TRINITY PARK SCHOOL WON

Second of Series of Three Games
Between Trinity and T. P. S.

FINAL SCORE NINETEEN TO SIXTEEN

Work of Womble, Claywell and Stem for College—Tuttle and Morrison Showed Up Well—The Line-Up and Official Score.

In an interesting and exciting game of basket ball, played in the Angier Duke Gymnasium on last Thursday evening, the Trinity Park School team defeated Trinity's team by a score of 19 to 16. From start to finish the contest was fast and spirited and held the close attention of the spectators. As the second of a series of three games between these two teams this one was fraught with unusual interest, as it was to decide whether or not the third game would be played. On March 19, in the first of the series, the college team was the victor, the score being 28 to 18. On the whole the play was rougher than before, but the team work on both sides was especially good.

For Trinity Womble and Claywell did good work, scoring four points each from the field. In the toss-up at center the former clearly outclassed his opponent. Stem played a strong game and did some splendid work. He was the only man on whom, during the entire game, no fouls were called. Out of six throws from the foul line he scored four times. For Trinity Park Tuttle showed up best. His playing throughout the game was characterized by careful headwork and quickness. In all he scored six points from the field. Morrison also did fine work. He was fast and although guarded by Stem his playing was very efficient. Taken as a whole, the positions on each team were well played, yet there was a tendency among some of the men to foul too much. With the experience that both teams have had this fault should have been largely eliminated.

The game showed conclusively that the Trinity Park School team had profited by the experience gained in the former contest with Trinity. The only changes to be noted in the line-up of the two teams different from the line-up in the first game is the change of Lilly from left to right guard, Kiker, who formerly played this position, going to left guard. Dr. L. L. Hendren acted as referee and Mr. H. G. Foard as umpire. The line-up was as follows:

TRINITY.	T. P. S.
Greever	L. F. Morrison
Claywell	R. F. Tuttle
Womble	C. Griffin
White	R. G. Lilly
Stem	L. G. Kiker

The official score gives:

Goals from field by Trinity—Claywell, 2; Womble, 2; Greever, 1.

Goals from fouls—Stem, 4; Greever, 2.

Fouls—Greever, 1; Claywell, 1; White, 6; Womble, 1.

APRIL QUARTERLY.

A Brief Review of the Contents of This Number of the Magazine—Some Interesting Articles.

The April number of the South Atlantic Quarterly will be as interesting as usual, both from the standpoint of the distinguished writers and the timeliness and strength of their articles. The leading contribution is by Rev. Jno. E. White, D. D., pastor of the Second Baptist church, Atlanta, Ga., on "The True and the False in Southern Life," thought by many to be the most penetrating and sympathetic analysis of Southern history and life yet written. Professor John S. Bassett makes a scholarly study of the "Personality of James Anthony Froude," and Mr. Clarence H. Poe, editor of The Progressive Farmer and author of articles in the leading magazines of the country, discusses the "Enormous Leaks in Cotton Profits," this being a chapter from a forthcoming book on cotton from the press of Doubleday, Page & Co. Hon. John C. Red, of Atlanta, Ga., author of the widely popular "The Brothers War," in writing reminiscences of Georgia tells many interesting anecdotes of Alexander H. Stephens, Robert Toombs, and Joe Brown, and gives an account of some famous Georgia campaigns. Professor W. H. Wauamaker, in reviewing two recent books on America written by Germans, presents, in a striking way, some of the limitations of American industry, literature, education and religion as compared with German. Professor W. W. Willoughby, of Johns Hopkins University, gives a scientific discussion of "Political Philosophy," a paper read at the World's Congress of Arts and Sciences. Mr. Willard H. Durham, Fellow in English Literature, Yale University, in a paper of fine literary style, discusses George Brandes, the distinguished Danish critic. Professor Edwin Mims has an article entitled, "Essays, Old and New," in which he writes of Lamb, Stevenson, and Paul Elmer More. The number closes, as usual, with book reviews and literary notes.

Prof. Z. P. Beachboard, principal of Central Academy, at Litleton, arrived on the campus Wednesday afternoon. He left Friday morning.

Mr. E. B. Armbruster, representing Wright, Kay & Co., fraternity jewelers, of Detroit, Mich., was on the campus Friday in the interest of his company.

Mr. M. E. Garrison, of Atlanta, Trustee Manager of the H. C. T. Union Map Co. of the same city, was on the park last week in the interest of his company.

Goals from field by Trinity Park—Tuttle, 3; Morrison, 2; Griffin, 1; Kiker, 1.

Goals from fouls—Tuttle, 5; Fouts—Tuttle, 1; Morrison, 1; Griffin, 4; Lilly, 1; Kiker, 3. Scorer—T. A. Holton.

GAME SPECTACULAR AND INTERESTING

Clement and Smith for Trinity Play
Star Ball—Watson Shows Up Well for Visitors—Official Score and Summary.

In a fast, interesting game Bingham School, of Mebane, was defeated on the Hanes Athletic Field Friday by the strong Trinity aggregation. Bingham was fresh from Wake Forest College, where she defeated that team by a score of 8 to 2. At Raleigh she was beaten by the A. and M. by the score of 9 to 3. This excellent record became known in town and college and a large crowd was out to see the game. There was only one disappointment, and that was that the visitors were not shut out. The game was fast, brilliant catches brought the bleachers and grandstand to their feet, and the long hits elicited well-deserved applause.

One of the Trinity players remarked as he left the field that "Bill D." Le Grande has the strongest team he has ever brought here." His bunch was wide-awake in every part of the game. Bingham is by far the best team that has played here this season. Doak pitched a strong, consistent game, never going up into the air. Le Grande was the same old fellow behind the bat. This excellent player and man caught the eye of the entire crowd. He handled his men well, and they played clean ball. Watson at short showed up splendidly, accepting ten chances with only one error. The visitors are nice fellows on and off the field.

PARK SCHOOL NEWS.

Grady Society Gave a Reception
Friday Night—Entertainment to Be Given at the Conservatory of Music.

BY E. S. MCINTOSH.

On the night of April 6th an entertainment will be given at the Conservatory of Music for the benefit of the Park School Athletic Association. Some of the best musical talent in Durham will be utilized and quite an enjoyable program will be rendered. A small admission fee will be charged.

The base ball schedule remains the same, except for a game with Cluster Springs Academy at Cluster Springs on April 16. The game with Danville Military Institute has been changed to April 23.

On last Friday night the Grady Literary Society gave a reception which proved in every way a particularly enjoyable occasion. The society hall was tastefully decorated and made in every way a beautiful appearance. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hornaday were the chaperons for the occasion and added much to the enjoyment of the entertainment. The latter delighted those present with several witty recitations.

After this, games and a guessing contest continued the program. In this contest the first prize was won by Miss Annie Louise Vaughan, and the booby was awarded Mr. James Lockhart. They were delivered to the winners by Prof. Hornaday. Delicious and suitable refreshments were then served, after which the guests left for their several homes.

Those present were: Miss Tynadine Stephenson with Mr. W. B. Lilly, Miss Evelyn Jones with Mr. W. S. Lockhart, Miss Christine McIntosh with Mr. Clyde N. Crawford, Miss Mary Sasser with Mr. Joseph Burgess, Miss Annie Louise Vaughan with Mr. J. A. Ricks, Miss Lida Vaughan with Mr. John McDowell, Miss Kathryn Beaman with Mr. H. W. Tuttle, Miss Lina Crews with Mr. Julian Lane, Miss Drucie Ellis with Mr. Louis Fisher, Miss Kathryn Turrentine with Mr. Phil Arrowsmith, Miss Mary Freeman with Mr. L. E. Whaley, Miss Annie Brown with Mr. E. B. Ward, Miss Annie Mann with Mr. John Lockhart, Miss Ethel Wayde with Mr. Hyatt Grissom, Miss Lillian Giles with Mr. C. C. Barbee.

In addition to the above couples there were several stags present.

Mr. L. T. Singleton, of the Senior Class, preached at Branson M. E. church Sunday evening.

The new brass band was announced by the city papers to appear at the Bingham ball game last Friday, but was not out, as this announcement was made without the authority of those in charge of the band.

Messrs. Erwin Moran and Robert Anderson, students of Bingham School, Mebane, who came down to see the Bingham-Trinity game Friday, were the guests of Mr. C. R. Claywell, of the Freshman Class, until yesterday.

THIRD FACULTY LECTURE

Some Unfavorable Criticism of America
by German Authors.

"TWO GERMAN VIEWS OF AMERICA."

The American Contrasted With the German—Dr. Wolfe to Lecture in April on "Some Glimpses of Bacteria."

On the evening of March 23d, in the Y. M. C. A. hall, Prof. W. H. Wannamaker delivered the third of the faculty lectures for this term. His subject was, "Two German Views of America," and it was treated in an unusually interesting way. The hall was well filled and those in attendance gained much valuable information, presented in so attractive a manner as to make the occasion thoroughly enjoyable. The following synopsis omits generally those parts of the lecture treating of Germany and gives only the chief unfavorable criticisms of America.

The lecturer began with the assertion that the German and American nations are destined to be the two greatest nations of the future, and that to them belongs the world's commerce. In consequence of the keen rivalry of the present and the bitterness arising out of it, each nation is likely to overlook the really good and great in the other; and even when earnest men of either nation attempt to estimate the greatness of the other, the probability is that they will measure by standards of excellence to which they are most accustomed, and hence not necessarily arrive at correct conclusions. Still, the judgments of such men are worthy of consideration. Most of the criticisms of American life and character that he presented, he explained, he based on two books that have appeared within recent years in Germany: "Land der Zukunft," by W. Von Polenz, and "Land der Unbegrenzten Möglichkeiten," by L. M. Goldberger. Some of the comparisons between the two countries were made from his own observation.

There is not that variety of life, and hence of character, in America as in Germany. The various parts of the country are not so clearly differentiated by customs, manners, and dialect differences as there. Here there are more general characteristics. The size of the United States, also, has made the American think and plan vast and impressed him with the greatness of the future of his race. Germany, smaller than Texas, and crowded in population, has learned to intensify, rather than expand. The American has always succeeded; he has had no national hardships, the nation has had few perils. Its citizens are therefore optimists. Good as optimism is, based on constant success and easily won rewards, it results in evil traits. And so the American is careless as to details; he is not conscientious, which ex-

THE SOCIAL DEBATES.

It was a very wise step that the Columbian and Hesperian Literary Societies took a few years ago when they instituted the custom of having what they call social debates. The reason for calling them by this name is that they are contests in which there can be no possible cause for society rivalry, which is a necessary and legitimate concomitant of the regular inter-society debates, when it is Greek against Roman. These social debates have been productive of two very important things during the years they have been held.

The first and most noticeable result of them is the lessening of antagonism which at one time was so fierce between the two societies that for two years in succession it was thought best not to have an inter-society debate. This was in the years 1898-9 and 1899-1900. However, since that time most of the objectionable opposition has been gradually disappearing and at present the two societies are working along together very harmoniously, though a very healthy spirit of rivalry is still prevalent. Now, this state of affairs has been brought about to a great extent by the coming together of the two organizations on terms of friendship instead of enmity.

The other advantage has been in the training it has furnished to the members of the societies who were Freshmen, as the speakers have usually been from this class. The upper classmen had several incentives to cause them to work hard, whereas the Freshmen lacked these, for most of them were not eager to put themselves up against the Sophomores and the Juniors in the contests for places on the intersociety and inter-collegiate teams. But in these social debates they have been on equal footing, Freshman against Freshman, and they have been impelled to do all that they possibly could. Several of the best debaters now in college were "found" through these contests. The only thing that might be said against them is that they have not been held often enough. But of course this is only a minor consideration, though it is to be hoped that more than one can be held each year hereafter.

In last week's issue of THE CHRONICLE by chance one word was omitted from one of our editorials which made it read so that it might be misunderstood. The editorial dealt with the copying by one paper from another and giving no credit therefor. Fearing that it might have been misconstrued and that injustice might have been done the Evening Chronicle (Charlotte), which was mentioned, we will state briefly what called forth the comment. In the above named paper there recently appeared an interesting editorial on the subject "The College Man Makes Good." It was copied by THE TRINITY CHRONICLE and credit given where it was due. A few days later one of our exchanges, from an educational institution, likewise copied the same article and credited it to no one.

LOCAL OPTION WINS.

The Social Debate Showed Some Good Freshman Debaters—The Question Was State vs. Local Prohibition.

The social debate, which was held Saturday evening in the Y. M. C. A. hall in place of the regular meeting of each of the societies, proved that there is some good debating material in the Freshman Class. The debate was better than one would naturally expect of first year men in college. Each man showed ability in handling a question which itself has been a task that statesmen have wrestled with. The speakers were all Freshmen, and thereby they had no men to oppose who were more experienced than themselves; and the consequence was that they debated with the freedom and ease which they naturally would have lacked had they been pitted against upper classmen.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Hoy Taylor, president of the Hesperian Society, with Secretary Pope, of the Columbian as secretary and timekeeper. The question read:

"Resolved, That the prohibition of the sale or manufacture of whiskey in North Carolina (except for medicinal purposes) by a constitutional amendment is preferable to the method of allowing each county or community to vote upon the question of prohibition."

On the affirmative were Messrs. S. J. Kilpatrick, G. H. Edwards, A. J. Templeton, and J. H. Livingston, and on the negative Messrs. L. G. White, L. Herbin, A. Briggs, and E. B. Hobgood. Each one was allowed eight minutes on the first speech and four on the rejoinder.

The judges were Prof. Edwards, and Drs. Cranford and Wolfe. Their decision was given unanimously in favor of the negative speakers.

Rev. Harold Turner, '98, of the Western North Carolina Conference, is stationed at Greensboro.

Rev. J. B. Hurley, '83, is now a member of the North Carolina Conference and Presiding Elder of the Fayetteville District.

"Rev. W. G. Parker, the able young Methodist minister of Waverlyville and Somerton churches, who is well known and liked in Franklin, has been appointed chaplain, with rank of captain. This is a new office on the staff of the 71st, as there has been no chaplain heretofore."

TRINITY DEFEATS BINGHAM

Clement. He pitched seven innings and allowed only three hits and no scores. After the seventh he went to center field in Bivins' place and made a sensational catch of a would-be three-bagger from Doak's bat. This catch was the greatest of the season and in itself was worth the price of admission to the game. He also lifted one away back over the right fielder's head to the right field fence. This netted him three bags, brought in two runs and he himself scored on error of second baseman. "Billy" Smith played a star game. He pulled down a couple of hard-hit line drives back in center field. In other words, Billie robbed the batters. His hitting was good, being at the 500 mark. Suiter at first played a fine game. On pick-ups he was especially good and he also made a spectacular catch of a high throw from third. His playing was errorless and he hit one clean line drive. Webb and Justus had very little work to do in the field, but they worked overtime at the bat. Each got two hits. Gantt pitched the last two innings and allowed only one hit. The only run of the visitors was made on him, but was not due to his pitching. The only errors by Trinity were made in the last inning. This fact is notable and can be traced doubtlessly to the over-confidence which the preceding innings had inspired. The team as a whole worked well. Their hitting was heavy and bunched. Their fielding was flawless until the ninth inning. They were daring on bases, but a little careless. This game raises the general estimation of the team a hundred per cent.

Trinity scored her first run in the second inning. Webb rapped out a two-bagger. Wrenn bunted and beat it out. Webb was thrown out at home, Wrenn going to third on the play. Bivins reached first on error of first baseman, Wrenn scoring. Bivins stole second, Hutchison fanned, and Johnston closed the inning with a fly to left field. The next score was made in the sixth. Justus singled, Suiter followed him with a nice one to left, and Justus was out at home. Clement singled and Suiter scored. Webb was out from short to first and Wrenn closed the inning with a fly to center field. In the eighth Trinity shoved three more across. Smith singled, Justus walked and Suiter struck out. Clement hit a three-bagger and scored Smith and Justus. He crossed the plate a moment later on error of second baseman receiving the throw-in. This closed Trinity's scoring.

Bingham scored her lonely run in the ninth. Clement made his beautiful one-hand catch of Doak's liner. Le Grande went to first on error of third baseman. Hutchins bunted and reached first safely on wild throw of catcher. Armstrong hit safely.

PRAYER MEETINGS.

Held Every Saturday Evening at the Woman's Building—The General Plan of the Service—Subjects Discussed

On Saturday evening of each week, at the Woman's Building, are held regular weekly prayer meetings, and the creditable manner in which these have been conducted of late have rendered them very valuable to all those participating in them. The custom is to present several different phases of some general subject based on the Bible, everyone in turn preparing an article on the various subjects discussed. As a valuable and interesting study of this Book, the method employed has proved highly successful, and many useful papers have been presented.

At the meeting on last Saturday evening, under the general subject "Feasts and Fasts," the following subjects were discussed: "Sabbatical Feasts," by Miss Emeth Tuttle; "Historical Feasts," by Miss Alice Franklin; "The Minor Festivals," by Miss Julia Minor; "Fasts," by Miss Ada Goodwin. Each of the articles were carefully prepared and set forth in an interesting way.

For next Saturday the general subject is: "A Study of the Women of the Bible."

BASKETBALL LAST NIGHT

Trinity Park School Defeated by College—19 to 13.

Third Game Between These Teams—End of the Season—Work of Greever and Griffin—An Interesting Contest Throughout.

In the most interesting basketball game of the season, Trinity defeated Trinity Park School in the gymnasium last night by the score of 19 to 13. The game was played with an aggressiveness such as has never been seen in any of the previous contests. This aggressiveness was peculiar in that it was almost free from roughness. The Trinity Park boys went into the game full of determination, and this nettled them at the end of the first half the large end of the score. Their men were full of vigor and hard to play around. In this half Trinity Park scored 5 field goals and no fouls. Trinity scored 3 field goals and two fouls. The half closed with Trinity Park 10 and Trinity 8.

In the second half Trinity came up, and with a terrific rush took the game from the "Preps." The men were determined, and as the result they played the strongest and most consistent game they have put up this year. They passed well, threw phenomenal goals and never left their opponents uncovered. The star playing in the second half is almost indeterminate. Following the score sheet, Greever is given the honors, but the men who advanced the ball and enabled him to score cannot be gotten from the score. Claywell at right forward was strong, scoring two goals. Womble at center followed his man well and scored one goal. Stem at left guard played an exceedingly snappy game. The most interesting feature, however, was the playing of White and Tuttle. They looked after each other, and each did it well—White, however, scoring one goal and his opponent none. Riker at left guard was in fine trim, and it is because he guarded Greever that Greever is given the honors of the game. A score over this big fellow is no small achievement. Griffin at center scored the majority of Trinity Park's points.

The game was highly interesting throughout to the spectators. This victory gives Trinity two games of the series. The first was won by Trinity by the score of 28 to 18; the second by Trinity Park, score 19 to 16; third by Trinity, score 19 to 13. It is disappointing that no games are scheduled for the near future. Next year this sport will undoubtedly receive much attention here, and a good team is almost certain to be developed.

The following is the line-up:
TRINITY PARK SCHOOL. TRINITY.

Kiker L. G. Stem

The official score is as follows:

T. P. S.—SHARP INSTITUTE

The Visitors Victorious by a Score of 10 to 2—Batting of Howard, Brandon, and Justus—Practice Game—Score.

In a slow game last Thursday Trinity Park School was defeated on the Haues Athletic Field by the strong team from Sharp Institute. The score, which was 10 to 2, shows that the game was rather one-sided. Sharp was strong in hitting and in her pitching. On fielding grounds she was very poor. Hal the Trinity Park boys were able to hit on the ground the result would probably have been different. Their total number of assists shows very clearly that they were deficient in fielding. Their hitting was consistent and heavy. Howard and Brandon did the star hitting of the game. Howard secured four hits out of six times up, and Brandon secured four hits out of five times up.

Trinity Park showed up well at the beginning. Lane held the heavy visitors well in hand until the third inning. From that time on it seemed that he was in the clouds. In the fourth inning he and his teammates went up, and Sharp showed five runs across. Justus, behind the bat, played a beautiful game. His three-base hit was the prettiest seen here for a long time. Perkins, at first, played a strong game, making two or three difficult stops. The remainder were not up to their usual standard, though Dawson in left was right there on each of his chances. He also scored one of the three hits gotten by the home team.

The first score was made by Trinity Park School in the third inning. In this inning Crawford hit for one bag and Justus scored him with a beautiful three-bagger over center field. This closed the scoring for this inning. Sharp, in her half of the third, went Trinity Park one better and scored two runs. Brandon was first up and he singled. Martin went out on fly to third. Howard singled and scored Brandon. King struck out. Howard scored her last run in the fourth. Lane reached first on error of third baseman. He advanced a base on Armstrong's out from pitcher to first and scored on the error of third baseman in handling Dawson's drive.

Trinity Park went up in the air and the visitors scored five runs in their half of the fourth. Ellington went to first on error of second baseman. Claybrook reached first on error of pitcher, and Ellington went to third. Sharp hit safely and Ellington scored. Brandon hit to center for one bag, and Claybrook scored. Martin hit safely and advanced Brandon to third. Howard hit to right, scoring Brandon. King struck out

Webb was an easy out from Lane to Perkins, Martin scoring on this play. Lindsay hit to center and scored Howard. Ellington struck out and closed the inning. Sharp scored another in the fifth. Claybrook walked and stole second. Sharp walked. Brandon hit to Crawford and Sharp was forced out. Martin hit to third, and Claybrook scored on a close play. Side retired in regular order. Sharp scored two more in the eighth. Three were scored on hits by Claybrook, Sharp, and Brandon, aided by errors of Armstrong and Fisher.

At the close of the game Trinity had a few innings of practice with Sharp. Clement pitched for Trinity and Howard and Ogburn for Sharp. Clement couldn't be found. He was touched only once and this was hit to him.

The official tabulated score is as follows:

plains the shameful public corruption and more or less indifferent attitude to it; he is light-thoughted and irreverent, as seen in the criminal waste of the forestry and other gifts of nature to the land; he is superficial, and concerns himself little about the deeper questions of the soul. Owing to his constant effort to save time he fails to acquire or appreciate dignity, and his haste and restlessness prevent the growth of ease of body or spirit. In his constant efforts to be practical he neglects to a certain extent the ideal, and has as yet no organ for the transcendental. He is blind to the deepest sense of art, for he knows and uses art only as an external ornament, but seldom for the expression of inner visions or deep-welling needs of the soul. The truth is, the modern American, with all his inventions to save time and so, apparently, to lengthen life, has not yet learned the art of living, not yet discovered the right proportion between earning and enjoying.

After some criticism of American literature, early and modern, the German and American educational systems were contrasted. Harmonious education is impossible in America, since the system lacks unity. In the American High School far too much is attempted, and the pupil gets only a smattering knowledge of many things, resulting in superficial vanity. This explains a great weakness in American life and character—dilettantism.

The American nation is religiously endowed. In religion they are active and practical, rather than brooding and hypercritical. In the American worship the religious German misses what, above all else, he seeks in his church service—the edifying of the spirit. Here, as in American life altogether, there is too little appeal to the spirit; everything is too intellectually cold. Owing to the fact that the government makes no provision for religious instruction, there is growing up in the heart of the country a modern heathendom, since the poor of the great cities do not send their children to Sunday school.

In spite of these defects and such dangers as the negro question, the immigration question, the lack of a prosperous middle class, the small birth rate in the best classes, both authors think that America, which is so young as to outgrow all these evils, has the greatest future of any country of the world.

The article by Prof. Wannamaker, appearing in the next number of the South Atlantic Quarterly, will contain only those parts of the lecture dealing with America, and will be, in some respects, a more complete review of the two books mentioned above.

The fourth of the series of faculty lectures will be delivered by Dr. J. J. Wolfe some time during the month of April on the subject, "Some Glimpses of Bacteria."

Mr. H. B. Adams, '70, is a prominent lawyer at Monroe.

Dr. W. G. Bradshaw, '77, is a prosperous furniture manufacturer at High Point. Dr. Dred Peacock, '87, is associated with him in the same industry. Both are trustees of Trinity.

Rev. H. M. North, '99, is a member of the North Carolina Conference, and is stationed at Elizabeth City.

LOCAL.

Mr. E. O. Young has returned to college, after having spent a few days at his home near Henderson.

Dr. Kilgo has been steadily improving during the past week and is now able to be up within his home.

The game of base ball with Oak Ridge Institute, which was to have been played yesterday, was canceled.

Mr. C. O. Stewart, of the Junior Class, has been spending a few days at his home in Union county attending a family reunion.

Miss Anna Branson, of Durham, was the guest several days last week of Miss Nan Goodson, at the Woman's Building.

Miss Mattie Oldham returned Saturday from Raleigh, where she spent several days last week being treated by Dr. Lewis.

Mr. Fred Flowers, who had his left arm broken some time ago, is now able to use that limb to some extent and hopes to be at his old position at center field in some of the coming base ball games.

Messrs. S. B. Underwood and C. E. Phillips returned this afternoon from Charleston, S. C., where they have been attending the third annual interstate Y. M. C. A. Convention of the Carolinas. Mr. Phillips went as a representative of the local branch of the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Underwood went to fill the position of secretary of the convention, having been called to this office last week by Mr. G. C. Huntington, interstate secretary. This was quite a compliment to Mr. Underwood's ability, and he is to be congratulated on account of the honor bestowed on him. He and Mr. Phillips report a very successful convention and an enjoyable trip.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

Prof. Flowers Spoke at the Meeting Last Wednesday Evening—Prof. McIntosh Tomorrow.

The weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was conducted last Wednesday evening by Prof. R. L. Flowers. The devotional committee, which has in charge the program for each meeting, has been doing some good work since Christmas, for it has provided some most excellent speakers. The result of this is being seen already in the increased attendance every Wednesday night.

Prof. Flowers' subject was "Self-Mastery." The incident on which he based what he had to say was the quieting of the winds and the calming of the sea by Christ. Christ, he said, was a complete master of himself under all circumstances. And all Christians should be, for this virtue is necessary to safe and sane leadership. His application of the lessons of the lack of this virtue was very strikingly made to the people of the South, who are very easily carried away by petty things, which cause them to act in a way they are afterwards ashamed of.

The next meeting of the association, which will be held tomorrow evening at 7:15, will be addressed by Prof. McIntosh, of the law department.

Mr. E. J. Green is principal of the Edgemont Graded School, Durham.

BAND ORGANIZED.

To Be Composed of Fourteen Pieces—Mr. W. M. Crook Elected Captain—Will Play at First Lafayette Game.

At the meeting of Trinity's brass band held in the Craven Memorial Hall last evening its definite organization was effected, Mr. W. M. Crook being elected captain, Mr. G. Koener secretary and treasurer, and Mr. J. L. Williams drum major of the band. It will consist in all of fourteen pieces, as follows:

W. M. Crook, W. M. Wells, G. M. Daniels, D. B. Curley, and W. M. Nelson, cornets; Z. A. Rochelle and E. A. Seeman, clarinets; J. G. Gillespie, trombone; T. R. Stockard and B. W. Hawks, 1st and 2d alto respectively; D. M. Albright, baritone; P. Pickard, tuba; J. R. McPhail, snare drum; and G. Koener, bass drum.

The band will make its initial appearance at the first Lafayette game, by which time it is hoped that all of the music ordered will have come. Among other pieces to be played are several of the local base ball songs, which are now being arranged. This will be a valuable addition, in many ways, to the cheering squad, and much is expected of it.
