FOURTH ANNUAL TOUR MADE

Glee Club and Orchestra on Eastern Trip During Past Week.

ENJOYABLE TIME REPORTED BY ALL

Newbern, Morehead City, Greenville, Washington, and Kinston Visited—Many Courtesies Extended the Club—A Western Trip Planned.

During the past week the Glee Club and Orchestra went on the Eastern trip of its fourth annual tour, and in its history there has not been a more enjoyable nor more successful trip, from all standpoints, reported. The different members of the organization have worked hard, and as a result of their labors have been able to offer a program which in itself and in its presentation has been, in every way, creditable.

The club left on Monday, March 5th, for Newbern, where on the same evening, in the Masonic Opera House, its first concert was given. Although it was the first, on the whole the program was well rendered and seemed to be enjoyed by all present, as frequent applause by the audience attested. On Tuesday the club went to Morehead City and gave its second entertainment in the Harry North School Building of that place. Here, perhaps, the largest audience of the trip greeted the Glee Club and Orchestra, there being, besides Morehead City people, a number of visitors present from Beaufort. The program was well received again and encores were given to nearly every number. In the afternoon, through the kindness of Mr. C. B. Arthur, the members of the club were given a delightful trip on a gasoline launch and many points of interest were visited. Among these were the government laboratories and the wireless telegraph station at Beaufort and the life-saving station at the mouth of the inlet.

On Wednesday evening the third concert was given at Greenville, this being presented more successfully, perhaps, than any other of the tour and elicited favorable comment quite in proportion. Frequent applause was given by the audience, which appeared to be ever appreciative, and encores were heartily responded to by the club. After the concert an informal reception was held in the elegant rooms of the Carolina Club and a royal welcome extended the Trinity boys by its members and the people of Greenville.

The members of the Glee Club and Orchestra can not adequately express their appreciation of the many courtesies shown them here.

From Greenville the trip was continued by water down the Tar River, the fourth entertainment being given in Washington on Thursday evening. In spite of the very inclement weather a good-sized audience was in attendance and every number of the program seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed. In Kinston, on Friday night, the tour was brought to a successful close, and the club returned to Durham Saturday.

At no particular place can the club say that the time was spent more pleasantly than at any other, for the entire trip was a succession of pleasures from start to finish, and if it were possible none would hesitate for a moment to take it all over again. Never, on any previous tour, have the members of the club received more courteous treatment in every place visited, and very many thanks are due, by the club, to all of those who in any way helped to make the trip so thoroughly enjoyable.

A Western trip for the club will probably be arranged for the near future, to include a number of towns, among them being in all probability Greensboro and Charlotte.

THE SHOWING FOR THE NINE

"A Better Balanced Team Than Last Year," Says Coach Stocksdale.

EIGHTEEN MEN FIGHTING FOR POSITIONS

A Battery of Four Pitchers and Two Catchers—A Fast Infield and Some Crack Hitters—Season Opens Saturday.

The base ball team which will represent Trinity this season will, from present indications, be far above the usual standard. Though no team has been picked, a look at the players will convince one that they are not of the common class. The season opens Friday with a game with the Trinity Park School, and on that occasion the boys will be given a chance to show what they can do under fire.

Coach Stocksdale says that the team will be better balanced this year than it was last. The infield will be faster and the outfield just as fast. In the box Trinity will again be strong. Though she suffered irreparably in the loss of Bradsher, there appears to be several Bradshers in the embryo here this spring. Four men have shown up well in the box, these being J. F. Clement, R. M. Gantt, W. R. Grant, and Paul Webb. Webb's ability is well known. It is probable, however, that he will be used on third, as that place lacks a strong man. Clement pitched last year for the Park School, making a splendid showing. His hitting was splendid, being above the 400 mark. Gantt has been at Trinity for two years, but this is his first appearance on the base ball diamond. He has good speed and curves, and promises to show up in fine form. Grant, too, has been doing well, though he lacks experience.

Catcher's position will be filled by F. R. Wrenn, whose steadiness, headwork, and good base throwing last year places him among the best catchers on college teams in the South. Henry L. Smith will probably act as substitute catcher. He caught for the Park School last season, and has shown that he has ability.

T. B. Suiter will be on first, and Coach Stocksdale says that he will make the best first baseman Trinity has ever had. He played the same position with the "preps" last year, and in hitting his percentage was above 300. At second there are three candidates, Horace Freeman, F. A. Ogburn, and C. R. Warren. Each of them covers ground in a hurry, and out of the three a good man is a surety. At third Paul Webb will be seen. John Hutchison will probably cover this bag when Webb is in the box. Captain Smith will be in his old position at short. This energetic little fellow is a strong point of the team, and his ginger and ability to put ginger into his team-mates is an invaluable quality. All these men are good in the field, and are fast developing into heavy hitters.

In the outfield there are a number of promising men. Two of these are members of last year's team. Justus, who played right field, will be seen in his old position; and Flowers, who was injured a short time ago, will be at center again as soon as he has recovered from his injury. Among the candidates for the left field are E. C. Bivins, L. M. Johnston, K. B. Nixon, and N. S. Green. The way these men are playing, it is going to be a hard job to decide who shall be the man to go on the team.

The outfielders are also going to be crack hitters. Justus and Flowers were the leading batters on last year's nine. The team, as a whole, will have no marked weak places, and a team that can field well and at the same time be able to hit the ball will be the result of Stocksdale's hard work.

SECOND GAME TOMORROW

Basket Ball Team Will Play Wake Forest at Wake Forest Tomorrow—To Arrange for a Track Meet.

Tomorrow afternoon the second game of basket ball between the teams of Wake Forest College and Trinity will be played at Wake Forest. The boys who will represent us will leave tomorrow morning at 9:30, and at 3 o'clock the game will be called. Physical Director Card will be in charge of the team, and will take the following men with him as players: Stem, Claywell, Greever, White, T. M. Grant, T. A. Holton, Womble, and Pugh. These will be accompanied by Mr. E. B. Cooper as representative of THE CHRONICLE, and Mr. K. B. Nixon.

In case the game results in a victory for Trinity, another contest will be arranged to play off the tie.

On this trip Mr. Card will arrange a meet with Wake Forest in track athletics, if possible, and in the event that he does, the training of men will be started at once.

The basket ball team from here will return tomorrow night, leaving Wake Forest at 6:20.

FACULTY LECTURE.

Will Be Delivered Friday Evening by Dr. Bassett in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The second lecture this term by a member of the faculty will be delivered in the Y. M. C. A. hall on Friday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The subject which Dr. Bassett will use is James Anthony Froude. On the following Friday night Prof. W. H. Wannamaker will deliver the third of this series. The first one for the term was given by Prof. McIntosh, of the department of law.

The student body is expected to attend this lecture by Dr. Bassett, and the general public is invited.

Mr. A. J. Templeton spent Sunday at his home in Cary.

THE SECOND ANNUAL DINNER

Given by Trinity College Alumni Association of New York.

MANY INTERESTING LETTERS WERE READ

President Kilgo's Letter—Dr. W. P. Few Spoke—Mr. W. B. Dowd Elected President for Coming Year—Enjoyable Occasion.

The second annual dinner of the Trinity College Alumni Association of New York was held on the evening of March 3 in the Aldine Club, No. 111 Fifth Avenue, New York City. In the neighborhood of New York there are now some twenty-five Trinity men, and most of these were present at the recent dinner. The president of the association was Dr. George B. Pegram, and the secretary Mr. W. H. Adams. After dinner the secretary read interesting letters from J. W. Alspaugh, one of the oldest living graduates of the college; from Senator Simmons, Senator Overman, Dr. B. R. Payne, a professor in the University of Virginia; Dr. W. K. Boyd, of Dartmouth College; Dr. J. S. Bassett, of Trinity College, and President Kilgo, whose letter was as follows:

To the Trinity College Alumni Association of New York City: In the name of your Alma Mater, who always has a lively interest in the welfare of her sons, I send you greetings and best wishes. I count it a token of your fidelity in the welfare of your old college, and to the noble virtues to which she stands committed, that you annually come together in a banquet hall. Your old college has no small degree of self-congratulation that her sons found in her, companionships and friendships which sufficiently value to keep alive and perpetuate through the years.

Let it never be forgotten that the destiny of Trinity is a Southern destiny—that your old College believes in the South and in Southern youth. However, its faith is not of a cheap sort, that nurses an oversensitiveness and indulges a discreditable self-flattery. On the contrary, it is a faith that recognizes the South as a part of a great nation, having a large share in all the problems and tasks and destinies of a nation's life. It is a faith in the genuine worth of Southern youth and their readiness to identify themselves with the widest issues of the nation and of mankind. A narrower view and faith than this would make your Alma Mater too provincial and selfish to be worthy of your esteem. I deem it not improper to again remind you of some of the things which Trinity earnestly desires to build in her men and in Southern civilization.

First of all is the individuality of life. Individuals are not detached parts of a community; the community is the sum of individuals. All of life finds its embodiment in the single man. The kingdom of truth is a kingdom for each man. You cannot, therefore, refer your rights and your duties to the disposition of a community. The commonwealth and the nation have a right to your individual thought and to your individual character and to your individual history, (Continued on third page.)

A TROPHY ROOM.

At present there is no room in any of the college buildings known exclusively as the trophy room, yet such a room would be a valuable possession to the college.

In it there should be placed all trophies won by Trinity in inter-collegiate contests of any nature, or records of these contests kept in such manner that they could be referred to at any time. There, also, should be gathered pictures of all teams which have at any time, in any way, represented the college against other institutions.

As matters now stand, the records of intercollegiate contests in which Trinity has engaged in the past are very incomplete and so scattered that much of this part of the history of the college has been lost or intrusted to the faithful memories of a few, who have, for the most part, been widely separated in course of time. So also the chronicles of all of Trinity's teams, as recorded in pictures, are very incomplete.

It is true that in the gymnasium are to be found a number of pictures of the base ball and football teams of preceding years, but they are by no means adequate. The teams and organizations representing the college are other than merely these and they should be treated with as much consideration as is given the former. There should also be pictures of the debating teams, track teams, tennis teams, and glue clubs of recent years gathered at some one place, with a brief record of what they accomplished or failed to accomplish near at hand.

In this way a complete and perfect history of Trinity in relation to other institutions could be preserved, which would be of inestimable value to the college authorities, affording them knowledge which could be obtained at any time without a vast deal of trouble. There the visitor could be shown, in a few words and in a short space of time, what is now generally not known to a large number of students themselves, and there, as nowhere else, could be preserved the traditions of the college. Neither in any better way could the student body become more closely acquainted with the past and present standing of Trinity and be stimulated to make her future brighter than her past.

It should not be neglected. In some colleges this scheme has found favor and has fulfilled its purpose well. If it is worth while Trinity should have a trophy room.

THE COLLEGE RECLUSE.

Recently there have been several things which have called to our attention the fact that there are some men in college who are more or less recluses. There was once a time when the hermit's life was looked upon as being the proper thing, but this idea died long ago, and the man who is honored most today is the man who mixes with action—leads a strenuous life, if you please. But it is a fact yet in college life that there is a small minority of students who shut themselves up in their rooms, for the most part, and think that the most to be got out of college life is to be got there from between the lids of their text books.

Of course, the knowledge and training to be obtained therefrom is to be considered of the first importance, but it should not be looked upon as the sole thing in college life, notwithstanding the fact that scholarship is in itself a high achievement. It is the staff of student life—or should be—but other nourishments are necessary to the highest attainments, just as other articles of food than bread are necessary to the sustenance of the physical man. It is the variety that gives the most pleasure and does the most good.

There are quite a number of legitimate departments of college activities that might be mentioned which could be engaged in. The literary societies, the Y. M. C. A., the gymnasium, and the athletic field, the different public lectures and addresses that are given from time to time—all these, if rightly used, have in them the forces that will go to the building up of the all-around man—the man who, when he gets out into the sterner realities of life, will be able to fight his battles and come out more than conqueror. Probably all these phases cannot be entered into, but the greatest number possible that are taken advantage of properly the more capable will be the college man to assume leadership in all the nobler walks of life. ### NOT ENTERED.

The postoffice department has refused to allow THE CHRONICLE to be entered as second-class matter. Uncle Sam's ways are often past finding out, and now for some reason we have been debarred from those privileges which are enjoyed by hundreds of similar publications. However, we shall continue to increase our mailing list and bear the burden as best we can. Let every alumni who is a subscriber inform others of the fact of our existence and so help us along.

WITH THE COLLEGES.

North Carolina is to have another college within a short time. It will be located at Oak Ridge, on the Oak Ridge Institute foundation. The Messrs. Holt, who have been the principals of this institute will be at the head of this college. It will be the State college of the Methodist Protestants.

On the evening of Easter Monday Wake Forest College and Mercer University will hold a debate in Raleigh. The question of immigration will be discussed, each institution being represented by two speakers.

In the triangular debate between teams of the University of Pennsylvania, Cornell, and Columbia, on March 9, Cornell was victorious.

The faculty representatives of the "big nine" colleges of the middle West have decided to have football this year, although the style of the game will be modified so as to eliminate the present objectionable features.

Colgate University has abolished oratory from its curriculum, regarding it as not conducive to a practical turn of mind, and no more essential than music.—Ex.

Three of the University of California's best base ball men have been accused of professionalism and will be dropped from the team. California not only seems to have the true sports-

The intercollegiate basket ball season of the six leading Northern universities has closed. The standing of the teams is in the following order: Pennsylvania, Columbia, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell.

Founder's Day will be observed at the University of Virginia on April 19th.

Instead of the annual hair-cutting war between the Freshmen and Sophomores at the University of Michigan, which has caused many serious injuries, it has been decided to have a tug of war across the Huron river. One hundred men will be chosen from each class and stationed on each side of the river. A long rope will be utilized, and one class or the other will be dragged through the river.—Ex.

The students of Wofford College will not get out an annual this year, as has been their custom heretofore. This is the result of a clash between fraternity and non-fraternity men. There was talk at one time of getting out two annuals, but it was seen that this would not be profitable, and consequently there will not be an annual issued.

Fobs of gold footballs have been awarded to twenty men at Yale who played in the championship games last fall.—Ex.

SPOKE ON MISSIONS.

Rev. Mr. Leyburn Addresses the Y. M. C. A.—Dr. G. H. Detwiler to Speak Tomorrow Evening.

Owing to some misunderstanding as to whether the speaker would be present, Rev. E. R. Leyburn, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Durham, was greeted last Wednesday evening at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. by only a small crowd. He is a very interesting talker and held the attention of the audience from the beginning to the end.

He spoke on the "Student Volunteer Movement," telling what it stands for and is doing. First was given a history of the organization. It originated sixteen years ago at Northfield, Mass., where some 250 students had gathered, among whom were some volunteers for the foreign field. Some of the finest speakers of the country were sent out to arouse interest in it. The movement started also at the same time in England, and a band of Cambridge men made a tour of England and Scotland and several came to America.

The movement grew rapidly, and today there are 2,660 student volunteers in the foreign field and thousands who are in the colleges and universities preparing to go. All the missionary boards look upon the movement as a recruiting agency for missionaries. It does not itself send them out, but urges them to go.

Then, after reading the four purposes of the movement, the speaker said that it insisted that the man who at home strives to arouse interest in missions is a missionary. He then named several ways by which it pushes on its work: (1) By traveling secretaries, (2) by sending out literature, and (3) by the quadrennial conventions.

Some of the impressions that he gathered at the one just held at Nashville, Tenn., he then gave. He was impressed by the great number of people there. There were present 4,188 official delegates. People crowded to the meetings, but nothing like all of them could be seated. He was also struck, he said, by the kind of men present. There were in attendance 286 college professors, 149 official representatives of mission boards, 144 returned missionaries from 26 different countries, 44 press representatives, 3,060 men from educational institutions, and, besides, such public men as Sir Mortimer Durand and John W. Foster, and also John R. Mott and Robert E. Speer, great missionary leaders.

The meeting was characterized by a note of hope and cheer. There were no long faces nor apologetic speeches, emotionalism nor excitement, but only the deepest earnestness. Also the unity of the different denominations was very marked.

DR. DETWILER TO SPEAK.

The Y. M. C. A. has been very fortunate in being able to get Dr. G. H. Detwiler, pastor of West Market Methodist church, Greensboro, to deliver an address tomorrow evening. Dr. Detwiler is well known to a majority of the upper classmen, having conducted a series of meetings here several years ago and also having preached a sermon at commencement. He is one of the deepest thinkers in North Carolina and a preacher whom it is quite a privilege to hear. The Y. M. C. A. hall should be entirely filled tomorrow evening to hear him.

THE SECOND ANNUAL DINNER

Second, your old college has an unrelenting faith in the power of truth. She believes it is the only way of life and of progress—that the successes of falsehood are merely temporary appearances, ending in dire defeat and in everlasting shame. Truth may be tedious and slow; it may call for the outlay of large sacrifices; but whatever may be its method, whatever cost it may impose, it is the only route to deathless honor and immortal achievement.

Third, by every fundamental law of its character and history, your College is committed to an unselfish service of mankind. You cannot too often recall the many exhortations you received from her to expend your energies in behalf of others. You should not forget how zealously she spurned the idea of working and living for one's self; and in this hour of your joy and festivity, let your old Alma Mater once more remind you that the way of service is the route of triumph.

Fourth, there is no virtue which blesses and dignifies human character that is not included in the cardinal faiths and purposes of your old College. Freedom and honesty and patriotism in matters of government; zeal and energy and wisdom in matters of business; loftiness of thought and purity of character in private life, and the promotion in the earth of every immortal principle of life and righteousness which has been included in the Kingdom of God—these are the things which she covets for her sons, and the great principle for which she wishes them unyieldingly to stand.

It should be to us all a source of inspiring gratification to recall that, through all kinds of circumstances, and amid all kinds of oppositions, Trinity College has stood alone among Southern institutions of learning in the great struggle for the enlargement of Southern thought, the elevation of Southern life, and the broadening of Southern sympathies and activities, and that in her labors she has been marvelously blessed. To her sons she must look for expression of her life and for the protection of her destiny, and they should guard nothing with more zealous care and sincere zeal than they guard her interests against a treacherous administration, or a compromise of high virtues that belong to human character; and that they will do this is a most satisfying belief.

Wishing you continued and enlarged blessings, and assuring you of my sincerest confidence and esteem, I beg to abide in your confidence as

Yours most sincerely,

JNO. C. KILGO.

Then Dr. W. P. Few, Dean of the College, was presented and spoke on the general subject of Trinity College—what it is trying to do and stand for; what it ought to become, and how the alumni can help. Mr. Willis B. Dowd, 1880, was present and spoke of the college in his time, and the present duty of the graduates. Mr. Dowd was elected President for the coming year.

Among the Trinity men in New York are: Mr. Willis B. Dowd, a lawyer; Dr. George B. Pegram, Assistant Professor of Physics in Columbia University; Mr. Julian Blanchard, Instructor of Physics in Columbia; Mr. J. H. Highsmith, a graduate student; Mr. B. F. Dixon, Jr., a law student at Columbia; Mr. G. H. Smith, a student in the Union Theological Seminary; Mr. L. W. Crawford, Jr., teacher in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute; Messrs. W. H. Adams, S. S. Dent, W. P. Johnstone, and M. P. Troy, all with the American Tobacco Co., and Mr. Earle Webb, a lawyer.

Mr. J. A. Baldwin, of Charlotte, happened to be in New York and was present.

The Trinity men in New York are full of enthusiasm and devotion to their Alma Mater. Their organization in the metropolis of the country bids fair to be of much service to the college, as well as a source of pleasure to the men themselves. The second annual dinner was in every way a great success.

JUNIOR ELECTION.

Mr. Spence Editor and Mr. Wrenn Business Manager of the Archive—Mr. Pope Captain of Base Ball Team.

The Junior Class held a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of electing the editor-in-chief and the business manager for The Archive for next year. For the first position Messrs. Campbell, Holton, and Spence were nominated, but at their earnest solicitation the names of Messrs. Campbell and Holton were withdrawn and Mr. Spence was elected unanimously. There was only one nomination for business manager and Mr. F. R. Wrenn was chosen by a unanimous vote.

Both of these men are very capable of filling their positions with credit to their class. Mr. Spence has been a frequent contributor to the columns of The Archive during his three and one-half years in college, and he is at present alumni editor of THE CHRONICLE. Mr. Wrenn has been associated for the past two years with the business manager of The Archive as assistant, and he is thoroughly acquainted with the business part of the magazine.

After these elections, nominations for a captain for the class base ball team were made. Messrs. Pope and Stewart ran, Mr. Pope being elected. The class expects to put out a good team.

Prof. J. M. Bandy, formerly city engineer here, has been elected consulting engineer by the board of aldermen of Laurinburg, S. C. Prof. Bandy will have charge of the water and sewer work and he will be there during the whole summer. He will leave to assume his new duties next Monday.—Industrial News, 8th.

Prof. Bandy is an A. M. graduate of Trinity and was formerly professor of mathematics here.

Mr. R. Bruce Etheridge, class of 1899, is superintendent of public instruction at Mantoo.

Did Not Rest Easily Last Night—Hopes to Be Out in Few Days—Dr. Gil Wylie Here.

During the past week President Kilgo has been confined to his home with chronic malaria, and while his sickness has been serious and he has suffered acute pain, rumor has somewhat exaggerated the critical nature of the malady. During the recent revival meetings Dr. Kilgo contracted a severe cold, which developed into sciatica, and before this attack was fully recovered from, a trip to Richmond aggravated it, bringing on the present sickness.

From latest reports Dr. Kilgo did not rest very easily last night, but the attendant physicians give hopes that he will be able to be out within the next few days.

Dr. Gil Wylie, of New York, was here last Friday as one of the consulting physicians.
