DOCTOR F. G. PEABODY ADDRESSES Y. M. C. A.

ON A TOUR OF AMERICAN COLLEGES.—LEAVES THIS WEEK FOR JAPAN.

SPOKE HERE ONE COMMENCEMENT

Powerful Address on Success and Elements that Make for It In Every Line of Endeavor, Specialization, Perseverance, Education, Character.

Monday afternoon, January 27, Dr. Francis Greenwood Peabody, professor of Christian Ethics in Harvard University, addressed those of the college community who could spare the time from the examination period to meet in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Dr. Peabody delivered the commencement address several years ago. He stopped off at Durham Monday on his return from Chapel Hill where he had delivered a series of addresses. He has been on a tour of the American Colleges and is leaving this week for Japan, where he will visit the Japanese institutions.

After referring pleasantly to his previous visit to the College, Dr. Peabody launched into his address, which was one of the ablest delivered before a college audience this year. The theme was the necessities for success in this age. In his tour of colleges, said the speaker, one fact that impressed him was the enthusiasm, unselfishness and devotion of the competent faculties of the colleges. This is an age of specialization, demanding specially trained men for special tasks. Times have changed from 20 years ago when any man could do any task, and now in every line professional, industrial, political, efforts are demanded. There is, in fact, no room save at this top; no country every needed highly trained leaders more than this. But this is not all; the second necessity is perseverance. In addition to patient thoroughness, there must be dogged stickability. Yet in the final analysis there is a third and greater necessity, character. Character counts every time; for 1 man who has succeeded by smartness, 1,000 have succeeded thru character and solid worth.

The needs are these, "Education designed for the needs of the age; education to persistence; and finally, character."

Club Meets with Mrs. Few

Mrs. W. P. Few entertained the Up-To-Date Club at her home on the Trinity College campus yesterday afternoon at a literary meeting which was devoted to a study of Scotland and Sir Walter Scott.

A paper on Scotland was read by Mrs. J. N. Manning. This was followed by a lecture by Prof. Frank C. Brown on Scott and Scotland. He gave a reading of the Lady of the Lake and illustrated it by a most interesting set of stereotyped views of Scotland.

Work on Catalogue

The Publication Committee of the Faculty is at work on the 1912-13 college catalogue. Much of the material is already in hands of the printer and the catalogue will be out in the next week or two.

BASKETBALL TEAM LEAVES FOR THE NORTHERN TRIP

FIRST GAME AT LEXINGTON WITH WASHINGTON & LEE UNIVERSITY.

PERSONNEL AS BEFORE HOLIDAYS

Team Has Been Putting in Good Practice and Has Developed Into Good Machine.—Aught to Make Good Showing vs. Northern Teams.

The Trinity College basketball team left Monday afternoon for Lexington, Va., which they reached early the next morning to play the team of Washington & Lee that afternoon.

The team left in good shape and in the hopes of having a most successful northern trip. The boys have been working thru regular and hard practice and had developed into a smooth-working fighting machine, showing up to great advantage against teams of this state, and are confident of making an enviable record against the strong teams of Virginia. A considerable crowd of college boys saw the team off at the depot and gave them a send-off.

INTERSTATE PROG. CLUB

Club Formed of Men from Thirteen States and Nations.

On the 32nd of January, a number of the students of the college met in the Jarvis Hall for the purpose of organizing a new club to be composed of representatives from all of the states and countries which are represented here. The club was called the "Interstate Progressive Club".

The aim of this club is to have each of its members to represent Trinity College at his home state. Each member will be expected to advertise Trinity College to the best of his ability, both in his correspondence and personally. The idea of the club is to have its members in touch vitally with the interests and growth of the school in all lines. The spirit in which the club was founded insures its success for the future.

The organization of this club brings out the interesting fact that there are now thirteen states and nations represented in Trinity College. The members of the new club representing the various places, are as follows:

A. E. Armona, Florida; P. V. Bender, O.; C. H. Chillingarian, New York, England, and France; W. E. Edmiston, Tennessee; F. Few, South Carolina; J. Freeman, Arkansas; H. C. Irby, Virginia; A. T. Knott, North Carolina; D. C. Lewis, Alabama; J. G. Robbins, Mississippi; P. B. Trigg, Kentucky; W. A. Wilson, Japan; and Dr. Franklin Parker, from Louisiana, Honorary Member.

The officers of the club are the following: P. B. Trigg, chairman; C. H. Chillingarian, vice-chairman and business manager; D. C. Lewis, Secretary; and A. T. Knott, Treasurer.

ANNUAL CIVIC CELEBRATION TO BE HELD FEB. 21

A REGULAR EVENT GIVEN UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE "9019"

PROF. WILLIAM DODD TO SPEAK

Prof. Dodd a Native of North Carolina.—Born at Clayton.—Professor of American History at Chicago University.—An Author and Scholar.

The regular annual civic celebration which is always held under the auspices of the 9019 on the night of February 22, will be held this year on the night before the holiday, Feb. 21st.

A very interesting program has been prepared for this event and it is thought that putting the celebration on the night before the college holiday will cause a larger number of students to be in attendance this year.

The chief speaker for the evening will be Prof. William E. Dodd of the department of American history of the University of Chicago. Prof. Dodd is an able speaker and a man of prominence in the educational world and is sure to draw a large crowd.

It is of interest to note that Prof. Dodd is a native of North Carolina, having as his birth-place Clayton, N. C. He was formerly professor of history in Randolph-Macon. He is a member of the American Historical Association. He is the author of several books among which are: Jefferson's Rueckkehr zur Politik, Life of Nathaniel Macon, Life of Jefferson Davis, Statesmen of the Old South. He is also a frequent contributor of historical articles to various reviews and magazines.

MONTGOMERY HERE IN INTEREST OF Y. M. C. A. WORK

ONE OF THE SOUTHERN STUDENT SECRETARIES OF THE NATIONAL ORGANIZATION

PROPOSE FACTORY UPLIFT WORK

Address to Number of Students Sunday Afternoon, Descriptive of the Purpose of Y. M. C. A. in Conservation of Character and Ideals.

Mr. J. N. Montgomery, one of the Southern student secretaries of the Y. M. C. A., spent last Saturday and Sunday with the local branch of the Association making plans for the year's work. There were a number of meetings of the cabinet of the Y. M. C. A., and the standing committees of the Association all met with the secretary. A movement that may prove of much interest, if it is put into execution, was the suggestion that the Y. M. C. A., undertake some sort of uplift work among the factory element of the city, perhaps in the nature of a night school, or at least one or two Sunday School classes.

At the regular monthly class meeting on Sunday afternoon, Mr. Montgomery made a fine address to a large number of students on the general subject of the purpose of the Y. M. C. A. This, said the speaker, is an age of conservatism, is an age of con-

HARVARD CLUB TO MEET

Meeting Will Be Held in Durham.—Prof. Kittridge to Be Here.

Preliminary notices of the annual meeting of the Harvard Club of North Carolina, are being prepared by the officers of the Association, and are being mailed to alumni of the institution in every part of the state.

The next meeting of the club is to be held in Durham, and probably at Trinity College, where the president of the association lives. No definite date has been fixed as yet, though it will be on or about March 26, and elaborate arrangements are being made for the gathering by those who are in charge of the meeting.

Professor G. L. Kittridge, of the department of English Literature in Harvard University, will be the guest of honor and chief speaker for the occasion. Professor Kittridge, head of his department at Harvard, and a world-famed scholar, is an exceedingly brilliant man, and the North Carolina Harvard Club will find peculiar pleasure in having so distinguished a man for the guest at this time.

The coming meeting promises to be the best ever held, this being the first time that the University has ever sent a special representative to share the hospitality of the club. The organization was formed at Raleigh six years ago, and since that time has been growing steadily. Professor R. N. Wilson of the department of chemistry at Trinity, is president of the club, and Professor A. S. Wheeler, of the department of chemistry at the University of North Carolina is secretary.

"Run" Foushee, ex-'13, spent Saturday and Sunday on the campus visiting friends.

ANNUAL RELIGIOUS REVIVAL MEETINGS BEGIN

MEETINGS FOR FIRST TIME HELD OUTSIDE OF OLD INN.

CONDUCTED BY REV. E. K. HARDIN

In Preparation for the Meetings Prayer Services Are Being Held in Every Section of Each Dormitory Led by the Students.

The annual revival held every year just after the mid-year examinations, began last Sunday night with a preparatory service which was conducted by Dr. F. N. Parker. The meeting was held as all the others of the series will be, in the Y. M. C. A., hall in the East Duke building.

Rev. E. K. Hardin, of Rock Hill, S. C., is the speaker for the regular meetings, and has already delivered two sermons. Mr. Hardin has had much success in this class of work, having recently conducted a very successful meeting at Wofford College. He himself has been college professor, and is well fitted for the task.

As preparation for the series of services, the Young Men's Christian Association Cabinet has arranged for prayer meetings to be conducted by students in all the sections of the various dormitories. These services will be held at seven o'clock every night, just before the regular services. In addition there will be held a prayer meeting every morning in the committee room of the Association at seven thirty-five, to which all those interested in the success of the meeting are invited.

At the first service Monday night Mr. Hardin made a very impressive plea for proper preparation for the success of the meetings. If the services are to succeed, said he, every man who is interested must make a prayer for their success. There must be a personal realization of the ever present God; an awful thought for the sinful man, a comforting one for the man who is in the proper relation. If thoughts and hearts are polluted, God can make no use of the men to whom they belong. God wants those who are ready for His use; some people make themselves unfit for use by their actions. To be used by God in a work for His glory every single sinful act must be put out of the life. The success of the meetings depends on those who are ready for use.

After the right preparation for use has been made, God must be allowed to lead in the divine way those who are to be of service. There are two ways open to every man; the wicked way and the divine way. Only those who have prepared themselves for fit use by cleansing their hearts and have in addition, followed in the divine way, can help to make a success of a series of meetings for God's service.

Last night Mr. Hardin made a powerful talk on the general subject of sin, explaining what the Bible means by sin, showing its nature and consequences, and pleading against the modern loose conception of sin. As he said, the speaker did not deal with sin

THE COLLEGE MAN'S NEWSPAPER, PRINTING EVERYTHING OF INTEREST TO TRINITY MEN

Entered as Second-Class Matter September 19th, 1906, at the Postoffice at Durham, N. C., under Act of March 3d, 1879.

We welcome another organization into our somewhat crowded field of organized effort. But we would humbly suggest that, granting that there is some tendency toward feeling between frat and non-frat men, which we sincerely trust there is not, an organization with the publicly avowed intention of overcoming this feeling should at least make the manager acquainted equal.

The authorities have been setting out trees on the campus in front of the new academic buildings and have in the process blasted mud all over the roadways and the passers-by. But there they are lined up in two or three kinds of symmetry, white oaks, red oaks, other kind of oaks, and just plain oaks, more gaunt and scrawny posts now, but promising beautiful groves of luxurious shade under which, in future years, our children and our children's children will lean and loaf and invite their souls like true Whitmaniacs, wasting their time and the shekels of their hard-working dads.

By the time this reaches you the regular annual revival series of services will have been under way for three days. We wish to urge it upon the students to attend these services, and to attend them fully and continuously as well as sympathetically. There are many reasons why the student body should turn out practically as a whole to these meetings. In the first place and to use the most superficial argument, a speaker of power and earnestness and a man whose time is valuable is giving up this whole week to speak to the student body of Trinity, not to the ministerial band, nor even merely to the active members of the Y. M. C. A., but to the students in the large. Therefore courtesy if nothing else would demand that we turn out to hear him every night possible.

But as a matter of material advantage to the community the revival is always productive of great good. Coming as they do right after examinations these meetings exert a remarkable steadying effect on the students, they are always followed by a noticeable moral uplift, and, by fixing the minds of the community on the higher things, they leave us with stronger and more serious purposes in life. The most ardent agnostic would have to admit that the yearly religious meetings have a pronounced moral effect and are active for good for this reason if for no other.

But in years gone by many men have found that they have received spiritual blessing from attending the revival meetings. Many a man has found in the old room in the Inn a light for the guidance of his life and help for the fighting of his battles. Many a man has been reclaimed from sin and started on paths of high endeavor. Surely a man's religion, whatever it is, ought to be, in his secret consciousness, a serious thing, and whatever will help him in forming it ought not to be neglected.

Tempus fugit and mores mutant and still the world goes round. It is strange, but human nature can become accustomed to anything if you only give it a little time. One hundred years ago a mention of anything like the feminist movement would have been ridiculed. Five years ago the movement was attaining tremendous proportions but its enthusiasts were almost universally styled as insane fanatics. But we have become accustomed to reading reports of London window-smashings and self-inflicted martyrdoms until we no longer thrill at the thought of the terroristettes. Acting in a more dignified manner but no less persistently, the American woman has emancipated herself and is rapidly placing herself in that position where her hand can "move the world," in a different way from the old. And we are becoming so accustomed to her dominance that we wonder how it was that man was enabled to maintain the political upper hand for so long a time.

The idea has quietly but insistently penetrated the confines of academic life and men can no longer think of the co-ed as merely the beautiful adornment of the landscape, a solace in weary hours, and the inspiration to achievement, but he must look upon her as a friendly rival for honor and power, and he must look sharply to his laurels that they be not to the last leaf removed from the bow to adorn a wavy golden coiffure.

Woman has arrived and we are proud of her. A woman was valedictorian last year. Have a care for this. And now an old tradition is broken and the next issue of the Archive will be prepared entirely by the co-eds, all the contributions to come from female hands. We have not yet learned whether the ladies will also handle the printing office end of the work. If they do, Heaven help them to be as nearly men as possible, for they will need to be. Printing offices always have an atmosphere which tends to enrich vocabulary at the expense of delicacy. But we are all looking eagerly forward to this issue. We know it will be a good one, and we congratulate the Editor-in-Chief on inaugurating a novel scheme which cannot but be productive of good results.

An Appeal to Boys

"Your first duty in life is toward yourself. So live that your after-self—that man you ought to be—may in his time be possible and actual.

"Far away in the years he is waiting his turn, his body, his brain, his soul, are in your boyish hands. He cannot help himself.

"What will you leave for him?
"Will it be a brain unspoiled by lust of dissipation, a mind trained to think and act, a nervous system true as a dial in its response to the truth about you? Will you, boy, let him come as a man among men in his time? Or will you throw away his inheritance before he has had the chance to touch it? Will you turn over to him a brain distorted, a mind diseased? A will untrained to action? A spinal cord grown through and through with the devil grass of that vile harvest we call wild oats?

"Will you let him come, taking your place, gaining through your experiences, hallowed through your joys, building on them his own?

"Or will you fing his hope away, decreasing wanton-like that the man you might have been shall never be?"
"This is your problem in life; the problem of more importance to you than any or all others. How will you meet it, as a man or as a fool?
"When you answer this, we shall know what use the world can make of you."—David Starr Jordan.

W. R. Webb a Senator

Prof. W. R. Webb, of Bell Buckle Tennessee, uncle of Prof. A. M. Webb, of the department of romance languages, has been appointed short-term United States senator succeeding Senator Saunders, who was appointed to succeed the late Robert L. Taylor. This is of interest to friends of Prof. Webb here, and to the Webb School boys on the campus.

Center Out of College

The friends of Mr. E. M. Carter, 1914, regret that he has left college to enter the Eastman Business College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. During his stay here he made many friends and leaves with one of the most creditable records of the junior class. His class and college mates wish him success.

Aiken in Chattanooga

J. N. Aiken, editor-in-chief of the CHRONICLE 1911-12, has left Richmond, where he has been employed as reporter on the staff of the Richmond Times Dispatch, to accept the position of Deputy Clerk of the Federal District Court with headquarters at Chattanooga, Tennessee, a position to which he has just been appointed. Friends of the former editor will be interested to learn that he has left the field of journalism, in which he was making good, and has gone into a work which will put him in touch with the legal profession, toward which he always had an inclination.

Miss Katie Lee McKinnon has returned from her home in Maxton, where she has been spending a week end.

PAN HELLENIC COUNCIL

Members from the National Greek Letter Fraternities Organize.

Members of the different Greek letter fraternities met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of reorganizing the Pan Hellenic Council.

This Council was born year before last and has met several times since but the organization was rather loose and as a consequence the body had not met this year up until yesterday.

Organization was perfected. Alderman was elected president and Dagley secretary. A committee was appointed to draw up constitution for the body and to frame regulations designed to give more authority to the body, make its action official, and in general place it in the proper place at the head of fraternity affairs on the campus. The first meeting was purely for purposes of organization, and after the various chapters have expressed their sentiments on the matters discussed informally at this meeting, definite decisions will be made.

LOCAL MENTION

Mr. J. H. Rose of the senior class was called home last night by the sudden and severe illness of his father, Rev. W. M. Rose of Franklinton, N. C. Nothing had been heard by this morning as to Mr. Rose's condition.

R. S. Henderson, ex-13, is spending a few days on the campus visiting friends and doing cartoon work for the Chanticleer and other state annuals. Since leaving college he has been on the staff of the Pittsburg Post, and has now resigned that position and is on his way to New Orleans to take a similar position in that city.

At the last session of the West Oklahoma Methodist Conference Rev. E. R. Welch was stationed at Altus. After graduating at Trinity, Mr. Welch was a number of years a member of the North Carolina Conference. He was transferred to the West Oklahoma Conference and he occupied several of the most important stations.

Charlie Bagley has been appointed as assistant manager of the baseball team to serve for the season of the spring of 1913. The appointment was made last week by a committee of the athletic Council, composed of Anderson, Siler, and Prof. Wilson. Bagley is an energetic and capable man and will make a good assistant to Manager Warlick.

Mr. D. M. Jones Dead

B. Braxton Jones, of the freshman class was called home Monday afternoon by the sad news of the sudden death of his father, Mr. D. M. Jones, of Elizabeth City. Mr. Jones was one of the most prominent alumni of the college in the eastern part of the state. He was a member of the executive committee of the state Alumni Association, and an officer in the local Association in his own county. He was also a member of the Board of Finance of the North Carolina Conference and treasurer of his home church. He left one of the largest hardware businesses in the eastern part of the state.

Science Club to Meet

The regular meeting of the Science club will be held in the Crowell Science Hall next Monday night at 7:00 o'clock. Prof. Wolfe will read an interesting paper to the club. All members are urged to be present.

NEW SECRET SOCIETY

"Red Friars" Composed of One Man from Each Frat and One Non-

The Red Friars, a new local secret organization drawing members from the senior class, one from each fraternity and one from the body of non-frat men, was formed the Friday night before examinations began.

The men who took the oaths of secrecy and were initiated into the mysteries of this society were Messrs. Don R. Kirkman, H. L. Wilson, C. A. Godfrey, L. B. Hurley, W. G. Sniter, F. Reid Ray and George Johnson. The rules of the society state that every member at initiation shall be a full fledged member of the senior class.

It is intended that the organization will be permanent and self-perpetuating, continuing to represent the phases of college life represented by the charter members. New members from junior class will be elected and initiated after the spring term examinations in June. Under the rules a man may not be initiated unless he has passed on the studies of his junior year. Failure on a single examination will debar a prospective candidate.

The purpose of the organization as given out by the members for publication in the press is to produce better feeling between the different collegiate societies and especially to foster good feeling between frat and non-frat men.

CO-ED ARCHIVE

Next Issue to Be Entirely in Hands of the Ladies.

The forthcoming issue of the Archive promises to be unique in the history of the publication, for it will be entirely the result of co-ed talent. Even the editorials are to be written by the co-ed editors, and the poems, stories, and essays, are all products of feminine brains. This will be the second special number issued by the present management, the idea appearing to be to have some special feature in every issue.

BASKET BALL TEAM LEAVES FOR THE NORTHERN TRIP

On the northern trip the team will meet some very redoubtable teams. They play Washington & Lee, V. M. I., University of Virginia, Georgetown University, and Catholic University on their several home floors.

On the Tuesday after their return to Durham they will play the Emory and Henry team on the Trinity floor. This is one of the strongest of the Virginia teams and the game promises to be very interesting.

The following Saturday Trinity will meet the A. & M. team on the floor of the Auditorium at Raleigh and will play them again on the twenty-eighth at Durham.

On Monday, seventeenth, they will play Wake Forest at Durham and will meet the same team at Wake Forest on the twenty-fifth. There will be a game with Maryville College in Durham on the twentieth, and one with V. P. I. on the twenty-eighth.

ANNUAL RELIGIOUS REVIVAL MEETINGS BEGIN

as a philosophical problem but with sin as it exists in the life of the individual.

He explained that there are several meanings of sin in the Bible. One meaning comes from Greek and Hebrew words meaning "a missing of the mark." Sin has caused man to miss the mark of the high aim of God.

Another word of this same general type means crookedness and is translated iniquity. This refers to any want of conformity to the will of God.

Another group of words, translated transgression, meant originally rebellion, or a spirit of insurrection against God. This is the essence of sin. The heart is the seat of sin. Sin is an attitude. All sin is against God.

Another class of words is translated wickedness and meant in the original a state of life of evil. This is a state in which man is utterly lost.

There are two characteristics of sin: first, the deceitful of it, which lures a man on with a glamour and then fades into the husks of the swine; the other is the progressiveness of sin. The effects of sin are cumulative, the individual slides down with increasing speed like a toboggan.

The only place we can get a true conception of sin is the Mt. of Calvary. In that awful spectacle we see that God believed that sin was so awful as to require a terrible sacrifice.

The first of the consequences of sin is separation from God. Adam fled from God under the consciousness of sin, and Judas hanged himself. The second is that it defiles us. It writes its sign in man's face and degrades him from childlike innocence to the depths of wretchedness. It makes us slaves in shackles which none but Christ can break. But more than that it ruins others. Many a mother goes down to an early grave from helping to reap a son's wild oats. The wages of sin is death.

But the free gift of God thru Christ Jesus is life. He can save us from the destruction of sin. Christ, Himself a young man, is the young man's savior.

MONTGOMERY HERE IN INTEREST OF Y. M. C. A. WORK

(Continued from page one) servation, due to the observations made on the fate of ages that have not conserved their resources. This movement is for conservation of natural resources, and also of character and ideals. The latter movement is led by the church and in this movement the Y. M. C. A., takes part. Knowing that strength in a testing time is the result of power stored up in times of quiet, the Y. M. C. A., seeks to raise up the class of men who are fighting a losing fight, and the men who have lost, into the rank of men who are making a winning fight. The great means of aiding others is friendship, and friendship is based on association; the Association, therefore, stands for the strengthening of character thru association with Christ, the greatest friend, and if a man is to live a life of power he must enrich it thru association with this friend.
