BASEBALL SCHEDULE HAS TWO TRIPS FOR SEASON

BOTH NORTHERN AND SOUTHERN TOURS FOR TEAM OF 1914

FIVE TEAMS' FIRST APPEARANCE

Total of Thirty Games, Sixteen Being at Home. U. of S. C., West Va. U., Jersey City and Richmond, New Manager Gaston makes public today the baseball schedule for the season of 1914, and thus showing the result of hard work during the winter months in arranging a good schedule of games for the team. There are several things about the first being that there will be two trips instead of one as heretofore been the custom. There will be, as usual, a trip to the north to Virginia and as far as Washington. The course of this trip has been changed, however, and goes first by way of Richmond, returning through Charlottesville and Lexington. The second trip is to the South, to Charlotte and Spartanburg and on this trip will be played Saint Mary's, Wofford, Davidson, and Guilford.

Jersey City, the team that trains in Durham this spring finds a place on the schedule for the first time. Other teams are the University of West Virginia, St. Mary's College, although this last named was here two years ago.

It will be noted that Vermont, the team that made such a good impression here once before is again on the list, although Amherst and Lafayette had to be sacrificed because of the large guarantee.

For the first time in many years the first game of the Wake Forest series will be played here, the second in Henderson, and the last at Wake Forest. There will also be two games each with A. and M., Guilford, and Davidson.

In all there are thirty games, sixteen at home and fourteen abroad.

March 14—Trinity Park School at Durham; March 17—Eton College at Durham; March 19—Jersey City at Durham; March 21—Wake Forest at Durham; March 24—Eastern at Durham; March 25—William and Mary at Durham; March 26—Vermont at Durham; March 28—Wake Forest at Henderson; March 31—Saint Mary's at Belmont; April 1—Wofford at Spartanburg; April 2—Wofford at Davidson; April 3—Davidson at Davidson; April 4—Guilford at High Point; April 8—Davidson at Durham; April 10—Penn. State at Durham; April 11—A. & M. at Durham; April 13—Durham League at Durham; April 15—University of W. Va. at Durham; April 16—Durham League at Durham; April 17—Washington and Lee at Durham; April 20—Richmond College at Richmond; April 21—Catholic University at Washington, D. C.; April 22—University of Va. at Charlottesville; April 23—V. M. I. at Lexington; April 24—Washington and Lee at Lexington; April 25—Washington and Lee at Lexington; April 28—Guilford College at Durham; May 1—Wake Forest at Wake Forest; May 2—A. & M. at Raleigh; May 5—University of South Carolina at Durham.

SUBS TURN GAME TO A FARCE

The Improved Form of Neal a Feature Siler and McKinnon Did Good Work Roanoke Took a Brace In Second Half

In a game characterized by good guarding on the part of Roanoke and fast passing and accurate goal-shooting by the home team, Trinity defeated the Virginians last Wednesday night by the decisive score of forty-two to fifteen. Roanoke seemed to have difficulty in finding the basket and this fact made it quite easy for Trinity to pile up a big score. McKinnon started the scoring in the first few minutes of play, and his example was quickly followed up by Siler and Neal. Inspired by these three the whole team seemed to go wild, and in a very short time it was evident that it would have an easy time of it. Roanoke in the meantime seemed to be largely on the defensive, and it was not until the latter part of the first half that they succeeded in throwing a goal. At the end of the first half the score stood twenty-eight to nine in favor of Trinity.

Roanoke displayed better form in the second half, and by shift in lineup, managed to keep down the score much better than in the first half. Trinity, however, continued the good work, and in a few minutes increased the score to thirty-six. Captain Siler then gave the subs a chance and they exhibited so much pep that the game was

CAP. CARD HOLDING PRACTICE DAILY. TWO GAMES WITH GUILFORD

The call for practice by Captain Card for candidates trying out for the soccer football team along with the announcement that two games are to be played in the near future has created much interest on the part of some students; consequently, on Hanes field the past week these candidates have given various exhibitions in punting, passing, and dribbling which show there is really good material here for the selection of such a team. This is the first time this game has come into enough prominence here, and the calling for candidates for a varsity team is welcomed. It is hoped that those who have not yet reported for practice will do so at once and come out every afternoon at 3:00 o'clock and lend their aid to those already at work.

It is practically certain that Guilford will play here on February 21, and Director Card announces that a return game will be played the following Saturday, February 28. Cap. is greatly interested, and urges all who can do so to come out regularly for practice, so the team will be ready for its first game.

Soccer football is a game widely known, and one in which much interest is manifested throughout the North and West.

ARCHIVE FOR FEBRUARY HAS MANY CONTRIBUTORS

STAFF REVIEWS COMMENTS ON LATEST MAGAZINE ISSUE

BUSINESS MANAGER'S GOOD WORK

Several Anonymous Contributions and Balance Well Preserved. Slight Error in Crediting Authorship

The February number of the Archive made its appearance yesterday. The large number of new contributors to this month's issue is the chief feature to be noted, and the contributions are very equally divided among verse, stories, and essays so as to make what is really a very good number of the Archive.

The following are the contributions:—The Romanticist Awakes, Anonymous; Tainted Blood, by Jack Wallace; The Songs of The Silence, anonymous; Almost A Hero, F. B. Brown; A Cruise on The James, by C. R. Bagley; John Wesley II, by Miss Ella Tuttle; The Lights of Curruck Bar, by Miss Mary Westcott; Pantheism, by A. S. Baugh; A Luring Call, by Miss Daisy Jones; The Glass-Owen Currency Law, by R. M. Johnson; Day Dreams, by R. A. Finch; Looking Backward, by Tom Gill; The Recompense, anonymous.

The Romanticist Awakes, The Songs of the Silence, and The Recompense, the pieces of verse by anonymous writers, are very good and so is The Lights of Curruck Bar, by Miss Mary Westcott. The continued story, Almost A Hero, finishes up in very sentimental style. A Cruise on the James, by C. R. Bagley, is a most interesting account of a summer's outing. John Wesley II, is a very readable story by Miss Ella Tuttle. By an error, the Archive gives Miss Edna Taylor credit for this story, when it should really be given to Miss Tuttle. R. M. Johnson gives a good explanation of The Glass-Owen Currency Law, which is especially interesting at this time when this new bill is just going into effect. Tom Gill's Looking Backward, is also very good.

The advertising department is energy and does him much credit for his persistent work. The character of the present issue as a whole is quite commendable.

PRELIMINARIES ARRANGED

At a meeting of contestants held Tuesday afternoon, February 21, was selected as the date for the preliminary for the Peace contest, which is to be held March 15. Five men have entered the preliminary. It will be held in the Columbian Hall at seven-thirty. Ten men reported as desiring to enter the preliminary for the Washington and Lee debate. Thursday night of next week was selected as the time and the Hesperian Hall as the place for the preliminary, and lots were drawn for positions in the preliminary.

The residence of Prof. E. C. Brooks on Watts Street has been rented for the remainder of the year by Dr. James Cannon, Jr., whose family arrived yesterday and is now occupying the house.

FIRST 42-13, SECOND 61-13 IN EASY VICTORIES FOR VARSITY

SILER LED THE SCORING IN BOTH

Good Passing and Goal Throwing McKinnon, Neal, Thorne and Cherry All Good in One or Other of Games

Some recreation was provided during exam time by the two easy basketball victories over the University of South Carolina and the Charlotte Y. M. C. A. the scores being forty-six to thirteen and sixty-one to thirteen respectively. In both contests the Varsity showed up to good advantage and was able to do some pretty work on signal plays, as well as showing marked improvement in passing and in goal tossing.

The game with the University of South Carolina on January 15, was featured by the general work of the whole team, every man of the regulars scoring one or more field goals. Captain Siler, however, was the chief point amasser, caging seven goals from the field and four out of seven chances at fouls. Neal came next with five field goals, Thorne got four and Cherry three, and McKinnon and Carver one each. Pleasants and Brown were substitutes as well as Carver. Stony showed to best advantage for Carolina.

Trinity—Siler (Capt.) (18), f. t.; McKinnon, (2); Pleasants, Carver (2), r. f.; Neal (10), Cherry (6), c.; Thorne (8), and Brown r. g.

Mr. Fry is now in Europe but expects to return in a few weeks. He has done a great work on the Pacific Coast and will receive a warm welcome at the College.

THE ANNUAL REVIVAL IS NOW WELL UNDER WAY

THE MEETING OPENED SUNDAY NIGHT. ADDRESS BY BISHOP KILGO

REV. H. M. NORTH IS IN CHARGE

Meetings Being Held Daily at 12 and 7:30 at Night. Services Drawing Well and Good Work Being Done

Following a long established custom, the annual mid-year revival services began last Sunday night, when Bishop Kilgo opened the series with a strong and telling sermon. Every day from twelve to one, and at 7:30 in the evening, Rev. Harry M. North, presiding elder of the Durham district and a graduate of Trinity, is preaching to large and responsive audiences.

In his forceful and characteristic manner Bishop Kilgo delivered the first sermon, with faith as his theme. He pointed out that the Church today is not to guard so much against the infidel without, but rather against the wolf within the fold. One type of infidelity which is hurting the church is lack of a positive, well-grounded faith. Pondering to intellectual curiosity rather than fellowship with Christ is one cause of it. Timidity, the lack of courage to back up our faith by actions, is the great failing complementary to vagueness of faith.

After the sermon many came forward to renew their faith.

Monday night Rev. Mr. North drew a good lesson from Sampson's failure of strength. Sampson broke his covenant when he allowed his symbol of that covenant with God to be discovered and taken away. In our association with sinful people we break our covenant with God, and the reward is jeers at the hands of our evil associates. Human nature is weak, but combined with power from God it is irresistible. The speaker urged the men to get in touch with God.

Sin was the subject at the Tuesday noon meeting. Too many fail to realize the sinfulness of sin. We often think to outgrow what we call our little sins, but they come back in new garments and increased force. We are too prone to neglect the awfulness of the beginning when it is the beginning. The difficulty with getting college men to realize what sin means is that they are beginning life, and sin usually appears attractive in the beginning. Sin is the prime cause of all sorrows, and Christianity reveals sin in all its hideousness.

Tuesday night the central thought was men ashamed of Christ. It was never more true than during the life of Christ on earth, and the failing has come down to the present day. We admit the superiority of Christ as an external fact, but often we fail to make it true in our individual lives. It is easy to recognize Jesus when all about us are doing it, but the test is to step forward and do it alone. We cannot escape the responsibility; it is always with us.

These meetings will continue to be held at least thru Sunday. The attendance and interest so far has been good.

A RATIONAL MOVEMENT

There are times when in behooves every man to take stock of himself and discover by introspection and self analysis just how he measures up in comparison with the standards in whatever line he may be considering. An athlete compares himself, whether unconsciously so or not, with the athlete who stands highest in his line, the writer balances his work against what he knows to be the standard of his art, and thus arrives at a conclusion as to his relative merit. Both, having drawn their conclusions, immediately set to work to repair the weak places and make themselves more fit for their work. A student stands up against the absolute standard of knowledge as implied in an examination and receives a certain rating as expressing his standing on the relative basis of the extent or limitations of his knowledge in a certain subject. He also having seen his condition, if he is a thoughtful and interested student, sets to work to make himself strong.

But the athlete, the writer, the student, may not find that he is merely not living up to the absolute standard, not fulfilling the ideal of his special line: the result of his investigation may be to show him that he has been absolutely wrong in his whole plan of work, that all he has done to build up muscle has only served to increase fat, that all he has done to cultivate clearness or scholarship has resulted in obtuseness or positive detriment. In such a case a reasonable man does not hesitate to set to work, having confessed his error, to tear out the bad and put in the good.

So then of a man's moral nature—it is something that every man has in some degree; it may be a depraved nature or it may be a highly developed nature, in any case every man is to a certain extent a moral being, engaged in work of some sort, whether positive or negative, in regard to his character. Any man, therefore, who sees that his plan of moral (and by this is meant as well spiritual), development is wrong or injurious or destructive,—just as he will change his athletic or literary or scholarly pursuits when convinced of a similar futility in their accomplishment, so he will at once set about putting himself in line with the highest authority in the line of morals and spiritual life. And if in this comparison with the standard any man realizes that he is wrong or that he is not living up to the ideal, that man owes it to himself to get straight as quickly as possible or to strive more earnestly to put himself on an even higher plane of endeavor in the effort to attain that ideal.

So then a revival in a religious sense is as commonsense a matter as a taking of inventory, there is no need for sensationalism for a man to measure himself, indeed the more emotional he becomes the less chance there is for him to be able to size himself up. Much opposition to the revival comes from complaints that it is not fair to carry a man off on a wave of emotion or sweep him into a religious enthusiasm for which he is not ready. Such a contention overlooks entirely the fact that a revival is what it says it is, a revival of the sparks of life that have perished because choked, but which are the really primary traits of the individual.

To the meetings now going on here, then, it is only fitting that every student should give his attention and support, not that he may be forced into ill considered action, but that he may size himself up, may give the better nature that every man feels within him a better chance to develop, and he may truly come to a knowledge of the possibilities that lie inherent in him, just as he would rationally awake to the fact that he should revive his cbbing physical strength that he should refurbish his tarnished talent or mental equipment, that he should bend himself anew to the task before him.

ADDITIONAL ATHLETICS

In keeping with the administration's policy of providing opportunities for participation in athletics by all students, provision has recently been made for coed athletics. For the convenience of occupants of the Franksch and their friends a splendid tag court has been laid out on the porch of the old Inn, and the plot in front of Prof. Gill's house on Faculty Row has been converted into a modern and up-to-date Puss-in-the-Corner ground which may also be readily adapted to the recently and specially imported foreign game of Fruit Basket.

THE CHRONICLE welcomes these additions to the athletic world, both games and participants, but requests for the future, as its office overlooks the field of these activities that the games not be played during examination periods or at times when the staff is engaged in the preparation of copy; the demoralization of the force that resulted from the first games is feared will ultimately prove fatal to esprit-de-corps.

That rumors should be spread about the campus that men during the last examination period used unfair methods in the work on the examinations is a fact that no genuine lover of his college can well bear with equanimity. If such reports are true, the honor of the college and also of her individual students, has been sadly besmirched by a few of those whose care it should be that there should never attach to her fair name anything of discredit. On the other hand if there is no truth in such reports they should be immediately laid at rest and every vestige of suspicion removed, not only from the college as a body, not only from a class as such, but from every individual member of every class.

Honor is a thing so tender that its slightest tremor is felt in every fibre of its being. No man can regard a high sense of honor in regard to questions of examinations who is not in other lines on the right basis, not of religion, but of ordinary gentlemanly conduct.

Now, THE CHRONICLE does not believe that any large body of men or any large number of individual men, have ever used unfair methods in their work here; did it believe such a situation to exist it would see small hope for the body of students who would tolerate such things in their midst. But while every man will agree that such things ought not so to be, will every man use his endeavor to see that they are not?

It is with profound gratitude that THE CHRONICLE is able to express its unshaken conviction on two points: first, that only an infinitesimal minority of men in the college will indulge in such practices, and second, that it does not believe there is a minority of any size that will defend such conduct.

Rumors are easily exaggerated, and there is small ground, as a rule, for the very widest report, but now once and for all can this matter not be so definitely and finally settled that any later reference to it will be redundant?

COMMENTS

Ministerial Student: I want a good girl and I want her BAD.

The new term is upon us. Play all the time, and never work.

Every college in the championship claimed the basketball championship except Trinity, it remains to be seen if he who laughs last laughs best.

O Band! What wonders we have seen thee perform! How often we have seen thee put "pep" into a dull and listless team! How many times we have seen thee turn apparent defeat into victory! O thou Happy Dream Number 2, keep up thy good work!

Slogan for after exams:—Frolic and the World Frolics with you; Study and you study alone.

One commendable feature of exams: is that they bring college men closer together.

The pros have had their turn at riding the freshman.

The Frats will soon try their hand at the art.

"A pessimist is a man afraid of the World"—Durham Sun. An optimist is a student afraid of examinations.

LAW OF CAUSE AND EFFECT Cause:—Many weary hours spent in cramming for exams,—especially Bible III.

Effect:—A jubilant spirit which makes the student take the advice of the ancient Omar.

Sporting Dope

(BY BEALE)

Monday afternoon Captain Spence called the first practice for baseball recruits, and soon Hanes Athletic Field was pretty well filled with aspiring youths dressed in a variety of costumes. After warming up, the different detachments were put at batting practice and then released for a trot around the track.

Despite the numerous long-faced pessimists who prophesy such a dire future for this year's team, the prospects do not look altogether bleak. Here and there, under some polka-dotted uniform of a backwoodsman, there seems to be some real baseball ability. As is usually the case, our fears, hopes, and prayers are most needed for the pitching staff. Kanipe is the only heirloom of last year, and he can't pitch them all; but perhaps the Yauiggins and Freshmen combined can donate some much needed material.

Doe Atkins is due next week and then work will start in earnest. There are numerous men who have mistaken ideas about how a team is selected at Trinity. It means grind day in and day out, and not simply the acceptance of a nice uniform which accentuates one's breadth of chest in the sight of some lady friend who happens to be in the grandstand. One of the best men in the state to impress this on a man's mind is Doe. He believes in hard, consistent work, and every man who tries out for the team must be willing to sacrifice his time and energy for a good many months. This, of course, is the dark side of it, and should not tend to discourage anybody, for there is far more to be gained than will ever be lost, whether the team is made or not. But just this word to disillusion some of the new men who have already begun to apply for suits for the practice season: Doe Atkins will give you a suit if you make one, and until then the best plan is to keep perfectly quiet and work even if you have to work in a pair of father's old trousers.

The long talked of athletic field is going to be put into shape at once. An eight foot wall of brick is already underway, and the diamond will soon be laid off. While it is hardly possible for the college to use this during the coming season, the Preps will make use of it and thus smooth it down for next season.

A glance at the schedule will convince one of the admirable management of Gaston. He has arranged games with a variety of schools in and out of the state which will give the fans here a chance to see some splendid contests, and yet the total amounts of the guarantees will be about $300 less than any amount known heretofore. The games this year are to cost only twenty-five cents, and a season ticket will probably be sold for the convenience of the down town people for three dollars.

Trinity is certainly getting on a better footing as regards athletics. A good financial backing must, in time, mean a good team, and the Athletic Council is doing everything in its power to get away from the financial troubles that have so hindered teams in the past. What is to be done now is to support this team, which bids fair to be one not to be ashamed of.

DO YOU WANT $10 IN GOLD?

We will give $10.00 in gold for the best letter of not over 125 words, in answer to either of the following questions:

WHY SHOULD A YOUNG MAN WANT LIFE INSURANCE?

WHY SHOULD A YOUNG MAN NOT WANT LIFE INSURANCE?

"YOUNG MAN" means "YOU," and this letter should be written presumably in answer to one from asking "YOU" to insure while young and before beginning your battle with the world.

Any member of the Senior or Junior class—Academic or Law—is eligible. No letters arriving later than February the 15th will be accepted. Be sure to write your name and home address plainly.

transformed into a farce. The spectators became so enthusiastic that hereafter Clay could not make his whistle heard, and from then to the end of the game the playing was rather rough and forcible.

The particulars for Trinity were Neal, Siler, and McKinnon. Neal was in better form than ever before this season, and his fast work was very gratifying to the Trinity rooters. He succeeded in throwing five goals, as also did Siler and McKinnon. Cherry and Thorne each threw three goals, and their guarding was up to their usual high standard. For Roanoke, Bunting and Tavenner did especially good work. Each of these men threw two goals, and Bunting aided his team greatly by throwing five fouts.

The lineups of the two teams and the individual scores were as follows:

Trinity—Siler, (Capt.), (10); l. f.; McKinnon r. f., (10); Neal c., (10); Cherry l. g., (6); Thorne r. g., (6).

Roanoke—Bunting l. f., (2); Brown r. f., (1); Painter, l. g.; Bonham l. g.; Tavenner r. g. (2).

Substitutes—Carver and Pleasants for McKinnon, Wooten for Cherry, Brown for Thorne, Tavenner for Bunting, Moore for Brown, and Duncanson for Tavenner.

CHANTICLEER BOARD MEETING

Annual Dedicated to Mr. J. H. Southgate

At a meeting of the Chanticleer Board Tuesday afternoon it was unanimously decided to dedicate the 1914 Chanticleer to Mr. James H. Southgate, of Durham, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Editor Bagley announced that February 10 will be the last possible date on which to have pictures made, and the twentieth the final date for the submission of other material. All individuals and organizations concerned are expected to take note of, and govern themselves by, this announcement in order to avoid the usual congestion and to make the work of the editors as light as possible at the end. Already enough copies have been signed for to assure the appearance of the book, and all persons who desire copies should immediately fill out a blank, as positively no more copies than are signed for will be ordered.

In the contest with the Charlotte Y. M. C. A. on January 22, Trinity rolled up the largest score yet amassed on the home floor this season, and at times the scoring was almost instantaneous. Siler and McKinnon had a close race for first place in field goals scored, with Cherry coming close behind both. Siler won out, however, with nine field goals and five fouls out of a possible five, this being the best record of the season for him in fouls. McKinnon got eight goals from the field and Cherry six, Neal annexing three and Thorne one.

For Charlotte, Stewart, an old Trinity Captain, did the best work, scoring three of his teams field goals, while Mason got two and Davenport 1.

Trinity completely outplayed the visitors, and did fine work in all departments of the game. At guard Cherry and Thorne showed up well. Brown, Carver, and Pleasants went in as subs in the last few minutes of play.

BASKETBALL GAMES

The Varsity basket-ball team plays the team of the Durham Y. M. C. A. Friday night at 8:30 on the court of the latter. The team is in splendid condition and expects to retaliate for its defeat at the hands of the Y. M. C. A. last month.

On Tuesday the team leaves for Raleigh, where that night it meets the University of Virginia in the Auditorium at 8:15 o'clock. Owing to the inability of the management to secure a train there will be no excursion as was previously announced. However, from all indications a large number of students will attend the game. Wednesday the team plays Raleigh Y. M. C. A. at Raleigh; Thursday, Wake Forest at Wake Forest; Friday, Greensboro Y. M. C. A. at Greensboro; Saturday, Guilford at Guilford. This is a very hard schedule the team faces next week, and the outcome of these games will have a great bearing on the state championship.

THE CHRONICLE staff picture will be made at Holladay's studio on Thursday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock. Staff meetings hereafter will be held on Thursday night at seven o'clock at the Chronicle office, 210 Aycock.

THE CHRONICLE calls attention to the fact that all athletic tickets, whether fully or partially paid, must be exchanged for new tickets by application to the athletic managers before February 10.

AN OFFER

THE CHRONICLE would take pleasure in making a special subscription to students who might be persuaded to club together and send the paper to the library of the high school in their home towns. As a matter of advertisement for the college there could scarcely be devised a more effective and at the same time unconscious influence on prospective students.

A college is strong in the measure of effort put forth in her behalf by her students. Any landable enterprise looking to an increase in the amount of this effort should be received with interest.

TIPPING THE HAT AT HARVARD

Everybody tips his hat at Harvard these days. The custom has been growing gradually for several years and it is now in full bloom.

Every student of the university—and there are over 5,000 of them—tips his hat to President Lowell when he meets him on the street or in the yard, and the chief executive of Harvard returns the silent greeting in like manner. The students universally recognize Dean Labaron Russell Briggs and Dean Byron S. Hurrebutt and several other widely known members of the Harvard faculty by tipping the hat.—Boston Post.

Why not here also?
