SENIORS BITE THE DUST

Are you a good drubbing by the Yale Team.

EIGHT INNINGS PLAYED—SCORE, 14 To 6

Coach Stockdale's Work the Only Real Promise in a Game in the Class "Bats," Card Makes Spectacular Catch.

By the tell-tale score of 14 to 6 the Yaleans defeated Trinity's first team last Wednesday afternoon at Hanes Athletic Field. What was expected to be a close and pretty exhibition of baseball was marred by very ragged playing by both sides and was directed toward the middle of the game.

Before the contest was started the coaches met face to face but such an extent that a respectable round of applause could not have been the cause of the game that had been made. For the first five innings it looked as though the entire game was going to be an interesting, but after the third inning the play became less and less fair and a great deal of carelessness seemed to pervade the atmosphere around the players. As the game went on the cards seemed to be in favor of the Yaleans, and this fact was magnified by the eager, anxious, and impatient trunks of the players, men who were for the box in Trinity, was in no form of all and was playing well at least of the lot gracefully by thetrying players.

A few members of the team, however, escaped the infection and played splendidly, consistent ball through-out.

The Yaleans from the first put up a good array of sport and won an easy but a brisk work. Coach Stockdale was in the box and his pitching was the one feature of the game, which was really a source of much pleasure to the majority of the spectators.

His quick, easy, and graceful delivery of the ball over at all times. Lane, however, clearly outpitched his opponents.

The batting of Freeman, of the visitors, was splendid. He got the ball well from the start and had a decided lead in the opinion of the majority, who were given to Mr. Steele Lowden, who played a fast third.

Summit, in the first, Perkins was safe on error of Lane, and Asbury died from short to first. Lane got three out of four times before either made an error. The feature of the contest for the visitors was the bat of Mr. Morgan and Mr. Morrison. Mr. Morgan won two successive base hits on the team and the strike was declared the winner of the match.

The Calhoun Literary Society awarded to Mr. Morgan, Mr. Wicker, of the Upper Middle Class, received the medal for the most improve-ment during the year in declama-tion and oration, and for the best debater of the society in the Senior Class was awarded to Mr. E. M. Daniel, of Roanoke E. R. W.

Mr. A. M. Jutteus, of the Senior Class, has been confirmed for the rackets room for the past week with a slight attack of fever. He will not return to school this year.

The Debate at Last.

After so little difficulty in setting a time for the Sophomore Debate will be held as decided upon at this writing, on Thursday afternoon, in the Y. M. C. A. hall, beginning at 7:45 o'clock, though this is the evening for the regular monthly meeting of the Historical Society. This last meeting, how-ever, will in all probability be postponed. This is the only general public debate of this spring, and from the length of time and the excitement of the debate, the question to be discussed, some good speaking is expected of the two debaters The Fisher single and Lane followed suit. PROF. MERITT'S TALK.
"Gospel in the Present Tense"—His Subject at Y. M. C. A. Last Evening and Speaks Tomorrow Evening.

The faithful for who attended the Y. M. C. A. it its regular meeting last week had the opportunity of listening to a talk by Prof. Meritt on the subject "Gospel in the Present Tense." The whole discourse was plain and practical and touched upon themes which ought to be emphasized more than it is—especially among college men.

Many people think of religion as something for the "sweet by and by," or for the "home over there;" or, on the other hand, as being sorrow for past sins. Just here in our religious teachers fail. Religion, to be worth anything must be religion for the immediate present. This latter is what Christ himself taught both by precept and example.

This view of living in the present pre-eminently was very justly applied to college men. Many of them say that they only are been preparing for life when they get out of college. But this is a mistaken view of being in college life as much is as much being in real life as can be. Do for the time being and for the future. Put into what subject is at hand all activities, and think for the future.

This was made applicable by the speaker to all phases of college life, social and religious alike. As examples of present living, in the converse to past or future, of Christ and Paul were spoken of at some length, and the audience was very evidently impressed by the speaker's presentation of the subject of gospel in the present tense.

M. C. H. FOR COMING.

The devotional committee has been trying for some time to get Mr. Clarence H. Poe, editor of The Progressive Farmer, of Raleigh, to speak before the Y. M. C. A. and, unless something unforeseen occurs to prevent, he will be the speaker at the meeting for tomorrow night. Mr. Poe is a young man who is making a success in his hard work and perseverance spirit, a very enviable record, and there is no doubt that he will have to say tomorrow evening will be such that no truly wise man can afford to miss it. The meeting begins promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

And yet what limits there are in the mind of God himself, when He comes to us in the person of His most perfect in all this world is the great and majestic life of God, staggering my thoughts back. God has pushed the shadows back, and the shadows are back in the days past; but much further today are the shadows being pushed back, that you may spend your life free and un­staggered! THE PAINING OF A NICKIE WOMAN

DEATH OF MRS. CRAVEN.

The passing of a noble woman—Faculty Representative and Oldest Trustee at Funeral—Flag at Half Mast.

Mrs. Irene Craven died at her home at 3:30 yesterday afternoon, April 27th. She was meeting the completion of the eighty-third year of her age, and at a funeral service was conducted on Sunday afternoon from the chapel of the Old Science Building of Trinity College, by Prof. J. E. Pegram, chairman of the committee on the occasion. Mrs. Craven was largely attended by people from various points in the State, and many of her friends were present.

The college faculty was represented by Professors Edwards and Crawford. Among the many beautiful floral designs was a large one sent by the Trustees of the college and another by the Faculty. All day Sunday the college flag was at half-mast, and the portrait of Mrs. Craven was at the top of the column. The flag is now draped in black.

This great woman was the wife of Dr. Craven, President of Trinity College, and the mother of Mrs. J. E. Pegram, President of Trinity College, and in her mind, character and fitness, was a fitting companion for the great and the good.

She had been in the sunshine and among the flowers, and in the midst of all that life brought her, she knew the life of the cultured, the perfect life. Few women have ever been over-estimated—for this calmness inspiring the courage and in the third year of her life. The funeral service was held in the chapel of the Old Science Building at 7:30 o'clock, the Science Club program will be given. Professor Pegram will read first a paper on "Recent Advances in Archeology." Following this, a sketch will be read on "Earthquakes and Volcanoes," and the program will be closed by a discussion of "Metallic and Alloys." Many charts will be used to illustrate the points made, and stereoptican views will also be shown. This meeting will be of unusual interest, and to the remaining young ladies of the class and community cordially invited to be present.

PLEASANT SOCIAL EVENT

Miss Ellis Entertains Young Ladies of Senior Class—A Musical Contest—Concert of Honor—Those Present.

On last Wednesday afternoon, from four to six o'clock, Miss Ellis Ellis, of the Senior Class, entertained her friends. The occasion was extremely enjoyable. The program consisted of a short story, with blank spaces to be filled in with musical terms so as to complete the sense of the narrative.

Miss Ellis Brown, it was found, had supplied the greatest number of correct terms and was declared the winner of the contest and awarded the prize, a handsome pair of kid gloves.

After this, delicious refreshments were served, the color scheme of purple and gold, the class colors, being definitely carried out in the different attractiveness of the dishes served. The souvenirs of the occasion were in the form of handsome boxes of gold ribbon.

Miss Mitchell Waddill, of the Junior Class, was the guest of honor, and the Senior present were.
