EIGHT INNINGS PLAYED—SCORE, 14 TO 6

Coach Stocksdale's Work the Only Real Feature—His Ease in the Box—"Cap." Card Makes Spectacular Catch.

By the tell-tale score of 14 to 6 the Yahoos defeated Trinity's first team last Wednesday afternoon on Hanes Athletic Field. What was expected to be a close and pretty exhibition of baseball was marred by very ragged playing by both teams, especially toward the middle of the game. Before the contest was stopped the spectators had thinned out to such an extent that a respectable round of applause could not have been given a good play had one been made. For the first few innings it looked as though the entire game would at least be interesting, but after the third inning the play became less and less so and a free-and-easy spirit of carelessness seemed to pervade the atmosphere around the players' bench. Gantt, who was in the box for Trinity, was in no kind of form at all and was pounded all over the lot unmercifully by the eager Yahoos. H. Smith, who caught him, seemed to have been similarly affected, for he did not at all play up to his usual standard. A few members of the team, however, escaped the infection and played steady, consistent ball throughout.

The Yahoos from the first put up a good article of sport and won out by heady and brisk work. Coach Stocksdale was in the box and his pitching was the one feature of the game, which was really a source of much pleasure to the onlookers. Off of his quick, easy, and graceful delivery his pupils secured only two hits during the five innings that he pitched. The batters were all completely at his mercy, as the record of nine strike-outs by him shows, and in fielding his position he was perfect. Out of five times at the bat he secured two two-baggers and a neat single—all of this, too, with an apparent ease and freedom from noticeable effort that could only command admiration. Behind the bat Wrenn caught a good game and was especially fine in throwing to second. Director Card, in center field made a spectacular running catch of a hard-hit drive, which was heartily applauded and which was one of the prettiest catches of the season.

HOW THE RUNS WERE MADE.

In the first for Trinity, W. Smith, Justus and Johnston went out in one, two, three order. For the Yahoos Cooper and Stockdale were thrown out at first by pitcher and short respectively. Clement, then up, smashed out a beautiful three-bagger, Card walked, and Clement scored again. (Continued on third page.)

SENIORS DOWN LAWYERS

Score Was 11 to 9—Number of Finds Were Made—Some of the Stars—The Line-up of the Teams.

Last Tuesday afternoon, on the Hanes Athletic Field, the Seniors defeated the Lawyers in an interesting game by a score of 11 to 9. With the exception of the first few innings the game was a good one. Errors in this part enabled each team to pile up a big score. After this very little scoring was done and all the runs were earned. Unfortunately for the Lawyers, Webb injured his finger in the second inning and was unable to dish them out in his usual form. Justus did the slab work in the first part for the Seniors, and he was landed on rather frequently. This was due, probably, to his weakening, as he has not had much throwing to do this year. Billy Smith went in in the last half and he held his opponents down to goose-eggs.

Finds were frequent on both sides. Players were found who could easily make the first team were they not too modest to make the attempt. Arthur at first was the strongest point in the Lawyers' line-up in the estimation of a few of the fans. The honors, in the opinion of the majority, were given to Mr. Steele Lowdermilk, who played a fast third. Mr. Ashley B. Stainback, well known in football circles, showed up to splendid advantage and did some excellent work in his corner of the lot. Mr. Clarence Pugh played left field to the satisfaction of all present. It is a lamentable fact that he injured himself so severely that he will not be able to make his appearance with the first team in the few games that follow. The batting of Mr. B. O. Thompson was a most prominent feature. He hit in pinches and his hits were all of the clean variety. Mr. Leon Williams, in center field, played good ball. The rest of the playing was poor. The men didn't seem to have their eyes on the ball, whether at the bat or in the field.

The line-up of the two teams was as follows:

LAWYERS.	SENIORS.
Webb, p.	Justus, p. & s. s.
Gibson, c.	Smith, p. & s. s.
Arthur, 1b.	Warren, c. & 2b.
Nixon, 2b.	Woodard, c. & 2b.
Lowdermilk, 3b.	Pegram, 3b.
Cooper, s. s.	Lambeth, 3b.
Stewart, l. f.	Pugh, l. f.
Williams, c. f.	Stem, c. f.
Thompson, r. f.	Stainback, r. f.

Historical Society Meeting.

The Trinity College Historical Society will meet Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, in the History Room, this being the regular meeting for May, and also the last one for this year. The program will consist of a paper by Prof. W. S. Lockhart and several by other members of the society. The entire college community is given an invitation to attend.

TRINITY PARK SCHOOL WON

In a Very Good Game of Ball Cary High School Loses.

GOOD WORK OF PITCHERS THE FEATURE

Score, 4 to 2—Freeman, of the Visitors, Hits Heavily—Cary's Poor Base-Running—Official Score and Summary.

In a fairly interesting game last Saturday Trinity Park School defeated Cary High School on the Hanes Athletic Field by the score of 4 to 2. The fielding of the two teams was very good. On ground balls Trinity Park far outclassed the visitors. This weakness probably cost them the game, as the runs were made on errors in fielding ground balls.

The work of the pitchers was the feature of the game. Each had ten clean hits chopped off of his delivery, while as to strike-outs Lane outclassed his opponent, Knight, by four points. Fourteen men fell before Lane and ten before Knight. Most of the balls hit out were in the air and easy chances for the fielders. Lane's pitching while in a hole was brilliant. On several occasions he had men on second and third, with no men down, and he would either strike the next three out or make them pop them up in the air. His curves were wide and under beautiful control, although his side, which was injured in a former game, pained him. Knight had few curves, but splendid control. He put the ball over at all times. Lane, however, clearly outpitched his opponent.

The batting of Freeman, of the visitors, was splendid. He got five clean hits out of five times up. Very little support was given him at the bat, or the game would have resulted differently. Lane and Smithman did the hitting for the Park School boys. Lane got three out of four times up, and Smithman two out of the same number of times. One of the last was a beautiful three-bagger to right field.

Trinity Park shoved two runs over in the first. Bru struck out and Asbury died from short to first, Perkins was safe on error of short stop and Armstrong singled, advancing Perkins to second. On the throw-in each man advanced a base. Smithman singled, scoring Perkins and Armstrong. Angier struck out, retiring the side. Cary did nothing in her half. In the second T. P. S. put another one across the rubber. Fisher singled and Lane followed suit. A double shot was worked and Fisher scored on Dawson's out. The next two men were easy outs. Cary got her first run in the fourth. Pickett singled and scored on errors. The succeeding batsmen were out in easy style. T. P. S. scored her last in the eighth. Asbury went out to third. Perkins singled and stole second. Armstrong struck out.

GAZETTE STAFF.

Elected for Next Year—Calhoun Society Awards Medals—Tennis Tournament Exciting—Other Items.

BY E. S. MCINTOSH.

At a meeting of the Upper Middle Class last Friday the staff of the Gazette for next year was elected, as follows: Editor-in-chief, J. L. Lockhart, of Hillsboro; assistant editor, R. R. Wicker, of Roanoke Rapids; Y. M. C. A. editors, J. A. Furgeson, of Oxford, and C. A. Campbell, of Durham; In and About School, W. E. Dale, of Jacobs, and J. L. Best, of Goldsboro; exchange department, Misses Christine McIntosh and Lina Washington Crews, of Durham. The editors of the Here and There department will be elected next fall.

The tennis tournament which was held last week produced some very exciting games. In contesting one point Messrs. J. P. Morgan and John Fuller passed the ball more than a hundred times before either made an error. The final contest for the prize racket was fought out between Mr. Morgan and Mr. Morrison. Mr. Morgan won two successive sets and was declared the winner of the racket.

The Calhoun Literary Society awarded the debater's and declaimer's medals on last Friday evening. Mr. R. R. Wicker, of the Upper Middle Class, received the medal for the most improvement during the year in declamation, and the medal for the best debater of the society in the Senior Class was awarded to Mr. G. M. Daniel, of Roanoke Rapids.

Mr. A. M. Justus, of the Senior Class, has been confined to his room for the past week with a slight attack of fever. He will probably be out in a day or two.

Mr. J. J. Boone left Friday for his home at Jackson, on account of trouble with his eyes. He will not return to school this year.

The Debate at Last.

After no little difficulty in setting a time for it, the Sophomore Debate will be held, as decided upon at this writing, on Thursday evening, in the Y. M. C. A. hall, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, though this is the evening for the regular monthly meeting of the Historical Society. This last meeting, however, will in all probability be postponed. This is the only generally public debate of this spring, and from the length of time and the extent of material on the question to be discussed, some good speaking is expected of the six debaters. The winner of the prize will surely have no walk-over.

The many friends of Miss Mattie Oldham will learn with very much pleasure that she has recovered from her recent illness and is again able to resume her college work. She has been undergoing treatment for several weeks under Dr. R. H. Battle, of Raleigh.

SERVICE SUNDAY MORNING

Held in Craven Memorial Hall by President J. C. Kilgo.

SERMON OF MUCH FORCE AND ELOQUENCE

Vocal Solo by Miss Brinson—Text From Thirteenth Chapter of First Corinthians—Man Set About by Limitations.

On Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, President Kilgo preached in Craven Memorial Hall to the student body and the college community. There were present also a number of Durham people.

The service was opened with a vocal solo by Miss Pearl Brinson. Dr. Kilgo read a Scripture lesson from the Book of Job. He preached with his usual force and eloquence, and his hearers were greatly edified by his sermon. His text was:

"For we know in part, and we prophecy in part. But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away. When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things. For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then, face to face. Now, I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known."—I. Cor., 13 chap., 9-12 verses.

He spoke in part as follows:

"St. Paul was always reminding those to whom he spoke of the shadowy condition of life and of its limitations. He said of himself even, 'I do not understand the mystery and the majesty of the great outlining future of my own life. There are great depths of mysteries that are continually coming out of unknown sources, there are new fields of thought of my own consciousness, and I am always looking for unknown things. There is only one thing, therefore, for me to do—that is, to forget the past and, looking into the unknown future, be certain of the fact that there is a prize of the high calling which is in Christ Jesus.' So in writing to Timothy, his son in the gospel, he reminds him that the life which he leads and lives is a life of limitations, and that he must content himself with great patience; and in writing to all his churches, only the constant thought of living that life of shadows is present to his mind. In all the five senses of human existence we are set about with limitations, in the things we see, touch, taste, hear and smell, we are limited in our knowledge. Each and every one of our sources of knowledge is very much limited.

"And there are further limitations in this world, and one is the limitation of symbolism—our life is a symbolic life. When a teacher stands up before a class of students, to tell to them the thoughts which he has in mind, how dull his words fall on the ears of some, how meaningless (Continued on second page.)

DURHAM, N. C., May 1, 1906

Tomorrow evening, in the Y. M. C. A. hall, an address will be given which no person in the college community should fail to hear. Mr. Clarence H. Poe, editor of The Progressive Farmer, and one of North Carolina's brightest and most promising young men, will be the speaker of the occasion and no special emphasis is needed to impress the fact that what he has to say will be of interest and value to everyone. Doing the work that falls to the lot of Mr. Poe necessarily makes every minute of his time worth much to him, and we can do no less than show our appreciation of this fact, and his visit to us, by greeting him with an audience worthy of the occasion. Therefore, let everybody realize this fully and fill the hall to its uttermost capacity. It will be more than worth your while.

DURHAM-COLE.

A Former Trinity Professor Was—Several Alumni in the Wedding Party.

On Tuesday evening of last week, in the Methodist church at Rockingham, occurred the wedding of one of Trinity's most promising alumni—that of Rev. Plato Durham to Miss Lucy Cole, daughter of Rev. J. N. Cole of the North Carolina Conference. The ceremony was simple, but very lovely. It was performed by Rev. J. E. Underwood, assisted by Rev. J. H. Hall.

Among the members of the wedding party were several Trinity graduates. Mr. S. J. Durham, class of '92, who is now engaged in the cotton mill business at Bessemer City, N. C., was one of the ushers; and Mr. C. W. Dixon, class of '03, of Raleigh, was best man. Mr. J. N. Cole, Jr., of the present Freshman Class, who is a brother of the bride, also attended the wedding.

Mr. Durham was until this session professor of Biblical Literature here, but at present he is pastor of Trinity Methodist church at Charlotte. His wedding is the fourth one, within a year, among the members of last year's faculty of Trinity.

SENIOR CLASS MEETS.

Class Reunion in 1910—Class Letter—Mr. W. M. Smith Elected Secretary—Mr. J. R. Woodward Chosen Captain.

During the past week the Senior Class has held several important meetings, and among the various things brought up for discussion was the subject of a class reunion. Such a reunion the class decided to have, the year fixed upon being 1910, and Mr. W. M. Smith, president of the class, was then elected permanent secretary, to attend to keeping the matter before the different members of the class and calling the class together at the time stated. From the spirit shown on the occasion there is no doubt but that the reunion will be, in every way, a sure thing and a great success. In connection with this a class letter will be kept going, which also bids fair to mean much to the class.

As the class has several base ball games before it yet, Mr. J. R. Woodward, Jr., was unanimously elected captain of the class team, and he will make all arrangements for further contests.

While you are at leisure, why not spend the time at Brown's Skating Rink, where you can get good, healthful exercise, excellent floor and special attention? On Tuesday and Friday afternoons and evenings special programs will be rendered.

PROF. MERITT'S TALK.

"Gospel in the Present Tense" His Subject at Y. M. C. A. —Editor Poe Speaks Tomorrow Evening.

The faithful few who attended the Y. M. C. A. at its regular meeting last week had the opportunity of listening to a talk by Prof. Meritt on the subject "Gospel in the Present Tense." The whole discourse was plain and practical and touched upon a theme which ought to be emphasized more than it is—especially among college men.

Many people think of religion as something for the "sweet by and by," or for the "home over there;" or, on the other hand, as being sorrow for past sins. Just herein our religious teachers fail. Religion, to be worth anything, must be religion for the immediate present. This latter is what Christ himself taught both by precept and example.

This view of living in the present pre-eminently was very justly applied to college men. Many of them say that they are only here preparing for life when they get out of college. But this is a mistaken view, for being in college life is as much being in real life as can be. Do for the time being and not for the future. Put into whatever subject is at hand all activities, and think not for the future.

This was made applicable by the speaker to all phases of college activities, and not to the religious alone. As examples of present living, in contradistinction to past or future, the lives of Christ and Paul were spoken of at some length, and the audience was very evidently impressed by the speaker's presentation of the subject of gospel in the present tense.

MR. C. H. POE COMING.

The devotional committee has been trying for some time to get Mr. Clarence H. Poe, editor of The Progressive Farmer, of Raleigh, to speak before the Y. M. C. A., and, unless something unforeseen occurs to prevent, he will be the speaker at the meeting for tomorrow night. Mr. Poe is a young man who is making for himself, through his hard work and persevering spirit, a very enviable record; and it need not be said here that what he will have to say tomorrow evening will be such that no truly wise man can afford to miss it. The meeting begins promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

on the ears of another, how majestically on the ears of another, and how divine on the ears of another! And yet what limitations there are, even in the mind of God himself, when He comes to teach you and me! The most perfect in all this universe is the great and majestic life of God, struggling to put his teachings in such a form that man can and will understand. The tragedy of life is the tragedy of God. He is the great actor. . . . His own friends went to sleep when He asked them to watch, and yet He says, 'The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.' Young gentlemen, with all these limitations there ought to be a great and exceeding modesty attending them, all of them; and there is a great and exceeding modesty attending all of them. The infallible mark of increased knowledge, and the great mark of the successful scholar, is modesty.

"The love that has been coming down from above has been keeping my tired body from day to day, if the story of His love has come to me in shadows; and even though I have had only a vague idea of it, what will it be when I go to see it as it is? I can know Him in shadows now; then I can know Him face to face! Behind the shadows He stands in perfect love. 'We know in part now,' says St. Paul; 'then shall we know as we are known.' Abraham pushed the shadows back, Moses pushed the shadows back, David pushed them back, Paul pushed them back, Luther did the same, Angelo, Knox, Wesley, all these heroes pushed the shadows back in the days past; how much further today are the shadows being pushed back, that you may spend your life free and delivered! Push back the curtains and shadows as far as you can and as fast as you can and let yourself know and understand that there are yet things to be known."

DEATH OF MRS. CRAVEN.

The Passing of a Noble Woman
—Faculty Representatives and Others Present at Funeral—Flag at Half Mast.

Mrs. Irene Craven died at her home in Trinity on Friday evening, April 27th. She was nearing the completion of the eighty-third year of her life. The funeral was conducted on Sunday afternoon from the chapel of the Old College by Dr. F. H. Wood and was largely attended by people from various points in the State. From here Miss Irene Pegram and Messrs. J. E. and Will Pegram, grandchildren of the deceased, and Prof. Pegram were present. The college faculty was represented by Professors Edwards and Cranford. Among the many beautiful floral designs was a large one sent by the Trustees of the college and another by the Faculty. All day Sunday the college flag was at halfmast, and the portrait of Dr. Craven in the Memorial Hall is now draped in black.

This great woman was the wife of Dr. Braxton Craven, the founder of Trinity College; and in heart, mind and character was a fitting helpmeet and companion for that great hero and leader. Those who have known her well can hardly fail to see the likeness of her spirit to the best elements in the ideal that has ever inspired Trinity College. The part she played in inspiring the courage and in steadying the purpose of her heroic husband in the darker days of Trinity's history can hardly be overestimated—for this calmness and steadiness of soul was her distinguishing characteristic. Nor was her calmness and serenity that which is born of indifference or lack of interest. The rather, she took an unusually lively interest, up to the very day of her death, in everything of any importance that was happening throughout the country. But in the midst of all that life brought her she walked calmly and serenely forward toward the goal of a perfect life. Few women have gone more steadily forward and walked with more stately calm so long and straight a path that touched life at so wide a range of experience. She had walked amid springing flowers and among withered petals and dead leaves. She had walked in the sunshine and had gone often where the shadows fall. She had lived in prosperity and had tasted adversity. She knew the life of the cultured, the refined, the learned, the rich. She had touched the life of the ignorant and the poor. She had been a fair maiden, a blushing bride, a loving mother, and a stricken widow. In the range of variety her life was strangely complete; and yet, in the midst of it all, she was never over-elated nor cast down unseemly, but ever walked onward in the calmness of a great strength and in the strength of a great faith. As she had walked through life, so she passed out of it—without a murmur and with no ado.

Such being her life and such the spirit with which she inspired and aided the founder of our college, it was but fitting that his portrait should be draped in token of our grief, and that our flag should float all day at half-mast, in order that the passing student might pause, and, asking why, be told that Trinity's Mother is dead.

WON BOTH GAMES.

Park School Ball Team Defeats Warrenton High School and Central Academy—Scores 5 to 1 and 26 to 6.

The base ball team of the Park School took a short trip last week to Warrenton and Littleton, where, on Wednesday and Thursday, respectively, games were played with the teams of Warrenton High School and Central Academy, both of which were defeated by the "preps" by very decisive scores.

THE FIRST GAME.

With Broom in the box, the Park School team met the Warrenton players on the latter's grounds, and in the very first inning made enough runs to clinch the game. Bru, first up, fanned out; Crawford singled, stole second, went to third on an error, and finally scored the first run. Perkins, who followed him, reached first on an error and stole second. Lane went out on a fly to short stop. Smitherman hit the ball for one bag, and Perkins scored. Smitherman also stole second, and on a nice two-bagger by Angier, scored. Fisher struck out and closed the inning, after three runs had been made.

Warrenton scored its lonely run in this inning, also, on a single, a sacrifice and a two-bagger. But after this they could do nothing, though they made a plucky, up-hill fight for the remaining eight innings. The Park School was more fortunate, however, and added a run each in the seventh and eighth innings, making the final score 5 to 1 in their favor. The hits were: Park School, 6; Warrenton, 4. Broom pitched a splendid game and was given good support, only two errors being charged against his team-mates. The batteries were: Trinity Park School—Broom and Angier; Warrenton High School—Moore and Hardy.

SECOND GAME.

The second game of the trip was played with the boys of Central Academy, at Littleton, and, so far as they were concerned, the contest was a base ball farce. The game began with a walk-over for the visiting players, and the only question was how many runs would eventually be made by the Park School boys. Taylor, their third pitcher, was in the box and he was sufficient, though eight hits were made off his delivery. The total number of times the opposing pitcher was hit safely was 25, and the total number of runs secured was 26. Bru made the only three-base hit of the game, this being in the second inning. The batteries were: Trinity Park School—Taylor and Angier; Central Academy—Harrison and Coleman.

REGULARS BITE THE DUST

Wrenn's single, the latter being thrown out at second in an attempt to steal. In the second Trinity was again goose-egged and the Yahoos ran up their score one point on a hit, a passed ball, and a wild pitch. The third added another goose-egg for the wearers of the blue, and Stocksdale, for his team, crossed the rubber on a two-bagger and a combination of errors. In the fourth Trinity was presented with another goose-egg and, for variety's sake, the Yahoos scored two more runs on two singles and a passed ball. Trinity, in the following inning, decided that it would not do to let matters go as they had been going, so after Flowers had walked, a run was scored on B. Smith's single. In their turn at the bat the Yahoos jumped on Gantt and gave him a terrible drubbing, securing off his delivery a total of nine hits, one a two-bagger and another for three bases, and making in all eight runs. Clement replaced Stocksdale in the sixth, and on a single and a two-bagger, two errors and a couple of bases on balls, gave the blue four runs. Gantt went to first for his health and Webb went in the box for Trinity in the latter half of the sixth, and on a base on balls, a passed ball and a hit, another runner crossed the plate for the Yahoos. In the seventh nothing was doing for either team and in the eighth the game was called.

The line-up and batting order of the two teams was as follows.

OUR CLOTHING TALKS !

The excellence of our Clothing speaks for itself. This picture shows the sort of Suit about which you're asked, "Who made it for you?"

The wide lapels, the shapely lines, the just-right length, and its whole aristocratic bearing, put it in a class by itself.

We regard it as one of the snappiest of the many handsome Suits we're showing this season, program will be given. Professor Pegram will read first a paper on "Recent Advances in Astronomy." Following this, a sketch will be read on "Earthquakes and Volcanoes," and the program will be closed by a discussion of "Metallurgy of Iron." Many charts will be used to illustrate the points made, and stereoscopic views will also be shown. This meeting will be of unusual interest, and the college community is cordially invited to be present.

PLEASANT SOCIAL EVENT

Miss Ellis Entertains Young Ladies of Senior Class—A Musical Contest—Guest of Honor—Those Present.

On last Wednesday afternoon, from four to six o'clock, Miss Bessie Ellis, of the Senior Class, delightfully entertained the remaining young ladies of the class at her home on Liberty street. The occasion, as the second of a series of such entertainments, was a memorable one and thoroughly enjoyable from every standpoint. A musical contest engrossed a portion of the time of the guests, this consisting of a short story, with blank spaces to be filled in with musical terms so as to complete the sense of the narrative. Miss Eliza Brown, it was found, had supplied the greatest number of correct terms and was declared the winner of the contest and awarded the prize, a handsome pair of kid gloves.

After this, delicious refreshments were served, the color scheme of purple and gold, the class colors, being delicately carried out in the different attractive viands served. The souvenirs of the occasion were luxuriant bunches of Parma violets tied with dainty bows of golden ribbon.

Miss Mitchell Waddill, of the Junior Class, was the guest of honor, and the Seniors present were: Misses Bessie Whitted, Eliza Brown, Emeth Tuttle, Mary Thomas, Nan Goodson, Eva Branch, Katharine Herring, Emma Foushee, Mary Shotwell, and Maud Wilkerson. Before leaving, the nought-six class song was sung and the guests dispersed with many expressions of appreciation of the charming hospitality of the hostess.

LOCAL.

Rev. W. S. Hester, of Oxford, visited Mr. J. B. Aiken last week.

Messrs. J. F. Clement and H. C. Sherrill went to Greensboro Saturday.

Mr. B. G. Thompson, of Goldsboro, was a visitor on the campus Saturday.

Mr. C. M. Bivins, of Cary High School, was a visitor on the campus Saturday.

Messrs. W. G. Jerome, W. W. Watson, and W. M. Jones spent Sunday in Raleigh.

Mr. L. T. Singleton has been confined to his room for several days on account of illness.

Dr. W. P. Few left Friday afternoon for a few days' visit in North Carolina, returning yesterday.

Mr. Herman Walker returned Friday from a visit of several days to his home in South Carolina.

Misses Belya Dula and Caroline Fuller, of New York City, who have been the guests of Miss Mary Duke for the past two weeks, left for their homes Saturday.

The Glee Club and Orchestra leaves this afternoon for Roxboro, at which place a concert will be given to-night. The club returns to Durham tomorrow morning.

Mr. Archie Lee, of the Sophomore Class, was taken to Watts Hospital Friday, with malarial fever. His condition is not very serious and he will be out in a few days.

Mr. S. B. Underwood, editor of The Archive, desires very much to secure several copies of this magazine for October, 1905. Anyone having a copy that he will dispose of will confer a favor by seeing Mr. Underwood.

A party of orphans, composed of four boys and six girls, from the Odd Fellows' Orphanage at Goldsboro, in charge of Superintendent Brinson, were on the park Wednesday of last week. They were en route to Greensboro, where they gave a concert.

Glee Club Friday Night.

The Glee Club and Orchestra will give its last concert of the season at the Conservatory of Music Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock. It has had a very successful year and has been giving music of a very high order. It should be liberally patronized by the college community, for what it will give will be in every way worth the price of admission.

President Kilgo left today for Birmingham, Alabama, where he goes to attend the session of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The conference convenes tomorrow and will probably be in session for several weeks, and consequently Dr. Kilgo will be away from the park for some time. He is one of the clerical delegates from the North Carolina Conference and will take an active part in the proceedings of the conference.

TWO ADDRESSES.

Some weeks ago it was announced that Dr. Edwin Mims would deliver the literary address at the commencement of Elizabeth College, of Charlotte. In addition to this, he has accepted invitations from two other colleges to be one of the speakers for the commencement exercises. These are from Wofford and Randolph-Macon. He will speak at the former on June 11 and at the latter June 14.

A GOOD CONCERT.

Given by Wake Forest Glee Club—Trinity Club Entertains Baptist Boys at Smoker—Friendly Spirit.

At the Academy of Music last Thursday evening one of the best and most thoroughly enjoyable entertainments of the season was given by the Wake Forest Glee Club and Orchestra to a good-sized and very appreciative audience. The program rendered was of a high class and each number was justly and heartily applauded, encores being frequently and willingly responded to. Mr. Davis, with his tenor solo, deserves especial mention, and Mr. Potest's rendition of instrumental selections was markedly fine. The orchestra did some splendid work, but the consensus of opinion gives the glee club, in its choral work, the honors of the evening. The quartette had a good selection and did exceedingly well with it.

Manager J. Ivey Smith, with cleverness characteristic of his club, tendered the boxes of the theater, complimentary, to the Trinity Glee Club and Orchestra, and many thanks are due him by his guests for the very courteous treatment received on this occasion.

The program given was as follows:

PART I.
Here's to Wake Forest—Words by C. P. Weaver, '04	Glee Club.
II.
Dal Segno	Woods
Orchestra.
Vocal Solo—Bide Me to Love	Barnard
Mr. Davis.

Mr. Potest.
VI.
The Three Glasses	Fischer
Glee Club.
PART II.
THE PARADES	Holte
Orchestra.
II.
Violin Solo—Cavatina	Raff
Mr. Potest.
III.
Quartette—Dance "Yo Coz, My Honey"	Noll
Messrs. Davis, Eastman, Potest and Powers.
IV.
Misses Winslow's Soothing Syrup	Harrington
Glee Club.
V.
Over the Fence	Fulton
Orchestra.
VI.
Alma Mater	Words by G. W. Paschal, '91
Glee Club.

After the concert the two organizations went to Trakas' ice cream parlors, where an informal smoker was given by the Trinity Club in honor of the visitors, and the affair was a very pleasant one from all standpoints, much good-fellowship and congeniality prevailing throughout. After a round of refreshments everyone present was called upon in turn and many felicitous remarks were made by the different speakers. These having been completed, the lateness of the hour interfered with further proceedings and the happy occasion was brought to a fitting close with the singing, by all present, of "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds."

The meeting of the State Library Association in Raleigh last week was attended by Dr. Edwin Mims and Mr. T. P. Breedlove. Dr. Mims spoke Friday night on "The Public Libraries in North Carolina," and Mr. Breedlove took part in the discussion of College Libraries.
