Sketch of Dr. White—Smoker to Be Given in Honor of Speaker—Forum and Work to Do Come to Him. Leadership in the Degree of A. B. He was head of the Young Man's Christian Association, the first faculty lecturer for the spring term was given by Prof. A. C. McIntosh, of the department of Law. There was only a small audience present, but those that were there were amply repaid. Prof. McIntosh discussed Chief Justice John Marshall, and he handled the subject in such a way that the whole audience was instructed in the instructions to all the hearers. Though synopses can to no wise do justice, that much was given.

By way of introduction he referred to the lecture delivered some time ago by Dr. Kilgo on "A Generation of Great Men," and pointed out the necessity of keeping before our minds the life of a great man as an inspiration. He then continued by saying that "the lives of John Marshall were a remarkable one account on the one hand, and the life of a great man as an inspiration."

He was a contemporary and co-worker in the pulpit in the Second Baptist Church in Atlanta, the Second Baptist.

Mr. J. W. Bailey, editor of the Biblical Recorder, has kindly furnished the following interesting sketch of his life:

Mr. White began his life's work at an early age.

He began very humbly, but with time, and knowledge, and he received a saintly heritage from his father, who died in the period of his young manhood. Thoughts of her went far to re-due the downward tendencies that far were threatened to dom-in him.

He finished his education at Wake College, in the year 1876, and at the age of 12 N. He was head of the Appalachian Alpha fraternity, editor of the "Kappa Alpha" fraternity, and he was engaged in a full man's work since he was twenty. He was reared on farms in Johnston and Wake counties, and did all the work of a farm boy. He was instructed by his father, who is an exertion, a scholar, and a man of culture; and he received a saintly heritage from his mother, who died in the period of his young manhood.

Mr. B. Lovecaste, of Salisbury, a representative of the American Typewriter Co., has been visiting Mr. Henry Rowe, of the Sophomore Class, for the past few days.

He is considering going in the typewriter business.

President Love of the V. M. C. A., has received a letter from the chairman on arrangements for the 33d annual convention to be held at Nashville, informing him that owing to the large number to be accommodated the Trinity delegation will be reduced to three. Those who will go are: P. E. Lewis, K. W. Fannam, and J. F. McGhee.

The Vanderbilt-Trinity debate, which was held in Nashville on December 3d, was printed in full in the January number of the Vanderbilt University Quarterly. Speaking of the contest it says: "The debate on the topic, 'That the New Economics are better than the Old,' was carried on by Prof. S. W. Minor and Mr. Z. E. Barnhardt. The visiting debating association was composed of the members of the Alpha Phi chapter of the Kappa Alpha fraternity, while the members of the Vanderbilt debating society were composed of J. F. McGhee, J. R. Hays, M. K. Long, R. H. Frantielle, E. B. Ports, and J. B. Thompson. Both sides covered the topics of the controversy.

After a short stay at his home at Salisbury, Mr. B. H. Phillips is again on the park.

Mr. C. F. Franklin, of the Senior Class, went down to Cary Friday and returned yesterday.

Rev. James W. Kilgo, of Spartanburg, S. C., visited his brother, President Kilgo, last week. He conducted the devotional exercises at chapel Thursday morning.

Mr. J. W. Strood, a student here last term, spent several days with friends here last week. Mr. Strood is now at school at A. and M. College at Raleigh.

Mr. W. R. Bivins, a member of the Freshman Class, left college last week, being compelled to give up his studies on account of his health. His many friends regret that circumstances necessitated his leaving college.

The Minnie Hammett, members of the Freshman Class, were called home this morning by a message which stated that their father had died suddenly. No particulars could be obtained. In their sadness and mourning the whole college community sympathizes with them.

PROGRAMS FOR FEB. 24

The programs for the literary societies for Saturday night are as follows:

- B. H. Ewart, Declinators—Rose, Swindell, Mann, and Bridges.
- W. B. Shinn, Orators—Warren, C. J., Jerome, and Cole, R. O.
- G. H. COLMANSON, Declinators—Bivins, C. L., and Goldstein.
- Orators—Hogwood, A. S., and Hoffman.

They met on a bridge. Each boy held out his hand, and they shook, and instantly realized that they were utter strangers. Had not Mr. Bivins put his hand, and they shook, and instantly realized that they were utter strangers. Had not the result been a genuine Hi-jinks, the situation might have been embarrassing. "Bigger than that," says Quay. "When we were so far off, we didn’t think it was you, and you thought it was me, and now we see, we’re here together, it’s nobody else of us."

Mr. Charles Scarlett, who read law in Greensboro, is again engaged in teaching school in Superior, Hyde county. Mr. Scarlett is also reading law in connection with his teaching.
