FINAL MEETING OF YEAR

Two Literary Societies Called Together for Last Time Saturday.

OFFICERS ELECTED AND INSTALLED

Messrs. Pendergraph and Jerome the Two Presidents—Enthusiastic and Interesting Talks Made by Different Seniors Present.

The last meetings of the two literary societies were held Saturday evening in the respective society halls, and from many standpoints they were the most interesting and pleasant ones of the year. After the transaction of the regular business, which comes up at this part of the term, the officers who will carry on the work of the societies for the first quarter of the ensuing year were elected and installed. In the Hesperian Society these are: Mr. W. G. Jerome, President; Mr. Holland Holton, Vice-President; Mr. E. O. Cole, Critic; Mr. L. J. Carter, Secretary; Mr. C. C. Barnhardt, Treasurer; Mr. W. V. MacRae, Marshal; Mr. C. R. Canipe, Chaplain; and Messrs. A. L. Wissburg (chairman), W. H. Saunders, and L. E. Blanchard, Executive Committee. Those of the Columbian Society are: Mr. L. B. Pendergraph, President; Mr. W. A. Bryan, Vice-President; Mr. F. S. Love, Recording Secretary; Mr. E. B. Hobgood, Corresponding Secretary; Mr. J. M. Templeton, Chaplain; Messrs. L. P. Wilson (chairman), Frank Culbreth, G. P. Pope, and M. A. Briggs, Executive Committee; Mr. C. M. Campbell, Censor; Messrs. H. E. Spence, F. A. Ogburn, and Luther Peele, tribunal; Mr. L. C. Bledsoe, clerk of tribunal; Mr. A. J. Templeton, Marshal.

At these meetings, as is customary, the Seniors present were called upon to say a few words to the younger members before parting, and most of the speeches made were sound, frank and full of a manly and healthy spirit concerning what the societies had meant to the various speakers and what was in store for the man who threw himself wholeheartedly into literary society work. Many fond memories were recalled, interesting incidents related, and much genuine enthusiasm manifested for the future of the organizations in their sphere of college activity. Thus closed another eventful and prosperous year of the history of the societies, and thus ended an epoch full of hard, earnest, and fruitful work, by many, well and faithfully performed.

The address of Mr. C. H. Poe, made at the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A., was well attended and very much enjoyed. The substance of it appears in the June Archive.

Miss Amy Stagg, of Montclair, N. J., is now the guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Wolfe. She arrived last Friday, in company with Mrs. Wolfe, who has been on a visit to her mother.

MUCH ENJOYED EVENT.

Delightful Reception Given by Miss Emma Foushee—Miss Ellis Winner of Contest

The third of a series of delightful receptions was given to the young women of the Senior Class by Miss Emma Foushee, last Wednesday afternoon from four to six o'clock. The parlors of the Foushee home were prettily ornamented with cut flowers and palms; Marshal Niel roses and Wisteria being used with great effectiveness throughout the entire scheme of decoration. The '06 colors, royal purple and gold, were in evidence everywhere and added much richness and color to the attractive scene.

An interesting feature of the afternoon's entertainment was a contest in which the guests were called upon to display their knowledge of the chief American actors and actresses. It was found that Miss Bessie Ellis had answered the greatest number of questions, and in a few well chosen words from the graceful hostess, she was awarded a silver filigree perfume bottle, while to Miss Kate Herring was given the consolation prize. After the elaborate refreshments, which consisted of salads, ices and peppermints, were served, the guests grouped themselves around the pianos and sang the merry class and college songs, ending with nine rousing rags for the hostess of the occasion. Those present were: Misses Bessie Ellis, Maud Wilkerson, Bessie Whitted, Eva Branch, Kate Herring, Emeth Tuttle, Nan Goodson, Mary Shotwell and Mary Thomas.

NEXT YEAR'S STAFF.

Those Who Will be in Charge of The Chronicle During Its Second Year—Number Will be Eight.

The governing board of THE CHRONICLE elects only the editor-in-chief, the associate editor, and the business manager. The other members of the staff are appointed. Mr. U. N. Hoffman, editor-in-chief, and Mr. W. A. Stanbury, associate editor, have selected the following men for positions next year: Mr. W. A. Bryan, '07, alumni editor; Mr. J. R. McPhail, Jr., '07, local editor; Mr. E. W. Knight, societies and Y. M. C. A. editor. The athletic editor will be appointed sometime during the fall term. The comment department has been found impracticable, and, therefore, has been discontinued.

Mr. G. P. Pope, business manager, has appointed as his assistant Mr. L. G. White, '09. The above appointments were approved by the governing board.

Officers Elected.

At the last regular meeting of the Glee Club and Orchestra Association the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mr. W. M. Wells, president; Mr. J. B. Aiken, vice-president; Mr. T. J. Carter, secretary and treasurer; Mr. J. R. McPhail, manager.

SENIORS DEFEAT FACULTY

Score Stands 11 to 9 at End of Very Interesting Game.

SPECTACULAR CATCH MADE BY WALKER

Much Enthusiasm Shown by Spectators—Playing of Prof. Wannamaker and Dr. Hendren—Work of Pitchers—Summary.

On Friday afternoon, before a large number of spectators, the regular Faculty Senior game was played, the final score being 11 to 9 in favor of the prospective A. B.'s. Before the time appointed for the game to be called there was unusual interest manifested in the contest, the supporters of each team being about evenly divided, the squad of Faculty rooters especially, who appeared waving large improvised Faculty banners, were noticeably loyal and succeeded in raising the enthusiasm among the occupants of the "bleachers" to a high pitch. Everyone expected to see a very interesting game, but the quality of ball really played was much better than had been generally anticipated.

At first it looked as though the Faculty aggregation would easily win out, for they got right into the game at the start and secured a lead which was easily kept until the eighth inning. Here, however, the Seniors got busy and piled up enough runs to clinch the victory for themselves. Cooper, who was in the box for the Faculty, did some very good work indeed in his position, allowing no hits off his delivery until the fourth inning. In the eighth, however, his opponents finally got the hang of it and smashed out six consecutive hits, one a three-bagger and one for two sacks. This, coupled with a number of costly errors tells the story of defeat for the Faculty. Smith, for the fourth year boys, had good control, and although he was pounded a bit heavily in the first and fifth innings, his final record, with twelve strike-out and no bases on balls, shows up very well. Both Director Card and Warren, behind the bat, did good work, but a number of bases were stolen on the latter. The former's steady and consistent hitting was noticeable, he having secured out of four times up a single each time. In the infield for the Faculty Messrs. Breedlove and Nixon and Dr. Hendren did the best playing, the latter's base running being especially fast and daring. In center field Prof. Wannamaker played gilt-edge and errorless ball, taking everything that came his way with an ease and certainty that places his playing among the features of the game. In right field for the Seniors Pugh managed to get on his feet and made a very pretty catch of a high fly, after he had slipped and fallen in getting under it. The star play of the game, however, was made by Walker, who, while running

Y. M. C. A. BY SENIORS.

An Interesting Meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Held by Members of the Graduating Class—Very Successful.

When the historian records the work of the Y. M. C. A. of this institution, he will say that the year 1905-6 has been one of the most successful in all its history and that one of the most enjoyable and helpful meetings held this year by the student body took place on the evening of May 9, 1906. It was on this occasion, that, according to an established custom, the entire meeting was given over to the Senior Class, to use in their own way, and it proved to be one of the best and most successful of any student meeting that has been held this year.

After the regular opening exercises of the evening, consisting of songs and prayers, the president of the association, Mr. F. S. Love, announced the object of the meeting as being for the Senior Class alone, and after a few preliminary remarks as to what the class had done, relative especially to the work of the association, called Mr. L. T. Singleton to speak first. Following Mr. Singleton were Messrs. Underwood, Barnhardt, Phillips, D. B. Rexford, Holton, T. A. Warren, C. R. Crook, Morgan, Stem, and Pugh. The speech of each of these gentlemen bore practically along the same line, that of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association during the past four years, what it has accomplished, its present prospect and advice concerning the future of the class. Quite a large number of the students were present to hear these parting words of the members of the Class of 1906, and everyone went away feeling that the meeting had meant much to him. After a response from all the Seniors present, the president then presented a picture to the association from Rev. T. Kugimiyaki of Tokio, Japan, who graduated from Trinity with the class of '03, and who is at present engaged in ministerial work in Japan, and also read a letter from him in regard to his work.

The publication committee of the college has now on the press a pamphlet containing announcements of the graduate courses to be given here during the ensuing academic year. This publication comes at a very appropriate time, as the number of Trinity's graduate students has been steadily increasing during the past few years.

DEATH OF T. P. S. STUDENT

Mr. Robert O. Bumpass Passes Away After Short, But Severe, Illness.

SICK ONLY ABOUT TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Highly Esteemed by Members of Faculty and Popular With His Fellow-Students—School Work Suspended—Resolutions.

Thursday morning the Trinity Park School and college communities were saddened by the almost sudden death of Robert O. Bumpass, one of the Park School's most highly esteemed and generally popular students. The news came very unexpectedly to many, for it was not universally known that the young man was sick, his illness being of very short duration, until he was very near the point of death. On Wednesday he was taken with biliousness, from which he suffered very much, and which was soon followed by hemorrhage of the intestines. All was done that anxious friends and medical aid could do, but it was seen on the following morning that nothing could save the patient sufferer. At about 11 o'clock the end came, the deceased being conscious to the last and recognizing the faithful ones gathered about his bedside.

Mr. Bumpass was about 17 years of age. Seldom is seen in one so young such a robust and stalwart specimen of young manhood as was he, standing over six feet in height. He entered school last September, this being his first year, as a member of the Lower Middle Class, and he was a faithful and hard-working student. Of true and consistent Christian character, he held a high place in the esteem of both faculty and student body of the Park School, and his loss is felt most keenly by all those with whom he was associated. He took great interest in the various phases of work in the community, was identified with the athletic interests of the school as a member of its basketball team, and was a loyal member of the Calhoun Literary Society.

Relatives were sent for as soon as it was realized that his condition was critical, but could not reach the bedside before he had passed away. Later in the day, however, his father, Mr. F. O. Bumpass, arrived from his home in Granville county and returned with the remains. Others who accompanied them were Professors Aldridge and Browning, of the Park School faculty; Mr. J. W. Burgess, president of the Lower Middle Class; and Mr. W. I. Aiken, representative of the Calhoun Literary Society.

All work was suspended at the school on Thursday, and a large number of students were at the depot when the Seaboard train, bearing the remains, left. At the regular meeting of chapel that evening services were held, and memorial talks were made by different members of the community.

RECORD OF 1906.

Five Hundred Per Cent of Games Won by Trinity—Sixteen Games Played, Only Seven Being at Home.

On January 23, the base ball schedule for this season was announced. The list contained a total of twenty-five games, thirteen of which were to be played in Durham. But the number of games that were actually played was very little in accordance with this schedule. Among the teams with which contests were at first arranged, but were not played, were the following: Oak Ridge Institute, Lafayette College, Wake Forest College, Syracuse University, William and Mary College, Kentucky State College, and Wolford College. The total number of games not played on account of the cancellation of the contests with these institutions was ten. And in addition to these, games to the number of three, with colleges with which one game or more was played during the season, were cancelled for various reasons. Several games, however, with other colleges were arranged later on and played, notably that with the University of Virginia on the home grounds.

The total number of games pulled off was sixteen, only seven of which were played at home. During the season of 1905 twenty-one games played was the record, eleven of which were at Durham.

L. M. JOHNSTON,
Left Fielder.

Johnston has been in fourteen games and has an excellent record. His hitting in the first of the season was light. Later on, however, he got his eye on the ball and has been smashing them out in every game. He has been a good run-getter and fast on the bases. His fielding average is the best of the regular outfielders. At bat he is a left-hander and knows how to wait for the right one. He is six feet in height and weighs one hundred and sixty pounds. This is his first year in college base ball. He expects to finish up at Trinity.

Smith is conceded to be one of the fastest short stops in the South. This is his fourth and last year at Trinity. His fielding in the first six games this year was perfect, accepting in all twenty-one chances. Not an error was chalked against him until the Mercer game, on the Southern trip. He is not a man to let the hard ones go—he goes after them all. This makes his record so much the better. He has handled a total of sixty balls, with six errors. He is fast in his position and on bases. Though not a heavy hitter, nor a consistent one, he generally lands on the ball. He has captained the team with much success, getting work out of those who are not accustomed to it and allowing nothing but the very cleanest ball. A player will be sorry to see "Billie" go. Another man like him will be a long time in developing. He is small in stature, standing only five feet four and one half inches high, and weighing one hundred and thirty pounds. He is right-handed and a right-field hitter.

W. J. JUSTUS,
Right Fielder.

Justus led the team this year in batting and run-getting. His hitting has been hard and consistent. He has more extra bases to his credit than any other player. In the stolen-base column he is second to only one man. He has covered his position in a fast, snappy manner, loafing on nothing. Several times he has fielded grounders, which were too fast for the second baseman, and nailed his man at first. His head-work is good at all times. He is fast on his feet, has a splendid arm and a good eye and is in every respect a good man. He graduates with the class of '06, and by his departure Trinity's team will suffer a severe loss. All regret to see him go. He is five feet four and one half inches and weighs one hundred and thirty-four pounds. He hits from the right side of the plate.

J. F. CLEMENT,
Pitcher.

Clement has developed into one of the best pitchers in the South. Looking much like Bradsher in the box, he has carried this likeness further by making an enviable record in the sphere-twirling realm. His most important victories were those over Harvard, Georgia Tech. and the University of Virginia. He allowed Harvard only four scattered hits. His head work was splendid in every instance. Georgia Tech. could do nothing with him, getting only one hit off his delivery. Upon these came the Virginia game, where he also kept the hits well scattered. Out of eight games he has won five. On account of his heavy batting he was used as much as possible. When not in the box he was in the field. The majority of errors against him were made while in unfamiliar positions. This is Clement's first year in college, and all hope that he will come back until his graduation. He is a big fellow, being six feet one in height and weighing one hundred and sixty-five pounds. He is a south-paw in all of his work.

This is Suiter's first year in college base ball, and it is predicted on a good basis that he will soon develop into one of the fastest first basemen in college base ball in the South. He is big and has a good arm, being six feet in height and weighing one hundred and seventy. His fielding is sure and fast and his hitting hard. In the batting average he is third in the list.

hitting .322. He accepted one hundred and fifty-four chances, with nine errors. On the bases he is fast and knows how to run. In the stolen-base column he leads, and he has gotten his base more than any other player. He has three more years at Trinity and gives promise of great things in the history of Trinity's teams.

PAUL WEBB,
Second Baseman.

A pitcher with such men as Webb and Smith behind him has no need to fear anything that goes their way. As a ground-coverer around the middle sack Webb is away above the average. He is slow in running, but never lets anything get away from him. Cutting off ground hits in his territory is his specialty. Though not a hitter, he has several to his credit which meant a great deal to the game at times—for instance, his two-bagger in the Harvard game. Though he is a good pitcher, he has been used at second because no one else could handle it. As a receiver of Wrenn's throws he was right there throughout the season. Webb is a big fellow, six feet tall and weighs one hundred and seventy-five pounds. He has one more year to play.

F. R. WRENN,
Catcher.

The best catcher in the colleges of the South is Wrenn, without a doubt. What catcher can show but one error in fourteen games and a batting average of .326? No catcher has a better or truer aim in throwing to bases. Teams conceded to be the best base-runners in the South have had their swiftest men repeatedly nailed at second by him. His throws are low and to the spot. He gets them off very quickly and gets his men even though the pitcher allows a big lead. Taking all of these qualities into consideration one must concede that the all-Southern catcher this year must be a leaguer to walk over him. Wrenn's hitting has been strong toward the end of the season. Against Clemson, he got three out of four times up, two of them being two baggers. He ranks second among the batters, his percentage being .326. He leads the regular players in fielding. He has had one hundred and thirty-three chances, and has made only one error. Wrenn is five feet eleven and weighs one hundred and sixty. He has one more year in college.

R. M. GANTT,
Pitcher.

Gantt in his first year out has had much success. He has participated in six games, three of which were won. He has pitched only three full games, however. He lost two and won the other. He has wonderful speed and bids fair to make a good pitcher. He has hit above the two hundred mark. Gantt is a big fellow, tipping the scales at one hundred and eighty-five, and being over six feet in height.

E. C. BIVINS,
Fielder.

Possibly the surest outfielder Trinity has is Bivins. He has only been in three games, but he has taken all chances which came to him. Bivins' weak point is batting. He is gradually overcoming this weakness, and in the next two years will have brought this up a great deal. He is small in stature—only five feet three inches in height, and one hundred and forty pounds in weight.

H. L. SMITH,
Catcher.

This is Smith's first year in college. He made sub-catcher with ease and has shown up splendidly in each game he has caught. He is an understudy to Wrenn and is an apt pupil. He has played but one full game and this was against St. John's College. His playing was errorless and his throwing good. His hitting is weak now, but promises to grow much stronger. With a little more work under Stocks' he will be a strong player. Smith has it in him, as he is a brother to the short stop. He has three more years in college.

F. A. OGBURN,
Pitcher and Fielder.

Ogburn is a good fielder, a good pitcher and a good batter, though his record does not show his batting ability. He has only been in two games this season. He is now at work on his spit ball, which he has reduced to a very effective ball, under good control. He used this with much effect in a part of the Clemson game, when only one hit was gotten off him. Ogburn has another year at Trinity.

FRED FLOWERS,
Center Fielder.

Flowers has been laboring under difficulties this season. In the spring warm-up, he fell in fielding a ball and broke his left arm, and was not able to get into the game until the Southern trip. This caused him to fall below his usual standard. His hitting toward the end has been constant. He has a good arm for the outfield and a good eye for flies. He is five feet nine inches in height and weighs one hundred and forty pounds. He has two more years in college.

Has the team of 1906 reached the high standard before them? This question will bear a little light. Compared with the counts of seasons previous to this it has not been a success, as it was an even break this year. This is a league standard, however, and should not be applied altogether to college base ball. So to judge of the success of the team this year each game should be investigated.

When the schedule was announced, early in the spring, the games with Harvard, Virginia, Georgia Tech and Wake Forest aroused much speculation and the others assumed an insignificant place in the mind of the student body. The Southern trip as a whole was looked forward to with much interest, but the Georgia Tech and Harvard games were the centers of interest. Georgia Tech, partly because she had never been beaten by Trinity and the success of the team in later games might be judged by this one. Harvard's position everyone knows. It was the first attempt at something with a great deal of glamor around it. Out of the three games scheduled Trinity got two, one from Georgia Tech and one from Harvard. The former was won by a score of ten to nothing, the latter six to five. In the other game Trinity lost to Georgia Tech by a score of five to one. The latter has defeated the University of Georgia, who defeated Trinity. She took three games from Vanderbilt and defeated Clemson. No other team has taken so decisive a victory from her.

Virginia was beaten by a score of four to two. She took two games from North Carolina, one from Wake Forest, and two from the University of Georgia. Trinity took two from A. & M. of N. C., and A. & M. broke even with Virginia. This is a puzzle and no predictions are made from comparative scores. It only shows that among the local teams Trinity has shown up as well, if not better, than the others.

Much to the regret of all, the Wake Forest games were canceled. It was Trinity's desire to take both games from Clemson, but in this a disappointment was suffered. On Clemson's grounds Trinity was beaten by a score of thirteen to four. On neutral grounds Trinity goose-egged her by a score of seven to nothing. This is the first time in many years that Clemson has been laid in the dust.

St. John's took two games away, Davidson won one, Clemson one, Georgia Tech one, and Mercer and the University of Georgia one apiece. These were the only games of any importance lost during the season. To balance these may be placed: One from Harvard, one from Georgia Tech, one from Virginia, two from A. & M. of N. C., and one from Clemson. As far as a record is concerned the season's work surpasses that of others previous.

Another feature to be noted is the good material among the new men. On the team this year are three new men who have three more years to spend at Trinity, viz.: Clement, Suiter and Johnston. Only two old men leave this year, Justus and Smith. (Continued on fourth page.)

REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

The record at Trinity for the year 1905-6, which is swiftly drawing to its end, has been marked by great activity, especially on the part of the student body, and by striking progress in nearly all lines. Yet, at the same time, things have gone on very quietly and soberly, without any sensational events or incidents.

The curriculum in any institution of learning claims the first attention. In this respect, the most notable things have been the abolition of theses and the extension of the elective system to the Junior Class. This latter advance was instituted at the beginning of the session, and the year's record shows that it has been entirely satisfactory—much more so than the required system which it superseded. Two new members have been added to the staff of the college, and by these it has been materially strengthened. Prof. Wannamaker, of the department of German, has extended the influence of this department as never before, and has been most heartily received by the student body. The same is also true of Dr. Hendren, of the department of Applied Mathematics.

In the life of the literary societies much has been done. The only intercollegiate debate resulted in a glorious victory for the blue, something that has not been of common occurrence. The intersociety debate showed up in a fine way, as did the Sophomore contest. In both societies the declaimer's medal has been abolished and a Freshman debater's medal instituted in its place. When it is considered that declaiming has been injurious to more speakers than beneficial, this action is of no small consequence.

In the field of athletic sports, basketball, association football and field-hockey have been introduced. Basketball has won for itself already a permanent place, and is likely to receive a great deal of interest. It remains to be seen, however, whether the other two will become a part of Trinity's athletic life. Gymnasium work has received a new impetus and has taken on new activity. For the first time, a gymnasium team was organized. Several exhibitions were given and these showed that the work being done was better than that of other years.

The leading form of athletic sport is still base ball. The team this year has made a very good record. Not so many games were won as usual, but those that were, made up for the deficiency in number. The team will always be known as the one that shut out the redoubtable Techs, defeated the Harvard boys, and made the University of Virginia, the champions of the South, bite the dust. In several respects the team was weak, but in one place that has always been the crucial point, the nine has shown its superiority this year. This is batting. From the first of the season to the very last the horsehide was landed on very freely for hits that often were for two and three bases, and an occasional home run.

Athletics has not been the only diversion. Early in the fall term the musical side of college life went up in leaps and bounds. A musical organization was formed which took place a co-ordinate with the athletic association. Instruments were purchased and an orchestra, that is up-to-date and does very creditable work, was formed. Then in the spring a band was got together that produced some pretty good music. The Glee Club and Orchestra took only one tour of any extent, but from reports this seemed to be a success.

And to keep pace with other sides of life, the news and literary lines have been extended. In the fall a Press Association was organized for the purpose of getting college news before the people of the State better, and it has been a partial success. The Archive has held its banner where it was placed by preceding classes, and has lately become a more purely literary magazine. THE CHRONICLE was launched just before Christmas to fill up a vacancy that had been felt for a long time, and it will probably stay. In a higher field, the South Atlantic Quarterly, which though not directly connected with the college, is conducted by Trinity men, has taken a long step forward owing to the fact that it will be put on a firmer foundation by incorporation.

Other things of minor importance which have assisted in strengthening and enlarging college life at Trinity are not a few in number. The faculty lectures have been given with more regularity and have been of such a character as to win the attention of more students. The Science Club, which had become a dead letter, has been resurrected and gives hopes of accomplishing much in its particular sphere. The Senior Class has started two beautiful customs—the having of a banquet during the year and of a class reunion after graduation—which will result in much good if properly observed hereafter.

All these things—the enlivening of old channels of college life and the opening of new ones—can but be productive of a heightening of the usefulness of the college. Many things remain to be done, 'tis true, yet, but they will be attended to properly, it is to be hoped, as the years roll by. The future is bright, the outlook is sanguine. H.

THE NEW STAFF.

In the course of the history of any college publication, as in the histories of other things and of peoples, there are always certain periods, which are more vitally interesting than others. The most important of these is the time when one staff has completed its work with the paper or magazine and it passes into new hands to be carried onward and forward. All who take any interest whatever in the welfare of such a publication will naturally look with much concern toward the first fruits of the new regime, feeling a greater or less amount of anxiety for its future, and mentally judge how great will be the improvement in its future standard over its past standard and what it may be expected to accomplish.

Just now THE CHRONICLE has arrived at this period of its short history and those whose work in connection with it is almost finished, feeling much of this, can heartily congratulate the readers of the paper upon having behind it, for the ensuing year, a staff which we feel will perform its duties ably, creditably, and well. We can only hope that THE CHRONICLE will ever steadily improve and better accomplish the end for which it was established as the years go on, and next year, we feel safe in saying, the opportunity for doing this will be fully taken advantage of and much of this realized. The new staff, which will take up its work next term, has unmis'takable talent and this has but to be utilized to accomplish much in the field of college journalism.

Feeling assured of this, we can predict a bright future for THE CHRONICLE, and extend our most sincere wishes for great success to our successors.

On account of the delay in getting out of the Park School base ball team, these will appear, together with a review of the work of the team for the season of 1906, in the next issue of THE CHRONICLE.

RECORD OF 1906.

Webb have one more year each; Flowers, Bivins, and Gantt have two more. These men, together with the new material, will present a strong combination. Arthur's administration is over and so is Smith's. They have the honor of having provided for one of the best teams in the South. They have not been entirely selfish in their work, for they leave the new manager and the new captain, who have not been elected, in a fair way. Financially the season has been a success, and this leaves the future management with a fairly easy road. As stated above, strong players of this year will be back again next year, and the new captain's burden is lightened to a considerable extent. One thing is certain, however; some one crowd of ball players will have to hustle next year to surpass the work of the team this year.

PARK SCHOOL NEWS.

Medals Awarded in Societies— Commencement Declaimers Chosen From a Number of Speakers Last Friday—

BY E. S. MCINTOSH.

At the regular meeting of the Grady Literary Society, on last Friday night, the debaters' and declaimers' medals were awarded, the debater's medal being won by Mr. Clyde N. Crawford. The medal for the declaimer was awarded to Mr. Joseph W. Burgess, of the Lower Middle Class, as the undergraduate who has made the most progress in the past scholastic year.

School was suspended for a good part of Friday, on account of the preliminary contest for commencement declaimers. The following spoke for the Grady Society: Messrs. C. C. Barbee, C. N. Crawford, P. J. Kiker, W. B. Lilly, and R. M. Patterson. Those for the Calhoun Society were: Messrs. G. M. Daniels, E. C. Ashby, T. G. Vickers, W. M. Wright, T. C. Eilers, J. E. Williams, and E. L. Taylor. The following were chosen to speak in the contest: Messrs. Daniels, Williams and Ashby, from the Calhoun Society, and Messrs. Crawford, Lilly and Kiker, from the Grady Society.

Mr. T. G. Vickers has been absent from school for the past week or more, on account of his father's illness. He will, probably, not be in school again before commencement. When last heard from his father was not improving.

Mr. Willis Perkins, the crack first baseman of the "preps," has returned to his home at Littleton, and will not be in school any longer here this year.

Mr. William Taylor is visiting his parents at Salisbury.

Messrs. Arrowsmith and Justus, who have recently been confined to their beds with slight attacks of fever, are able to be out again.

The workmen are progressing rapidly with improvements on the Asbury Building now, and by next September, Trinity Park School is going to have a set of buildings and a campus that any preparatory school might well be proud of.

TALLY-HO PARTY.

Given by Seniors of Woman's Building in Honor of Young Ladies of Class Residing in Durham.

On Friday afternoon, Misses Goodson, Herring, Shotwell, Thomas and Tuttle gave a delightful tally-ho party in honor of the young women of the Senior Class of this city, Misses Ellis, Brown, Foushee, Branch, Whitted and Wilkerson. As has been the custom in this series of entertainments, the class colors, purple and old gold, were conspicuous, the tally-ho being decorated with ribbons and pennants, and each member of the party wearing a tiny purple one with '06 done in old gold. The party started from the Woman's Building and when every one had been finally taken in the driver was directed to Hanes athletic field, where the Senior-Faculty game was watched with much interest and enthusiasm. Candy and fruits were served during the progress of the contest, this feature of the drive being very much enjoyed by all. The final score resulting in favor of '06, the victorious party left the field for Yearby's, where delicious ices were served. Just before separating each Senior present was given a beautiful silver hat pin as souvenir of the happy occasion, which was one long to be remembered. From all standpoints it was a thorough success and the afternoon was pleasantly spent by guests and hostesses.

toward the fence, sprang into the air and made a spectacular catch of Prof. Wannamaker's hard-hit drive to deep center.

The Faculty took the bat first and on three singles, by Cooper, Card, and Hendren respectively, and an error by right fielder, scored two runs. The Seniors were goose-egged in their half, going out in one, two, three order. In the second nothing was doing for either team, but the third, with a hit and two errors, brought two more runners across the rubber for the Faculty. Goose-eggs were again dished out on both sides in the fourth. In the fifth, on an error and singles by Card and Hendren, the Faculty again scored, making three runs in all. Things looked dark for the Seniors, but luck changed and they sent four men around the bags on four errors and two neat singles by Smith and Pegram. The sixth brought them two more runs. In both the seventh and eighth the Faculty scored once, but could make no more. The latter inning was propitious for the Seniors, however, and five runners crossed the plate, winning the game.

The official score and summary is as follows:

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a meeting of the class to which Mr. Bumpass belonged held Thursday night the following resolutions of respect were passed regarding his untimely death:

"Whereas, our heavenly Father, in his infinite wisdom and goodness has seen fit to take our beloved friend and class-mate, R.

O. Bumpass, from his earthly labors to his heavenly home; be it resolved:

"First, That we, the members of the lower middle class of Trinity Park School, feel the loss of a true and earnest worker, and extend our deepest sympathy to the family of the deceased.

"Second, that we pray that the comforting spirit of our heavenly Father may dwell with the family and friends of the deceased in this sore affliction, and we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well; and while we mourn his loss it is his eternal gain.

"Third, That in the death of R. O. Bumpass his class loses a loyal and energetic officer and Trinity Park School has lost a faithful, industrious student, who made fair to prove a useful man, a bright scholar and a credit to the institution.

"Fourth, That these resolutions be sent to the family, kept in the archives of the institution, published in the Trinity Park School Gazette, Trinity Chronicle and Morning Herald.

JUNIORS WIN OUT.

Seniors Start Out in a Whirl Which Lasts but a Short Time—Pitchers Have Poor Control.

The annual game of base ball between the Senior and Junior teams was played last Wednesday afternoon, and resulted in a defeat for the '06 boys, the score being 15 to 10.

At the beginning of the contest, it seemed that the Seniors would have a walk-over. In the first inning the first three men up scored while the Juniors, at their time, could not get a single man across the plate. But the latter settled down to work and soon had things going their way. Zeb Barnhardt, who was in the box during the first few innings for the Seniors, soon lost all his control, and unlike the railroads, issued passes very freely. In fact two men were forced home in two innings. He was taken out and Woodard put in to relieve the situation but he could do but little better. He also sent men to first by the Big Four route and in addition was landed on very freely for safe hits.

The superiority of the Juniors lay in their battery. In the infield and outfield they were much weaker than the Seniors, but with Templeton in the box and Pender behind the plate, the Seniors were held down. Both sides made a large number of errors—too many to keep up with—but in spite of these misplays the interest in the game was fairly strong. Each team had its rooters, especially the Juniors, who made things lively at times.

The score by innings is:
Seniors 3 0 2 1 0 3 0 1 0—10
Juniors 0 2 4 5 2 0 1 x—15
Batteries: Seniors, Barnhardt, Woodard, and Warren; Juniors, Templeton and Pender.

Mr. J. A. Boone, of the Freshman Class, is confined to his room with measles.

Dr. W. L. McCutchen, of Sumter, S. C., manager of the Sumter base ball club, South Carolina League, visited Mr. Mr. W. J. Justus last Thursday and Friday.

THE GYMNASIUM.

Director W. W. Card and His Work—The Value of This Phase of Athletics—Record of Past Year.

On this page is shown a combination picture of various views of Director W. W. Card, of the Angier Duke Gymnasium, several of them taken inside the gymnasium building. For a number of years Director Card has been closely connected with Trinity—first as a student, and during the past few years acting in his present capacity as a member of the faculty. While in college Mr. Card was one of the best athletes among the student body, and he played for four consecutive years on Trinity's base ball teams at center field. In this position he made a splendid record as a fielder and rated high in base running and heavy hitting. After graduation he pursued courses of study at Harvard University, and there likewise made a notable record in athletics. At this period, however, his time was given more largely to gymnasium work than any other, this being a part of the physical work to which he was paying most attention. During the year 1901 he was the fifth strongest man, out of the fifty strongest men at Harvard, as measured by the Sargent system of measurement, with the record of 1534.1 points. In the back lift, which is given in the examination from which these measurements are computed, he surpassed all other college men in the United States at the time by registering the largest number of points. He will take a similar course in physical training at Harvard University during the coming summer months.

In his present work Director Card has been signally successful and this branch of Trinity's athletics has reached a high state of efficiency. Attendance upon gymnasium classes has been compulsory for the last two years, but the register of the current year shows a large increase in the number of regular attendants at classes over last year and the work done has been more systematic and satisfactory in every way. The spirit shown by the bulk of the students, too, in the quality and the quantity of the work done has been highly commendable and, in the cases of many individual students, praiseworthy. On each afternoon of the week, except Saturdays, classes have been conducted regularly and along with them the endeavor has been made to give, during mild weather, as much outdoor exercise as possible.

For the past months the gymnasium has been the scene of exhibitions and contests which have been very enjoyable from many standpoints. A gymnasium team was organized during the fall and a very entertaining exhibition given by it. Before commencement the second one of the year is to be given. Later on, when the organization of a basket ball team had been effected, many interesting and exciting basket ball games were likewise played here, and the contests drew a large number of spectators each time. Since the opening of the spring months and the advent of warm weather, hand ball has occupied the attention of a number of stu-

Scores Made by Trinity in Bygone Years and Those Made by Opposing Teams—1899 Through 1906.

Since the base ball season of 1906 has closed it may be of interest to many to see the scores made by Trinity's teams in previous years against other teams. Complete scores farther back than 1899 could not be obtained and hence are not published. The number of runs made by Trinity is first given, then the name of the opposing team, followed by the number of runs made by it:

IDLE COMMENTS

THE AVERY'S MEMORIAL VOLUME

Men wanted from every College in the State to sell this book. Some of the best territory has not yet been assigned. For further information apply to

J. B. AIKEN, Manager of Sales, Trinity College, Durham, N. C.

This most popular of all North Carolina books is having a large sale.

The first edition came out last December and almost the entire thousand has already been sold, with but little effort on the part of the publishers.

The book has not yet been placed in the book stores; in fact, practically all the sales so far have been made by mail. Orders have just come in without solicitation.

Sale of next edition has been put into hands of college students.

The proceeds of the book go to establish scholarship in Trinity College to be called the Isaac Erwin Avery Scholarship.

It was the object of the publishers to have all the proceeds of the book above the actual expense of printing go toward establishing scholarship in Avery's name at his Alma Mater.

However, since the plan of putting the sale of it into the hands of young men who are helping themselves through college would still be using the proceeds of the book in educational interests, they have decided to let students sell it throughout the State during their summer vacation.

This plan should enable a number of young men to make enough this summer to pay their expenses in college next year. The work is not to be thought of as regular agency work, as each young man who goes out will feel that he is a representative of Trinity College in that he is helping to establish a scholarship that will be permanent and will doubtless help scores of other young men to obtain an education.

Those who buy the book are helping in the same cause.

ISAAC IRWIN AVERY.

VIOLETS

"The violets again—little wet violets, and there is the clean, sweet breath of spring. One would lift his head and drink deep—taste this sweetness that is about. There is a quicker leap of life, and nature seems to sit with a kind of tenderness. There is a deeper glow on the faces of children—easier happiness on a tiny, nestling face—girlhood comes to outward whiteness again—the cool, crisp sign of spring. And in all is the subtle charm of violets—little, human, tremulous things, gentle as love's whisper, pure as purity. Restful, quaint little flower, too—simple, appealing.
Flower to lay on a baby that has died—to give as a solemn tribute to womanhood—to press against the face as a comfort for tired heart. Such a dear, peaceful little flower, too—emblem of the world's simplest and best, and waiting to mock a false face or adorn the beauty that comes from the soul."

[From the last "Idle Comments" of Mr. Avery, written one week before his death.]

The author and his work have been very favorably commented upon by prominent men and by the press throughout the State and elsewhere.

A very interesting folder has just been gotten out by J. B. Aiken, manager of sales, and can be had by application to him.

Every student should own a copy of this book. Everyone should take a copy home with him and read and study it this summer.

Few men could write like Avery, and while we may not, and should not, try to imitate his style, it will help us to know and master the style of so masterful an author. It will be especially helpful to those who are aspiring to become writers, but is also a very readable and interesting book and well worth the time that may be required to obtain a copy and read it.

No money required. A chance for all students to own a copy without any outlay of money.

Nearly every student, whether in college or high school, has friends enough who are interested in them, and who would be interested in "Idle Comments," to enable each one to secure a few orders without any real work. Just take a copy home with you, and let your friends know that you will secure a copy for them, and when you have sent in five orders your copy will be paid for. Absolutely no money required.

Extracts from Personal Letters About the Book.

"The sweetness of strength is a quality enjoyed by few men. Erwin Avery possessed it to a remarkable degree. His writings, thus so splendidly brought together, blend the colors of his nature into the graceful picture which will ever adorn not alone North Carolina, but American literature."—Charles Baskerville, Professor of Chemistry in The College of the City of New York.

"I am sure that some of the happy little sketches and descriptions will live much longer than many pretentious and labored books. I am glad to hear that the book is selling well. Surely it ought to have a hearty welcome; for everybody who knows North Carolinian manners, moods, scenes and men will find it true and interesting."—Walter H. Page, Editor of World's Work.

"There is no better way of describing Erwin Avery's 'IDLE COMMENTS' than to call it a book of little masterpieces. A busy man should keep this book on his desk where he can lay hands on it at odd moments."—It is the faithful record of the heart of a man."

"The author of 'IDLE COMMENTS' had that rare gift of mental insight which put him at once in possession of what was vital in his subject. In the common incidents which he met in the street, in the parlor, in the club, or in any other association, he saw the workings of character and told their story with clearness and interest."—I like "IDLE COMMENTS" because I like the author. I believe in the things which he most believed in, and feel sure that what he has written should be handed on to those who did not know him."—John C. Kilgo, President Trinity College.

Extracts from Newspapers After the Book Came Out.

"Every home that has a book case should have a copy of 'IDLE COMMENTS.'"—Fair-brother's Everything.

"This is a book that will live. It is of more than local or of even State-wide interest. While it depicts life in a North Carolina city and describes with the insight of genius every type of that life, its philosophy is profound and it touches with its humor and pathos the deepest springs of our human nature itself."—Presbyterian Standard.

"In style Avery was almost a master. His words followed one another with a seeming predestination. What he said was usually the way it ought to have been said—once spoken, it was the only way. It was, like a real style, modest in its sincere belief in itself. Without affectation it stood forth as the best the man could do. It was himself, the way he felt, the song of his heart put into words as simple as the message would allow."—News and Observer.

"And the great surprise of this book, the great credit due its wise and sympathetic editors, is that his newspaper jottings in weekly installments, written doubtless for a day's life, should here range in such harmony, dignified by superior form, and present to the reader such a clear conception of the character of the author. From the character of the work and the circumstances of its doing, one might expect the record of transient moods. But not so; the spirit of the man was constant, and it is the same Avery on each page; never a whimper, never a drop of gall, but always with eyes and heart wide open. The point is that this is not a collection of clippings; it is a book, with a perfect unity of effect as if it had been conceived as such."—John C. McNeill.

Clippings from Newspapers After His Death.

"All his writings had a charm like that of his personality."—Col. Fred A. Olds.

"The death of Mr. I. E. Avery called forth more beautiful tributes, more expressions of personal grief, more words of genuine praise than that of any man who has died since Vance. What a man he was!"—Biblical Recorder.

"God and his ancestors had given him an intellect with which he might have done almost anything, and within the past four years he has employed it to the best purpose. We say only what all men know when it is said that he was the most brilliant writer in North Carolina, and that when he died he was winning reputation more rapidly than any man in the State. Who will ever forget his Monday Morning comments? the knowledge they sometimes betrayed, the most secret springs of human nature; the delightful humor which bubbled up through them; or the delicate touch which he could bestow upon any object he referred to? Who, for instance, will ever forget the exquisite tribute upon last Monday's paper to the violet? It is pasted in a thousand scrap-books today."—Charlotte Observer.

BASKET BALL TEAM.

A Permanent Thing in Trinity's Athletics—Its Organization—Scored 79 Points to Opponents' 89.

During the last week of February Trinity added a branch of athletic sports to the sports already engaged in which promises, in future years to constantly gain in importance and to fill in a much-felt need for athletics here during the fall months of the year. This sport is basket ball, and from the keen interest taken in the small number of games played during the season, it is safe to say that it has come to stay.

The basket ball team of 1906 was handicapped very much in all of its contests by the hurry with which the team was organized, the inexperience of nearly all of its members, and the inadequate practice obtained before entering into hard games, yet its record is far from poor, considering all drawbacks. It was not definitely decided that a team would be gotten together until shortly after mid-year examinations, and this in itself prohibited all men who were candidates for the base ball team from entering as contestants for places on the basket ball squad. Thus a number of men who might have added to the strength of the team, at least by giving sufficient practice to the regulars, were kept out of the game. When a team had finally been picked, however, and the positions of the different individual players had been fixed it was seen that the selections had been good ones and that Trinity had a much better team than even the most sanguine, among those who knew the game well, had anticipated. On the whole the team learned the game quicker and better than was expected, and put up some of the prettiest, pluckiest, and cleanest games ever seen in basket ball, by those who had seen the game played before. The playing of several of the individual members deserves especial mention, that of Greever, Stem, and White being particularly notable. During the entire season the Trinity team scored a total of 79 points to 89 made by opposing teams. The games played, with their respective scores, follow:

March 2—Trinity 10, Wake Forest 24, at Durham.

March 14—Trinity 6, Wake Forest 15, at Wake Forest.

March 19—Trinity 28, Trinity Park School 18, at Durham.

March 22—Trinity 16, Trinity

Park School 19, at Durham.

March 26—Trinity 19, Trinity Park School 13, at Durham.
