HINTON C. HUDSON WINS SECOND ANNUAL DECLAMATION CONTEST

FORTY-FOUR HIGH SCHOOL REPRESENTATIVES TAKE PART IN MEDAL COMPETITION

GREAT SUCCESS ATTENDS EVENTS

Smithfield High School Representative Medal Winner.—Details of Preliminaries and Final Contest.—Banquet Closes Program.

Before an audience that practically filled Craven Memorial Hall ten speakers, from as many schools in North Carolina, delivered, Friday evening, ten declamations in the contest for the medal offered by the "9019" to the winner in what is known as the Annual Interscholastic Declamation Contest. The winner of the medal was Hinton Gardner Hudson, of Smithfield, representing the Smithfield High School. He is the son of J. B. Hudson, a cotton buyer, well known in the eastern part of the state. The successful competitor, only fifteen years of age, was probably the youngest, as he was certainly the smallest, man among the whole number.

Dean W. I. Cranford presided at the speaking Friday night. The judges for the final contest, who were not announced until immediately preceding the beginning of the program, were: Mr. W. A. Erwin, of West Durham; Prof. W. P. Lawrence, of Elon College; and Hon. T. M. Pittman, of Henderson. The college glee club furnished music to occupy the intermissions on the program and every thing was done to make the occasion a success.

At all times during the program the audience was free with applause and the enthusiasm shown was almost without bounds when Mr. Erwin, for the judges, announced that young Mr. Hudson had obtained the coveted honor. There were other speakers on the rostrum, however, who had a large number of sympathizers. Mr. Messler, from Asheville, who spoke second, made an excellent appearance and his speech was heartily applauded. Mr. James A. Taylor, of Oxford, who represented Cluster Springs Academy, Va., also showed up well and won friends among his auditors. Clarence Ross, from East Durham, who declaimed Adams' speech on the Declaration, showed the results of careful training and effort.

In making the announcement of the decision Mr. Erwin stated that he wished there were ten medals to give, as the committee felt that that every man who spoke deserved some mark of honor.

The following was the program carried out:

Alex McLean, Gastonia, "The New South."

Carl Messler, Asheville, "The South and the Negro Problem."

James A. Taylor, Cluster Springs Academy, "The Curse of Regulus."

Music by Glee Club Quartette.

Clarence Ross, East Durham, "John Adams on the Declaration."

Harry Lee Dalton, Winston City High School, "Mothers of Men."

R. L. Hayes, Trinity Park

School, "Emmett's Last Speech." Music by Glee Club Quartette. Hinton Gardner Hudson, Smithfield, "In God We Trust, Must Remain on the American Money."

Basil M. Boyd, Mars Hill College, "The Subjugation of the Philippines." Music by Glee Club Quartette. James L. Yost, Mount Pleasant Collegiate Institute, "The Confederate Soldier."

Fred Deaton, Statesville, "Universal Education."

FRIDAY MORNING

Practically all of the speakers for the contest arrived last night, a number of them coming from the west being delayed, however, by the wreck at Haw River, which held the east-bound train. On account of this delay the drawing of lots for the preliminaries was postponed until 9 o'clock Friday morning. Immediately after the drawing of lots to determine the places, the three preliminaries began.

The first section, embracing out-of-state schools, and those from the sixth, seventh, ninth, and tenth Congressional Districts, included the following schools with their representatives: Biscoe High School, W. L. Munroe; subject, "Freedom or Slavery." Bryson City High School, Wiley Marr; subject, "The Lost Soul." Catawba College, Newton, E. F. Menius; subject, "Self Control." Gastonia High School, Alex McLean; subject, "The New South." Haywood Institute, Clyde M. Wharton; subject, "Emmett's Defense in Haste." Hendersonville High School, Adrian Knox; subject, "The Black Horse and His Rider."

Asheville High School, Carl Messler; subject, "The South and the Negro Problem." Baird's School for Boys, Charlotte, George L. Ray; subject, "The New South." Cluster Springs Academy, Va., James A. Taylor, Jr.; subject, "The Curse of Regulus." Daulville High School, Va., Harry Berman; subject, "Henry Watterson's Eulogy on Abraham Lincoln." Wofford Fitting School, Spartanburg, S. C., James D. Gist; subject, "Napoleon." Mars Hill College, Basil M. Boyd; subject, "Hoar's, The Subjugation of the Philippines." Monroe High School, Archie Fairley; subject, "Roosevelt's Inaugural Address." Rutherford College, Lloyd P. Smith; subject, "Culture the Basis of Brotherhood." Wadesboro High School, J. C. Ledberry; subject, "The Black Horse and His Rider." Waynesville High School, Buell Hyatt; subject, "America, a World Power." Wilmington High School, W. S. Sick; subject, "The New South."

In the second section the representatives from the second, fourth, and eighth Congressional Districts appeared. The list of schools represented was as follows: Cary High School, R. M. Johnson; subject, "The American Flag." Henderson High School, J. R. Rand.

ANNUAL BOARD MET TODAY

LONG DESIRED MEETING TAKES PLACE THIS AFTERNOON, AND WORK WILL BE BEGUN.

When the faculty placed their mark of approval on the plan submitted for the Annual, at their meeting last Wednesday afternoon, and provided that the publication might go forward with the organizations at its back, even the Columbian Literary Society had decided not to stand behind it, they made possible the inauguration of a publication at Trinity College that bids fair to mark a new era in the growth of student activities in this institution. Efforts toward the issuance of an Annual have been made from time immemorial and up to this time they have been fruitless. This year the agitation has been marked by greater earnestness and the results have been most gratifying to those who have taken part in it.

A meeting of the representatives from the various organizations which are to take units of responsibility in the Annual, has been called for this afternoon. At this meeting plans will be laid for the organization and a tentative constitution for the publication discussed. It is probable that officers will also be elected, and if this is not accomplished today it will be done at an early date.

The following organizations thus far have signified their intention of assuming their share of responsibility for the annual, both in a financial and administrative way, and have selected their representatives for the governing board of the publication: Hesperian Literary Society, M. Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Kappa Sigma.

Prof. Brooks Heads Teachers

At the meeting of the North Carolina Teachers Assembly, held in Raleigh last week, Professor E. C. Brooks, of the Department of Education, was elected President of the association for the coming year. He succeeds Prof. Charles L. Coon, of Wilson, who has served the Assembly ably for the past term. The honor of holding this place is a signal mark of esteem placed upon the labors and character of Professor Brooks by the teachers of the state.

Dr. Few Leaves for Georgetown

President W. P. Few left yesterday afternoon for Georgetown, Texas, where, next Saturday, December 9, he delivers the address at the inauguration of Dr. C. M. Bishop, President elect of Southwestern University. On the way he will visit by invitation the University of Texas, at Austin, and on the return trip he will speak at one of the colleges in Arkansas.

Dr. Few Chosen Vice President

President W. P. Few was chosen one of the vice-presidents of the North Carolina Historical and Literary Association which met in the Capital City last week. His associate in this office is Miss Lida T. Rodman, of Washington. R. D. W. Connor was elected president.

Y.M.C.A. OFFICERS ELECTED

Professor Wannamaker Also Makes An Address.

At the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday night the officers for the coming year were elected and a very forceful talk was made by Professor Wannamaker. The officers who were elected are as follows. President, W. G. Suiter; vice-president, W. A. Cade; secretary, T. Z. B. Evertson; and treasurer, W. F. Starnes.

Professor Wannamaker's address was brief, but timely and to the point. He discussed the uselessness of trying to settle minor creeds and doctrines. The real question, said the speaker, that every person should settle, however, is whether or not he really wills to live an upright and religious life. For according to his text, "If any man will do his will he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God or whether I speak of myself," (John 7:17). And surely, he said, every man should will to do right, for after all the greatest joy that can come to a man at the close of a day is the feeling that the day was well spent.

PI KAPPA ALPHA PICNIC

Annual Outing at Southgate's Cabin Thanksgiving.

Thankful for the gift of a clear beautiful day, and forgetting, for the time being, the depth to which the thermometer has fallen, the Trinity College chapter of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity gave their annual picnic Thursday at Southgate's cabin, near University Station. Leaving the city about ten o'clock the couples drove to the cabins in carriages, arriving at their destination about eleven thirty. Their time at the cabin was occupied by various picnic amusements, including strolls about the woods and fields surrounding the place, and games, within, near the great wood fire that burns in the entrance hall of Mr. Southgate's home.

A bountiful Thanksgiving dinner was served by a caterer engaged for the purpose, including turkey, quail on toast, and other dainties that grace Thanksgiving boards everywhere. At the conclusion of the dinner a meerschaum pipe of finest quality was presented to Mr. Southgate in appreciation of his courtesy as host of the fraternity. Those who composed the party are: F. H. Bryan with Miss Mattie Leamon, J. H. Lee with Miss Katie Lee McKinnon, L. I. Boone, Jr., with Miss Katherine Thomas, Bob Gantt with Miss Anna Branson, L. B. Hurley with Miss Fannie Kilgo, Mills Kitchin with Miss Douglas Hill, G. A. Warlick with Miss Helen Gribble, W. H. Parsons with Miss Nancy Renn, I. W. Howell of A. & M. College, Raleigh, with Miss Mildred Holding, Raleigh, W. L. Lee with Miss Mildred Hall, Raleigh, C. H. Creedmore with Miss Bessie Haywood, Eli Warlick with Miss Sue Kitchin, Raleigh, John English with Miss Emma McCullen, N. M. Patton with Miss Thorne of Rockingham; chaperones: Professor and Mrs. W. H. Wannamaker, and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bost.

BASKET BALL PERCENTAGES

FRESHMEN AND JUNIORS TIE FOR SECOND PLACE—LATTER DEFENDED LAST NIGHT.

GIVES SENIORS CHAMPIONSHIP

Juniors Also Win from Sophomores Thanksgiving Night.—Fast, Snappy, Clean Playing Prominent Features in Both Contests.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS
	Won	Lost	Total	Pct.
Seniors	5	0	5	1000
Juniors	3	3	6	500
Freshmen	3	3	6	500
Sophomores	0	5	5	000

FRESHMEN VS. SOPHOMORES

The freshmen defeated the sophomores last night in basketball to the tune of 26 to 6. The game was one of the cleanest played on the Angier Duke Gymnasium floor this year, but was devoid of special interest. Crowell for the freshmen played his usual snappy game and made 12 of the 26 points for his team.

The sophomores were seriously handicapped by the absence of Gaston, their captain, who was out of the game on account of a broken collarbone.

The line-up of the teams last night was as follows:

Summary:—Field goals: Pleasants 2, Wooten 2, Neal 3, Crowell 5, Craven 1; foul goals: Pleasants 2, Crowell 2, Wooten 2.

FRESHMEN VS. JUNIORS

Last night in a game closely contested and replete with interest from beginning to end, the freshmen defeated the juniors by the close score of 27 to 21, thereby tying them for second place in the series. Clean playing and excellent team work was evident, and with the score often tied at no time until the blow of the time-keeper's whistle was either team sure of victory. The juniors got the lead, and through several spectacular goal shots managed to hold it during the major portion of the first half, but in the last few minutes the freshmen ran up their number of points, making the score at the end of the half stand 15 to 14 in their favor.

By far the greatest amount of stellar work was put up by Crowell for the freshmen, who, playing at guard, kept up an excellent defensive, and made a record by scoring 24 of the 27 points made by his team. Wooten and Thorne both were good on the defensive, keeping in the midst of the fight and holding their men from scoring as well. White, captain of the junior team, despite a sprained ankle, played his usual good game, having over half the points of his team registered to his credit. Hardee, at center, was also there with the goods, keeping his man from scoring at all and scoring eight points for his team.

Christmas is coming and we have all rendered Thanksgiving.

A holiday is sometimes a holiday. There is nothing to it.

"The rains fell and the floods came and the winds blew" and beat upon the campus—and it was just plain ash. Don't worry yourself; it hasn't rained in two weeks.

The Colonel's "inaugural," issued in thunderous tones from the lips of young America Friday. The thunder, it is claimed was stolen from the Peerless One, however, and still it seems to be dying away in the distance.

Greater success and establishment on a firmer basis are the immediate results visible from the Declaration Contest. Last year the event was more in the nature of an experiment and its success, while remarkable for the first attempt, could not be taken as an indication that the outcome of the contest would be permanently happy. After the increased number of schools sending representatives to the contest this year and the large interest stirred up among the teachers in the state schools, we may fairly conclude that the contest will become an event of great importance in State high school circles. The value of the contest to the schools and their representatives and to the college cannot be estimated. As was brought out by Mr. Holton, in speaking at the banquet which followed the exercises of Friday evening, the training in clearness of enunciation and correctness of intonation in reading, that comes to those who take part in the competition for places in the contest, fills a place left vacant in the curriculum of most of our high schools in that, as a rule, small attention is given to such work after the pupils leave the grammar grades where reading is taught. That it is of immense importance to the college to have so many representatives from the leading schools in this and other states, visit our campus once every year can easily be seen. And besides this the event brings such work prominently before the whole State. Every year should see a larger number of schools taking up work along these lines, even though they do not care to send representatives here to participate in the Declaration Contest.

The annual board is organized and the movement actually under way. We are glad to be able to make the statement, for it is one that denotes large and beneficial results to the college. As soon as the editors and managers are elected and begin work, every student in college should make it a point to offer all assistance within his power to make the publication a success. The present generation of students may well look upon this as one of the most important eras in the growth of Trinity College in a material way and along channels that are controlled by forces outside of the student body of the college. Future students will look back to this as a time of growth and progress. And now they will not be forced to ask "Where did the students of that day play any part in the development of the college?" The establishment of the Annual will be sufficient to show that the students were not entirely inactive and that they were careful to advance their own side of the college life along with the enormous strides that were being made in other directions. We hope the board as elected may do its work well, fixing the constitution under which the Annual is to be published with care and exactness, and that the officers whom it may select will be capable of performing their duties in this one of the most difficult tasks that has come up at Trinity College in recent years. If the Annual is started right and comes out the first year without any serious setbacks, its progress in after years will be more easy and sure. Here's to the Annual; may its progress be marked by one triumph after another and its results be beneficial to both students and college.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

Officers of South Atlantic Quarterly Elected.

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the South Atlantic Publishing Company, which issues the South Atlantic Quarterly, the following officers were elected: President, R. L. Flowers, Vice-President, W. K. Boyd; Secretary, W. H. Glasson; Treasurer, F. C. Brown. The board of directors consists of: R. L. Flowers, W. K. Boyd, W. H. Glasson, W. H. Wanamaker, A. M. Webb. The editors, W. H. Glasson and W. P. Few were re-elected.

The Quarterly has completed its tenth volume and its success has been noteworthy. The estimation in which the quarterly is held is evidenced by the following editorial which appeared in the North Carolina Review of December 3: "The current number of the South Atlantic Quarterly (Vol. X, Number 4) completes the tenth volume of this most interesting and important periodical—the most noteworthy as well as the most successful publication of its kind ever undertaken in North Carolina. The South Atlantic Quarterly will bear favorable comparison in the variety of its appeal, the quality of its contents and the scholarship of its editorial work with any magazine in the South. It is a publication in which North Carolinians in particular may exultably feel a deep pride, for its success is principally due to the scholarship of her sons.

PROGRAM OF GLEE CLUB

To Give First Performance Friday Night

After two months of trials, and tribulations; but during which time there was, nevertheless, a steady and effective practice kept up, the Glee Club is at last completely ready for the fall trip, and will leave for Clayton next Monday, Dec. 11th. As has been announced, there will be a performance by the club in the Erwin Hall at West Durham Friday night. This concert is to be given under the auspices of the Epworth League of the West Durham Methodist Church. The manager states that this will probably be the only concert which the club will give in Durham this year, so that those of the students who are interested in the musical side of college life should avail themselves of this opportunity for hearing the Glee Club. The price of admission is very reasonable, only half rate being charged.

The program to be given by the Club is as follows:

- PART I.
- "Honey, I want you now" Collins Coe
GLEE CLUB
 - Quartet, "Baby Rose".....Rosenburg

Basket Ball Team Chosen

With the initial game of the season to be played next Friday with Elon College, the basketball team of Trinity College enters upon what promises to be one of the most successful years in the history of the game in this institution. With a team that will equal if not excel any in the past, and prospects for a schedule of unusual interest everything points to ward an unbounded success.

Captain Brinn announces that the squad of the first team will be composed of the following men: Forwards; Brinn (Captain), E. L. Jones, Crowell, and C. W. White; Centers; Cherry and Moore; Guards; Hedrick, Houston, and Barringer. All the old men are well known to the basketball enthusiasts of the college, while the new additions, as shown by both the practice and inter-class games will be of great value to the team. Crowell, who for several years has starred on the Charlotte Y. M. C. A. team, is a player of unusual ability, while W. White, Cherry and Barringer have been close contestants for the team heretofore.

The game Friday night with Elon College will be called at 8 o'clock, and will offer to the fans of the college and community their first chance of the season to see some real intercollegiate basketball. The Elon team is reported to be unusually strong this year.

Writers' Club Hold Meeting

Interest in the recently organized Writer's Club is still at a gratifying pitch. The regular semi-monthly meeting held yesterday afternoon was one of the best of the series. Reports from committees on library and manuscripts were made, the former reporting the securing of a reference shelf at the college library for the use of the members of the club and any others who may desire to take advantage of the club literature. It is hoped that students will feel free to submit their manuscripts to the club committee on that subject and that a meeting may be devoted to a reading of original contributions.

The club discussed, as the literary program Tuesday, the short story in technique and plot. The classes of possible plots were explained; the development, treatment, and necessary characteristics of a good plot, and what does not constitute such a plot. The value of reading standard short-stories was a matter especially stressed; one member comparing this to research work in any other form of composition. A list of the best short stories was submitted to the club for reference and consideration until the next meeting.

Meeting of Historical Society

The postponed meeting of the Historical Society was held in the Y. M. C. A. hall Monday night. A number of donations to the museum were announced, among them being the following: A piece of the old capital at Richmond, presented by Bishop Kilgo; several copies of the William and Mary Magazine; the publications of the American Historical Association and the Bureau of Ethnology; and an old family Bible, presented by W. G. Sheppard; several photographs of old greenbacks, presented by Professor Brooks, and an old German prayer book.

The literary program consisted of a paper by W. G. Sheppard on "The Early Relations Between North Carolina and Tennessee." This paper, which won the Braxton Craven medal last year, discussed the formation of Tennessee from North Carolina and the early history of the country before it became a duly organized state. The old state of Franklin was discussed at some length, and the motives leading to its formation, as well as parts of its short but eventful history, were treated thruout the paper. The usual discussion followed the literary program.

Hayes; subject, "Regulus to the Roman and Carthaginian Senates." Winecoff High School, Concord, Robert L. Scott; subject, "The Death-bed of Benedict Arnold."

In the third section were placed the representatives from those schools within the first, third, and fifth Congressional Districts. The schools in this list are as follows: Creedmore High School, Tom Adams; subject, "The Grandeur of Patience." Durham High School, William Umstead; subject, "Heroism in History." East Durham High School, Clarence Ross; subject, "John Adams on the Declaration." Elizabeth City High School, Gregson Fearington; subject, "The New South." Greensboro High School, Charles Moseley; subject, "Liberty and Union." High Point High School, Chas. Matton; subject, "The New North." Horner Military School, Oxford, J. G. Washington High School, Enoch S. Simmons; subject, "Antony's Oration Over Caesar's Dead Body." Winston City High School, Harry Lee Dalton; subject, "Mothers of Men."

From the first section four speakers were selected and from each of the other two, three each. The preliminary trials were completed by the hour of twelve, but not until two o'clock, when the contestants again assembled in Craven Memorial Hall, were the decisions of the three committees announced. Those who acted as judges for the first section were: Prof. W. H. Pegram, Prof. W. H. Wannamaker, and Mr. E. C. Klutz. The meeting of this section was held in the Y. M. C. A. hall. For the second section, which met in Craven Memorial Hall, the judges were: Dr. W. H. Glasson, Dr. W. T. Laprade, and Rev. Mr. Yandell of West Durham. The committee of decision for the third section, whose meetings were held in the lecture room of the Academic Building, was composed of the following: Claude Bennett of the senior class, Dr. J. J. Wolfe, and Rev. R. C. Craven.

THE BANQUET

Dean Cranford also presided at the banquet which immediately followed the conclusion of Friday evening's program in Memorial Hall. To this were invited all the speakers, the judges in both the preliminary and final contests, the students who had helped to entertain the representatives of the schools, members of the college faculty and any visiting high school teachers that were in the Memorial Hall at the time of the program.

Fruit, candies, salted peanuts, and hot chocolate with vanilla wafers were served. A number of witty responses were called for by Dean Cranford. The first speaker was Prof. H. C. Doss, of the Trinity Park School, who spoke for the "9019." He told of the purpose of the order in establishing the series of contests and explained the value it held for the schools and the colleges of the state.

W. H. Marr, of the Graduate School, told of the tribulations the committee had gone through in selecting judges for both contests, and told several witty stories. Holland Holton responded to the toasts "The Declaration Contests." His remarks were exceedingly well put and earnest.

Carey J. Hunter, Jr., of Raleigh, who was one of the speakers in the contest last year, making a place on the final program at that time, talked on "The First Interscholastic Declaration Contest."

Dr. W. A. Glasson, of the college, responded for the judges in the preliminary contests, and told how great a pleasure it was for him to listen to the declamations Friday morning. He said it took him back to his boyhood days to hear so many old friends come forth again.

Following Dr. Glasson, James A. Taylor spoke for the out-of-state schools and told an enjoyable joke about the old negro knowing when he got back to Virginia from the North, because they told him to go to the back door the moment he crossed the state line.

J. N. Aiken came next, speaking on "Spartans to the Gladiators." He spoke of the numerous humorous titles that appeared in the list of declamations.

Hinton G. Hudson next told how to win the medal. His ease on the floor in this impromptu speech was remarkable, and he told a joke with all the gusto of an old campaigner. Indeed, all the speakers for the high school representatives showed that they knew how to express their own thoughts and express them well, besides being able to speak what others have written.

Hon. T. M. Pittman then spoke for the judges and told several witty stories to illustrate his perplexity and his helpless feeling at the large amount of speaking. Prof. W. T. Lawrence, of Elon College, came last and told some Irish jokes that well suited his own Irish nature.

After the conclusion of his toast, Dean Cranford announced that the banquet was ended and the second declamation contest had passed into history.
