FRESHMAN CLASS IS WINNER IN SECOND ANNUAL RELAY RACE

SUNSHINE, LARGE CROWDS, AND WELL-MATCHED TEAMS CONTRIBUTE TO SUCCESS

TIME OF WINNING TEAM 55:3

Sophomores Second—Seniors Third—Junior Last—Pennant and Cup Presented to Captain Yow by President Few at the Conclusion.

In the second annual inter-class relay race Monday afternoon the Freshman class carried off the honors of victory, covering the entire course of ten miles in the time of 55 minutes, 3 seconds. The time of the Sophomores, who finished second, was 56; 3. Of the Seniors, who, contrary to the expectation of all came in third, was 56; 30, and of the Juniors, 57; 23.

At no time after the end of the second mile were the Freshmen runners in serious danger of losing the heavy lead gained for them during that lap by R. L. Brown, and increased in the third by T. H. Anderson. Crowell, who finished for the first year men, made a mighty run and successfully prevented Phillips and Allison, for the sophomores and seniors, from decreasing the lead he held. For the seniors, Cherry and E. L. Jones did some excellent running in the fifth and seventh miles respectively, and McKinnon in the first mile led off for them in a way to make the other contestants look to their laurels. Hardee was the only Junior runner who put his class in the lead, and after the end of the fifth the Juniors were really out of the running. The work of Bost and Phillips for the class of '14 showed up well in the ninth and tenth miles.

There were forty men taking part in the race, and named in the order in which their respective classes stand in college, that is, seniors, Juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, the men who ran each mile were as follows:

- First mile—McKinnon, Hardee, Love, Yow.
- Second mile—Harrison, E. J. Wardick, G. A. Ellis, Brown, R. L.
- Third mile—Barringer, Lane, Lneas, Anderson, T. H.
- Fourth mile—Rozelle, Edens, Whitesides, English.
- Fifth mile—Cherry, Marr, S. W., Clark, Egerton.
- Sixth mile—Harrison, J. W., Towe, Williamson, Hester.
- Seventh mile—Jones, E. L., Alderman, Boyd, Sutton.
- Eighth mile—Harrison, J. W., Lee, McCles, Seerest, E. L.
- Ninth mile—Wells, Neal, K. P., Bost, Few.
- Tenth mile—Allison, E., Ratcliff, Phillips, Crowell.

At two thirty the wagons bearing the runners and officials for the furthest miles left the campus and in a few minutes every person connected with the race on the miles outside of the city was on his way to his post. Dr. F. C. Brown, accompanied by Captain Card and Professor Flowers, followed the wagons to the starting point, six miles out on the Mineral Springs road, and a number of other machines bearing enthusiastic supporters of the various classes likewise went to the point at which the race was to begin and followed the course immediately in the rear of the runners.

At three forty-five Dr. Brown gave the signal to start, and the men were off down the gentle hill that began the first mile. The excitement grew as the race progressed and when the runners entered the city a large crowd had assembled to see them pass just at the end of the sixth mile, on the east side of Chapel Hill street near the Public Library. A number of spectators were also assembled on Watts street at the end of the seventh mile.

As the runners on the final lap dashed into the crowd around the flag pole bearing their messages to President Few, who was standing in the automobile in which he had followed the men through the entire course, the cheering of each class was extremely enthusiastic and the defeated classes were none the less loyal to their runners than the men of 1915.

Before delivering the final award of the judges, President Few read the messages that had been turned by the various classes. That of the Freshman class simply read: "Winners until defeated." The Sophomores had written: "Our modesty prevents us from saying more than this: It might have been worse." The Seniors (Continued on page four.)

SENIORS AND FRESHMEN

Initial Game of Basket Ball Tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Tonight at seven thirty the initial game of the inter-class series of basket-ball games will be played between the teams of the Senior and Freshman classes in the Angier Duke gymnasium. The game was scheduled for Tuesday evening, but on account of the presence of Mr. Trawick, who spoke before the mid-week meeting of the Y. M. C. A., which was moved up for his convenience, the game was postponed. Captain Cherry, for the Seniors, and Captain Crowell, for the Freshmen, are in high spirits at the prospects of the game and both are sure of winning. The Senior team will probably be composed of W. L. Johnson and McKinnon, forwards; Cherry, center; Barringer and Wells, guards; with E. J. Harrison and J. A. Lee as substitutes. The lineup of the Freshmen will consist of the following men, if no change is made: Crowell and Carver, forwards; Paul, Neal, center; F. B. Brown and W. I. Wooten, guards; English and Boone will be the Freshmen substitutes.

The game will be called promptly at seven thirty and the admission will be ten cents. There will be another game between the Juniors and Sophomores Thursday night at 7:30. Captain C. W. White, of the Junior team, and Gaston, of the Sophomores, have not yet selected the men who will compose their respective teams but the contest promises to be an interesting one.

DR. TRAWICK ON NEGRO LIFE

ADDRESS UNDER AUSPICES OF Y. M. C. A. TUESDAY EVENING AT MEMORIAL HALL

The lecture at Craven Memorial Hall last night by Dr. A. M. Trawick, of Nashville, Tenn., under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., was attended by a large audience of students and members of the faculty, and several visitors from town. Dr. Trawick is connected with the Student Volunteer Movement of the Y. M. C. A., and is at present associated with Dr. W. D. Weatherford, Southern Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, with headquarters at Nashville.

The lecture last night dealt with the social conditions of the masses and more especially with the negro in the Southern States, and he illustrated his remarks by stereopticon slides, showing conditions as they actually exist in practically all of the large cities of the south. He showed many views the very sight of which should make any American blush with shame, and he tried to impress upon the minds of the young men who heard him, the importance of doing all in their power to help eliminate such conditions. He made very plain the fact that the authorities in the cities are not doing their duty toward the unfortunate masses who must find shelter, if it may be called that, in the filthy tenement houses, many, and indeed the majority, of which are wholly unfit for a human being to live in.

In conclusion, he asked that as many as possible of the students take up the life of the negro in the South, and he congratulated the students that they would have the privilege of studying the problem under the leadership of Professor E. C. Brooks who will teach a class in this subject this year. An effort will be made to enroll one hundred and fifty men in the class before Dr. Trawick leaves Durham today.

Dr. Trawick was a prominent figure at the Southern Student Convention of the Y. M. C. A. at Montreal last summer, where he led a class in the study of the social conditions of the South, the same subject that he lectured on last night.

Fortnightly Club Friday Evening

Friday evening, at eight thirty, the Fortnightly Club will hold its first open meeting of the year. Professor Wamamaker, as announced in the columns of the Chronicle for last week, will read a paper treating the recently published Autobiography of Richard Wagner. Some original poems will be read by Mr. N. I. White. The college community is cordially invited by the Club to be present at this meeting. It will be held in the large lecture room on the first floor of the Academic Building.

That exceedingly well edited journal, College Topics, of the University of Virginia, is a strictly conservative sheet. This was one of the headlines last issue;

"Miss Waldo to Sing in Appropriate Costume."

PUBLIC ROADS DEPARTMENT

Will Do Demonstration Work on Campus Driveways

For some time the authorities of Trinity College have been endeavoring to interest the Public Road Bureau of the Federal Government in doing some demonstration work on the driveways of the college campus. Last Wednesday President Few received a letter from Mr. Logan Waller Page, in charge of the good roads movement for the government, stating that some time during the coming spring the department would take up the matter and send some one to treat the campus drives with special binding substances.

The construction of the driveways through the campus has been going on through the entire summer, and the work is now almost completed. Every effort has been made to build roads as good as could be made, and the wide, level surfaces that extend from the new gate of the college to the race track, and thence around that course, are destined to be among the most popular drives in and around the city. The work has cost the college large sums of money and time and the example should furnish an impetus to the country around Durham for building good roads.

The problem of making the surface of macadam roads lasting and durable under the most wearing conditions of rain and traffic, has long been one of the most difficult matters engaging the attention of road-making experts. The efforts of the national government along this line in discovering and applying new processes have been of the utmost value to all sections of the country. In bringing to Durham and this section of North Carolina a demonstrator from the national bureau of highways, who will show some of the more improved methods of hardening and smoothing the surface of macadam roads, the college is performing a real service to this section and the entire state.

Another Book by Prof. Brooks.

Professor E. C. Brooks of the Department of Education of Trinity College is the joint author with Professor W. D. Carmichael of the Durham City Schools, of a book on the geography of North Carolina, recently issued by Rand, McNally & Co. While containing only a few pages, the book is gotten up in an attractive form and presents the topographical features of this state with fidelity and thoroughness. The book is entitled "Doge's Geography of North Carolina." Professor Brooks has also presented to the Library copies of his recent work on Cotton, and of an elementary arithmetic revised under his direction some years ago. These volumes will be ready for circulation at the Library after today.

Mission Study Class.

Sunday afternoon, at 2:30, Dr. Gasson will meet the Mission Study Class, studying "Negro Life in the South," and lecture in the place of Prof. Brooks who will be out of the city. This course is proving very popular as over a hundred have already joined.

OCTOBER QUARTERLY OUT

ISSUE COMPLETES TENTH VOLUME OF MAGAZINE PUBLISHED AT TRINITY COLLEGE

REVIEW OF NUMBER'S CONTENTS

Southern History and Life, General Literature and Timely Articles Included—President Few and Dr. Laprade Contributors.

Completing the tenth volume of the magazine the October number of the South Atlantic Quarterly came from the press Thursday evening. The present issue upholds the high standard set in previous numbers and volumes and contains a number of timely and illuminating articles.

Southern history and events directly related to Southern affairs receive their usual share of attention. Mr. Gamaliel Bradford, Jr., contributes another of his sympathetic articles on the life of Lee, entitled "Lee After the War." Mr. Bradford is well known throughout the country as a writer on this subject and his articles appearing in the Atlantic Monthly and the Quarterly have attracted considerable attention. Prof. David Y. Thomas of the University of Arkansas, writes on the "The Free Negro in Florida before 1865." The military history of the war between the states receives some interesting treatment in the article by Mr. George M. Wolfson on Butler's Relation with Grant and the Army of the James in 1864." Mr. Wolfson brings to this discussion some interesting views and material.

Mr. James Elmer Bailey contributes the only essentially literary article in this issue. His subject is "A Note on a Reputedly Incomprehensible Poem," and he deals with the poem by George Meredith entitled, "The Sage Enamoured and the Honest Lady." Mr. Bailey is the author of a study of the novels of George Meredith and is able to speak with authority on any subject regarding him and his work.

There are four articles dealing with problems at present engaging the thought of the world or subjects that have received considerable attention for sometime. Prof. Roy Temple House who has spent the last year in Germany as an exchange professor in one of the Magdeburg schools, has a discussion of "Problems of State Religious Instruction in Germany." President W. P. Few, of Trinity College, one of the editors of the magazine, contributes a thoughtful article on "Force and Right in the Government of the World." A paper on "Workmen's Compensation and the Law," comes from the pen of Prof. John Bauer of Cornell University. Possibly the most timely article in the magazine, and one of the most acute, is the discussion of the recent constitutional crisis in Great Britain, by Dr. W. T. Laprade of the history department of Trinity College. He affirms that the British Parliament took the most conservative course in making the changes in the constitution and goes on, in the course of the article, to prove his statement. Dr. Laprade is peculiarly fitted to write on this subject because (Continued on page four.)

It sometimes requires some exercise on the part of Seniors—and others—in order to be present at chapel exercises.

The relay race was laid over from Saturday until Monday, but its resuscitation a week later date proved to be a light task.

The baths in North Dormitory are evidently equipped with anti-scalding attachments, or the water of the Eno has greater specific heat than is commonly supposed to be the property of such a liquid.

It is a good thing that the number of runners for each class in the relay race was not determined by their respective numerals; the seniors would had only twelve to the freshmen's fifteen. And what about the Sophomores?

The zephyrs of summer are gone and in their place howls the piercing, biting tempest of winter. There are many who prefer the approaching season of the year to the one just past, and all will be able to make out during the hard months. There is one person, however, who views the coming winter in the same light that the fatted calf looked at the return of the prodigal—that person is the night watchman. Students have beds, and the rats of the dormitories have holes, but the way of the watcher lieth over cold and stony paths and the call of the home fire cannot be answered by his numbed feet. It is, indeed, a matter of note and a circumstance full of tribulation that a member of the human race is forced to spend his nights in such a manner. When the temperature begins to fall a little lower the gentleman will have to inaugurate a series of foot races in order to keep himself in good standing as a contestant in the human race. Where his course will lie is a matter of conjecture, and it is to be hoped that he will not stump his toe in the progress thereof. Selah.

GLEE CLUB TRIBULATIONS

Chorus Selected—Route of its Fall Trip Is Changed.

Again the Fates have interfered with the plans of Manager F. S. Bennett in regard to his trip with the college Glee Club. On account of several difficulties in the way of his performances at some of the towns on the route over which he originally intended to carry his men, all the dates in the southern route have been cancelled, and he is now at work listing performances of the Glee Club in the towns of Oxford, Hendersonville, Creedmore and other places to the north of this city.

The men who will compose the chorus have been selected as follows:

First tenor: Constable, Parker, and Bennett, F. S.
Second tenor: C. W. White, Hurley, G. McAdams, Richardson.

First Bass: Alderman, H. A. Hayes, M. McAdams, Patton.

Second Bass: Sheppard, Kirkman, G. F. Alexander, and either Ware, W. R. Ivey, or Crowell.

There will be an orchestral quartette besides the regular vocal quartette, and the orchestra will be composed of Alderman, M. and G. McAdams, and V. W. Kimball, who will accompany the Club as pianist.

Association of Southern Schools.

Professor E. C. Brooks left yesterday afternoon for Tuscaloosa, Ala., where he will represent Trinity at the meeting of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Southern States. The first session of the meeting will begin at 1 P. M. tomorrow, and the last will be on Friday afternoon. A number of prominent educators from southern institutions will be present, including Chancellor Kirkland of Vanderbilt University, President Denny of Washington and Lee, Professor Walter L. Fleming of Louisiana State University, Professor Sionsat of Vanderbilt, and President Craighead of Tulane.

Classical Club Takes In Men.

The Classical Club held its second meeting of the year Thursday evening in the Latin room of the library, beginning at 7:30. New members were admitted and a number of business matters attended to after the disposal of the business of the evening. An informal spread was enjoyed by both old and new men. Those who were admitted to membership are: W. T. Ruark, R. G. Murray, James Cannon, Jr., E. M. Carter, J. H. Lotspeich, C. F. Starnes, H. L. Wilson, E. J. Harbison, W. A. Cade.

Rev. C. B. Hounshell at Y. M. C. A.

Mr. G. C. Hounshell, traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement, will visit Trinity College next Monday and Tuesday, the 6th and 7th. Tuesday night Mr. Hounshell will address the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A., which will be held then instead of on Wednesday night.

EDUCATION CLUB MEETING

How People of Old Athens Made Their Living.

In spite of the inclement weather, a large crowd gathered in the Y. M. C. A. hall Friday night to hear the address of Prof. A. H. Meritt before the Educational Club on the subject of "The Occupation of the Athenians in the Periclean Age."

Prof. Meritt began by saying that the population of Athens was about eight times that of Durham, and that the occupations of the Athenians were almost as diversified as those of the people of Durham. The occupations of the inhabitants at this time are very different from those at the time of Pericles, which was about 490 B. C. In the region about eight miles north of the city of Athens charcoal burning largely occupied the time of the people. Many were engaged in the making of sausage, for the people were very fond of that kind of meat. In the region around Boetia, which lay among the mountains, and where there was a great swamp, eels were found in abundance, and great numbers of the people made their living by catching and pickling these reptiles.

Nearly half of the population was engaged in building and repairing ships in time of peace, and in manning the ships in time of war. The raising of grapes was one of the chief occupations on the hillsides and mountain slopes, as was also the raising of olives and figs. The Greeks were very fond of fish, and prized very highly a certain species of red fish that were found in the southern part of the peninsula. Nearly all of the women made their own dresses and before going out to a party, a funeral, or any kind of merry-making, they would have their hair dressed by some expert at the business. The barber shops were the chief loafing places, but in the families the mother usually cut her son's hair. No boy was allowed to have his hair cut until he was sixteen years old. Practically all the utensils of the kitchen were made of clay, and about ten per cent. of the people were engaged in making pottery. The women of the family usually did the spinning, and on some of the tombstones could be seen the motto: "She lived, spun wool, and died." Many of the men made their living at the tanneries. At this business great numbers made large fortunes, especially so since it was the custom in that time to have leather-covered shields. The process of tanning at that time was much slower than it is now. Not a few people made their livings by making toys for the children. The toys were not such as the boys and girls in this day and time have, but were made of wood and clay. Such things as wooden carts and clay swords were very common.

BISHOP KILGO TO Y.M.C.A.

Makes Forceful Address Last Wednesday Evening.

Bishop John C. Kilgo was the speaker at the mid-week meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday evening.

Bishop Kilgo did not take any special text for his remarks, but plunged immediately into his real subject. The supreme matter, he said that concerns us is our salvation. To make a mistake about God, or a mistake about salvation is the one irrevocable mistake that man can make. In this day and time, there are many things to confuse men: there have been and always will be false prophets. Men who are being damned by the confusion of religions; religions that have in them every thing except Christ.

Men who do not believe and confess the deity of the Son of God are not Christians, and God dwells in those who believe in the Deity of the Son of God. "He that believeth not in me, believeth not in Him that sent me." Hell will have its Borewry, but it is going to have its Fifth Avenue and its Boulevard, too.

There is no Fatherhood in God without a Sonship in Jesus Christ and the greatest moral fact in the Universe is faith in Jesus Christ, with a complete devotion of mind, heart, and soul.

Speaking of the judgment Bishop Kilgo said that man was not going to be judged on this law and that law, but on the one supreme law, and quoting the words of Jesus, he said "He that believeth in me shall be saved, and he that believeth not shall be damned." He said that the Father would not be at the judgment for us to appeal to, for all had been committed into the hands of the Son.

FRESHMEN CLASS IS WINNER IN THE SECOND ANNUAL RELAY RACE.

iors had chosen an appropriate stanza from Kipling's poem entitled "If," which read as follows:

"If you can fill the unforgiving minute,

With sixty seconds worth of distance run,

Yours is the race, and everything that's in it—

And what is more, you'll be a man, my son."

The Juniors took their lot easily and had sent the following message: "Whether early or whether late, the Juniors are here and are glad to have done their best."

After reading these messages President Few spoke for several minutes on the value of such contests in a physical and a material way, and then delivered to H. J. Yow, Captain of the Freshman team, the pennant given each year to the winners of the contest and also the silver loving cup presented by Snider-Wilcox-Fletcher Company to be held by the winning class each year, and which will become the permanent property of any class which can retain it for four years in succession.

SOPHOMORES HOLD SOCIAL

Most Enjoyable Event for Members of Class.

The annual Sophomore Social was held Monday night in the Academic Building and was a most enjoyable event for those attending. The class had as its guests the girls of the Senior Class and as chaperones and guests of honor President and Mrs. Few and Prof. and Mrs. Flowers.

As the guests entered the room, which was purple and white, decorated in the class colors, they were served with punch by Miss Estelle Flowers and Miss Mary Gorham. Miss Emma McCullen sang several enjoyable pieces and was accompanied by Miss Mildred Sinclair. Both Miss Sinclair and Miss Katie Lee McKinnon, who played during the evening, added much to the enjoyment of the guests.

Prof. Wilson acted as toastmaster and the following responded to toasts: Dr. Few, College Loyalty; James Cannon, Jr., The Ladies; Miss Mary Wescott, The Gentlemen; J. V. Reed, Punster; Prof. Flowers, Class Athletics; W. F. Starnes, The Class.

Delicious refreshments, consisting of fruit, punch, salted peanuts and ice cream in the class colors were served. The evening was closed with the making of a flashlight photograph of those present by Holladay.

Question for Second Debate

At Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania some time during the month of February of this year, Trinity debaters will meet for the second time, a team of speakers from Swarthmore, the question for discussion being: "Resolved, That the Greek letter fraternities as existing at present in undergraduate colleges are detrimental to the best interests of the academic world."

The question is the same as that which will be debated by the colleges of the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Debating League of which Swarthmore is a member. Trinity has the choice of sides, but owing to a slight ambiguity in the wording of the question, no decision will be made in regard to this matter until further communications have been received from the college submitting the question. The other colleges represented in the League mentioned are: Pennsylvania State, Franklin, Marshall, and Dickson.
