BASEBALL SEASON OPENS

Trinity Defeats Trinity Park School on Hanes Athletic Field.

SCORE SEVEN TO NOTHING AT END

Work in the Box for Both Teams Good—Justus' Heavy Batting a Feature of the Game—Official and Tabulated Score.

On the Hanes Athletic Field, before a fair-sized crowd, Trinity opened her base ball season, Friday afternoon, defeating Trinity Park School by the score of 7 to 0. The two teams showed up well in fielding, but there was a weakness in batting on both sides. Trinity's pitchers had the opposing batsmen completely at their mercy. Only thirty men faced them. Trinity Park's pitchers also made a good showing, especially Lane. In the five innings he pitched he struck out seven men, and gave only two bases on balls. He has good curves, fair control, and a fairly good head. Broom, who finished the game for Trinity Park, also made a good showing. He was a little wild, which was probably due to nervousness. Considering the lightness and inexperience of the team, however, it made a splendid showing.

The features of the game were the hitting of Justus, of Trinity, and the pitching of Clement and Gantt. Justus, out of four times up, secured two three-baggers and one two-bagger. Clement gave no bases on balls, struck out nine men, and secured a single. Gantt gave one base on balls and struck out five men. Both had wonderful speed and wide curves. They plainly showed that there would be no weakness in Trinity's box this year, though the absence of Bradsher left a big space. Behind them the men, the rest of the team worked like veterans, only one error being recorded, and this on account of a wild throw. From present indications the team, as it now stands, will have much success, though it has a hard schedule.

The official and tabulated score is as follows:

EARLY IMPROVEMENTS.

Work on Asbury Building Soon to Begin—Rumor of Many Changes on the Park—Survey Received.

The improvements that will be made at the earliest date on the park, to any of the buildings, will be made to the Asbury Building of the Park School, which, as was stated before, will then be something over twice as large as the present structure. Plans for these alterations have been received during the past week from the firm of Hook and Rogers, of Charlotte, and work will be begun at an early date. With the new additions the equipment of the building will be very complete and thoroughly modern, and in appearance it will be as imposing as any structure on the park. A detailed account of these changes was given in THE CHRONICLE some time ago.

It is rumored that extensive changes and improvements will be made to many of the college buildings and to the campus during the coming summer months. President Kilgo received from Mr. H. Buckingham last week a mounted blue-print copy of the topographical survey made by Mr. C. H. Smallhoff last fall. The plan is about five by six feet and upon it is located every building, walk, tree, plot, and all shrubbery at present on the campus. The plan will be a highly profitable study for students taking the civil engineering course and a valuable map for a reference. Mr. Buckingham is at present working on a plan of the proposed alterations to be made to the entire campus.

INTERSTATE CONVENTION

Annual Gathering of Y. M. C. A. Men Will Be Held at Charleston March 23-26.

The Third Annual Interstate Convention of the Y. M. C. A. for North and South Carolina will be held at Charleston March 23-26. A long list of special speakers will make addresses, among whom will be the Governors of the above two States. Trinity students and alumni will also note with interest that this list includes Rev. Plato Durham, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, Charlotte, who was formerly a professor here.

The railroad fare has been greatly reduced for delegates to this convention, and all the colleges and preparatory schools will send one or more representatives, the number not being limited. The rate for Durham is only $12.25 from the round trip, and several students will represent the local branch of the Y. M. C. A.

SECOND BASKET BALL GAME

Played at Wake Forest Wednesday Between Trinity and Wake Forest.

TRINITY DEFEATED BY SCORE OF 15 TO 5

Contest Characterized Throughout by Much Roughness—Couch, Ward, and White Played Especially Good Game—Official Score.

Trinity's basket ball team suffered defeat for the second time at the hands of the Wake Forest boys at Wake Forest last Wednesday afternoon, the final score being 15 to 5. This is the second game in which Trinity has participated, and the work of the home boys evinced their newly acquired knowledge of the game. Their playing was stronger and more aggressive than in the first contest, as the score will attest. The playing of Wake Forest was better also. Her men worked together nicely and did some excellent passing. The game throughout, however, was characterized by roughness on both sides, and to the spectators was more of a rough and tumble contest than one in which nicety of play and precision in pass work were features. Foul after foul was called by the officials, but there was no cessation. It is to be regretted that the clean playing which was a feature of the first contest was entirely absent in the second.

The home boys showed up well. White again played an excellent guard. His aggressiveness and swiftness placed him as the star of the Trinity team. He left the game in the second half, Grant taking his position. The forwards did some excellent work. Greever's foul-throwing was splendid. Holton finished the second half in Claywell's place. At center Womble held his man well, no goal being scored over him. Stem at left guard played a strong game.

The honors for Wake Forest were divided between Couch and Ward. Ward's playing in the first half was far above that of any of his team-mates, while that of Couch was the feature in the second half. Beverly at left guard deserves special mention, as his playing was strong, steady, and clean. Elliott at center was effective.

The line-up was as follows:

| | WAKE FOREST. | TRINITY. |
|---------|--------------|----------|
| Ward | R. F. | Claywell |
| Couch | L. F. | Greever |
| Elliott | C. | Womble |
| Gore | R. G. | White |
| Beverly | L. G. | Stem |

During the second half Turner replaced Gore at right guard for Wake Forest.

The official score gives:

Goals from field by Wake Forest—Ward, 3; Couch, 3.
Goals from fouls—Couch, 3.
Fouls—Ward, 1; Couch, 1; Gore, 1; Elliott, 3.
Goals from field by Trinity—White, 1.
Goals from fouls—Greever, 4.
Fouls—Claywell, 1; White, 1; Stem, 3.

SPECIAL TO RICHMOND.

Train to Be Run to That City for the Harvard - Trinity Base Ball Game, Saturday, April 14.

From latest reports, which were given out last night, plans are on foot to run a special train to Richmond Saturday, April 14. On that date Trinity will play a game of base ball with Harvard University in that city, and it is expected that a large number of the students from here will be present. The train will leave here about ten o'clock and will go over the Seaboard via Henderson, arriving at its destination about 12:30 p.m. Mr. C. R. Pugh has charge of the running of this special and announces that the round trip will be $3.00. Returning, the train will leave Richmond at the hour desired by a majority of those who take the trip. To insure the running of the train there must be sold at an early date one hundred tickets; however, a much larger number than this will no doubt be taken. This trip is an exceptionally cheap one and many should avail themselves of this opportunity.

Mr. Pugh will go around within the next few days securing the names of those who will go. For the accommodation of those desiring berths on the return trip a Pullman car will be attached to the special.

A BRASS BAND.

Trinity to Have Such an Organization at an Early Date Will Play at Games—Number of Pieces.

For some time past it has been talked and rumored that a brass band would be organized among the students, but until a few days back no definite movement had been made toward this end. Through the initiative of Mr. W. M. Crook, however, it is well-nigh certain that such an organization will be effected and will be in shape to render services at the coming base ball games. It is worth remarking that this feature will add materially to the enjoyment of the games, and those devoting their time to the work deserve especial commendation for their efforts. A meeting was held in the Craven Memorial Hall Saturday night, and from present indications the band will consist of at least ten pieces, probably more. Its prime purpose is to assist the cheering squad at all games. All who have some knowledge of band work are requested to see Mr. Crook at once.

Referee—W. W. Card.
Umpire—J. R. Crozier.
Scorer—E. B. Cooper.
Timekeepers—Nixon and Liles.
The game was accompanied by C. R. Pugh, T. M. Grant, and T. A. Holton, as substitutes. Others who attended from Trinity were: Mr. W. W. Card, who managed the team; Messrs. K. B. Nixon, J. Leon Williams and E. B. Cooper.

LECTURE BY DR. J. S. BASSETT

Delivered in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Last Friday Evening.

DISCUSSION OF JAMES ANTHONY FROUDE

His Work as Historian and Professor—His Attitude to the Reformation—Prof. Wannamaker to Lecture Next Week.

The second in the series of faculty lectures for the spring term was delivered Friday evening in the Y. M. C. A. hall by Dr. J. S. Bassett, head of the department of history. He was heard by a good-sized audience, who enjoyed very much his excellent address. His subject was "The Personality of James Anthony Froude."

In speaking of this man Dr. Bassett did not undertake to discuss the technical side of Froude's life as a historian. He spoke of his personality as manifested in his training, in his early religious revolt, in his most important literary productions, in his relations with Thomas Carlyle, and finally in his professorship at Oxford University.

Froude's greatest work was his contribution to literary style. He was one of the great masters of English prose. His history of England, which is his greatest work, is notable because it gave the world a new view of the English Reformation and because of the admirable style in which it was written. Before Froude wrote, the English Reformation had been considered from an ecclesiastical standpoint. High churchmen considered it a slightly important incident in the development of the English church, and the Catholics looked upon it as a period of misfortune and crime. Froude showed that it was a great social and constitutional, as well as ecclesiastical, revolution. He did much to show that Henry VIII. was a wise and patriotic statesman, and rescued him, in a measure, from the charge of being a mere bluebeard.

Froude's relation with Carlyle is doubly interesting. He was his most intimate associate in the last years of the life of the celebrated essayist. In him Carlyle had the utmost confidence, and he left him as his literary executor. In this second relation it devolved on Froude to publish six volumes of most interesting matter in regard to Carlyle. Carlyle's relation with his wife is well known. Froude, exercising the discretion which he was entitled to use, published the bare facts of this relation. On doing so he subjected himself to much criticism, both from Carlyle's friends and from many others. The English public is not yet in accord as to the wisdom of this action, but they all admit that as a result of it the world has received one of those few intimate pictures of a great man which help us to contemplate genius.

AN ENDOWMENT.

During the past year there has been a movement among many colleges to abolish the gate receipts of athletic contests and to conduct all such contests without this feature. To do this, however, athletics would have to be very heavily endowed in every institution, and from the present conditions in most Southern colleges this seems almost an impossibility. Even with all of the returns from gate receipts, the athletic associations of many colleges in the South find that it is often hard for them to keep their treasuries in a constantly healthy condition. While some forms of athletics are self-supporting and even productive there are others which are not, but which are quite as essential, and often it is the case that the expense of the latter more than consumes the surplus of the former. Just here, to meet this deficit, is where an athletic endowment fund is needed to keep an athletic association out of debt.

The need of such a fund has been often felt by Trinity's Athletic Association and no better move could be made by this organization than one with this end in view.

There are many alumni of the college who take a keen interest in her athletics and who, without doubt, would be willing to contribute to an endowment fund for athletics exclusively. Such a movement might not be wholly without fruit and deserves the attention of the association.

WHY?

Why is it that a larger number of students is not attending the faculty lectures? Why do students, when they are looking around for some good college, decide on the one that offers the best all-around advantages, and then when they go to the college of their choice utterly neglect to avail themselves of the very advantages they so much sought? These are questions that are hard, hard to solve. Is it because the lectures are lacking in value or interest? It is because the students do not know of this value and remain away through ignorance? Or is it because they just do not take them to heart? A "No" must be the emphatic answer to the first two questions; but as to the last one, what shall we say? "Yes," is about the only answer to it, and it is high time for some students to wake up and come to a realization of what they are missing. H.

Once more we will have to note a fault, or shall we say in this case, an inadvertence, to which our attention was attracted recently by seeing printed in one of our exchanges an editorial from The Evening Chronicle (Charlotte), which appeared in the columns of this paper. The article in question was a discussion of whether or not a college education paid and was copied with the alteration of but one sentence, appearing as the production of the editorial staff of the publication referred to.

If the failure to credit this article was through carelessness such laxity is of no credit to any paper. If otherwise, the practice cannot be too severely condemned.

In all ages plagiarism seems to have been common, for in the age of Pliny, the naturalist, he was one of those to exclaim against this practice by some of the most ancient authors. At the present day, however, it is no less unworthy than at that time and deserves all of the censure that may be heaped upon it.

WITH THE COLLEGES.

Mr. Bliss Perry, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, has been appointed to the chair of English literature at Harvard University. This professorship replaces and is in addition to the professorship of belles lettres which has hitherto been attached to the Smith chair of Spanish and French languages. This chair has been held by George Ticknor, Longfellow, and Lowell, having been vacant since the retirement of the latter. Mr. Perry will enter upon his duties March 1, 1907.

Sixteen middies have recently resigned from the Naval Academy, these being members of the third and fourth year classes. Two of these are from North Carolina.

A chair of neuropathology has been established at Princeton University.

Three of the Rhodes scholars from America have been selected to represent Oxford University in the inter-university sports which are to take place on March 24.

The report of the investigating committee at the Naval Academy shows that there has been a movement among the midshipmen to discourage the making of high class records. Brilliance was discouraged, so that all the men might be placed on a dead level, so far as scholarship was concerned.

The condition of President Kilgo, for the past few days, has been steadily improving, although he has been suffering much pain. From latest reports, before going to press, it is learned that he passed a restless night last night, but has been resting easily today. It is hoped that his condition will be such that within a few days he will be able to be out again.

COL ALSAUGH'S LETTER

One of Trinity's Oldest Living Graduates Writes to the New York Alumni Association.

Among the letters read at the recent dinner of the Trinity College Alumni Association of New York was one from Col J. W. Alsaugh, of Winston, which, on account of its historic value, deserves the attention of every loyal Trinity man. A copy of this could not be obtained for last week's issue of THE CHRONICLE, so it is given this week. The address by Dr. W. P. Few was also very interesting and full of food for thought. This we hope to print in full in a future issue of this paper. Col Alsaugh's letter is as follows:

"Next July, 1906, will be just fifty-one years since I graduated at Trinity College, then in Randolph county. My class was the third that graduated at the institution. The first consisted of two members, Dr. Douglas and Prof. Lemuel Johnson, brothers, residing on the college grounds. The second was composed of five members. All of these have passed over the river and their "bodies now rest under the shade of the trees." Of my class, composed of seven, only one other than myself still survives. My life, therefore, spans, thus far, the breadth of the history of the college. I was a student there when the first charter was granted and before a single brick had been moulded for the original college building.

"After I graduated, in 1855, it was but a few years before I was made a trustee of the institution, and subsequently became the president of the board, which position I held until five or six years of the present day. This accounts for the fact that I have enjoyed so little of the pleasures of the annual meetings of the alumni. This has always been a source of great regret to me, and I feel that I have lost a great deal in this way.

"I have time now for only a few words of congratulation to your association in New York City. It will enable you to keep time with the steps of the college and to be always ready to give a united good cheer to your Alma Mater, as you pass down the current of time. These meetings will help to keep your youthful aspirations alive, and will do you good, as well as the college."

On last Friday night the Grady Literary Society elected the following officers:

President—P. J. Kiker. Vice-President—R. M. Patterson.

Secretary—J. W. Burgess. Corresponding Secretary—H. W. Tuttle.

Treasurer—E. E. Ward.

Marshal—E. S. Pate.

Mr. D. V. Sessions was carried to the Watts Hospital last Thursday with a slight case of pneumonia, from which, it is hoped, he will soon recover. For the past few days his condition has been very critical, however. This morning he was a little better.

Mr. Eagle, who graduated from the Park School in 1904, now of the University of North Carolina, visited Mr. E. L. Taylor last Friday night.

The father of Mr. Joseph Smith, accompanied by Miss Lister, of Greenville, was a visitor on the campus last week.

On account of the rain the game of base ball with the A. & M. was not played at Raleigh yesterday.

New Trustees.

From advance sheets of the catalogue for this year the names of the new members of the Board of Trustees have been obtained. They are: Dr. E. C. Register, of Charlotte; Rev. J. R. Scroggins, of Winston; Dr. O. G. B. McMullen, of Elizabeth City; and Rev. W. L. Cunningham, of Goldsboro. Since the last meeting of the board Mr. O. W. Carr, of Greensboro, for many years an honored trustee, has died. This vacancy will be filled at the next meeting.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Trinity Park School Defeated by College Team by Score of 28 to 18.

In the Angier Duke Gymnasium last night the Trinity basketball team defeated the team from Trinity Park School by the score of 28 to 18. The game was interesting and hard-fought from start to finish and to those who expected a walk-over for Trinity a disappointment was in store. The Park School team showed exceptionally strong men as the result of their practice, and in the last half clearly outplayed their opponents. They were handicapped, however, by a lack of confidence, which was due to the fact that this was their first game. Tuttle at right forward and Griffin at center played strong, heady games. Kiker at right guard was also effective in his work.

Though the score shows a large number of fouls, the game was not a rough one. Dr. L. L. Hendren, as referee, and Mr. H. G. Foard, as umpire, gave general satisfaction and are responsible for the clean playing. The following is the line-up:

Goals from field by Trinity—
Claywell, 3; Greever, 7; White, 1.
Goals from fouls by Trinity—
Stem, 6.

Fouls by Trinity—Greever, 1; Womble, 3; White, 4; Stem, 4.
Goals from field by Trinity—Park School—Tuttle, 4; Griffin, 3.
Goals from fouls by Trinity—Park School—Tuttle, 3; Griffin, 1.
Fouls by Trinity Park School—Griffin, 5; Kiker, 1; Lilly, 4.
Scorer—E. B. Cooper.
Timekeeper—K. B. Nixon.

The Social Debate Will Come off Saturday Evening in the Y. M. C. A. Hall—The Contestants.

The debate between members of the Freshman Class which was arranged several weeks ago will take place in the Y. M. C. A. hall Saturday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The question of State regulation of the liquor business, instead of county or community regulation, will be debated. The order of the speakers is:

| Affirmative. | Negative. |
|-------------------|----------------|
| S. J. Kilpatrick, | L. G. White, |
| W. B. Kiker, | A. Briggs, |
| A. J. Templeton, | L. Herbin, |
| J. H. Livingston, | E. B. Hobgood. |

Mrs. J. M. Rhodes, wife of President Rhodes, of Littleton Female College, arrived yesterday on a visit to her niece, Miss Lucile Aiken. She will return to her home Thursday.

Dr. Detwiler Speaks Before the Y. M. C. A. on the "Call to the Ministry"—Heard by a Large Audience.

The largest audience that has been present at any regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. this year was out last Wednesday evening to hear Rev. Dr. G. H. Detweiler, pastor of West Market M. E. church, Greensboro. He had been invited to speak on the "Call to the Ministry," and on this subject he delivered an address that was full of thought and that held the closest attention of every hearer from the time he began till the last word was spoken. Dr. Detweiler speaks in a very logical manner, and his line of presentation is easily followed. No finer address before the Y. M. C. A. has been listened to here in many a day.

After mentioning in a few words that there had been much agitation in the entire Protestant church recently in regard to the call to the ministry, owing to the small number of young men entering, he spoke of the traditional view of the church concerning such a call. In the first place, the church's view has been that the Holy Spirit selects a man and makes a certain impression on him, and he becomes aware of this impression. Then there is also an idea in the mind of the particular church of which he is a member that he is a suitable person to preach. The minister, or the more spiritually-minded of the members, are impelled to inquire if he has received certain impressions. If he has certain gifts and graces, physical, mental, and spiritual, his call is confirmed.

Then Dr. Detwiler spoke of three mistakes that the subject usually makes: First, an emotional call, or an impulse to do something good, is mistaken for a call to the ministry. The second mistake is what the speaker called an ecclesiastical call. Men are brought up under the influence of the church, and it has a strong attraction for them. Also, thirdly, they are sometimes prompted by an æsthetic emotion. They are looking for the beautiful and easy things, to lead a polite life, to associate with cultured people, to which call only a small amount of piety is necessary. And so a whole host of young men drift into the ministry who were never truly called.

The essential and fundamental fact, however, is that "God calls men to His work." They must preach or die. God has always been doing this, calling thus Abraham, Jeremiah, Paul, and others.

As regards God's call, He never selects a weak man to do a hard task. He never makes that mistake. And, also, the man is always prepared. Not at first, necessarily, but he is prepared by God before He turns him loose. This is the law of divine economy. No theological, or even college, training is sufficient. It must be a special, divine preparation.

There are three qualities that inhere in the ideal minister, the speaker said, continuing. First, is the kingly quality, by which is meant the ruling and willing powers. Second, the prophetic quality must be inherent. And the prophet is the man who is the seeing man, and the talking man, and, as a result of these two, the building man. He must see inward and forward. He can see through the outward garment, into the inner life, and he must hold this life up and show what it is. And he must also see things afar off—how the present forces converge in the future. And one test that a man is a prophet is that he is misunderstood.

In the third place, the ideal minister must be a priest—the man who stands and serves. And to be a true priest a man must be worthy, must be sympathetic, and must be a suffering man. With especial force he emphasized this fact, and to those contemplating the ministry he said: “Unless you want to suffer, keep out.” The true preacher cannot preach without agony. It nearly kills.

Finally, he said the call was solemn and deep, and that God does not judge from what is seen outside, but from what is within.

Froude's greatest antagonist was Prof. E. A. Freeman, of Oxford, whose chief pleasure was to belabor Froude. He was a burly, unsympathetic pedant, who wrote some heavy works on early English history. He discovered—as indeed everybody else did—some errors in Froude's history and other works. Indeed, Froude's historical work is marked by many minor inaccuracies, due to bad education and a quick and powerful imagination. On such points as these Freeman undertook to destroy the historical value of Froude's writings. He conducted his attacks with a savageness which discounts his own motives and judgments. For the world at large the figure of Freeman, in spite of his heavy volumes, gets smaller, while Froude's, because of his powers of historical narration, remains undiminished.

This lecture will be published in full in the April number of the South Atlantic Quarterly. On next Friday evening, at the same time and at the same place, the third of this series will be given by Prof. W. H. Wannamaker, of the department of German. His subject will be "Two German Views of America."

Rev. Mr. Howard, pastor of the Edenton Methodist church, will preach in Hertford tomorrow, his famous sermon to young men. Mr. T. G. Skinner says that he is the most eloquent divine to preach in this vicinity since the Rev. Thos. Lowe. There will probably be several from Elizabeth City to hear Mr. Howard on this occasion. They will go down on the 10:20 train, returning at 8 o'clock the same evening.—Elizabeth City Economist.

Speakers Are Selected to Take Part in the Sophomore Debate, Which Will Be Held April 27.

The preliminary to the annual Sophomore Debate was held on Thursday evening of last week in the Y. M. C. A. hall. It was not open to the public, and only the committee of judges was present, these being Drs. Cranford and Mims and Mr. E. B. Cooper. Since the same question that was used on this occasion will be used at the final contest, only one of the speakers was allowed in the hall at a time, in order that they might not learn anything about each other's speeches. The query used was that the Hepburn railroad rate bill should be passed by the Senate.

The committee selected the following men: J. B. Aiken, A. W. Horton, F. S. Love, W. V. McRae, S. A. Richardson, and W. A. Stanbury. This debate will be held on April 27. The speakers have been arranged on the question as follows:

|--------------|-------------|
| Affirmative. | Negative. |
| Aiken, | Horton, |
| Love, | Richardson, |
| McRae, | Stanbury, |
