STUDENT LIFE DISCUSSED

SECOND MEETING OF COMMITTEE FOR STUDENT LIFE HELD ON TUESDAY AFTERNOON

SOCIETY DAY AND CLUB HOUSE

Parlor at Woman's Building Also Comes in for Discussion.—Movement on Foot to Have Special Exercises When Societies Get New Hall.

At the second regularly monthly meeting of the Student Life Committee, held yesterday afternoon in the faculty room of the Academic Building several topics regarding conditions among the students of the college were discussed and, in connection with one or two, definite action was taken. After the call to order by Professor Brooks, who is chairman, and the reading of the minutes of the last session by the secretary, Professor Wilson, Professor Brooks broached the question of setting a day for the holding of public exercises by the two literary societies, on the occasion of their entrance into their new halls in the Administration Building. He stated that he took up the matter at the suggestion of the alumni of the college in the City of Durham, who would like to co-operate with the literary societies in the carrying out of the plan, and has appointed a committee to confer with the literary societies and the Student Life Committee in regard to it. As the presidents of the literary societies were present and expressed approval of the plan, it was decided to have them refer it to those organizations at their next meeting and ascertain the status of opinion among the society men.

The conditions existing at the present Woman's Building were also taken up, and discussed with the view of arriving at some method thru which the co-eds could have the use of a parlor, for themselves and their visitors. It is to be hoped that some time in the near future some arrangements can be made toward the solution of this problem.

The appointment of Mr. W. E. Eller as a College Chronicler, at the last meeting of the Historical Society was announced to the Committee by the representative of that organization. The duties attached to this position will be those of obtaining an accurate account of every meeting held by student societies of any interest whatever, and of making a permanent record of the same for filing in the archives of the Historical Society in the Library vault. Mr. Eller will also co-operate with the representatives of the various newspapers and of the Chronicle in securing accurate statements of proceedings of meetings for publication.

Another matter that received some attention was the question of erecting a college club house or union, similar to those in use in the larger universities and colleges of the East and also at several of the more progressive southern institutions. No plans in regard to this undertaking have crystallized, and, for the present, it is probable that no definite action will be taken, as building activities on the campus are rather congested, but

TENNIS TEAMS SELECTED

Senior and Junior Classes Have Already Played.

According to the schedule arranged by the officers of the Tennis Association, the men who are trying for positions on the various tennis teams are now engaged in contesting for their places in the series of class tournaments held every fall under the authority of that association. The class teams will first be chosen in a series of games that will probably extend over two weeks or more, and when these have been finished, the two men who will compose the varsity team in tennis will be selected by tournaments open to all who desire to compete.

The work of the tennis association has been pushed with considerable vigor this year, and already there are over fifty members of the organization, including about twenty-five new men, and twenty-eight old students. The courts have been undergoing a thorough course of repairing and grading, and five of them are now in excellent condition. The nine-foot wire-netting fence built last year in the rear of the two new courts is being continued along the whole length of the courts in use, replacing the old back-stop that had become too abused to be of any benefit. When this is completed all courts owned by the association will be in first class condition.

In the tournaments played Monday afternoon, McKinnon defeated Best by the score of 6-0, 6-1, and A. Smith defeated E. L. Jones by the score of 6-3, 6-3, 4-6. The series between Brower and Fuller has been postponed until later in the week on account of the illness of one of the contestants.

Rain made the playing of all the games scheduled for the second afternoon of the tennis tournaments impossible but before the weather stopped the contests four matches were pulled off. At court number one, N. I. White defeated Alderman 6-2 and 6-0, at the second court C. W. White defeated Hal Hayes by the score of 6-2, 6-0; at court three Bagley defeated Sydney Smith by the score of 6-0 and 7-5; Rochelle forfeited to R. B. Anderson by failure to play the match scheduled between the two.

Ministerial Band

The Ministerial Band of the college met Friday night for its second regular meeting and plans for this year were completely outlined. While the lines of work to be followed by the organization have not been made public, it is understood that every effort will be made to secure from the work this year an increasing amount of benefit and the field of usefulness filled by the Ministerial Band, will, it is hoped, be extended. With the band, at its meetings this week, was Dr. Franklin N. Parker, of the chair of Bible literature of the college, and his suggestions added much to the work of laying plans, and his own co-operation will be of large help to the organization during the coming year.

PROF. PEGRAM'S ADDRESS

TALKS TO MEMBERS OF SCIENCE CLUB ABOUT INTERESTING MODERN PROBLEM

THE CONSTITUTION OF MATTER

Regular Monthly Meeting of Science Club.—Paper Also Read by W. A. Smith, Jr., on Year's Progress in Matters of Scientific Nature.

In the physics lecture room in the Crowell Science Hall Monday evening, speaking before the Science Club, Professor W. H. Pegram, of the department of Chemistry read a paper on "The Constitution of Matter," which he had previously delivered before the North Carolina Academy of Sciences last spring and had also published in the July number of The South Atlantic Quarterly. This paper has attracted a great deal of attention from the scientific men of the state, and delivered in an attractive style, proved one of the most interesting and instructive lectures ever delivered before the club.

In taking up his subject, Professor Pegram said that the general question to be considered was what is matter; in the world made of one substance or of many substances. Going back to the time of Plato, he traced the general belief in regard to the composition of the universe, up until the introduction of the atomic theory by Dalton, and the effect that this theory had upon the scientific research of the period following. Touching upon the theory that numerical relations between the atomic weight of the different elements themselves, and therefore all have a common bond or genesis, he went on to show by citing experiments mainly with the Cathode ray, that there existed particles of matter smaller than the smallest atom; that these sub-atomic particles though derived from different kinds of matter, are identical in mass and that each of these particles always carried a unit charge of negative electricity, and came to be known as an electron. This proves that the electron is the common ingredient of all matter. "At last," he continued, "the atom—the late invisible unit of matter—has been divided, and the persistent mystery of 70 or 80 primordial different kinds of matter has been solved." Making use of the above facts, he described the atom as a number of Electrons arranged about a central mass charged with positive electricity.

Passing from the region of verifiable facts to the hypothetical, he took up the theories of Thompson and Lodge, showed the relations or the supposed identity of all matter and electricity, summed up the revolution in thought along this line by saying "Electricity has been substituted for matter, and electro-dynamics for mechanics." By quoting from both the above experimenters he traced the relation of the ether to the matter or electricity, accounted for the presence of the different so-called elements, in matter as it was formerly regarded and concluded that ether, electricity, and matter could all be looked upon

GLEE CLUB PRACTICING

Manager F. S. Bennett Practising Eastern Trip for Boys.

With difficulties obstructing its organization at every step, the College Glee Club is beginning again its annual practices. On Friday evening the first try-outs for the year occurred and revealed a large number of men in the freshmen class who are anxious to make positions on the clubs. About twelve of the men who sang last year are back, but it is not known how many of these will try for positions this year.

Manager F. S. Bennett views the prospects of the club this year in a hopeful light. He is making arrangements for starting his fall trip before Thanksgiving and until that time those who are picked to accompany him will have daily practices. This year, he will carry only sixteen men in the choruses, with probably a reader and a pianist. The trip this fall will take in towns in the eastern part of the state instead of following a western route as has been the custom for the past few seasons.

Practices began yesterday evening and from now on the resounding tones of the practicing basses and tenors can be heard every day or night by passers near Memorial Hall. The Glee Club is an organization that is widely beneficial to the college in an advertising way, as it visits more towns in the state than are touched by any other group of college men. For this reason, if for no other, it deserves the hearty support of both students and faculty.

MONTHLY CLASS MEETING

Conducted by Dr. F. N. Parker this Year.

At the first of the regular monthly meetings conducted Sunday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. hall by Dr. F. N. Parker, a number of short personal talks were made by students in regard to their religious experience. The meeting was opened by Dr. Parker, who made a short talk on the cardinal principles of faith, courage and love of Christ. Later he called for testimonials from the students and a number of helpful and impressive talks were made. These monthly class meetings have long been a feature of the religious life of the college, having been inaugurated by Dr. Kilgo during his presidency and conducted by him. This year they will be under the direction of Dr. Parker.

as very closely related and could not unscientifically be supposed identical.

Mr. M. A. Smith, Jr., also read a paper, "A Review of the Main Happenings in the Scientific World in 1909-11." He took up the value of electricity, and electrical apparatus, the net earnings of each, and the special designs of scientific apparatus. After a short business meeting, during which the qualifications for membership were discussed, but no decision reached, the meeting was adjourned.

BASKET BALL PRACTICE ON

MEN OUT AT WORK EVERY AFTERNOON SHOWING LARGE INTEREST IN INDOOR SPORT

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR YEAR

Number of Old Men Back, But Every Man Has Chance to Make a Position by Showing Up Well.—Good Material Among the Freshmen.

The basket ball season is near at hand and Trinity is going to have this year a team that will be equal, if not better, than the wonderful machine of last year.

Besides the old players, all of whom are back with the exception of Kiker and J. E. Brinn, there is a host of new men that look good. Director Card states that the material among the freshmen this year is the most promising that he has ever seen enter here. Some of these men are going to give the old men a stiff fight for their positions, and tho they do not make good this year, will become experienced men and will be valuable next year when the old men will have graduated. Director Card says that there are an unusual number of tall men among the freshmen and that he hopes to develop them into stars. Some of these men already go into the practice games like old-timers.

Foremost among these men is Frank Crowell of Charlotte. It will be remembered that this was the gentleman responsible for our loss of two games last year in the Trinity-Charlotte Y. M. C. A. series. In these two games, he alone scored twenty points against us. In the practice games he has shown up in his old time form, and promises to make an ideal running mate for "Little Jimmy" Brinn. A place as forward on the team is practically assured for him. Others among the most promising of the new men are Frank Brown, of Raleigh High School fame, J. R. English, Jr., and P. Neal.

Captain C. B. Brinn, who did such star work as a forward last year, is out for his old position, if no shift in the line-up is made, in which case he will probably play guard. "Little Jimmy" made an exceptionally good record last year. He participated in six games and scored twenty-nine goals from the field, or fifty-eight points and made only 3 fouls during the whole season.

E. L. Jones, who is conceded one of the best forwards in the state, and who is probably the best long distance shot ever produced by Trinity, is again a candidate for a position as forward and is showing up in his form of old. Jones also has a very enviable record for last season. He took part in five whole games, and for a short time in two others which he was unable to finish on account of injuries, scoring twenty-five goals from the field and making four fouls.

H. G. (Bull) Hedrick, veteran guard, is back in college as a law student and is eligible to play again. Hedrick will in all probability be out this year as a candidate for his old position as left guard. He is one of the greatest

There are in Trinity College a number of men who hail from Rutherford College, an institution that stands high in the estimation of the best educated men in North Carolina. These men, thirty-three in number, have banded themselves together in an organization known as the "Rutherford College Club," and have mapped out a line of work which they will carry on during the year. Among other things, the Club is going to send regularly this year the Archive and the Chronicle to the reading room of the library at Rutherford College, and the members will, by correspondence keep in close touch with all the members of the 1912 graduating class, with a view to bringing them to Trinity next year.

By sending the two Trinity publications to that institution, these "sons of Rutherford" are showing their love for their Alma Mater as well as their estimation for the great value of these periodicals; and their action in keeping in touch with the members of the graduating class with a view to bringing them here is indicative of their loyalty to Trinity.

It is safe to say that if the members of this club will go after the men at Rutherford in the right way they will be able to bring a large percent. of them to this college next year. It seems that the graduates of Rutherford are naturally inclined to favor Trinity any way, and that it does not require much persuasion to head them this way. Men from this institution stand among the best to be found in Trinity College, and the greater the number that comes the greater and the better Trinity will be.

The example set by this club is one that might well be emulated by other organizations of a like nature in this institution. There are numerous towns and counties in the State that are well represented at Trinity, and while, perhaps, they are not organized into a club of any sort, they could render a great service to the college and to the men in the schools of their towns by speaking a good word for Trinity, and by writing a letter now and then to them in an effort to bring them here when they are prepared for college. Where it is desired, the men from one school might club together and have the college publications sent to the libraries of their respective high schools, and in that way advertise the college and perhaps bring several students here. We are confident that the college authorities would co-operate in every way possible with students who would pursue this course and that they would supply the students with an abundance of literature and circulars giving information about Trinity College.

The appointment of a college chronicle is an item worth chronicling in the columns of the Chronicle.

To make the students call for their mails frequently, as should be the case, why not have a Post Mistress instead of a Post Master?

We admit that a man looks fresher with his coat off, but there is no for reason calling attention to such a condition by visiting the Library in shirt sleeves.

A professor recently inquired of a member of one of the literary societies if the openings in the roof over the society halls in the new building were intended to let the gas escape.

(An inquiry has come to the Chronicle which we are unable to answer. We respectfully submit it to our readers: "Is the College a stockholder in the Electric Shoe Shop?"

SCHEDULE AT U. OF VA.

Change in Policy So As to Play More Southern Colleges.

The following article from the University of Virginia "College Topics" of June 10, taken as printed from the Ring-Tum-Phi of Washington and Lee will be of interest to those who follow the making of baseball schedules in the South:

"A change of policy in the arrangement of the baseball schedule for next year was proposed at last meeting of the G. A. A., and concurred in by all of the members present. It will materially change the athletic relations of the University and bring Virginia into association with several of the large institutions immediately to the South.

"For many years, the baseball team has been sent on the Northern trip at large expense to the athletic association, and the plan, in brief, is to change this upward itinerary for an invasion of the South. Hereafter Virginia baseball teams will go no farther than Princeton and Franklin Field at the University of Penn., but it is hoped by wise arrangement of games to play the same teams at points in the South. For instance, the Yale game at Norfolk is a big drawing card, and it will be attempted to secure this money making attraction for next year. Relations will thus be maintained with Northern colleges and at the same time there will be a wholesome departure in the taking on of Southern universities. The Northern teams will continue to visit Lambeth Field on their spring training trips.

"Of course a schedule for the Southern trip cannot be made out without the agreement of the colleges to be played but, reasoning on the offers that have come from other institutions, a tentative schedule is given below. Two games will be played with North Carolina probably at Greensboro and Charlotte, while the third will take place at Lambeth Field. Other prominent institutions of the South Atlantic division are Georgia Tech, the University of Georgia, and the University of South Carolina. It is practically certain that games will be arranged with these schools and one other.

"The guiding motives in the changes as outlined above is the intention of extending Virginia's relations with universities near home, and at the same time to insure the success of the baseball season from the financial side. There is no doubt the games in the larger cities of the South would prove big attractions; while, because of the fact that there is little real rivalry with the teams of the North, the games North of Philadelphia have very small crowds.

"It is with the idea of realizing funds from this change of policy that the G. A. A. board is assuming indebtment in building the first section of concrete grandstands."

HEADMASTER PEELE TALKS

Talks to Y. M. C. A. on Right Sort of Ambition.

Headmaster W. W. Peele of the Trinity Park School, was the speaker at the regular mid-week meeting of the Y. M. C. A. held last Wednesday night in the hall in the Epworth Building. He took as his subject the incident found in Matthew 20: 20-28, relating the story of the visit of the mother of Zebedee's children to Jesus to have her two sons given the places of honor on the right and on the left of Jesus when he came into His Kingdom. Ambition was the keynote of the whole talk.

Strong, robust characters do not spring up in a night, he said, and strength comes as a result of development. Saint John's old age was one of exquisite caution. He became what he was largely because Christ suppressed the evil and developed the good that was in him. St. John became what he was largely on account of the influence of Christ. In the suppression of evil and the development of the good the worst thing to get rid of was ambition.

Each of the disciples wanted to sit next to Christ. This desire for place was the besetting sin of Saint John. The ambition worth while is the ambition for character; an ambition to know the truth that you may lead others to Christ. We are not rewarded for the amount of service that we do, but for the spirit in which we do it. The disciples failed to recognize the law of promotion in the kingdom of heaven.

You are preparing the place you will fill by the kind of character you are building now. If you get to a place, you must travel the road that leads to it. Have an ambition, but let it be ambition. Do not let yourself be placed in a position without being prepared, or without having travelled the road that leads to it.

KAPPA ALPHA PICNIC

Fraternity Men Give Outing in Form of Trip to Chapel Hill.

Saturday afternoon the members of the Alpha Phi chapter of the Kappa Alpha fraternity with a bevy of Durham girls along left Durham in machines for Chapel Hill, where the party witnessed the football game between the University of North Carolina and Wake Forest. After the game, the visitors spent the time before supper in roaming round the beautiful campus of the university. The supper, the work of the feminine half of the party was served in the Kappa Alpha chapter house. Dancing and conversation furnished amusement after the supper hour, the dance taking place in the Zeta Xi chapter house. At a late hour the machines bore the crowd back to the city, happy and emphatically declaring the occasion to have been an exceptionally merry one.

Those who composed the party were: Mrs. N. King, chaperone, Misses Lida Carr Vaughan, Placide Kramer, Helen Gribble, Mary Sasser, Ruby Elliott, Willie Cox, Anna Branson, Fannie Kilgo, Kathleen Turrentine, Nancy Renn; and Messrs. W. H. Mize, Jr., C. W. Morgan, J. H. Powell, C. B. Briun, C. A. Godfrey, C. R. Bagley, H. B. Adams, R. L. Jones, B. H. Webster, R. T. Lucas, D. C. Lewis, L. P. Stack, and J. R. Peacock, Jr.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB

Literary Organization Holds First Meeting.

At the first meeting of the Fortnightly Club for this academic year, held Friday night in the West Wing of the Main Building, three new members were admitted to the organization and a number of older men made talks, outlining plans for the coming year, and expressing a desire to see the usefulness of the club expand. The new members are: S. S. Alderman, Greensboro; N. I. White, Statesville; and Quinton Holton, Durham.

The Fortnightly Club is the organization in college that stands preeminently for literary effort and the cultivation of a taste for the best in literature among members of the college community. It has a membership composed of those who have done some work in the literary field that deserves especial notice in the college community, and has a long list of members who have been known outside the boundaries of the college for their productions. This year under the presidency of Professor A. M. Webb, of the French Department, the club hopes to increase its influence and its usefulness to its members. Membership is only open to those above the junior class.

RUTHERFORD COLLEGE

Met Friday Evening and Elected Officers

The Rutherford College Club of Trinity College held its first meeting of the year last Thursday night, October 5th. The club was organized this year, and the following officers were elected: President, W. F. Starnes, of Monroe; vice-president, E. L. Secret, of Unionville; secretary-treasurer, J. W. Bennett, of Greensboro. No definite plan of work was mapped out for the year, other than that the club will send a copy both of the Trinity Archive, the college magazine, and the Trinity Chronicle, the college weekly, to the library and reading rooms at Rutherford College regularly. They will also keep in touch with all members of the graduating class of 1912 at Rutherford with a view to bringing them to Trinity next year. A graduate at Rutherford College can enter the sophomore class at Trinity.

Rutherford College has always sent a large number of men to Trinity, and at the present time there are thirty-three men from that institution in the four academic classes at Trinity, besides Mr. L. B. McKay, of the junior class, and Prof. W. W. Peele, headmaster of Trinity Park High School, both of whom are former Presidents of Rutherford College.

J. A. RAND, MANAGER

Athletic Council Meets and Elects Basket Ball Manager.

For the purpose of organizing preparatory to carrying on its work this year, and also for electing a manager for the basket ball team, the Athletic Council of the College met in its first session on Friday evening. The following officers were chosen to serve during the year just begun: President, W. W. Flowers, Vice-President, C. B. West, Chairman of the Executive Committee, Professor R. L. Flowers, Treasurer, J. Ed. Pagram, and Secretary, H. A. McKinnon. To manage the basket ball team this year the council elected Mr. J. A. Rand of Raleigh, a member of the junior class. Mr. Rand is already at work arranging a schedule of games for this year and hopes to bring some interesting contests here. Outside of the matters mentioned the council transacted no business at its first session. An assistant manager for the basketball team will be elected at a latter meeting.

CONSTRUCTION OF WALKS

Work on Grounds and Buildings Progressing Rapidly.

For the past few weeks, work on the various improvements being made on Trinity campus has been going forward again with increasing rapidity. The construction of road ways and side walks throughout the campus is receiving its fair share of attention and the day is not far distant, now, when the students of the college will not be forced to wade through mud and water in order to attend their classes and procure their meals. To several of the road ways the final layer of gravel is being applied and before long all will be ready for the coating of binding substance that will make the surface of the roads both smooth and durable.

Work on the East Wing of the Washington Duke Building is being carried on with greater expedition and already the structure is ready to receive its tile roof, like that which covers its replica just to the west. The building should be completed by the beginning of the second term if the same rate of building is maintained that was held up on the first one.

guards that has ever played on a Trinity Basketball team and has an excellent record behind him. During the season of 1910-11 he played in seven full games, allowing only fifteen field goals himself and scoring twenty-seven other points for his team by his unerring accuracy in throwing foul goals. The whole college community expect to see "Bull" on the floor again this year.

Besides the imposing array of material given above there are several substitutes of last year's team who are showing signs of great improvement in their work on the floor, and are going to give somebody a hot race for a position on the team. Among these are B. E. Houston and V. C. Moore, who made their letters last year. Both of these are good all-round men and can fill well any position on the team. The others of last year's squad are R. G. Cherry and D. L. Hardee, trying for center, R. T. Lucas and D. H. Barringer, trying for guard, C. W. White and W. S. Johnson, out for forward. All of these are good men and would make valuable players on any basketball team in the state.

The line-up of the team for 1911-12 cannot at present even be predicted, as there are so many good and experienced men who are candidates for the various positions that the matter of elimination will be a most difficult problem. Captain Brinn says there are five places on the team to be filled and that the best will fill them. In the meantime, he is putting his men through some strenuous practice, and the ability shown by the players in these practice games will have great influence in the final selection of the team.

Prof. J. A. Pitts, a member of the class of 1906, and now Principal of the Creedmoor High School, and four of his students spent Saturday in the Library getting material for a public debate.

RELAY RACE DISCUSSED

[At Mass Meeting of Those Interested]

At an athletic rally held in Craven Memorial Hall Friday night the students of the College, especially the new men, were informed more definitely in regard to the inter-class relay race that will be pulled off this fall. The relay race is the first performance in track athletics that has been engaged in at Trinity for some years, and the contest last year between the four teams of ten men each from the four classes aroused more class spirit than has been witnessed recently.

The meeting Friday night was presided over by Dr. F. C. Brown of the English department, who was in charge of the relay race since last year. He stated that races would occur earlier this year than last, as it would be better to have it before the cold weather, and the preparations would not be so difficult now as then, since one contest had already been carried through. The conditions of the race will be the same as those of last year; that is, the first runners will start from a point nine miles from the foot of the flag pole, and the last lap of the race will be around the race track on the campus where all can see. A preliminary in which the teams to represent the various classes will be chosen, will be held some time in the near future and after that the work of completing arrangements will go rapidly forward.

MOUNTAIN BOOMERS CLUB

Elects Officers and Lays Plans for Year

The Mountain Boomers Club, an organization composed of students from the western part of the state whose purpose it is to advance the interests of the college in their own section, held its initial meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night. A number of new men were admitted to membership in the club, and a committee was appointed to arrange for a spread to be given in their honor during the course of the next few weeks.

Officers were elected at this meeting and plans laid for the work of the coming year. The following men were chosen officers: President, W. E. Eller, vice-president, R. B. Walls, secretary and treasurer, J. O. Renfro, corresponding secretary, S. W. Marr, historian, W. L. Scott. The club hopes to enlarge its field of usefulness this year, and to perform more work for the college than heretofore. Ever since its organization, two years ago, the Mountain Boomers Club has done creditable service for the college among the high schools in the western part of North Carolina, and an increase in the amount of work it does will mean much to the college.

at a later date something will be done towards accomplishing this. Professor Wilson who brought the subject up for discussion affirmed that it was his belief that whatever action might be taken would have to originate among the students, as the administration had its hands full of other projects and could not consider this kind of proposition at present.

Dr. F. N. Parker will speak at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. Don't fail to hear him.
