

A BASKET BALL VICTORY.

Trinity Played Y. M. C. A. Team of Portsmouth Here Saturday Night.

THE SCORE WAS THIRTY-ONE TO TEN.

Large Number of Spectators Witnessed Game—First of Half Better Portion of Game—Mr. Walker Gave Exhibition on Bars.

Last Saturday evening in the Angier Duke Gymnasium the Trinity basketball team defeated the Portsmouth Y. M. C. A. team by the tune of 31 to 10. Quite a number of spectators were present to encourage the players, although the home team did not seem to be in great need of assistance.

The first half was by all odds much the better portion of the game. It commenced with a rush and a go that kept the spectators intensely interested—this too in spite of the fact that the Methodists had the game well in hand from the start. In fact the first goal was scored by Tuttle so quickly that the opposing team seemed somewhat stunned by the rapidity of the play. Every man on the Trinity team seemed overcharged with energy, and the Y. M. C. A.'s were utterly unable to stop their advance. Goal after goal was scored in rapid succession by the wearers of the blue until, at the end of the half, they had a total of twenty-four points. Their opponents, in the meantime, succeeded by the hardest sort of effort in scoring seven points, four of which were made by S. B. Zink.

The second half was much slower, and was not near so interesting. The visitors seemed to be unable to do any better against the home team, although the latter put in two substitutes in this half. During this period of play Trinity added seven points to her credit, while Portsmouth only gained three.

Of the individual players, Tuttle showed up in splendid form, scoring four field goals by brilliant work in the first half. The work of Armfield and P. J. Kiker also deserves special mention, these men scoring eight and ten points, respectively. Lilly and W. B. Kiker also played swift ball, keeping their opponents well covered. The visitors were at a disadvantage on account of the superior height of their opponents, but showed good team work in passing the ball. S. B. Zink scored six of his nine points by goals from the fields.

Between the first and second half of the game, the spectators were entertained by Mr. Walker, an all-round athlete who accompanied the Portsmouth team. Mr. Walker gave a pleasing exhibition in tumbling and in work upon the horizontal bars.

The line-up of the contesting teams was as follows:

JANUARY QUARTERLY.

Will Come From Printer in About a Week—Wide Range of Contributions—Leading Article By Dean Few.

The January number of the South Atlantic Quarterly will appear about a week from now. The table of contents gives evidence of a wide range of contributions, and the discussion of timely and pertinent subjects. The contributors are men from all sections of the country.

The leading article is by Dean W. P. Few on "The Standardizing of Southern Colleges"—a survey of the influences that they are making for the development of educational standards in the South, and discussion of the work and significance of the Carnegie Board. Prof. J. W. Garner, formerly of Mississippi, but now of the University of Illinois, makes a study of development of the Negro, as shown by the latest census, and criticizes the recent utterances of certain radical politicians in the South.

Mr. Louis Pendleton, author of the forthcoming life of Alexander H. Stephens, gives a historical survey of the doctrine of state's rights, and concludes with a consideration of present day political problems in the light of history. Prof. Edward G. Elliott, of Princeton University, summarizes the achievements of the late Peace Conferences at the Hague, and suggests a comparison with the first Conference. Prof. Dutcher, of Wesleyan University, continues his historical study of the "French in North Africa."

Especially appropriate in view of the centenary of the poet's birth, is an excellent article, on John Greenleaf Whittier, by Prof. David H. Bishop, of the University of Mississippi. Prof. William H. Glasson, of Trinity College, has a significant article on the late Carl Schurz, based on the recently published "Reminiscences." Prof. C. B. Wallace, of the University School, Nashville, Tenn., writes from a school master's standpoint of certain tendencies in the college life of today, notably the exaggerated attention to athletics.

The number closes with an article on William Blake, by Prof. L. N. Chare, of the University of Louisville, based on recent biographical and critical studies of the mystic poet. There is the usual department of book reviews with comments on the books of the season by the editors and others.

Mrs. Virgil L. Jones, (nee Miss Isabel Elias), class '09, is now living in Faribault, Minnesota.

The Senior class has presented a petition to the faculty requesting immunity from examinations provided a recitation of 90 is made during the term. At the last meeting of the faculty a committee of three professors were appointed to look into the matter and report at the first meeting after the holidays.

COMPLIMENTARY RECEPTION.

Given By Columbians in Honor of Basket Ball Teams.

GIVEN SATURDAY EVENING 9 TO 12

Co-eds and Old Members Present—Fruits and Candy as Refreshments—Mr. Richardson As Toastmaster—Good Talks Made.

The last and most enjoyable occasion at the college during the year took place Saturday evening when the Columbian Literary Society entertained in the Epworth Inn dining hall the Trinity and the Portsmouth Y. M. C. A. basketball teams. The affair began about nine o'clock, and lasted till nearly twelve o'clock, and during the entire interval not an unpleasant minute was spent by those in attendance.

In addition to the large number of society members present, there were also quite a number of co-eds, old members of the society residing in the city and those of the faculty who were members during their college career here.

Upon each table there was placed a large waiter containing grapes, oranges, apples, bananas, etc. and a box of high grade candy. Besides these refreshments, ice cream and cake were served.

Another important feature of the evening were the toasts. Mr. S. A. Richardson acted as toastmaster, and he made an admirable one too. He said, the right thing and he said it in the right way every time. The first speaker introduced was Prof. W. H. Pegram, who spoke on "Columbia of the Past." The speaker told a number of interesting things of the society when he was an active member, saying that the society was properly launched, had always done excellent work, etc.

The next speaker called on was Mr. E. B. Hobgood, ex-'09, with the subject "When I Was a Columbian." Mr. Hobgood's remarks were brief, but were nevertheless interesting, and held the closest attention.

Mr. F. S. Love, of the Senior class, spoke on "Columbia of Today." Mr. Love's talk was well in hand, and showed the spirit of a member of the Columbian Society. Prof. A. H. Meritt, an honorary member, made a short talk on "Our Honorary Members." Prof. Meritt spoke in his customary manner, and his words were of course appreciated.

Messrs. Gantt, Knight and Spence also responded to toasts. The jokes of these young men were well received and evoked considerable applause. The talks by these members were some of the most enjoyable of those on the program.

Mr. Cranford, in a short talk, spoke on the "Mediocre Man," saying that he was one himself, that there were a large number of this class in society when he

A SOCIAL GATHERING.

Dr. and Mrs. Wolfe Entertain Students of Departments of Biology and Geology—Very Enjoyable Occasion.

Last Thursday evening from eight to eleven o'clock, Dr. J. J. Wolfe, of the department of Biology, according to his custom every year, entertained at his home the young men and women of his classes in Biology and Geology, and those who were there say that it was a most enjoyable occasion. All kinds of good things to eat and drink had been prepared for the young people by Dr. and Mrs. Wolfe, and from the hour of their arrival until the time of departing had come, the fortunate ones enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.

Progressive football was the main game of the evening, and it proved to be one of almost endless fun and entertainment. A miniature football field had been arranged on a long table, and the fast teams of Harvard and Yale vied with each other in blowing to their respective goals an egg shell, and such a game afforded much amusement for the large number of young people present. Harvard's eleven proved the stronger in lung capacity, and took the pennant with a final score of 4-20.

A delicious spread awaited the young people after the game. Olives, various kinds of sandwiches, hot chocolate, punch, cake, fudge, fruits and confectioneries of all kinds and descriptions were found in abundance. Miss Elise Mims, of the Senior class, and Mr. J. L. Horne, Jr., of the Junior class, presided at the punch bowl. At eleven the happy young folks left, fully convinced that the host and hostess of the splendid occasion could not be surpassed in the happy art of entertaining, and they were all loud in their praises of the excellent manner in which Dr. and Mrs. Wolfe had so royally treated them during the evening. Those present were: Mr. D. Elias with Miss Evelyn Jones; Mr. B. Elias with Miss Isabel Pinix; Mr. C. H. Geddie with Miss Ada Godwin; Mr. A. W. Horton with Miss Mattie Oldham; Mr. John Cole with Miss Elise Mims; Mr. C. C. Barnhardt with Miss Lillian White; Mr. G. R. Andrews with Miss Lassaphine Reeves; Messrs. W. M. Marr, K. W. Parham, H. H. Wincoff, J. S. Wrenn, J. L. Horne, Jr., C. K. Proctor, Fred Flowers and S. T. Thorne.

Trinity Men as Contributors To The Charlotte Observer.

In the sixty-four page holiday edition of the Charlotte Observer Trinity College is well represented. Mr. U. N. Hoffman, class '07, has two stories; Rev. R. L. Durham, class '95, has a poem; Mrs. John P. Lucas, (nee Miss Alice Craft) class '05, has a contribution; Mr. J. B. Warren, class '08, has a Christmas story; and Mr. R. C. Scroggs, ex-'09, and Miss Maline Harrell, '09, are also contributors.

DOCTOR BOYD'S LECTURE

First of Faculty Series Delivered in Y. M. C. A. Hall Evening Dec. 9.

LITERARY ASPECTS OF 13TH CENTURY

Keen Spirit of Rationalism Characterized Age—Origin of Aristotelean Movement—Large Number Present to Hear Lecture.

(Crowded out of last issue.) Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. hall Dr. W. K. Boyd, of the department of History, delivered the first lecture in the faculty series. In spite of the rainy evening, a large number of students and members of the faculty were out to hear the lecture. The lecture was very interesting and instructive and showed careful and thoughtful preparation. The subject of the lecture was "Some Literary Aspects of the Thirteenth Century." Dr. Boyd in substance spoke as follows:

The twelfth century marks the boundary between ancient and modern history. Besides changes in political institutions, legal history, trade and commerce, there was an intellectual revival, characterized by a keen spirit of rationalism and an interest in classical studies. Yet today we turn to the fourteenth century, to Petrarch and the movement he represents, for the origin of humanism and the revolt against authority. The explanation is that the revival of the twelfth century was succeeded by an intellectual revolution, the discovery of the works of Aristotle, and their assimilation into European thought. Interest in Aristotle characterized the thirteenth century just as humanism and a spirit of rationalism characterized the twelfth century.

The origin of the Aristotelean movement is rather obscure. The larger and more significant works by Aristotle were unknown in Western Europe during the early middle ages, but they were rediscovered in the twelfth century. A new world was opened to the mediaeval student. But it was soon realized that many doctrines and tendencies in Aristotle were contrary to the training upon which religion was based. Consequently there was a formation of parties concerning Aristotle similar to that regarding Darwin and the new scientific thought in the nineteenth century.

First, there was opposition to Aristotle; the church identified his works with heresy, and prohibited their use in the University of Paris. By the middle of the century, Aristotle was read in the university in spite of all prohibitions.

Interest now widens into the attitude of various commentators. It was the work of Albert the Great and Thomas Aquinas to harmonize Aristotle and theology, to reconcile reason and faith; they were the founders of modern Catholic theology to whom the

DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 18, 1907

PAX VOBISCU.

The Chronicle has no lengthy suggestions concerning the manner in which the holidays should be spent, but we do want to say that all have our best wishes for a most enjoyable Christmas. It would be an impossibility to offer suggestions to the new men how a college man should spend his first Christmas at home. It has been the observation of many that the Freshman gets peculiar enjoyment out of his first trip and stay at home. He becomes a real hero
on his native heath, and he knows it.

However, it is not the intention to disparage any one. The first days are really the best, and those who have passed the successive mile stones on the road to seniority sigh when ever they think of "the days that are no more." And after all we are very much alike in this respect, for all want to go home, and can hardly wait. It is natural,
even though many of us have experienced the joy of this return,
and we are ever thinking about it and planning for it. And yet each time the pleasures are vivid,
and the story never becomes old,
so may much pleasure be derived from this year's air castles. Pax vobiscum.

WAKE FOREST NOT A MEMBER.

It has been announced in several papers in the State that the trustees of Wake Forest had granted a request submitted to this body for the college to be permitted to withdraw from the Southern Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association. The statement that Wake Forest was a member of this association has appeared frequently in the State papers in discussing the athletic affairs at this institution. Wake Forest is not now, and never has been a member of the S. I. A. A.

The Chronicle has no motive in making this statement except to see that the facts in the case are given, and that neither the association nor Wake Forest are misrepresented. We do not know what action was taken by the trustees, but certainly they could not authorize the college to withdraw from an association to which it has never belonged.

CHRISTMAS ARCHIVE.

Very Creditable Issue—Well Balanced Edition—Some Good
Contributions—Poems of Merit—Table of Contents.

The Christmas number of the Archive came from the press Saturday evening. In every respect it is a creditable issue. It contains sixty-five pages of reading matter, has an attractive cover and is well balanced in reading matter, having just enough poems, solid matter and fiction. The management is to be congratulated on getting out such a good number. To be so successful requires considerable time, work and thought.

"The Old Time Christmas Story," by Miss May Wrenn, has
the first place in the magazine.
The article contains something of interest, and shows considerable time expended in its preparation.
However, it is not clear whether the article is intended to be an essay on Dickens as a Christmas story writer, or to give a recital of some of the best Christmas stories.
The writer is also rather free in the use of quotations.

"Christmas Leave Taking," by Mr. A. S. Berghauer, is a poem of merit. It is full of snap and has been well received by the readers of the Archive.

"Fifty Years of an American Magazine," by Miss Lassaphine
Reeves, is an instructive write-up of The Atlantic Monthly. This magazine being one of the oldest and most noted periodicals in this country, it would be well for all to read this excellent article.

"Story of a Young Virginian," by Mr. W. A. Stanbury, is the story of a young man who was falsely accused of theft, later exculpated, and then restored to his loved ones and lover. From the standpoint of rhetoric, the story is well arranged, but on account of the plot being so hackneyed, the story is not so effective.

"The Perverseness of Ethel,"
by Mr. Wallace Carson, is a good piece of fiction. It has the appearance of a real story from college life, and is very interesting.
The poem on "The Blue Moon,"
by Louis I. Jaffe, is very original,
and is also very clever.

The editor takes a rather gloomy view of conversation among the students. With no intention of entering into a discussion, it can be safely said that a college is a miniature world. Some men have low ideals but all do not.
To say that a low order of conversation is indulged in would be only to speak a half truth.

The remainder of the table of contents is: "A Translation from Horace's Odes and Epodes," (poem)
by Edwin McIntosh; "Fals-
tuff: The Decayed Man of Genius," by L.; "In Pace Requiescat," (poem) by R. Browning and
M. G. Wilson; "Character Sketches Here and There in North Carolina," by G. M. D.
and S. F. P.; "The Old Brick House," by W. T. Brothers; Editorial, Literary Notes and Editor's Table.

was a member, and that he supposed that there were still a large number in society now. During his talk he gave some good advice and urged all the young men not to grow faint in their efforts along the line of self improvement.

Messrs J. Zink, of the Y. M.
C. A. team, and W. B. Lilly, of Trinity's team, spoke concerning their respective teams.

After all those on the program
had spoke, Prof. Aldridge, Director Card, Prof. Edwards, Mr.
Stanbury, Mr. W. P. Budd, class
'04, and Mr. James Hucklebee, class '04, were called on and made short talks.

PARK SCHOOL NEWS.

Preliminary For the Selection of Speakers for Inter-society Debate—Christmas Number
of Gazette—Other Items.

The Trinity Park School quar-
rette, consisting of Messrs. Larkin, Bolton, Jones and Downing,
has been rendering some good selections at the Y. M. C. A.
meetings. Their singing is good and it is hoped that the quartette will appear more often.

Recent letters from Prof. D. S.
Murph, who is now in Jamison,
S. C., indicate that his health has not been satisfactory and that the change has done him little, if any good.

The December number of the Park School Gazette is just from the printer and is a creditable issue—being the Christmas number.

Next Friday at 1 o'clock work at the Park School will be suspended for the holidays. During the afternoon most of the students will leave for their homes and the teachers will go away to spend the holidays, with one exception.
Headmaster North will spend the time at his home in Laurinburg; Prof. Lockhart will be at his old home in Orange county most of the time; Prof. Hornaday and wife will be in Beaufort.

On last Saturday night Dean
W. P. Pew, of Trinity College, spoke to the students here. He spoke on some of the benefits to be derived from the love and the study of good literature, and his address was both interesting and profitable.

Mrs. D. M. Mangum and Mrs.
G. T. Sykes, of Creedmoor, visited
Mrs. T. L. McClees last week.

Mr. E. W. Larkin has gone to his home in Carthage.

On last Friday night the preliminary debate for the selection of speakers in the inter-society debate was held and the following were chosen for a debate to be held next spring. Calhoun, W.
G. Sheppard and W. A. Cade;
Grady, J. W. Burgess and T. E.
Wilkinson.

Mrs. J. A. Hornaday, of Roxboro, has recently been visiting her son, Mr. C. L. Hornaday.

Headmaster North addressed the MEETING OF S. I. A. A.

Held at Clemson College—Trinity Represented by Prof. Flowers—One Year Rule Not to Apply to Base Ball.

Prof. R. L. Flowers returned the first of the week from Clemson College, S. C., where he attended the annual meeting of the Southern Inter-collegiate Athletic Association. In speaking of the meeting he said:

"The meeting of the S. I. A. A. held at Clemson College was unusually well attended and the interest manifested was most encouraging. The following institutions were represented: A. & M. College of Mississippi; Alabama Polytechnic Institute; Clemson College; Georgia School of Technology; Louisiana State University; Mercer University; Trinity College; University of Alabama; University of Georgia; University of the South; Vanderbilt University; Wofford College; Furman University; and North Georgia Agricultural College, and University of Tennessee.

"Since the last meeting the executive committee had received as members of the association Millsaps College and Howard College. Many of the institutions had several representatives, though each institution has only one vote. Several of the institutions were represented by their presidents. The object of the association is the development, regulation and purification of college athletics throughout the South.

"No one who heard the discussions at the meeting could fail to recognize that the majority of the Southern colleges realize the necessity for the strictest regulation and supervision of college athletics, and the reports submitted showed that the association had done much to bring about these results in the institutions belonging to it. It was clearly shown that there is a firm determination to free college sports from the evils which have done much to mar and discredit them. There was a desire on the part of several of the institutions to prohibit any student from taking part in inter-collegiate athletics until he had been in attendance at the institution for one scholastic year. This question was discussed at length and it was finally decided that the one year rule should apply to football alone, and that for the scholastic year 1908-09, a student in order to be eligible must have been in attendance for five months of the preceding year, and that in succeeding years for one whole college year.

"It was also decided that when a student presented for admission work aggregating 14 units, reckoned according to the Carnegie system, this restriction would not apply.

"It is the desire of the association to secure the co-operation of every Southern institution believing in purity in athletics. There are now twenty institutions belonging to the association, and in some Southern States there are State Athletic Associations which adopt the eligibility rules of the S. I. A. A. Institutions belonging to this association are not permitted to play with institutions not belonging to it, unless the proper authorities certify that the men composing the teams are eligible to play under the rules governing the S. I. A. A.

"Several changes were made in the constitution, though with the exception of the one year rule already mentioned, applying to football, the eligibility rules remain substantially the same as last year.

The Southern territory is divided into four divisions, and each division is under the supervision of a district vice-president. Dr. W. L. Dudley, of Vanderbilt University, was re-elected president. The vice-presidents elected are: Chancellor B. L. Wiggins, University of the South; Prof. W. M. Riggs, Clemson College, S. C.; President T. B. Boyd, Louisiana State University; Dr. Patterson, University of Georgia. Prof. E. T. Holmes, Mercer University, was elected secretary and treasurer."

THE CO-EDS AT SOCIETY.

The Hesperians Invite the Young Ladies to a Meeting—Good Literary Program—Refreshments Served.

The last meeting of the Hesperian Literary Society for the year 1907 was held Friday evening. According to an established custom, the co-eds are invited to attend the society once or twice each year, and the meeting Friday evening was arranged with this in view. The regular order of business was gone through with in order that the visitors might see the workings of the society.

The debate was of a very high order. One Senior and two Juniors were on the program, the remainder of the debaters being of the Freshman class. All the speeches were very good, and showed art in speech-making as well as careful preparation. For the purpose of hurrying on to the social feature of the evening the rejoinder was omitted.

The question discussed was: "Resolved, That the next North Carolina legislature should enact a law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating drinks." The affirmative was represented by Messrs. Elliott, Hutchings and Edwards. On the negative was Messrs. Herbin, Fisher and Grant. Those on the negative side were victorious. Besides the debate Mr. Barnhardt and Mr. McRae delivered two very entertaining orations on the subject of "Woman."

After the literary duties had been performed and the general business had been transacted the society was declared in a state of "general confusion." Refreshments consisting of frits, assorted nuts, candy, etc., were served. During this part of the occasion every one was in a very happy mood, and there was not a person present who did not have a delightful time. In addition to the talking that was going on every now and all the time, a number of the young men were called on to make short impromptu talks. Some responded, saying something bright and pleasant, while others refused to stand upon their feet and express themselves on such an occasion.

Mr. Charles E. Flowers, who is engaged in business which requires him to spend the greater part of his time on the Pacific coast, arrived in Durham a few days ago to spend some time with his parents, Col. and Mrs. G. W. Flowers.

present Pope has referred, urging their methods of thought in preference to "modernism."

Aquinas and Albert were opposed by two parties; the reactionaries, those opposed to any compromise to any learning, and the radical Aristotelians.

After the removal of Seger, of the University of Paris, radical Aristotelianism was no longer a live issue at Paris; the interpretation of Aquinas finally became universally accepted. Reason and faith were harmonized in a system of thought which still dominates the Catholic church.

Prof. and Mrs. Meritt Entertain The Chronicle Staff.

Every man on The Chronicle staff Thursday evening had a most enjoyable time between the hours of six and eight thirty. At this time Prof. and Mrs. A. H. Meritt entertained the entire staff at a six course dinner. The editors and business managers have had several important meetings during the fall but the one mentioned above was the most significant that has ever been held. During the evening while the merry party was grouped around the dining table many bright and laughable things were said, discussions of interest indulged in and references made to things of local interest. After the party were out and on the side walk several "rahs" were given for the host and hostess. The last words heard by those present as they were vanishing in various directions were concerning the happy occasion.

Mr. J. C. Gantt, Jr., better known as "Bunny," who entered college with the class of '07, but who was later, on account of one year's absence from college, a member of the present Senior class, left his native State in 1906 and went to Dallas, Texas, where he is now an electrical engineer, commanding a good salary.

Here's a Clean-cut Looking Fellow

THIS remark is often made concerning the young man wearing our Handsome Suits.

The young man of today demands the very newest fashions—the very latest innovations. No stubby coats, no narrow lapels, no bag-hanging garments for him this season. We select certain lines of suits from tailoring houses that are specialists in young men's clothes—whose styles are patterned after what one sees on the college campus—dashingly daring, but not to the extreme.

$15 or $18.60 or $20 or $25

But reserve your opinion until you have seen the suits.

The Cut of the Coat

Tells the taste of the tailor. The garment that strikes your fancy may not be the one that you should wear. In the mirror of the retail clothier you cannot see yourself as others see you. Is it safe to trust your appearance to the judgment of the ready-made salesman; biased by the necessity of fitting you to the clothing rather than the clothing to you? Individuality and character are subtly expressed in every garment I make. Years of experience in serving the best dressers guarantee that clothing made by me is perfect in style and finish, and is of the color and cut best suited to the wearers' complexion.

President Kilgo preached twice at Edenton Street Methodist church, Raleigh, Sunday.

The friends of Miss Fannie Markham are glad to see her in college again after a short illness.

Mr. Clyde Griffin, of Chapel Hill, spent Saturday on the park, the guest of Mr. J. L. Horne, Jr.

Mr. A. S. Berghausen went to Raleigh Saturday afternoon to visit Prof. Brawley, of Peace Institute.

Mr. E. S. Swindell, ex-'09, who is this year taking pharmacy at the University, visited friends on the park Friday evening.

Rev. M. Bradshaw, the new pastor of Main Street church, expects to arrive in the city tomorrow. He will preach his first sermon next Sunday.

Miss Pauline Perry, of the Senior class, left Sunday morning for her home at Kinston. She was called away from college on account of the sickness of her sister.

Mrs. Kope Elias, Jr., '03, of Governor's Island, is on a visit to her parents. She will remain here until after the Christmas holidays. This is her first visit to the park since her marriage in August.

Prof. and Mrs. E. E. Greenwood left Saturday for Asheville where Mrs. Greenwood will spend some time on account of her health. She has been unwell lately and it was thought the change might be beneficial.

A Mistake Corrected.

In the last issue of The Chronicle the statement was made that the basketball team in playing Littleton High School only played its substitutes. This is an error, as it should have been stated that the team played all the substitutes, which were three. It is regretted that this error occurred, but a reporter in speaking to one of the players got the wrong impression or a misunderstanding, which accounts for the blunder.

It is hoped that this correction will remove any ill feeling, should any exist. Had space permitted, more details concerning the game would have been given, which would have shown up the high school team in a better light. The Trinity team was well pleased with the treatment accorded, and the ability of the Littleton High School team to put up a good game.

Rev. T. A. Smoot Transferred to Wilmington.

Rev. T. A. Smoot, class '95, preached his last sermon as pastor of Main Street Methodist church Sunday morning. He has been connected with this church for the past three years and has been very popular with his own congregation and with the people of Durham, irrespective of denomination. His departure is not only a source of regret to the large number of college students who worship regularly at his church, but also to the citizens of Durham. Grace Church, Wilmington, is to be congratulated on securing him as its pastor.

Rev. M. Bradshaw, class '08, the new pastor, will receive a warm welcome at Main Street church. Rev. Bradshaw is considered one of the leading ministers of the North Carolina Conference.

'00 Man Enters Journalistic Field.

Mr. Jonathan Peele, class '00, has, together with Mr. W. H. Weatherford, bought the Louisville Exchange, one of the best weekly papers in the State. They have already taken charge and will in the future issue the paper.

Mr. Peele has for sometime been practicing law in Louisville. He represented his county in the last legislature and was one of the sanest and most efficient members of that body. His course was very highly commended, and reflected great credit upon himself and his county. Mr. Peele is a man of originality and will make a most entertaining writer. The Chronicle extends to him its best wishes in his new enterprise.

NEW Y. M. C. A. OFFICERS.

Election Wednesday Evening - Retiring President Makes Summary of Year's Work - Talks By New Officers.

Wednesday evening there was no devotional meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association but in lieu thereof, was held a business meeting of the association, the object of which was to elect officers for the ensuing year.

At this time the retiring president, Mr. W. V. McRae, in a few well-chosen remarks made a summary of what the association had striven to do under the retiring administration, and what it had actually accomplished. Immediately following, the committee previously appointed to nominate men for the offices of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, made its report. The association accepted the names proposed by the committee and the following men were elected: H. C. Doss, president; E. W. Knight, vice-president; Stephenson, secretary, and W. B. Lilly, treasurer.

In the president's report of the work during the past year, Mr. McRae spoke of the various conferences, and our relations to them; devotional meetings; growth of the association; Bible study; leadership; finance, etc. His report showed that between sixty and seventy names have been added to the roll of membership this year, and that at least sixty men from the entire enrollment are systematically studying the Bible in regular Y. M. C. A. classes. These two items alone are indicative of the live, active state of the association. The report ended with thanks to the faculty for their hearty co-operation in the work.

Upon taking their places, the new officers of the association expressed very earnestly their desire and purpose to forward the work in every possible way, and urged every member to assume his part of the responsibility. The words of each indicated a firm, spiritual resolve to do something, and with men of such character and determination as leaders, the work must advance.
