

A NEW COLLEGE YEAR BEGINS

Seniors Raise Their Flag in the Usual Manner.

LARGE NUMBER PRESENT AT OPENING

Dr. Kilgo Makes Strong and Timely Talk—Three New Members of the Faculty Introduced.—Several Ministers Present.

Ten or fifteen minutes before nine o'clock last Wednesday morning the students of the College and Park School, the faculty, and friends of the college were assembled in front of Craven Memorial Hall. At the striking of the clock the Senior Class, grouped about the flag pole, sent their flag up in a jiffy, after which all assembled in the auditorium. After the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee" Dr. Kilgo read a Scriptural selection, and then prayer was offered by Rev. J. B. Hurley, class '83, presiding elder of the Durham District. President Kilgo then introduced a number of pastors from churches in the city who spoke in behalf of their churches and extended cordial invitations to worship with them. There were three new members of the faculty this year to be introduced. Rev. J. R. Wooten, class '98 fills, a vacancy in the Biblical Literature department; Prof. E. E. Greenwood of Harvard, fills the vacancy in the Modern language department, caused by the leave of absence granted to Prof. A. M. Webb, who is now in Europe taking a special course. Mr. E. C. Brooks, class '94, is in charge of the department of History and Science of Education which was created by the Board of Trustees at their meeting last commencement.

After the announcements and short talks by the pastors present, Dr. Kilgo made a short talk. The address this year was as usual, timely, strong and forceful. He spoke in part as follows:

The chief national event of the month is the re-opening in all parts of our country of hundreds of colleges and universities. In them are being gathered thousands of the best of American youths. And it is a credit to our American democracy that this army of young people comes from every class of our citizens. They do not represent a single class, a single vocation, a single financial condition. The desire of knowledge, the ambition for the best things are growing in every section, in every calling and in every condition of our people. In these things we have our best riches and our surest hopes.

I have been much impressed with the expressions of the friends and parents of many of those who come for the first time into our community. These expressions show that many of the applicants for admission to college have made good records in their home communities and in the Makes Interesting and Practical Talk on the "Select Life"—Says the Ideal Man is the Christian Man.

The Young Men's Christian Association held its first meeting Sunday afternoon. Prof. John C. Wooten of the chair of Biblical Literature was the speaker for the occasion, announcing as his subject "The Select Life."

His address was interesting and exceedingly practical throughout, furnishing excellent food for thought, it appealing strongly to all classes, but most especially to the new men. The speaker first dwelt for 2 short time on the select life and what it means to be a college man, to be the representative man of the age, showing that responsibility goes over hand in hand with opportunity and saying that to be truly great one must be good; that the ideal man is the christian man. He especially emphasized the college community as a field for earnest christian work.

The speaker next spoke of the lessons a college man must learn, declaring that a man's faith, a man's hope, and a man's love determine what he will be. He stressed the points that it is not the intellectual qualities, but what a man is, that really counts and emphasizes the necessity of holding on to some of the old things throughout the entire college course. He said that while change of desire was necessary to intellectual growth that the highest education is learning how to do without things. He pointed out the need of a world wide sympathy in the solution of the problems of life and concluded with a strong plea for constant secret prayer, declaring "That Man with God is Victory."

Debate Council.

At the first regular meeting of the Hesperian and Columbian Literary Societies held last Saturday night representatives of the two Societies were elected to serve on the Debate Council for this year. The following men were elected: From the Hesperian, Messrs. A. L. Wissburg and A. W. Horton; from the Columbian, Messrs. F. S. Love, and E. W. Knight. The Council also consists of three members of the Faculty, these being Professors Mims, McIntosh and Boyd. Professor Mims is President of the Council, but the Secretary for this year has not yet been elected. The organization of the Council some years ago was for the purpose of supervising and systematizing all the debate work of the college, and this Council has control of all arrangements for public debates, and has been of inestimable value in this respect.

Mr. E. B. Culbreth, ex '09, of Clinton visited friends on the park yesterday. He is enroute to Nashville Tenn., to enter Vanderbilt University.

A Sketch of the New Who Begin Their Work at Trinity.

THREE RECRUITS ADDED TO FACULTY

Prof. Wooten to Fill Chair of Biblical Literature, Prof. Brooks, Department of Education, Prof. Greenwood, Romance Languages.

At the opening of college this year three new Professors began their work. The college is to be congratulated on securing the service of these men, who are so well equipped for their work. A brief sketch of each man is given below:

PROFESSOR JOHN C. WOOTEN.

Professor John C. Wooten who who was elected professor in the Department of Biblical Literature at the meeting of the Trustees in June is a native of Greene County, N. C. His father was for many years a prominent and influential citizen of this county. He was prepared for college at LaGrange Academy and Davis Military School. He entered Trinity College and graduated with the class of 1898. As an undergraduate student he was a leader in every good movement. He took an active part in the religious life of the student body. He was a leader in the work of the Young Men's Christian Association, and was actively interested in the athletics of the college.

After graduation he joined the North Carolina Conference and was stationed at South Rocky Mount where he remained a year at the end of which he was transferred to the Pacific Conference and stationed at Oakland, California. He remained in Oakland four years, and while here he began studying in the Pacific Theological Seminary at Berkeley, Cal. The seat of the University of California. In 1903 he was transferred to Berkeley where he organized Epworth Church. In 1905 he returned to North Carolina and was appointed pastor of Forest Hill church, Concord, in the Western North Carolina Conference. He remained in charge of the work until he was elected to a Professorship in the department of Biblical Literature in Trinity.

PROF. E. C. BROOKS.

Prof Eugene C. Brooks, who has been elected to the chair of History of Education was born in Green County, Dec. 3, 1871. He was prepared for college at Bethel Academy, Lenoir county, N. C., and entered Trinity College in 1890. He is the son of Mr. E. J. Brooks, a prominent and influential citizen of Lenoir county.

Mr. Brooks graduated at Trinity College in 1894. After graduation he went to Washington D. C., as newspaper correspondent. He entered the Treasury Department in 1895, at the same time engaging in journalistic

FACULTY'S VACATION.

Several Remained Here.—A Number Went to Their Homes and Some Spent the Summer in the Mountains; Others Go North.

Dr. Edwin Mims, of the department of English, after attending a Chautauqua at Monticello, Tenn., where he spent several days, and then went to Colorado, where he attended a similar Chautauqua. While there Doctor Mims delivered ten lectures on the chief American and English Poets. He returned to the campus about the first of August, reporting a most pleasant time.

Dr. W. H. Glasson, of the department of Economics, spent a large part of the summer vacation at Cornell University, where he offered during the summer session of the University courses in economics and social institutions. After the session was over Dr. Glasson visited his relatives in New York returning to the College the latter part of August.

Prof. A. H. Merritt, of the Department of Greek, spent the summer in New York state. He returned to the college about the middle of August, reporting a very enjoyable trip to the north.

Dr. W. L. Cranford of the Carr Chair of Philosophy spent the summer in the western part of this state, returning here a short while before the opening.

Dr. W. P. Few, Dean of the College and Professor of English, spent the summer in South Carolina. The last of August he attended a meeting of the Education Commission of the Southern Methodist Church, which met at Old Point Comfort, Va., returning to the college several days before college opened.

Prof. C. W. Edwards, of the Department of Physics, spent part of the summer in the western part of the state and part of it in Durham.

Prof. W. F. Gill, of the Department of Latin, spent the summer at his home in Henderson.

Dr. J. J. Wolfe of the Department of Biology, spent the summer vacation at his home in South Carolina.

Prof. A. M. Webb, of the Department of Romance Languages, left immediately after commencement for the Commencement exercises at Yale, his Alma Mater. After a few days in New Haven he left for France where he will spend the coming year studying in the French Universities, having been granted a leave of absence by the Board of Trustees.

Dr. L. L. Hendren, of the Department of Applied Mathematics was during part of the summer at Osterville, Mass., where he went immediately after the close of the college year here. While there he did practical work in surveying under the direction of Columbia University. When he finished the work there he went to his home in New Bern where he remained until the opening.

THE WHEREABOUTS OF '07

Largest Number are in the Teaching Profession.

SEVERAL DOING GRADUATE WORK.

Some are in the Merchantile Line.—Two Ministers.—Several in Banks.—Two in Railroad Work.

The class of '07 has the honor of being the second largest graduated at Trinity College. It contains a number of very strong and useful members who are now dealing with the realities of life out yonder in the world of business. So far as can be learned all who are not taking special work have employment. A greater number seems to be in the teaching profession than in any other line of work. The following are connected with school work:

Mr. Frank Culbreth is principal of the Jonesboro High School at Jonesboro, N. C.

Mr. W. W. Stedman is principal of a graded school in Attapulgus, Georgia.

Mr. C. E. Phillips has charge of a high school at Stauntonburg, N. C.

Mr. Guy M. Guthrie is principal of the graded school at Lake Landing, N. C.

Mr. H. Holton is principal of the East Durham Graded School. Mr. J. M. Templeton, Jr., is an assistant teacher in the Cary High School, at Cary, N. C.

Mr. W. C. Jerome is associate principal of Trinity High School, Trinity, N. C.

Mr. C. M. Campbell is teaching history in the Durham High School.

Mr. L. B. Pendergraph is teaching in the East Durham Graded School.

Miss Annie Brown is supply teacher in the West Durham Graded School.

Miss Nan Jordan has a position in the Durham High School.

Miss Susannah Michaels is teaching Greek and Latin at Trinity High School, Trinity, N. C.

Miss Annie Tillett is teaching English in Ward Seminary, Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Lela Young is teaching in the East Durham Graded Schools and also taking some graduate work at Trinity.

The following are in various lines of work:

Mr. Luther Peele is cashier for the Southern Oil Company at Gibson, N. C.

Mr. M. E. Nathan has a position with the Merchants and Farmers National Bank of Charlotte.

Mr. Geo. Pope is chief clerk in the office of District Storekeeper of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad at Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. J. R. McPhail is manager of the Leaf Department of the American Tobacco Company at Winston, N. C.

THE NEW YEAR.

It is very gratifying to note the pleasant relations existing among all the students in Trinity. During the years gone by there has been discord between the two lower classes, but this year there is no evidence of class hatred. This friendly feeling is the fruit of the agreement entered into to abolish all forms of hazing. Never was a wiser and a more needful step taken here than when the management of the college required all students to sign an agreement to do all in their power to prevent and discouraged all forms of hazing. People used to think that hazing meant the application of paint or ink to a student, but it is now rightly considered hazing when one teases or harasses in any way his fellow student.

The Chronicle prophesies that this will be one of the greatest years Trinity has had in a long time. Judging from the appearance of the new men, and what we know about the old men, we expect to make a great record this year along athletic lines. It will be the duty of every man to see in what line he can excel, and then do his level best. It may be that some have athletic talent, while others can render a service in inter-collegiate debates. Of course some have no talent along either line, but this does not mean there is nothing for such students to do. Those of us who don't feel specially adapted to any particular line of work can be loyal and be on hand when needed. First let us have peace; and then let us move forward and do big things this year. We have the power, we only need the determination.

DEATH OF "BILL" SMITH

To the Trinity students at their homes during the summer their came the sad news of the death of W. M. Smith with whom they had recently parted after commencement. They thought there must be some mistake, for they could not realize that "Bill" Smith was dead. He was so bright and cheerful, so full of life that it was hard to realize that the end had come so soon. A born leader of men, a brave chivalrous spirit, life for him was so full of promise. A more noble, manly man never received a diploma from Trinity. The applause which greeted him as he received the masters degree on commencement day, had scarcely died away before it was succeeded by grief, and anguish, and heartbreakings. He was the hero of many a victorious contest on the diamond. What he meant to the college community cannot be estimated. No tribute to his honor, to his integrity, to his high ideals, to the loveliness of his character can do justice to his memory. Long will his memory be cherished by Trinity men.

Mr. H. A. Page, Jr. is working in the bank of Aberdeen, N. C.

Mr. E. O. Cole has charge of Spring Creek Circuit in Madison county, N. C.

Mr. W. J. Whitley has a position with McKeel-Richardson Hardware Co., at Washington N. C.

Mr. L. G. Daniels has a position with L. H. Leroy (grocer) at Elizabeth City, N. C.

Mr. John Hutchison is taking a course in law at Harvard University.

Miss Julia Minor is at her home in Oxford, N. C.

Fred Hicks has a position with Norfolk and Western at Durham.

Miss Mary Duke is traveling abroad.

Miss Mitchell Waddill, class secretary, is teaching in the Durham Graded Schools.

Mr. H. E. Spence is still in charge of his church in Raleigh, and is doing graduate work at Trinity College.

Mr. W. A. Bryan is an assistant in the History Department here and taking graduate work.

Mr. L. E. Pender is doing graduate work, and is also teaching drawing at Trinity.

Mr. L. P. Wilson is doing graduate work here and assisting in the German department.

Mr. R. J. C. Kly is taking second year law at Trinity College.

Mr. Murray Jones has a position with Hoyt Dry Goods Co., at Washington, N. C.

Mr. W. M. Wells is book keeper in the Bank of Toisnot, at his home in Elm City, N. C.

Mr. J. M. McGhee is teaching Biology in a high school in Camden, N. J.

FACULTY'S VACATION.

Prof. W. H. Wannamaker, of the Department of German spent the summer in Durham and in South Carolina.

Dr. W. K. Boyd, of the History Department, spent the vacation in Raleigh, Durham, and the western part of the state.

President Kilgo, and Professors Flowers and Peggam spent the summer on the campus.

Registrar D. W. Newsum was on the campus the larger part of the summer, but spent a short while at his home in Littleton and at Asheville.

Dean S. F. Mordecai, of the Law Department, spent the summer months on the campus. While here he did work with the second year law class, preparing them for the Supreme Court Examination.

Prof. A. C. McIntosh, of the Law Department, was on the campus nearly all the summer. The latter part of August, however, he represented Trinity College Law School at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Law Schools, which met at Portland, Maine.

During the past vacation Director W. W. Card was an instructor in the Physical Culture department of Harvard's Summer School. While there he was given a diploma in Dr. Sargent's School of Physical Education. Mr. Card took the course of instruction when a student at Harvard in 1901 but was unable to obtain the diploma due to the fact that the institution was not at that time co-educational. This school has a national reputation and Prof. Card is to be congratulated on receiving this "sheepskin." This one with a number of others already received qualifies Trinity's Physical Director as a leader in physical culture work.

Rev. J. A. Fry, and old Trinity student, who was last year transferred from the western North Carolina Conference to the Pacific Conference, and who was stationed at Berkeley, California, has been elected a professor in Henderson College, at Arkadelphia Ark. Mr. Fry is a native of Moore County.

tasks which they have been called to perform. I congratulate them, and I congratulate the college on such a fine class of new members.

A college offers many advantages. I shall not attempt to mention many of these, nor shall I call your attention to what may be recognized as the profounder things that belong to college life and work. I mention three or four of a general nature.

(1) It introduces a youth into a wider and a deeper community life. Hitherto he has moved within a limited circle of friends. He has been in touch with a limited number of ideas. His life has been composed of the thoughts of parents and kinsmen and neighbors. When he passes into the college community he takes membership in a community composed of faiths, of ideals, of hopes, and of customs that come out of many communities throughout all parts of the country.

(2) The college gives to the youth the ministry of strong and wise men. These men have given time and labor and sacrifice to the getting of knowledge from all regions. They have been inspired by the hope of ministering to youth in all the power and glory of learning. Out of their toils and their sacrifices they have come forth to this work of service. You sit not at their feet, they serve at your tables. What they have they have for you, and the highest satisfaction they find in life is in giving to you the things which have cost them much, but which they covet for you.

(3) The college makes you contemporary with the best that is in your own age, and in all the past ages. Many men live in a time with which they are not contemporary, they live in communities being contemporary only with the weaker and the smaller things and persons of the community. It is a triumph to put life in sympathy with the best of one's age, to make one a real contemporary of the great that is in his time. But it is in the office of the college to make youth contemporary of the greatest in the past ages. It is the business of the teacher of history to bring out of the centuries that are gone all the heroic workers and stand them up in the community of his student. It is the business of the teacher of literature to make his student a member of every royal society, and the companion of every interpreter of the principles of civilizations. It is the sacred office of the scientist to put youth in touch with all the sources of power in all the realms of activity. On and on the college takes the faithful youth till at length he is at home everywhere and a member of all the best communities in earth. But even through him who is contemporary with all the ages past, and all the ages to come true men may become also contemporaries of the eternities.

(4) The college gives a youth a fine chance to prove his powers. The testing time must come. When the great bridge below the Niagara had been finished, the time of its test came. Was it a success or no more than an ornament? In everything this moment of test surely comes. Nursed in the warm sympathies, protected by the patient affections of home one's life takes its start. But there comes an hour when it must be put to all the test and strains of larger experiences. Hot iron is not strong from. Then it bends, then it is shaped in easy forms. It is made hard and strong by being plunged into cold water. Then it gets tempered and strong. So the cruel process of tempering character must go on. Today we take the metal warm out of the forges of family loves and plunge it into the cold streams of a strange community. It will become hard. The process may seem cruel, but it is the way that has been fixed for life. We advance in life by cruel methods. We are driven from one thing to another, we get on by giving up one thing for a new thing. You give up home and parents for college and strangers. This is the route to your larger and mightier self. Your destiny is now largely with yourself. With good wishes and a word of encouragement I welcome you to the opportunities of the year."

work. He returned to North Carolina and was elected principal of Kernersville High School. He then went to Ormondsville as Principal of the Academy at that place. He was elected Principal of the graded school at Kinston in 1900. He was then elected superintendent in Monroe. In 1903 he went to Raleigh as Assistant to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and Secretary to the Campaign Committee. He managed the Educational Campaign under the direction of Gov. C. B. Aycock, Hon. J. Y. Joyner, and Dr. C. D. Melver. He took an active part in the campaign, making addresses in the interest of local taxation for the improvement of the public schools of the state.

Professor Brooks was elected Superintendent of the Graded Schools of Goldsboro from 1904-1907, when he was elected Professor of the History of Education in Trinity College. He was elected Editor of the North Carolina Journal of Education when this Journal was established. He has always taken an active interest in public education and in his work at Trinity he will be in a position to do much for the public schools.

PROF. E. E. GREENWOOD.

Prof. Elmer E. Greenwood who begins his work as Professor in the Department of Romance Languages was born in Gilbertville, Mass., April 25, 1878. He entered Harvard College in 1897, graduating in 1901. Soon after graduation he went to Cuba as a soldier in the Spanish war. He remained a year and a half with the Massachusetts and Ohio troops, during the military occupation of the Island. During the stay in Havana he continued the study of Spanish begun at Harvard. In 1903 he went to France, remaining for a year and a half studying at the college de France and at the Alliance française. From France he went to Madrid where he studied Spanish under special instructions. On his return to the United States he was elected to a position in Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H. where he taught French and Spanish. In 1906, he returned to Harvard University, where in June he received the Master's Degree in Romance Languages. At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of Trinity College in June, he was elected Professor in the Department of Romance Languages. He began his work at the opening of college in September.

Death of Mrs. S. A. Stewart.

The entire college community was grieved to learn just after the close of college of the death of Mrs. S. A. Stewart, nee Miss Lillian Bridges, which occurred in Japan. Miss Bridges first came to Trinity Park from Spartanburg, S. C., and entered the Trinity Park School, and after graduation there came to Trinity College, where she made a high record in scholarship. She was a most lovable lady and all who knew her admired and loved her. It was while she was a student in Trinity that Mr. S. A. Stewart, then a professor in the Trinity Park School, met and wooed her. She did not graduate at college, quitting at the end of her Junior year, and becoming teacher of English in Littleton Female College, where she added to her already large list of friends and admirers. She and Mr. Stewart were married a little more than a year ago and left almost immediately for the orient where they went to become instructors in Palmore Institute Kope, Japan. She died the first week in June, during Trinity's Commencement, in the far away land, and it was with much sadness that her friends heard the news.

A Neat, Attractive and Durable Handbook.

The handbook this year, which is issued as usual by the Y. M. C. A., not only contains the customary information which is so useful to the new students, but it is put up in an attractive and durable form. The binding is leather, with the college seal stamped in gold on the front cover, and is of a size suitable to be carried in the vest pocket. The reading matter is well written and arranged in good shape. In addition to the information which the book carries, it has a large number of pages for memoranda, and on the inside of the back cover is a blank schedule of studies, which the new student will find especially useful. Though it is customary to speak of anything that is last as the best, it can be said without following this old rule that this year's handbook surpasses anything yet got out by the local Y. M. C. A. in this line.

Dr. Kilgo Talks Tonight.

The evening at 7:15 Dr. Kilgo will address the student body in the Y. M. C. A. hall. This promises to be most interesting, as the speaker will deal with vital college questions. It is the first regular Wednesday evening service of the Y. M. C. A. and a large number is expected. Every one is urged to be present.

Invitations are out announcing the marriage of Mr. Hugh Propst, ex-'03 of Concord, N. C., to Miss Irma Kimmons of the same city.

Sneed - Markham - Taylor Company,

Here's a Clean-cut Looking Fellow.....

THIS remark is often made concerning the young man wearing our Handsome Suits.

The young man of today demands the very newest fashions—the very latest innovations. No stubby coats, no narrow lapels, no bag-hanging garments for him this season. We select certain lines of suits from tailoring houses that are specialists in young men's clothing—whose styles are patterned after what one sees on the college campus—dashingly daring, but not to the extreme.

$15 or $18.60 or $20 or $25

But reserve your opinion until you have seen the suits.

The Cut of the Coat

Tells the taste of the tailor. The garment that strikes your fancy may not be the one that you should wear. In the mirror of the retail clothier you cannot see yourself as others see you. Is it safe to trust your appearance to the judgment of the ready-made salesman; biased by the necessity of fitting you to the clothing rather than the clothing to you? Individuality and character are subtly expressed in every garment I make. Years of experience in serving the best dressers guarantee that clothing made by me is perfect in style and finish, and is of the color and cut best suited to the wearers' complexion.

Election of Athletic Council.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees at last Commencement an athletic Council was established. This Council is to be composed of three members of the faculty appointed by the President of the college. Four members from the local Alumni Association, elected at the annual meeting of the Alumni Association, and four undergraduates, one from each class to be elected by the class organizations. This Council is similar to that in existence at a number of the best institutions in the country, and will have charge of the athletic interests of the college. The members of this council are: From the Faculty, Professors Flowers, Few and Wooten; from the Alumni: W. W. Flowers, Angier B. Duke, Dr. Arch. Cheatham, and J. E. Pegram; from the student body: J. B. Warren, Senior; T. B. Suiter, Junior, and A. M. Proctor, Sophomore. The Freshman class has not yet selected its representative. As soon as all the members are elected the Council will organize. It is believed that this Council will do much for the athletic interests of the college.

The following have been appointed as assistants in various departments of the college: J. A. Morgan, '06, English; W. W. Carson, '07, Wofford College, English; L. P. Wilson, '07, German; W. A. Bryan, '07, History; E. R. Franklin, '05, History; L. E. Pender, '07, Applied Mathematics; and E. E. Spence, '07.

The gymnasium will not be open until after the physical examinations are over, which will be in a day or two.

A Boy Swallowed a Nickel.

He was a nickel in as well as a nickel out. Had he saved the nickel and bought an Irish Lad he would have derived greater benefit from the amount invested.
