little to say other than that campus police had not yet been called on to help enforce the rule. But this was little help to the average Duke student, who is not a member of the American Medical Colleges has announced the date of the next physical fitness test as January 22, 1943.

This test is now one of the most important tests in the selection to a medical school and the successful passing of this test is a prerequisite for admission to medical schools. Whether the student will be tested by any of the medical schools of the country.

The test will be given simultaneously in colleges all over the country. The two classes of medical students. The over the year exam will be held here in the biology lecture room at 3 p.m. Application, which should be made by all pre-medical students, will be given to the American Association of University Women.

Miss Baldwin defined the purpose of the meeting as an intensive discussion of wartime training. The meeting will be held in Washington sometime during February.

Dr. Wyatt Smart, noted educator and professor of Biblical Theology at Emory university, will speak at morning services at the Duke chapel Sunday at 11 o'clock, on the topic, "Religion for Its Own Sake."

Dr. Smart has addressed churches and audiences several times in recent years, and a welcoming reception has been arranged for the speaker from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Sunday at the Duke Chapel.

The speaker, born in Newberry, South Carolina, graduated from the University of North Carolina and the University of Theology at Emory. He has also attended the University of Chicago, the University of Wisconsin, and Ohio Wesleyan.

J. Foster Barnes, director of the Duke chapel Sunday school, will lead the choir in special music, and Edward Hall broadcast music, and the choir will sing at the service for the morning worship. Back from Russia and China.

Willkie, Fischer Will Speak To University Next Week

Noted Author and Correspondent To Speak Tuesday

Louis Fischer, noted American foreign correspondent and author, will address the campus community next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in Page auditorium in reviewing Anglo-Indian relations with respect to the current world war.

Fischer, regarded by many authoritative observers as one of the most experienced and informed of correspondents, has been connected with "The Nation," nationally read periodical for twenty years, most recently serving on the publication as associate editor. He is the author of "The Road to Victory," "The Soviets in World Affairs," and "A Week With Hitler."

The foreign correspondent is regarded as one of the greatest American writers on foreign affairs. He has long been traveling, having been in India, Egypt, Iran, Iraq, and other Near Eastern nations. He spent much time in Germany in pre-war days, and during the Spanish revolution served as a correspondent. Fischer's most recent trip was an aerial journey made by way of Africa to India in the Gandhi Express.

He met and interviewed Pandit Nehru, close friend of Gandhi, who had the All-India Congress party. General Warren, and the late Pandit Jawahar of Hyderabad, a leader of Indian Muslims.

Dr. Gandhi, who had presented the Indian leader with a copy of the correspondence "Men and Politics," which both Gandhi and Nehru found enlightening. On his trip to India, where Gandhi was living prior to his arrest by the British authorities, Fischer invited Gandhi to spend a week as his houseguest. Their discussion, at first on "Men and Politics," shortly grew in scope to cover the entire Indian situation.

Fischer, Fischer says, is a vegetarian, although the food served at the hotel where he was which never appeared, was excellent and varied. Breakfast was served at 8 o'clock and lunch at 12 o'clock. Fischer was reported. Each morning and each afternoon, Fischer would speak for an hour of discussion to each group. Although Gandhi is not a Christian, the only decoration to be seen in his mud-bamboo hut was a small framed print of Christ.

Band To Perform At Willkie Speech

The university band will begin its concert season January 14 by playing a program of martial music preceding the lecture by Wendell Willkie.

The program will be broadcast over a nationwide Mutual Broadcasting System hook-up originating in the Indian stadium on campus.

Final band rehearsals will be held next Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. in the rear of the Chapel. In view of approaching exams, the duration of rehearsals will be kept to a minimum. Dr. Robert B. Fearing said.

Because of the common belief that the band would become inactive after Christmas, there has been some doubt as to whether physical education classes will be given band members, Fearing said. The band members will be considerably smaller, but classes "overwhelming" in credit will be given.

Present plans are to present as many concerts as possible in the belief that music can and does play a very vital part in a war-torn world as well as in time of peace, Fearing said.

Delta Phi Alpha To Elect Eighteen

Delta Phi Alpha, German honor fraternity, will hold its annual election ceremonies next Wednesday at 8:00 in the President's club room of the National Fraternity House.

Dr. Herbert von Beckerath, of the German department, will give an informal talk after the ceremonies. Students interested in German are invited to the talk.

Eighteen German students were invited to join the organization on the basis of high scholarship and interest in the German language. The purpose of the fraternity is to promote knowledge and interest in Germany.

Officers of the fraternity are: Dick Wrench, president; Marcus Wrench, secretary; and Dick Long, secretary-treasurer.

Law School Has New Publication

"The Correction of Youthful Offenders," a symposium of fifteen articles written by leading legal scholars, is the latest edition of "Law and Contemporary Problems," just published by the National Fraternity House.

Republican Leader May Also Address Soph Assembly

Possibility that Wendell Willkie may speak briefly to Duke's student body next Thursday morning grew today as University Lecture committee heads completed plans for the 1943 Republican presidential debate.

Mr. Willkie may appear in Page auditorium before the assembly, which would ordinarily be the regular sophomore class assembly, and which would be a completely approved.

During his one-day stay in Durham, besides his proposed appearance at the 12:30 assembly, Mr. Willkie is scheduled to attend a joint luncheon of five local civic clubs and make his scheduled speech at 8 o'clock in the giant Duke Indoor stadium.

Meeting Mr. Willkie upon his arrival will be a special university committee, including Kenneth H. Herring, who received the position of Under Secretary of the Treasury in the Franklin Roosevelt cabinet, who received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Duke, and an ardent Willkie supporter in 1940; and Charles Smith, who played the somewhat ungrateful role of the spiteful Linda, Mason, was spirited and charming. Names as furnished by Erin Woodhall as Betty Havens, and also by Suzanne Hurler, Miss Minkoff, and by Naomi Mann as Liz. The actors who played the scenes as older people were well cast and well made up.

The efficiency of making the frequent scene shifts which are the conventional thing in musicals, and the students' comment of the stage in Page auditorium. The device of having the students in the audience, and the herculean efforts of the stage crew over the past few days.

That student effort could put on a show of this magnitude, performance of a show is a significant thing. The college community will be proud of its enthusiasm at athletic events ought to feel equally proud of its enthusiasm at the stage work in "Hayfoot, Strawfoot."

Kern-Harbach Songs Hit Record

By BILL MILLER
The music of "Hayfoot, Strawfoot" is not below the Kern-Harbach standard. Many of the songs in this production will, I believe, achieve the lasting popularity that has made almost as many of their past compositions.

Pointed out the two songs of the show which will be most long lived are "When a Cowboy Needs a Girl" and "Money Money Money." These songs are based on themes which have been used in the past.

Sunday Broadcast To Feature Jerome Kern 'Hayfoot' Tunes

Otto Harbach, co-author of "Hayfoot, Strawfoot," which had its first showing in Page auditorium this evening, will be the featured attraction on the nationwide broadcast of Jerome Kern tunes originating from Page auditorium Sunday evening at 11:30 o'clock over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Eddie Cantor, who it was hoped would participate in the program, has been unable to appear. The program led by Fran Allen will be broadcast on the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Since this is a national broadcast, the show will be broadcast in the first time on the air many of the tunes from the new Kern-Harbach "Hayfoot, Strawfoot" production. Johnny Alexander and Clarence Muse will be featured in only solo numbers on the show.

All Sorts In Sports

By BILL SCHUCHARDT

The mystery men of the season appear to be the Duke basketball five. Playing "hot and cold" ball in their early season contests, the Blue Devils have been far from consistent in their performances. After getting off to a disappointing start against the Carolina Navy Cloudbusters and the Tennessee Volunteers, the cagemen returned to the Indoor stadium from Knoxville to wind up their pre-holiday campaign by soundly trouncing a better than average quintet from the Fort Bragg Reception Center. The soldiers featured a galaxy of former collegiate stars including that unpredictable "clown prince" of basketball, "Boonie" Smith. Cutting short their Christmas vacations, the Blue Devils returned to the White Elephant to begin early practice sessions for the annual battle in Philadelphia's famed Convention Hall against the highly-touted Temple Owls.

Free Tosses Incurate

In both the Philadelphia tilt and the return match with the Cloudbusters Wednesday afternoon, the Duke turned on the heat in the final few minutes of play to bring another victory back to Durham. In all of the cagers' play this winter, one fact has been all too evident. Their eye is definitely off on those few throws from the foul line, and this has cost them the fruits of victory at times as well as making their triumphs much harder at other times. But as the venerable philosopher of the athletic department, Cap Card, told Coach Jerry Gerard the other afternoon, "You just can't make foul shot artists. They are born; you can't teach them."

Flour Work Good

But in contrast to this rather hapless condition has been the fine flour work of the cagemen. They have piled up points aplenty on field goals and defensive rebound leaves but little to be desired. Their last minute finish over at the Hill as they sent the Cloudbusters home with lowered heads brings back memories of sensational Blue Devil fives of the past few years which have been the cream of the Southern conference. With a slight improvement in their gristly shots, the Duke will once more be the terror of the tournament. It is to be hoped that by the time the title play rolls around, the cagemen will be reborn.

Chalk Line Chatter

The first big winter sports weekend will get underway tomorrow afternoon when the wrestlers from Virginia Polytech take the mats against the 1943 edition of Coach Harvey Porter's grapplers. . . . In the evening the big cage bill-of-fare to be dabbed up by the basketball quintets of Duke and Virginia Military Institute will hold the spotlight. . . . And speaking of winter sports. . . . Duke will be ready for another varsity boxing team. . . . If any minor sport is to survive, this excellent condition and, incidentally, very practical means of self-defense should certainly be included. . . . Fisticuffs deal a lingering blow to the student body, but it is because of a lethargy of student interest. . . . If transportation problems make its inclusion impossible in the varsity sports setup, it is to be hoped that the Intramural department will see fit to hold a few bouts as part of its program.

Quintet Meets Devils Here Tomorrow

Wrestlers To Open Season At Home

State Postpones Tankmen's First Conference Meet

Transportation agency, the bug-shoot of all coaches, has set the start of the swimming season back to February 9 as the N. C. State meet was postponed indefinitely at the request of the Wolfpack's tank men. The Blue Devil first meet is now against the North Carolina Pre-flight squad in the University of North Carolina pool on February 6.

The squad has been augmented by the addition of freshman Roy Marcher and Junior Al Farley. Marcher does 25-7 in the 50-yard freestyle event, while Farley is holding his own in the stiff race for the top spot in the breast stroke event.

Battling hard for backstroke honors are brothers Porter and Warren Higgins. Porter, the elder, has been doing his bit for Coach Jack Prentiss' men for the last two years, while his younger brother is just coming into collegiate competition as a freshman. Both of them are versatile and doing well in the backstroke and freestyle events. Last year Porter was well up in the ranks of Duke freestyle men, splashing through the 100-yard event in 56.3 seconds.

Plans underway for a Duke water polo team. This sport will be especially helpful for those who may get damped in the ocean somewhere someday. It's the conditioner the main feature of which is the amount of energy and stamina that a man must have to play. Matches may be scheduled with UNC, N. C. State, and Carolina Pre-flight.

The only hole in the strident Devil tank aggregation is the diving position. Heath, last year's top diver, graduated. This leaves only one diver on the squad. Clarence Tilly holds down the top spot, but Persons is still looking for a freshman or upperclassman who can run through the four required dives and dig four optional dives out of his own repertoire.

The team and coach are not as good about the season yet, but at present they are dual meets are not singular meet, and the AAU meet are on the schedule. The tentacles of the season contain these meets:

Sat. Feb. 6—Carolina Pre-flight in Chapel Hill
Sat. Feb. 16—Duke vs. Adams, Ga.
Sat. Feb. 20—Duke vs. Adams, Ga.
Sat. Feb. 22—Duke vs. Adams, Ga.
Sat. Feb. 24—Duke vs. Adams, Ga.
Sat. Feb. 26—Duke vs. Adams, Ga.
Sat. Feb. 28—Duke vs. Adams, Ga.

Grapplers Look Good For First Match With VPI

The Duke grunting-and-pronouncing will meet the Virginia Polytechnic Institute wrestlers on the main floor of the Old Gym at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon to open the season.

The prospects for a successful campaign for the current edition of the Blue Devil wrestling team are brighter this winter than they have been for many years.

Outstanding in the ranks of opponents will be a lad named Charles McCarthy, who walked off with the Southern conference crown in the 121-pound division last year.

Another repeatedly powerful man on the VPI squad is "Bulldog" Zedlik, the center of the Razorback team's greatest team. He will wrestle in the 165-pound or 175-pound class.

The grapplers are brothers Porter and Warren Higgins. Porter, the elder, has been doing his bit for Coach Jack Prentiss' men for the last two years, while his younger brother is just coming into collegiate competition as a freshman. Army ERC Call To Close Seward's Career With Blue Devil Five Tomorrow night, John "Bubber" Seward, star forward on the current edition of Jerry Gerard's cage five, may play one of his last games for Duke. Bubber is a member of the Army Relieved Service Corps that will be called to active duty in February.

Starting in Duke cage play last in the fall and winter of 1941, Bubber, the six foot one forward from Newport News, Virginia, played with that best year's squad in Duke hardwood history. That year he scored 129 points in 13 tilts to average 9.9 points per game.

One of the four returning lettermen this year, Bubber is playing on the first string. Last year the lanky blond scored 109 points in 21 varsity tilts for an average of 5.0 points per game.

During the 1942-43 campaign, Bubber, who has been named the sophomore second coach Ed Cameron used in his two-year "shooting guard" position, was turned up mostly of seniors and returning lettermen, started the third victory since 1934. With the addition of Sid Gulleague from last year's team, the Porter-coached aggregation will enter the competition sporting five veteran wrestlers and three newcomers.

Included among the veterans is Huffman, who has lost but one match in conference competition which has been in action on the mat representing Duke. The lone defeat came in the finals of last year's Southern conference tournament when he lost to the VMI entry. In that match Huffman was wrestling in the 175-pound class rather than in his usual 165-pound division.

The five men from last year's squad are Huffman, Roy Smart, Dick Richardson, Sid Gulleague, and Bill Haines. The newcomers are Larry Phelps, Bob Stroppe, and Tom Burns, varsity guard on the 1942 Blue Devil grid squad. Phelps, who will appear in the 145-pound tilt tomorrow, is a freshman appearing for the first time on the mat.

Coach Harvey Porter stated that he believed the team was a better all-round squad this year than it was last season. VPI's vacation ended at the same time that Duke's did; so both squads should be in about the same condition.

The Devil's lineup: 121-pound, Bob Stroppe; 126-pound, Roy Smart; 136-pound, Dick Richardson; 145-pound, Sid Gulleague; 156-pound, Bill Haines; 175-pound, Wendell Huffman. Unlinited, Tom Burns.

Duke's woman-stunned quintet was enthused over the idea. "This," said Bubber Seward, forward on the Duketers "is as it should be. We'll make ten extra points for every tilt we win. We'll make ten extra points for every tilt we win. We'll make ten extra points for every tilt we win."

Other members of the team backed up Bubber's opinion. Said Art Willie, Hartman turned in a "Wrong basket. Mettler. 'It'll be able to see straight now.'"

Only people dissatisfied with the whole situation will probably be the coaches when their star players start taking the job of being shot out of the game.

Cage Tilt Is First S. C. Game On the Local Hardwood Floor

The opening gun in the local race for the Southern conference basketball crown will be fired tomorrow night when the defending champion Duke cagers take to the hardwood in the Indoor stadium to face the invading Kaydets from Virginia Military Institute.

Tomorrow night's tilt will be the first showing of the Blue Devils on the local court against collegiate competition. Three previous showings, against varsity squads representing the Carolina Pre-flight school and the Fort Bragg Reception Center, resulted in one victory and one defeat on the Duke's cage floor.

The Kaydets, famed year in and year out for their consistently well-balanced cage crews, will climax one of the busiest weeks of the season so far for the charges of Coach Jerry Gerard. Wednesday afternoon, the Blue Devils start their string of consecutive victories to three when they topped the Carolina Pre-flight Cloudbusters in a return game at Chapel Hill's new Woolen gymnasium. Last night the Devils traveled to Winston-Salem for the first of two meetings with Davidson Wildcats.

The Wildcat tilt was the first Southern conference battle of the campaign on the Blue and Chapel Hill's new Woolen gymnasium. Last night the Devils traveled to Winston-Salem for the first of two meetings with Davidson Wildcats.
