FIRST ST. JOHN'S BALL GAME

Team From Maryland Made Four Runs to Trinity's Three.

WORK OF CLEMENT AND REYNOLDS

How the Runs Were Made—Batting of Smith and Flowers and Hoover and Rouse—The Official Score and Summary.

In a good game of ball last Thursday St. John's College, of Maryland, defeated Trinity by the score of 4 to 3. The game was a pitchers' battle, in which both Clement and Reynolds showed up well. Their pitching was about equal, though St. John's bunched her hits on Clement in the sixth. The latter allowed fewer hits, but gave more bases on balls than the southpaw from Maryland. In hitting and fielding the Trinity team outclassed the visitors. When hits were needed, however, the boys couldn't connect safely with the ball.

Smith and Flowers did the leading stick work for Trinity. Both hit well in pinches and their hitting was responsible for two of the runs. Their hits were clean line drives and were not even touched by a fielder until they were on bases. Clement rapped a peach out to left center for two bases. Billy Smith got two clean ones to his credit and Justus got one.

Hoover and Rouse did the hitting for St. John's. Both got a couple of hits, one of Hoover's being for three bases. Rouse, in addition to his hitting, caught a pretty game. His grit was applauded by the crowd when he injured himself while attempting to get a foul. The game was delayed only a few moments, the plucky catcher going in, although he was almost unable to walk.

HOW THE RUNS WERE MADE.

Trinity sent the first runs of the game across the rubber in the fourth. Clement, first up, hit for two bases. Webb struck out. Clement reached third on a passed ball and scored on Suiter's beautiful two-base hit. Wrenn flew out to center and Flowers rapped a clean one to short center and Suiter scored. Hutchison struck out, closing the inning. In the sixth St. John's did her only scoring, but this was enough to win the game. McCordell waited for four balls and Hoover hit one which struck the fence on the first bound. This scored McCordell and netted Hoover three bases. Carroll singled and Hoover scored. MacKie was safe on error of second baseman, Carroll going to second on the play. Austin and Wrightson struck out. Duval hit for two bases, scoring MacKie and Carroll. Reynolds struck out, retiring the side. Trinity rallied in the seventh and scored another run on an error of right fielder and hits of Smith and Justus. In the eighth Webb came very near scoring, but a question was raised and the

A MUSICAL PROGRAM.

This Was Given at the Y. M. C. A. Last Wednesday Evening—Mr. Cole Speaks of the Students' Convention.

The program which was given at the meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association on Wednesday evening of last week consisted for the most part of musical features, and on account of the innovation of, and the excellence with which the program was rendered, the exercises were of no little enjoyment to the audience. And the attendance was larger than is usually the case at the regular weekly meetings. The following was the order of the exercises:

Solo by Miss Nan Goodson.

Talk regarding the Students' Summer Conference, by Mr. E. O. Cole.

Solo by Miss Pearl Brinson.

Remarks by the President of the association.

Duet by Misses Brinson and Minor.

In the short talk which Mr. Cole made he told of the next Y. M. C. A. summer conference which meets in June at the Asheville Farm School, at Swannanoa, N. C., and urged that the local branch send a delegation. It is very likely that a greater number of representatives than usual will go from Trinity.

SOME FINE SPEAKERS

For the few remaining meetings of the association for this session some special speakers have been engaged, and something that is worth while is promised to those who attend. The meeting tomorrow evening will be addressed by Prof. A. H. Meritt. The meetings will begin at 7:30 hereafter, instead of 7:15.

THE LECTURE LAST EVENING

Closing Faculty Lecture Delivered by Dr. James J. Wolfe.

"BACTERIA AND THEIR ACTIVITIES."

A Popular Account of This Important Subject—Very Entertaining and Valuable—Heard by an Appreciative Audience.

On a subject concerning which the average lay student is almost entirely ignorant Dr. J. J. Wolfe, head of the department of biology, delivered one of the most instructive and at the same time entertaining lectures that has been given by a member of the faculty during the year. His subject was "Bacteria and Some of Their Activities." The attendance was very gratifying, the Y. M. C. A. hall, where the lecture was delivered, being almost full.

Though an adequate synopsis and one that will in any way do the lecture justice is entirely impossible, a few of the main phases of this very important subject are noted.

Various terms have been applied to bacteria, such as microbes, germs, animalcule, miasma, contagion, etc., the name animalcule being given as early observers thought them animals. But their structure, mode of taking food, and of reproduction characterize them as plants, though of the lowest forms of vegetable life. Though they are represented by patent medicine advertisers with jaws, horns, and the like, bacteria have no such structures. They conform to four types, viz., sphere, rod, cork-screw, and filament.

Bacteria are the smallest known living things. They are below the level of sex and reproduction is by fission, the plant elongating, constricting, and then separating. The time required for this generation is very short and varies, thirty minutes being a fair average. At this rate, and in perfect conditions, the progeny of one bacterium would fill all the ocean beds in five days. But conditions are never perfect.

The speaker next told how the bacteria are cultivated in the laboratory, and spoke of their distribution. They are found everywhere—in water, air, soil, and various food materials. In this connection some very interesting exhibitions were made of bacteria that had been collected from the air of the campus, of the Inn before and after sweeping, etc.

As to the origin of these numerous theories were discussed. For a long time it was believed that they were generated spontaneously, and this theory held till Louis Pasteur overthrew it.

The activities of bacteria were discussed under four heads, viz.: Light, color, disease-producing ones, and those productive of fermentation.

Those of the first division were discussed somewhat briefly, but (Continued on second page.)

ALUMNI REUNION.

Trinity Park School Alumni Will Meet Thursday Evening—Will Be a Leading Social Affair of the Year.

The annual meeting of the alumni of the Trinity Park School will be held Thursday evening in the Asbury Building, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

This meeting will be of a somewhat different nature from those that have been held for the past few years when a banquet was served in the York Dining Hall. The attendance at these banquets was entirely too small and it has been so arranged this year that all those who have ever been students at the Park School are invited and expected to be present.

The first part of the meeting will be given over to the transaction of all business that may come before the Alumni Association and then officers for the next year will be elected. After this refreshments will be served and the meeting will be turned into an informal social occasion, so that all the old students may renew acquaintance with their old class and schoolmates. And to add to the pleasure, quite a number of games may be played by all who so desire.

The invitation to attend this reunion meeting is given to each and every person who has ever been at the Trinity Park School, whether he or she graduated or not, and it is greatly desired by the committee on arrangements that no one fail to be present. In fact, those who miss the occasion will deprive themselves of one of the leading social affairs of the college year. And remember that the meeting will be informal.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Rev. E. W. Fox, class of '95, is pastor of Stanley Creek Circuit, Western North Carolina Conference.

Rev. G. F. Kirby is preaching at King's Mountain.

Mr. N. C. Newbold is principal of Roxboro Academy.

Mr. E. C. Brooks, class of '94, is Superintendent of the Graded Schools, Goldsboro.

Mr. C. W. Bagby, class of '05, has a position with Doster Grocery Co., Monroe.

Mr. E. A. Armfield, class of '57, is clerk of court in Union county.

J. W. Townsend, class of '66, is assistant clerk of court in Union county.

Mr. Frank Armfield, class of '92, is a very successful lawyer in Monroe, N. C.

Mr. Frank H. Lee, ex-'07, is working for Heath Lee Hardware Co., Monroe.

Mr. Emsley Armfield, ex-'07, has a position in the same establishment.

Mr. B. F. Stewart, a former student, is now in Florida.

Mr. G. B. Starling, class of '57, is pastor of Cary Circuit, N. C. Conference.

Mr. C. T. Blakeney is cashier of a bank at Jefferson, N. C.

TRINITY'S SECOND DEFEAT

Home Team Downed by Score of Three to One.

GANTT AND WRIGHTSON'S PITCHING

H. Smith Catches a Pretty Game—Work of Webb at Second—McCordell in Left Field—Playing of Duval—Score and Summary.

In an interesting and tolerably fast game Trinity suffered defeat for the second time last Friday afternoon at the hands of the St. John's team. From the first, however, it looked as though the game would be a victory for the home team, as Maryland's sons were outclassed at many points of the contest. Gantt, for Trinity, did splendid work in the box and richly deserved to win his game. He allowed only three hits, the same number secured by Trinity, gave no bases, on balls, is credited with no errors, got one of the three hits above mentioned, and hit no one.

Behind the bat, H. Smith caught a pretty game, this being his initial appearance in this position, throughout the entire nine innings, here. He gathered in well everything that came his way and made some great stops of difficult chances. On account of a hurt finger Wrenn was out of the game. At second, Webb did some pretty work, holding down everything that came within his territory, while Smith, at short, was in the game in great shape from start to finish and played up to his usual form. The work of Flowers in center field also deserves mention.

For St. John's, Wrightson pitched a good, steady game, keeping hits well scattered and not allowing any at critical moments. At times, however, there were flaws in his control, for he hit two batters and walked one. He received good support, though, and to this may be attributed largely his success. McCordell, in left field, perhaps was the center of attention of his team. With only one hand he played an errorless game, accepting every chance which came his way, and showed up well at the bat.

There was a noticeable tendency on the part of one or two of the visitors to put up an article of ball-playing which was none too clean for college sport, and at two periods of the game it looked as though the whole nine innings would not be finished up. After much excitement and squabbling, however, order was restored and the game continued.

HOW THE RUNS WERE MADE.

The game opened with Trinity at the bat, Smith up. After several fouls, in which he seemed to be feeling his way, he landed squarely on one, but was thrown out at first by second baseman. Justus then hit to short and was safe on the latter's error. Clement, next up, swatted out a two-bagger, scoring Justus. Webb died via short to first and Suiter, (Continued on third page.)

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Up until now the business management of THE CHRONICLE has not bothered its subscribers about paying up their subscriptions, preferring to let them settle up when it was most convenient. Just at present, however, there are many expenses to be met in connection with running the paper, and to meet these the managers will be forced to start collecting at an early date from those who have been delinquent in this matter. THE CHRONICLE was not started in the societies as a money-making investment, yet it must not be a source of expense and loss to them, for if it should be, without doubt in a few years it will be discontinued as a publication. So this, the first year, is really an experimental stage in its history and it remains almost solely with the subscribers of the paper whether or not it will be a success from a financial standpoint. When the managers come around, therefore, let everyone who has not paid up fall in and help make their task less embarrassing and as easy as possible.

When many members of the present Senior Class first put foot on Trinity's campus as Freshmen, one of the first memorable talks made in chapel by the president of the institution was on the subject of by-paths made here and there by different persons walking across the various plots, and ruthlessly marring their beauty. From that time until the present the warfare has gone on incessantly against the offenders, but ever and anon they seem to have gathered reinforcements and continued committing their old offenses. Fences and blockades of various kinds have been placed about the plots most subject to misuse, but they have proved of little avail, the invasions continuing as before. Around Craven Memorial Hall these have been most destructive of the symmetry and uniformity of the campus, and several altogether unnecessary paths have been formed. New fences have been erected by the college authorities during the past week, and it is hoped that, once for all, they will effectually accomplish the desired end. Every student should join in the movement to help in this matter in any way possible.

The circular which was received some time ago by Dr. W. H. Glasson, and which is now posted on the door of the economics recitation room, deserves the attention of everyone at all interested in this department of work. It contains information concerning prizes to be awarded to graduate and undergraduate students for original essays on a number of economic questions. The conditions under which the articles are to be prepared are by no means stringent and do not deprive anyone from competing for the prizes offered. Last year many valuable contributions were received as the result of this offer and quite a keen interest aroused among students hitherto unattracted by this field of work. Anyone would do well to read the circular thoroughly and perchance take a place in the contest.

For some time the General Athletic Association of the University of Virginia has been considering the matter of giving managers of the various teams representing the university the "V." Last week, at a mass meeting of the student body, definite action was taken on the matter and the constitution of the association amended effecting the desired changes. The question of giving the "T" to the managers of Trinity's teams was discussed in a recent number of THE CHRONICLE, but as yet has received no attention. The matter should be brought up without fail at the next regular meeting of Trinity's Athletic Association.

LOST TO CARY.

The Park School Team Goes Down Only by a Narrow Margin in a Good Exhibition of Ball.

Cary High School, 2; Trinity Park School, 1.

This was the score of the game Saturday which was played at Cary. The contest was a good exhibition of base ball, the opposing teams being pretty evenly matched.

Cary scored once in the first inning, after two men were out. This came about through a misunderstanding about the ground rules which had been agreed upon by the captains of the two teams before the game. The ball was thrown wild to Trinity Park's first baseman, and under the impression that only one base would be allowed on account of this, the player did not hurry in getting the ball, the runner scoring in the meantime.

The first run for the Park School was made in the fifth on two doubles, the run, therefore, being earned. Cary also scored an earned run, this being in the sixth inning, which untied the score. After this no more runs were made by either team, though the Park School players had two singles, a double and a three-bagger to their credit. But these were all scattered and were of no avail.

For the first four innings Lane was in the box for the "preps," but on account of an injury he was replaced by Broom. Knight was the pitcher for the Cary boys. He allowed seven hits and struck out eight. Lane fanned six and Broom five, the two allowing only six hits. Lane and Knight each gave one base on balls.

SOCIETY REUNION.

The Columbians Meet Together and Enjoy Themselves—Number of Talks Made and Refreshments Are Served.

On last Saturday evening, instead of having the customary duties, the Columbian Literary Society held a reunion meeting, the affair being quite a big thing, and the evening was most delightfully spent by all who were in attendance. All the old members of the society who reside in Durham, together with the honorary members, were invited, and a fairly good number were present. The program for the meeting had been previously arranged by a committee, of which Mr. A. S. Hobgood was chairman, and everything passed off in accordance with the arrangements.

The first part of the special exercises was the address of welcome on behalf of the society which was made by Mr. J. A. Morgan. The following speakers then responded with short talks in the order given: Mr. W. S. Lowdermilk, '04; Dr. W. I. Cranford, '91; Mr. J. M. Umstead, Mr. G. W. Woodard, Dr. J. J. Wolfe, Mr. J. G. Huckabee, '04; Prof. A. H. Merritt, Prof. W. H. Pegram, '73; Mr. C. H. Livengood, '04; Prof. C. W. Edwards, '94; Mr. W. P. Budd, '04; Prof. W. W. Card, '00; Mr. S. A. Johnson, Mr. G. G. Greever, A. M., '05; Mr. J. C. Richardson, '05; Mr. C. T. Hancock, '05; and Mr. Raymond Browning.

The speech of Mr. Woodard was especially enjoyed on account of the reminiscences which he gave of the society and of the college during the period of the Civil War. The other talks contained many words of advice and encouragement, with which was mingled much wit and racy humor.

During the course of the speaking fruit was served and cigars were passed around and a jolly good time prevailed, with the exception of the usual misfortune which befalls some of those who partake of the cigars. The meeting finally came to a close at 11 o'clock, after a flashlight photograph of the assemblage had been made.

question is one that is just now receiving a great deal of attention among the people of the United States, and to those who have not been keeping up closely with it in the newspapers and magazines, this will be a chance to hear both sides thoroughly discussed. The query reads as follows:

"Resolved, That the Hepburn bill should be passed by the Senate."

The order of the speakers is: AFFIRMATIVE. NEGATIVE.

J. B. Aiken, S. A. Richardson, C. C. Barnhardt, W. A. Stanbury, W. V. McRae, A. W. Horton.

These six men have shown themselves to be good debaters, and in appreciation of their ability and hard work the hall should be filled by the people of the college community. At the close of the debate a handsome set of books, the gift of Hon. J. H. Southgate, will be presented to the speaker who shall have been adjudged by the committee of decision to be the best debater.

it was noted that they produced light without the heat which is necessary with artificial light. "Could we learn this secret of producing light it would completely revolutionize our modern system of lighting."

The color-producing forms were discussed in relation to their practical utility, principally in the case of indigo, and also as to their harmfulness to food products.

Those that produce disease were discussed at length and were very important facts were revealed to the audience. "The germ theory," said the lecturer, "is less than half a century old." This theory he related in connection with such diseases as tuberculosis, diphtheria, cholera, pneumonia, etc. Also the work of toxins and anti-toxins was noted in this connection and the use of the latter in the treatment of many diseases was forcibly set forth. Tuberculosis was given quite a detailed treatment and many interesting and valuable facts relative to it were presented.

The last class—those productive of fermentation—came in also for a good share of attention and mention was made of the fact that some of these bacteria are very useful, especially in fermentation in milk and cream, in the curing and storing of tobacco and hay, in tanning, and in the sugar industry. They also perform a very necessary work in the putrefaction of decaying matter, thereby changing it back to its original form of dust. Certain chemical elements—as iron, sulphur, and nitrogen—are put into such a condition by these little organisms that they can be readily used by plants and animals, this being impossible while these elements are in their free state.

The lecture closed with a statement of the value of the activities of bacteria when diverted into legitimate channels and made to labor for man's comfort; what achievements have been made in this field to the present day; and what great possibilities are still before the faithful investigator in this work.

following him, rapped out a clean single. Flowers went out, third to first, closing Trinity's half of the inning. In St. John's half Rouse, first up, got a neat single, but failed to score. Until the fifth the game went along snappily, neither side scoring. In that inning Gantt, first at bat, struck out. H. Smith was likewise retired, catcher to first, and W. Smith hit to first, closing the first half of the inning. For St. John's, Duval, first up, was safe at first on error of first baseman. Wrightson sacrificed, pitcher to first, advancing Duval. Rouse, next up, hit to Suiter and was an easy out. Duval, however, who had been playing a short distance off of second, started directly for the home plate when the ball was hit, passing within a few feet of the pitcher's box. Suiter played the ball home, yet not in time to catch him before reaching the rubber on a long slide, and, upon failure of the umpire to see that he had cut third base by a wide margin, he was called safe and the run credited. This tied the score. McCordell, next up, struck out.

In the eighth, for Trinity, Gantt, H. Smith, and W. Smith went out in one, two, three order. For St. John's, Rouse, first at the bat, was safe at first on error of third baseman. McCordell, following him, likewise reached the initial bag safely on a fielder's choice, and Hoover then stepped up to the plate. After several vicious swings at the ball, fouling it each time, he finally picked out the right one and hit it a crashing blow. Away out over right center the shiny sphere flew, and when it was at last returned to the infield Rouse and McCordell had both scored and Hoover sat panting on third base. Carroll, next up, went out, short to first, MacKie second to first and Clark died the same death, closing the inning.

In the ninth Trinity got a clean hit, but failed to score. St. John's did not take her turn at the bat and the game was over.

NEW CATALOGUE.

Several Important Changes—
The Year's Enrollment Two Hundred and Eighty-Three—
The Young Ladies Here.

The catalogue for 1905-6 came from the press last week. In appearance and make-up it is the same as the one of preceding years. However, there are several new things in it which will be of interest.

In the department of English, those students who elect Junior work will have one hour additional weekly if they did not pass during the Freshman and Sophomore years with a grade as high as 80, and those who elect Senior work will have an hour a week additional if they passed in the Junior year with a grade of less than 80. This is the only important change in any of the departments, though several courses, which have been seldom taken, will not be offered any longer.

Under the head of general regulations an important paragraph regarding absences just before and after the Christmas holidays is given. No student who has missed a recitation during the week preceding the vacation or the week following the opening will be allowed to re-enter till he has satisfied the faculty that his absence was unavoidable or till he has paid an entrance fee and passed extra examinations in the departments from which he was absent. The fee is two dollars if not more than one day is missed and one dollar for every additional day or part of a day.

The total enrollment for the year in both the college and Park School is 477, 283 of whom are in college. In the law school are 16; in the Senior Class are 44 now in college, 10 of whom are young ladies; in the Junior Class 47, 12 of whom are young ladies; in the Sophomore Class 56, 13 of whom are young ladies; in the Freshman Class 93, 17 of whom are young ladies. The total number of young men in these four classes at present is 240 and of young ladies is 52. The total number of special students is 8. The total increase in enrollment over last year is 33.

OUR CLOTHING TALKS!

The excellence of our Clothing speaks for itself. This picture shows the sort of Suit about which you're asked, "Who made it for you?"

The wide lapels, the shapely lines, the just-right length, and its whole aristocratic bearing, put it in a class by itself.

We regard it as one of the snappiest of the many handsome Suits we're showing this season.

SPEAKERS ELECTED.

Those Who Will Take Part in the Class Day Exercises—
Tennis Players Active—
Other Park School Items.

BY E. S. MCINTOSH.

Rev. T. A. Smoot, pastor of Main Street Methodist church, began a series of revival meetings at the Park School on last Tuesday evening. Services were held each night after chapel and the attendance was good. The amount of interest shown was considerable and much good resulted from the meetings.

On last Wednesday morning the Senior Class held its election of speakers for the annual class day exercises which are given as a part of the commencement exercises of the school. The result of this election was as follows: Class Orator, P. J. Kiker; Historian, G. M. Daniels; Statistician, W. B. Lilly; Poet, T. C. Vickers; "Phunny" Man, E. S. McIntosh; Prophetess, Miss Katherine Beaman. At this meeting the class also decided to present the school with a copy of the class picture.

Preparations for commencement are well under way now and in a few days the invitations will be ordered.

Everyone who is a tennis player is just now getting himself in shape for the tournament which will be held this week. Some excellent players have been developed during the year, and there is every indication of a contest that will be very warm and well worth seeing. Prof. Lockhart will award the winner a first-class racket.

The base ball and tennis clubs had their pictures made last Thursday evening.

Mr. D. V. Sessoms, who has been sick with pneumonia at the Watts Hospital for the past five weeks, has recovered, but he will not be able to resume his studies this spring.

On Saturday afternoon the second game of base ball between the Park School and the Cary High School will be played on the college diamond. The first game, an account of which is given elsewhere, was very close and it is very certain that the second game will be also.

LOCAL.

Miss Ada Godwin was quite ill last Friday night.

Miss Marie Turner, of Gaffney, S. C., is now visiting Miss Kilgo.

Mr. J. W. Autry preached at Branson church Sunday morning and night.

Mr. Raymond Browning preached at Trinity Church last Sunday evening.

Messrs. T. G. Stem and J. B. Aiken went to Greensboro last Friday on a short trip.

Room rent and all other bills due the college must be paid to the registrar before May 1.

Mr. L. T. Singleton led the prayer meeting at Main Street church on last Wednesday evening.

Mr. H. A. Page, Jr., visited Mr. J. A. Long, Jr., Saturday and Sunday, at his home in Roxboro.

Mr. M. D. Meacham, of the class of 1902, of the Park School, was a visitor on the campus yesterday.

Dr. Mims will speak at the prayer meeting service on next Saturday evening at the Woman's Building.

Mr. Herman Walker, of the Senior Class, left Saturday for a few days' visit to his home in South Carolina.

Messrs. R. M. Brown and S. R. Logan, of the University of North Carolina, were the guests of Mr. Hoy Taylor Saturday.

Messrs. J. K. Wilson and Dugal Stewart, of the A. and M. College at Raleigh, were visitors on the campus Saturday.

Mrs. Bledsoe, mother of Mr. L. C. Bledsoe, of the Junior Class, and Miss Lula Allen visited Mr. Bledsoe last week.

The Sophomore Debate, which was to have been held on Friday night of this week, has been postponed a week and will be given in the Y. M. C. A. hall on the evening of the 4th.

Mr. F. M. Hornaday, a member of last year's Sophomore Class, who is now prominently engaged in the insurance business at Greenville, N. C., is a visitor on the park, the guest of his brother, Prof. C. L. Hornaday, of the Park School.

The Park School catalogue for this year is out. There are several changes to be noted, but none of any special importance. It shows the enrollment to be as follows: Senior Class, 61; Upper Middle Class, 61; Lower Middle Class, 59; Junior Class, 8; Special, 1, a total of 190.

The many friends of Mr. W. G. Bridges, of the Freshman Class, will learn with regret that on account of ill health he will not be in college for the remainder of the term. He left Saturday for his home in High Point, where he will probably work later on with the Tomlinson Chair Co.

YAHOOVS VS. TRINITY.

Two Interesting Games of Ball to Be Played—Strong Teams on Both Sides—Stocksdale and Gantt to Pitch.

On tomorrow and Friday afternoons, respectively, two ball games will be played on Hanes Athletic Field, and both contests will, in all probability, be as interesting exhibitions of the national sport as any that have been seen here during the past season.

The best players on the campus, not on the regular college aggregation, will form a team, captained by Coach O. H. Stockdale, and will be known as the Yahoos. A lively tussle between the two teams is promised, as it is known that the Yahoos have a strong line-up and, as the slang artists among the fans put it, have "no bad team."

In the first game Coach Stockdale will be in the box for the Yahoos and Wrenn will be behind the bat, while Gantt will be on the firing line for Trinity and "Rastus" Smith will take everything coming from the pitcher's box.

The line-up and batting order of the two teams will be as follows.

YAHOOVS.	TRINITY.
Cooper, 1b,	Smith, s. s.,
Stocksdale, p.,	Justus, r. f.,
Clement, 2b,	Johnston, l. f.,
Wrenn, c.,	Webb, 2b,
Card, c. f.,	Suiter, 1b,
Ogburn, 3b,	Flowers, c. f.,
Green, r. f.,	Hutchison, 3b,
Bivins, l. f.,	Gantt, p.,
Freeman, s. s.	Smith, H., c.

The games will be called promptly at 4 o'clock and everybody is expected to be out, ready to root for the team of his choice.

AN ENJOYABLE OCCASION

Miss Whitted Entertains the Young Ladies of Senior Class—Interesting Book Contest—The Guests.

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season was the entertainment given last Wednesday afternoon, at her home on McMannen street, from 4 to 6 o'clock, by Miss Bessie Whitted, of the Senior Class, to the remaining young ladies of the class. The parlors of the home were tastefully decorated in the class colors of purple and gold and presented a beautiful appearance.

The feature of the afternoon was a book contest, which was the occasion of much spirited and lively enjoyment and tested thoroughly the guessing powers and knowledge of the participants. After an examination of the several cards Miss Eliza Brown was adjudged the winner of the contest and was awarded the prize, a book entitled "Blessed Be Drugery."

Following this, delicious refreshments were served in three courses and souvenirs given each guest. These were dainty baskets, filled with various candies, and tied with ribbons of the class colors.

The guests were: Misses Eliza Brown, Mary Thomas, Emeth Tuttle, Nan Goodson, Eva Branch, Bessie Ellis, Katharine Herring, Mary Shotwell, Maud Wilkerson and Emma Foushee.

Miss Whitted proved to be a charming hostess and the occasion was one long to be remembered by all present. It is understood that this is the first of a series of such entertainments, to be given by different members of the class among the young ladies, and from every standpoint it was eminently successful and greatly enjoyed.
