CONCERNING SOUTHERN TRIP.

Something About the Annual Tour of Baseball Team and the Games.

IT HAD FAIRLY GOOD SUCCESS AGAIN.

Winning Really More Than Fifty Per Cent of the Games the Baseball Team Had Another Successful Trip—Details of Part of the Games.

Although the results of the trip were not as they were last year when the team won all but two games with colleges on the annual trip, it came back last Sunday highly gratified at its success, despite the many handicaps that threatened to make the tour unsuccessful. The team, while away, had eight games to play. Of these it won four, and one game was forfeited in the Methodists' favor, which really gives the local team more than fifty per cent of the games.

The tale might have been different, too, in many cases had some of the men not been hurt and taken out of the game. Four of the mainstays of the team were in more or less serious condition while away, each of whom had to be taken out of the game at various times. Flowers, catcher, was unwell when he went away, but held his own 'till a few days before the team was to return, when he was forced to come home on account of sickness, which though slight, kept him out of the game. Kilgo was also out of commission while some of the games were being played, and Cooper, the team's fast center-fielder, was spiked and kept out of one or more contests. Near the close of the tour Lewis was hit with the ball and his arm broken, which kept him out of the other games. These things kept the team from doing its best work. But with all the broken places it succeeded in breaking even with the teams in Georgia and South Carolina.

The score book being out of reach of the reporter before it was time to go to press, makes it impossible for The Chronicle to give a full write-up of the games individually, and all of them could not be given here. Enough is given, however, to show some idea of the way the team played while away.

FIRST GA. TECH GAME.

The following was taken from The Atlanta Constitution:

The Yellow Jackets won from one of the best teams she has met this season yesterday. Pitcher Mayer was right there with the goods, and had the whole visiting team baffled. Their best batters failed to hit with any regularity or at the right time. The game was exceedingly interesting. Both teams made their first run in the third inning. From then on until the ninth neither team tallied. In the last round, however, Tech scored two runs, making the final count 3 to 1.

In the third inning the first

Trinity man up secured a free pass from Mayer. He went to second on a sacrifice by Harris. Mayer then tried to catch him on second. The ball was somewhat swift, and Freeman failed to stop the sphere. After Kilgo, who was the man on second, went to third "Smiley" Ayres heaved the ball wildly to Buchanan at third and Kilgo scored. This was Trinity's only run.

In the same inning Tech sent a Yellow Jacket humming over the rubber. Captain Buchanan was the man who did the deed. He hit a fielder's choice to the second baseman, who chose to nap a man at second rather than snuff "Buck" at first. Ayres then came up and rapped out a three-bagger in the nick of time, although he had to stretch his legs to make third. By some fast and heady base running Buchanan scored, tying the score. Tech's other two runs came in the last inning. "Piggy" Hightower, for the second time in the game, swatted the pill for a single. Armistead and Whitely, who batted for Freeman, was safe on errors by the shortstop and first baseman. Hightower was thrown out at the plate. "Chip" Robert laid one of the prettiest bunts ever seen at Tech. Flat down in front of the plate. The pitcher started after it, and thought the catcher would get it. The catcher started at it, and thought the pitcher would get it. The truth of the matter is that neither came close to throwing him out. This scored Armistead and the winning run. As the first baseman missed the throw Whitely scored. The game broke up here, as Trinity had had her inning.

NORTH CAROLINA ACADEMY.

Annual Meeting to be Held Here Next Friday and Saturday.

DR. GILBERT PEARSON TO LECTURE.

State Section of American Chemical Society to be Held in Conjunction With Academy—Interesting Subjects on Hand—Public Invited.

Trinity College is to be honored soon by the eighth annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science, and the North Carolina Section of the American Chemical Society which are to be held here under the auspices of the Science Club on April 30, and May 1. This is the first time that the college has had the opportunity to throw open its doors to these State scientific societies which are of such great worth and importance to the scientific and industrial life of our State. Their members are principally men from the leading institutions of the State, and also from the State Agricultural Department.

The programs of the meetings of these societies have not been announced but quite a list of technical subjects will be discussed. All the students and others interested are invited to all the meetings. The student body should take every chance to attend them for subjects of vital importance are now confronting the people of our State and no doubt many of these will be discussed at the coming meetings.

The Academy of Science will hold its meetings in the Physics lecture room and the Chemical Society will hold its meetings in the Biological lecture room, both in the Crowell Science Building. Officers of the Academy are President, Dr. Tait Butler, formerly State Veterinarian of North Carolina, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, Professor E. W. Gudger of the State Normal and Industrial College, Greensboro, N. C.

Efforts are being made to have Dr. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the State Audubon Society, Greensboro, N. C., at the Academy to deliver an illustrated lecture on birds, in the Craven Memorial Hall on Friday evening. The public is cordially invited to attend this lecture.

Registration at the University of Paris is equal to the total number at any three institutions in America. Paris has 16,000 students.

The baseball team of the University of Illinois has repeatedly met defeat at the hands of the of the Milwaukee American Association team.

The editors and business manager of The Daily Illinois are chosen by the Australian ballot system, all paid-up subscribers being entitled to vote.

EXCITING GAME.

Inter-Department Games and the Faculty-Senior Contest Exciting and Full of Great Interest and Watched by Big Crowd.

During the past week the departments have been engaging in some exciting contests on Hanes Athletic Field, and the Faculty-Senior game on Monday was one full of intense excitement throughout.

The lawyers defeated the theologs last Thursday in the fastest game of the week, resulting in a big score for both sides, though the legal lights had the advantage of the preachers in points of battery, fielding and batting.

Saturday afternoon the scientists met the preachers and gave the latter their second defeat. The game was a very good one, considering the fact that it had to be played on the Park School diamond which is more or less rough.

The game of the week, however, was last Monday when the annual Faculty-Senior game took place. A large crowd saw the contest and laughed over it. The score was 13 to 7 in favor of the Seniors. The batteries were, for the Faculty, Professors North and Card; for the Seniors, Briggs and Cunningham. From the beginning it appeared that the senior team had the advantage of the faculty nine in point of practice if nothing else, and some of the Seniors were a bit effective with the willow. Finch, the first man up, landed on Headmaster North at once for a home run, and repeated the same thing later on in the game. Others hit freely also, and the game was marked by heavy hitting, errors and runs.

Class baseball and games between the departments are getting popular. Challenges have been issued by the classes to each other and the days from now on when the first team has no schedule will be used in this way by the baseball players in college. This feature of athletics holds much interest during this season of the year and is a very wholesome kind of sport.

Fortnightly Club.

Tomorrow evening at 7:45, in the Hesperian Hall, the Fortnightly Club will hold a very interesting meeting, to which the public is invited. Dr. William P. Few will talk on Edward Fitzgerald, and Dr. Edwin Mims will talk on Swinburne.

Frederick Weyerhaeuser, the lumber magnate, of St. Paul, has given $50,000 to the endowment fund of Macalester College. The gift supplements a donation of $15,000 for the college dormitory made by him two years ago.

The V. M. I. Dramatic Club gave a minstrel Friday night, April 16, in the Jackson Memorial Hall. It proved to be a high class entertainment and much enjoyed by all present.

TRINITY PARK SCHOOL NEWS.

Notes of Interest Picked up on That Campus by a Reporter.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS SELECTED.

Those Who are to Deliver Declarations Commencement Night Chosen—Class Representatives Also Selected—Rain Prevents Game of Ball—Other Items of Interest.

What would doubtless have been one of the most interesting and highly exciting games of the season was prevented here last Friday by rain. For some years Trinity Park School has been playing Bingham School of Asheville, and the games with that institution have always been the best played here. The entire community looked forward to the one last Friday which was not played because of rain and wet grounds. It is hardly probable that the game will be played during the season.

At a meeting of the Senior class a few days ago the following class day officers were selected: J. A. Hornaday, historian; H. B. Porter, poet; Miss Fannie Kilgo, prophetess; H. M. Radcliff, orator; Frank Turner, plenary man; and Alfred Mordecai, statistician.

The following have been selected from the Senior class to deliver declamations commencement:

W. A. Cade, J. A. Hornaday, D. W. Fletcher, H. B. Porter, B. S. Pittman, and G. A. Warlick.

At recent meetings of the Grady and Calhoun societies the chief marshal and chief manager for commencement were elected. From the Grady Society which gets the chief manager, M. T. Spears was elected, and G. A. Warlick, of the Calhoun Society, was elected chief marshal. These will appoint their assistants soon and announce them.

Headmaster North has closed a revival at Lakewood Park, near the city.

The April Gazette is now in the hands of the printer and is expected out soon.

Rev. Z. Paris, of North Wilkesboro, has been on the campus recently visiting his son, Paul, of the Senior class.

C. B. Wade, of the Senior class, spent Saturday and Sunday in Raleigh, visiting his brother at A. & M. College.

From Richmond.

President Kilgo has returned from Richmond where he went last week to attend the Educational Board of the Southern Methodist church. On Wednesday night Dr. Kilgo presided and responded to the address of welcome by Governor Swanson.

Dr. Edwin Mims, of the department of English, returned Saturday from the same conference. While there he delivered an address on "Illiteracy and Higher Education."

THE COLLEGE MAN.

Dr. James R. Garfield, Roosevelt's Secretary of the Interior, and who is himself a comparatively recent graduate from college, delivered an address before the students at the University of Chicago a few days ago at the dedication exercises of a university club, in which he made some statements which would indicate his pessimistic opinions of the accomplishments of college men in actual life:

"Since leaving college I have often been pessimistic about the college life and what educated men are doing for their country.
It is the idea that they are a specially privileged class which has made college men fail to take the places they ought to have taken."

This criticism is not altogether new, for now and then we hear something of the same idea expressed. Some of it is because of the fact that men often find themselves entirely out of harmony with everything in line of higher education. Some of them come from men who have succeeded;
some of them are college bred men and some are not. We are inclined to believe, however, that such sentiment is perhaps too often exaggerated. Yet we do believe that the truth in such criticism is not a little significant.

The politician is beginning to regard the college graduate as one who is unwilling to waste his time on anything except swaying large audiences, doing big things, and hesitating at the ordinary work that is necessary for success; the banker thinks he is a man who is waiting for big opportunities, "larger fields of usefulness," and impatient with the usual routine that constitutes the work of the business world.

And so some college men are regarded by the world, in many cases—the agreement that although education increases one's ability he is so often so conceited about his ability and his extraordinary improvement over the uneducated man, that that advantage is nullified. And there is to be seen on all sides some reasons why some college men should be warned. The college bred man is, to be sure, open to congratulations in that he has had that advantage; but he is to be pitied if he has allowed that advantage to make him a bigger fool than when he entered college. But it is both refreshing and amusing to contemplate the surprise that some will have, when leaving the walls of their college they fail to find the real world so anxious to do them obeisance. Some of them must accommodate themselves to entirely new mental processes if they propose to realize the puerile dreams that have apparently characterized their entire college career. It is all right for a man to be ambitious, and it is his unquestioned prerogative to hitch his wagon to the highest star if he is really honest about it and is unwilling to make a fool out of himself.

Trinity students, and especially those who are interested in the work of science, will have an excellent opportunity to enliven their interest in the work of the scientific association that meets here the last of the week. The sessions of this organization will doubtless be of great interest to the community, and many here will avail themselves of the opportunity the association brings.

Every student here should read and think about the truth expressed in the editorial in the April Archive, which came from the press yesterday. If it would cause it to be read any more we should be glad to use every word of it in these columns. The lack of accuracy, definiteness, etc., about which the editorial speaks so emphatically is perhaps the most prominent thing in the community, as it is doubtless very pronounced in all college communities. And the seriousness of the fact is that a college community is the last place in the world that such a thing should be seen. The editorial strikes the right note.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Instructive Meeting of Historical Organization Monday Evening in History Room—
Two Valuable Papers Read by Professors Brooks and Boyd—Good Crowd Present.

On last Monday evening the regular monthly meeting of the Trinity College Historical Society was held in the History lecture room of the Duke Building. Quite a number of students and others were present. Before the regular literary program was entered into, there were several valuable and interesting documents and papers presented to the Society. Among these were the autographs of several of the leading men of the State and nation during the first half of the last century.

The literary program was a continuation of the last meeting, on the history of Trinity College, this being the fiftieth anniversary of the college. The first paper was by Prof. E. C. Brooks, of the department of Education, on "The Evolution of the Curriculum of Trinity College," this being the second installment. In this paper, the speaker treated of the second period of the curriculum from 1887 to 1894, being the administration of President Dr.
Crowell. The history of the elective system, and the growth of the scientific courses, were well treated. Harvard's system of electives was in full sway until the coming of Dr. Crowell, who was a Yale graduate, in 1887. He threw many restrictions about the system and brought the college curriculum to become one among the best in the country. By 1892 Dr. Crowell had gathered about him such strong men that the other colleges of the State could not in any way compete with him. Trinity college became a force in organizing secondary schools in the state, and was at head of all the educational progress of the state.

The second paper was by Dr.
W. K. Boyd, of the department of history, which consisted chiefly of notes from the autobiography of Dr. Brantley York, the founder of Union Institute which later developed into Trinity College.
The life of Dr. York is important from two standpoints in the life of this college. First, he was the author of several textbooks on English Grammar, which were extensively used in the common schools of the state for a number of years. Second, he was the founder of Union Institute. Dr.
York was born on Bush Creek,
Randolph county, this state.
From his autobiography were read several of his childhood experiences, and a good idea of the ignorance and superstition of the people was gained. The moral condition of the people was low, very few people looked after religious matters. But when Dr. York was a young man a religious revival swept the section, he was converted and joined the conference in 1838 as an evangelist.
He spent the time very largely in teaching a public school. So in 1837 the patrons insisted that he teach a school in Brown's School House. This he did, and the next year determined to organize a prominent school for the people at large. He found support and that year organized Un-with the strong Trinity team yesterday afternoon. Ten runners pined and perished on the sacks while their teammates struck everything but the ball. The hit that would have done the damage, like the letter, never came.

Incidentally, the poor fielding of young Davidson enabled the Carolina crowd to pile up enough runs to put the game on ice.

Mercer's great chance came in the second inning when the bases were filled with none out. Then Oliphant popped up to short and Fender fanned. Had not Davidson accepted four very wide ones, and thereby forced in a tally, no runs would have been scored. With this counter chalked up and the bases still intoxicated, W. Smith, whiffed, and then got mad with his bat.

In the third and also in the fourth inning Mercer put two men on the bases, but were unable to shove them around.

The fifth and sixth passed quietly, but in the seventh a run was registered. Mallory reached first on a fielder's choice, swiped second, and trotted over the pan on Faulk's Texas leaguer to left.

The first man up in both the eighth and ninth got on base, one even going to third, and stayed there.

In the eighth Gray made his third safety, and stole second while B. Smith was striking out for the third time. Seeing that the case was hopeless, he also pilfered third, as Oliphant breezed. Fender then boosted a pop fly to short.

Moseley led off the ninth by taking a base. He went to third on a wild pitch. Then W. Smith, Mallory and Faulk each popped up a fly.

With Trinity it was different. Whenever the Methodists got on base they usually completed the circuit.

Cooper started the fun in the second frame with a slashing double to right. Pitcher Davidson failed to field Flowers' neat bunt. Then C. West wasted one of Davidson's slants to left, scoring Cooper and sending Flowers to third. The hit upset leftfielder Oliphant, for when he recovered the ball he very promptly heaved it a mile or so over the catcher's bonnet, allowing Flowers to amble home with ease.

Trinity added two more runs in the third. Suiter pushed a bunt between Davidson's legs, and Lewis also rolled one by the Mercer twirler, who seemed very much up in the air. At this juncture Coach Bailey shoved in Voss, whom W. West greeted with a clean single over second, which sufficed to tally both Suiter and Lewis.

Voss was effective until the fifth, when he plunked Lewis on the fifth rib and allowed Cooper and Flowers to connect safely, the whole netting a run.

That ended Trinity's scoring. They could do nothing with Voss, and as Coach Bailey wanted to pitch him again today he let Moseley take up the twirling burden in the seventh. Moseley did very well—exceedingly well, in fact. He whiffed two in the seventh and held his opponents down in the eighth, not yielding a hit in either frame.

The scintillating feature of the afternoon was the sensational all-round performance of Gray, whose exhibition was about the niftiest seen in these parts in recent years. The red-haired boy made three hits in four times at bat, stole three bases, and fielded like a demon. In the second inning he saved a run by making a grand one-hand stab of Gantt's fierce line drive. And in the eighth, he threw W. West out on first on a clean hit to right field. That was some playing as all must agree.

Catcher W. Smith must be given credit for watching the bases better than he usually does. He caught two runners napping, and, in fact, put up a creditable same behind the bat.

CLEMSON GAMES.

Chester, S. C., April 24.—Special—Trinity defeated Clemson in the morning game by a score of 4 to 1. Gantt was at his best and pitched another shut out game. Trinity scored two in the first and after that the only thing that kept the crowd's interest up was whether Clemson could or would score, and in the eighth Clemson scored on an error. Tuttle caught a great game, nothing passing him and his throw in the practice was so good that no one tried to steal. In the seventh inning Cochran, the first man up, got a three bagger and Big Bob retired the side without a run.

Gantt's pitching. Tuttle's catching and Walter West's two two-baggers were the features. Captain Suiter also got two hits.

Score by innings: R H E
Trinity, 200 000 200—4 8 4
Clemson 000 000 010—1 4 4

Batteries: Trinity, Gantt and Tuttle; Clemson, Rivers, Lacotte and Connelly.

Trinity won her third successive game over Clemson this evening by a score of 1 to 0. Trinity scored her run in the eighth. Worley was in the box for Trinity and pitched a good game. He was hit hard at times but with the gilt edge support he received it did not amount to anything. Woods, for Clemson, pitched a good game. The feature of the game was the fielding and timely hitting of Suiter for Trinity. West made a spectacular one hard stab in the ninth which ended the game.

Score by innings: R H E
Trinity, 000 000 010—1 7 1
Clemson, 000 000 000—0 6 1

Batteries: Worley and Tuttle; Woods and Connelly.

Captain Card split even with the Clemson coach in checker games.

Second Team Away.

The second team had good luck this week when it took its first trip. Saturday it won from Roxboro by a score of 14 to 2, the game, though the game was large in the Methodists' favor, being a fair specimen of baseball. The battery was Heitman and Jordan.

Monday, however, it met defeat at the hands of A. & M. College's scrubs, in one of the fastest and most snappy games played there in some time. So close was the fight that it required fifteen innings to decide the contest. The hour was late, so late in fact that the fielders covered their gardens with much difficulty, when, with two men down and three balls and two strikes on the third, one of the farmers drove out a home run, winning the contest. The score had been three to three ever since the ninth inning and it looked like they would play all night.

Score by innings: R H E
Trinity 110 000 000 100 000 003 9 3
A & M 010 010 000 100 000 014 12 3
Batteries Johnson and Sadler; Heitman and Jordan.

Other games will be arranged by the second team, and it is hoped that some will be played on the home diamond.

With the Colleges.

The subject of the Harvard Yale-Princeton triangular debate is: "Resolved, that all corporations engaged in inter-state commerce should be compelled to take out a Federal charter."

Season tickets will be honored for the Raleigh games. The team will go to Raleigh for one or more games with that team also.

Resolutions.

Resolutions adopted by the Hesperian Literary Society of Trinity College, Durham, N. C., April 3, 1909.

Whereas, God in His love and wisdom has removed from us our beloved fellow member and co-worker, V. S. Ivey; and whereas, he has been a faithful officer, and true and loyal to his society, therefore be it resolved by the members of this society.

First; That in his death the Hesperian Literary Society has sustained a great loss.

Second; That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family and commend them to the mercy of God who alone can comfort them in their great sorrow.

Third; That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this society, a copy sent to the family of deceased and the same be published in The Trinity Chronicle.

PRIZE ESSAYS.

An Invitation to Students Here to Compete for Prizes in Economic Subjects for Next Year—List of Subjects Given

An invitation is given to students of North Carolina Colleges by Professor J. Laurence Laughlin, of the University of Chicago, and other educators, to compete for the prize essays offered by Hart Schaffner & Marx to encourage the study of business subjects. The competition for 1909 is now under way and will end the coming June. Subjects for 1910 have just been suggested by the committee, as follows:

1. The effect of labor unions on international trade.
2. The best means of raising the wages of the unskilled.
3. A comparison between the theory and the actual practice of protectionism in the United States.
4. A scheme for an ideal monetary system for the United States.
5. The true relation of the central government to trusts.
6. How much of J. S. Mills' economic systems survives.
7. A central bank as a factor in a financial crisis.

The contestants are divided into two classes. Class A includes any American without restriction. Class B includes only those who, at the time of competing, are undergraduates of any American college. A first prize of $600 and a second prize of $400 are offered for the best studies presented by Class A; a first prize of $300 and a second prize of $200 are offered for the best studies presented by Class B. Any member of class B, however, may compete for the prizes of Class A.

Men or women who have not had a college training are eligible to compete under Class C, to which a prize of $500 is offered for the best essay, and for which the following subjects are suggested:

1. The most practicable scheme for beginning a reduction of the tariff.
2. The value of government statistics of wages in the last ten or fifteen years.
3. Opportunities for expanding our trade with South America.
4. The organization of the statistical work of the United States.
5. Publicity and form of trust accounts.

The winning essays will be published in book form at the discretion of the committee, which, in addition to Professor Laughlin, consists of Professor J. B. Clark, Columbia University, professor Henry C. Adams, University of Michigan, Horace Wright, Esq., New York City and Edwin F. Gay, Harvard University. The papers are to be handed in by June 1910.

The strike of students at Ruskin College, Oxford, on account of the dismissal of their principal, Dennis Hurd, lasted for ten days with the final defeat of the student body.

All classes of engineers at Minnesota have gone on a strike on account of the hard work given them in their courses.
