BISHOP E. R. HENDRIX IS AVERA LECTURER

SENIOR BISHOP OF METHODIST CHURCH NINTH BIENNIAL AVERA SPEAKER.

TALKS ON CHRISTIAN TEACHINGS

"The Literature of Saints"—"Pardoning Prerogative of Christ"—"The Human Body and Christianity."

"Some Things Taught Only by Christianity" was the general subject of the biennial Avera Bible lectures, delivered here in Craven Memorial Hall, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday evenings of this week. Bishop Eugene R. Hendrix, Senior Bishop of the Methodist Church, located at Kansas City, Mo., was chosen to give these lectures; in fact, it was planned that he should be the speaker last year, but the date had to be postponed, due to illness on the part of the Bishop. The lectures given this year mark the nineteenth year of the Avera Foundation, and Bishop Hendrix is the ninth speaker chosen to deliver the series.

THE LITERATURE OF SAINTS

In the first lecture, the subject of which was "The Literature of Saints," on Sunday night Bishop E. R. Hendrix, emphasized the superiority of the literature of the saints. Only Christianity, he said, has ever produced a saint. These saints have put on the canvas in the form of literature the best that Christianity has produced. The Bible is God's Hall of Fame. It contains great dramatic biographies. It fits into every crevice of the human heart and shows not only what sort man one is, but also what he might be. Saint Paul's writings, declared Bishop Hendrix, are great pieces of literature. The prophecies of Isaiah, the Psalms, and the Book of Daniel are also great literary productions. They owe their greatness to the fact that their writers were inspired; they walked and talked with God. We believe in Christ, he added, not because we believe in the Bible, but we believe in the Bible because we believe in Christ.

THE PARDONING PREROGATIVE OF CHRIST

The subject of Bishop Hendrix's lecture on Monday night was "The Pardoning Prerogative of Christ." The lecture brought out the real meaning of forgiveness and emphasized the fact that the sole power to extend this pardon, rests with Jesus Christ. He said in part:

"The pardoning prerogative is invested in the Sovereign because the sin is always done against the Sovereign. They who stand before the judgment throne of God do not receive judgment of man but of God through Jesus Christ, his only Son. Christ bases his pardoning prerogative upon the oneness of God and is not the rival of His Father. He came into the world only to show us the Father. Even John Wesley found that the stability of the Kingdom of God was due to the pardoning prerogative of Christ and that this pardon gave the power to become the one of the sons of God."

VA. TECH IS DEFEATED IN PITCHER'S BATTLE

LAST YEAR'S SOUTH ATLANTIC CHAMPIONS DEFEATED IN CLOSE MATCH

TRINITY TAKES GAME 7 TO 5

All Scoring is Done in First Two Innings—Capt. Bibbs Finally Able to Stop Trinity's Tallying

Piling up seven runs in the earlier stages of the game, Trinity last Monday humbled the strong V. P. I. team to the tune of seven to five. Barring the first two innings, which were ragged and slow, the game was really a pitcher's battle between Earnhardt of the locals and Bibbs of the Techs with odds slightly favoring the former. The Tech team last year was the champion of the South Atlantic States, not losing a single game.

During the eight and two thirds innings that he pitched, Earnhardt allowed five hits, walked two and struck out six; in the same length of time, Captain Bibbs of the visitors allowed seven hits to be garnered off his delivery, issued two passes and caused nine to go out by the strike-out route. Besides the excellent twirling of the opposing mound artists, a running catch by Rone in the third inning and a shoe-string stab by Langley in the eighth frame were the features of the game. The heavy and timely hitting of Beal and Love for the locals and of Gaines for the visitors deserves special mention.

Trinity drew blood in the first inning after Treackle, who first officiated on the mound for V. P. I., walked Rone and Langley, and Flythe got an infield hit. With the bases full, Lefler struck out, but Love produced the necessary single which sent Rone and Langley across the pan and Flythe to third from whence he scored a moment later on a wild pitch. The hook was now applied to Treackle, and

SECOND A. & M. TRACK MEET WON BY TRINITY

TRINITY EVENED SERIES BY DEFEATING TECHS HERE LAST FRIDAY

RUFF LEADS INDIVIDUAL SCORING

MacDougal Again Stars For Opponents—Rain Falling Entire Time Mars Meet—Final Score 71 to 65

By the score of 71 to 65, Trinity defeated A. and M. in the second of their scheduled track meets this season held on New Hanes Athletic Field on last Friday afternoon, thereby evening up the series.

On account of a drizzling rain which fell throughout the entire meet no unusual records were made by either team. Out of a total of fourteen events, Trinity took first honors in nine: the low hurdles, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, the half mile, high hurdles, two miles, discus throw, broad jump and pole vault, A. and M. taking first place in the remaining five events, the mile, 440-yard dash, shot-put, the hammer throw, and the high jump.

By winning first place in the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, and the broad jump, Ruff, of the Trinity team, led in individual points scored, scoring fifteen points out of a possible fifteen. Thompson was the next highest scorer for Trinity with a total of eleven points, secured by getting

APRIL SOUTH ATLANTIC QUARTERLY IS ISSUED

WIDE RANGE OF WRITERS AND SUBJECTS MARKED IN THIS ISSUE

KAISER AND GERMANY DFEENDED

Two Educational Papers—Fourth Installation "Letters of a Cadet" Dr. Graves on "The Ass As Actor."

The April number of the South Atlantic Quarterly contains many timely and interesting articles. Mr. Robert J. Menner of Yale University writes on "The Kaiser and Germany in Popular Opinion." In this article Mr. Menner speaks of the early disposition in the United States to place the whole blame for the European War on the German Kaiser. He points out that later evidence has been abundant that the German people have been practically united in the support of the Kaiser and that the war has been a genuinely popular one. The article also contains an interesting discussion of the possible German attitude toward the annexation of new territory.

Especially appropriate to the Spring Number is the article by Doctor Philip Alexander Bruce on "The Birds of My English Water Meadow." Doctor Bruce has recently had a long residence in England, and this delightfully written essay shows that he has made good use of his ability as a writer and student of natural history. Bird lovers will doubtless find much pleasure in this article.

Mr. Clyde Furst, Secretary of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, contributes a paper on "Recent Educational Progress." He gives an informing survey of the work now being done throughout the country to fit educational courses and methods to the actual needs of the people.

TWO GRADUATES APPOINTED TO ECONOMIC FELLOWSHIPS

BARNARD, 1915, AND FISHER, 1911, GO TO PRINCETON AND CORNELL

Two Trinity graduates have recently received a very substantial honor in the form of election to fellowships in economics which will enable them to enter upon graduate study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Mr. B. W. Barnard, 1915, has been elected Fellow in Economics and Social Institutions at Princeton University, and Mr. Clyde O. Fisher, 1911, has been elected Fellow in Political Economy and Finance in Cornell University. These appointments are for the next academic year.

Mr. Barnard graduated from Trinity in 1915 at the head of his class, having devoted special attention to courses in economics and history. While working for his A. M. degree, he has this year been assisting Professor Glasson in Courses 1 and 2 in the Department of Economics. With his application for a fellowship at Princeton, he submitted essays on "Gold Production and Its Rela-

TRINITY TIES SECOND WAKE FOREST CONTEST

BAPTISTS MAKE BIG RALLY AFTER BEING HELD 9 TO 0 SEVEN INNINGS

EARNHARDT PITCHES GREAT GAME

Strikes Out 11 Men—One Man Reaches a Base Before Eighth—Wake Forest Eliminated State Championship

George Earnhardt held them at his mercy. For seven innings but one man reached a base, eleven were struck out, and behind their pitcher, the Trinity team played errorless ball. And in the meantime, the offense was at work building up an almost insurmountable lead.

But the baseball break usually comes and it did not fail in this sensational contest with Wake Forest on their home grounds last Saturday. Whether this break was due to a reaction from the weird one-sidedness of the game, to the strain upon the nerves of the players as a result of the harrowing treatment accorded them by the local routers, or to a really tremendous rally by the Baptists, it cannot be said; it was probably due all three circumstances. In any event three Trinity pitchers became as powerless to stem the tide as had been the opposing plays previously. Earnhardt, Mason, and Lambie had to be withdrawn. Powell proved successful, but the work had been done, the score was tied and neither side showed further ability to tally.

In this game Langley and Lefler continued their phenomenal playing at center and catcher; and Langley, Love, Flythe, Love and Falls proved great mainstays with the stick.

The result of this game eliminated Wake Forest for the State Championship.

The following is a summary of the innings in which scores were made:

Second Inning.

Trinity: Durham walked, went to second on Falls single to center and continued safely to third on an error by that baseman. Earnhardt and Rone were unable to find the ball. Langley singled, scoring Durham and Falls, and stole second. Flythe secured a free base. Lefler singled to center, scoring Langley, but Flythe was caught at third. Trinity 3.

Wake Forest: Ellis and samms fanned. Vassey flied to Langley.

Fourth Inning.

Trinity: Rone grounded to the pitcher. Langley singled and stole second. Flythe walked and coupled up a double steal with Langley. Lefler was retired. Both basemen advanced a base on Love's single, Langley scoring. Graham, running for Love, stole second and with Flythe tallied on Beal's triple to deep right. Durham sent a stiff one to short, but failed to beat the ball. Trinity 3.

Wake Forest: Robley rolled an easy one to Earnhardt. Carlyle and Holding lifted outs to Langley. No score.

Sixth Inning.

Trinity: Flythe tripled and scored on Loves Texas leaguer

This issue of THE CHRONICLE has been prepared entirely under the supervision of Associate Editor John H. Small, Jr. He has read and corrected all copy, written or revised all head-lines, read all proof, had charge of the makeup, and written a signed editorial.

TRUST THE COUNCIL

The intense rivalry which has for several years existed between Trinity and Wake Forest culminated last Saturday in a discourteous reception of the Trinity baseball team by the Wake Forest team and students, to say the least, and in a consequent sentiment among Trinity students for a permanent discontinuance of athletic relations with the Baptist institution.

This sentiment is in a measure justified, but without a knowledge of all the facts, the students have formed in regard to the matter an opinion which is radical and perhaps dangerous. Every man, certainly has a right to his own opinion, but before he forms that opinion and agitates it he should be very sure that he knows the facts and has considered all of the circumstances.

The students should let the matter drop so far as they are concerned and trust to the Athletic Council to take any action that may be necessary. The Council is doubtless in the possession of facts which are not known to all the students, has a proper balance of faculty, alumni, and student representation, and can be trusted to take any steps that may be necessary and proper.

Professor R. L. Flowers will leave Durham next week to attend a meeting of the Board of Education of the Southern Methodist Church which meets at Nashville,

THE INDIVIDUAL'S VOTE

As the end of the scholastic year approaches, numberless college election come into the order of business and are dispatched heedlessly, as the majority wavers or in accordance with personal whim. As a matter of fact when the conditions which obtain at practically every society or class or club election are taken into consideration, it is a really remarkable fact that the officers chosen are as efficient as they frequently prove themselves to be. On the other hand, it would be neither necessary nor proper to cite cases in which some organization has fallen into careless or incompetent or malicious hands. The matter to be considered is that regardless of whether fate provides good college officers or not, the result is indeed a question of fate and not of any deliberative or impartial selection.

This matter of apathy on the part of some and of selfish maneuvering with the others is just the reason for the world at large placing so little confidence in any approach to a pure democracy. It seems a settled fact that no matter how small a body, its entire content should not be trusted with its management. The conditions, for instance, existing in almost any society election are the same which made an ancient foreigner say in reply to a question by a Greek as to what we thought of the Greek Democracy, having heard one of the trials by popular judgment. "The wise men argue cases, and fools decide them." It was like experience which prompted our American forefathers, presumably inaugurating a government along unprecedented republican lines, to provide a chief executive with control greater than that of monarchs, and one supreme court whose authority is yet in no degree approached by any similar judiciary. Democracy is most successful when most closely regulated.

It is not as if there is no remedy for whatever evil there may be in local conditions as they are today—and the Chronicle is disposed neither to enlarge upon them nor deprecate their effects. At the most all that is required is a bit of previous consideration and a vote which considers, neither personal approval or prejudice, nor "machine control," nor that jocular choice which is sometimes so prevalent, but the propagation and development of the body. Whereas democracy appears to be the irrational sentiment of an uninterested whole, if we are not to have administrative control, let their be a frank individualism which has ideas of its own and the moral and physical energy to pronounce them.

It is to the same end of better direction that another suggestion is made herewith. Practically every form of organization on the college yard holds its election for the coming year in the spring. Yet there is an exception in the three classes. Why should not those classes which are to return select their leaders before September? It would seem that this would be particularly of value to the Junior Class. Instead of the present dalliance, which continues for over a month after the opening of each college year, these organizations could anticipate the work to be done, and with a bit of added incentive they might be a more definite, more unanimous, more forward, force in the college community.—J. H. S., Jr.

BALL TEAM ON WESTERN TRIP

The baseball team left this afternoon for a short trip into the western part of the state. The trip comprises three games in all—two with Davidson and one with Guilford. Davidson will be met tomorrow and next day. The first game will be staged not in Statesville as was scheduled but in Hickory while the second contest will take place on the Presbyterian's own grounds. On Saturday Guilford will be the opponent; this game was scheduled to be played in High Point, but on account of better inducements, the scene of battle has been shifted to Spencer. The team will get back either Saturday night or Sunday morning, for a day's rest before what is really the most important game of the schedule, to that point, that with A. & M. on Monday the 17.

The following is a summary of the seasons of the three teams which Trinity faces within the next week:

Mr. Fisher graduated from Trinity in 1911 with honors in the Department of Economics. Since graduation he has been principal of the Burgaw High School. But he has been taking courses in economics in several sessions of the Columbia University Summer School, and has nearly completed courses equal to the requirement for the A. M. degree. He is also taking up "Confederate Pension Legislation in North Carolina" as a subject of research. He has been appointed to a fellowship which, including tuition, has a value of $825.00.

VA. TECH IS DEFEATED IN PITCHER'S BATTLE (Continued from Page One)

Bibbs who took his place succeeded in stopping the scoring for the time being. In the very next inning he met a worse fate than did his predecessor. After one man was down an error gave Langely a birth, Flythe secured his second single, and Leffers' infield hit advanced both runners. Love, Beal and Falls followed with hits which netted the locals four runs. After this Bibbs tightened up and prevented further scoring.

V. P. I. did all their scoring in the second inning when five hits, coupled with several errors and passes, enabled them to secure five runs. It was in this inning that Powell was taken from the box and Earnhardt sent in his place. With the bases full Earnhardt allowed three men to score but after that settled down and pitched scoreless ball.

SIGMA UPSILON HAS MEETING.
Arendell, Burrus, and Hall Provide Good Program.

At the regular meeting of Sigma Upsilon last Friday night Banks Arendell read an original short story entitled "Confessions," J. H. Burrus read a paper on the work of Thomas Nast, the famous cartoonist, and V. C. Hall read a literary criticism of the poetical works of John Masefield, an English poet.

Arendell's story, "Confessions," deals with the experiences of a college newspaper correspondent on his return from the telegraph office after despatching an account of a baseball game. The story is based on the recent defacing of the buildings of the Trinity campus.

Burrus, who is staff cartoonist for both the Chanticleer and The Canoe, illustrated his paper on Thomas Nast with drawings on the blackboard.

Hall's criticisms of Masefield's poetry was punctuated by the reading of several selections from Masefield's poems.

The discussion of the papers was followed by some light refreshments.

Bishop Hendrix left this morning for his home in Kansas City.

Y. M. C. A. INSTALLS OFFICERS
Committees Chosen—Organization Bigger Than Ever

Perhaps no phase of college activities has grown as significantly as the local Y. M. C. A. The evidence of this fact was brought out in a recent meeting of this organization, at which new officers were installed and committees appointed for the coming year.

The following officers were installed: president, C. Settle Bunn, of Bailey; vice-president, L. C. Larkin, of Carthage; secretary, L. L. Gobel, of Spencer; treasurer, W. K. Carr, of Charlotte. The following men were appointed chairmen of the student committees: Bible study, J. Roy Wilkerson, of Kenly; mission study, J. Edgar Van Hook, of Washington; membership, R. H. Bennett, Jr., of Atlanta, Georgia; social service, L. M. Hall, of Union, South Carolina; finance, W. K. Carr, of Charlotte; reception, J. C. Boggs, of Lynchburg, Virginia; music, J. A. Brame, Macon; program, Eugene C. Few, Grier, South Carolina.

BISHOP E. R. HENDRIX
IS AVERA LECTURER

THE HUMAN BODY IS THE LIGHT OF CHRISTIAN RELIGION

"The Human Body in the Light of the Christian Religion" was the subject of the last lecture of the Avera series delivered by Bishop Hendrix on Tuesday evening.

In the course of his lecture Bishop Hendrix said that the revival of the Olympic games in Athens some years ago illustrate the great emphasis placed by the ancient Greeks on the perfection of the body. These contests were established originally in the name of religion, but the perfect bodies of the Olympic victors after death were destroyed by cremation. Christ introduced such reverence for the body that some form of burial was introduced as a means of disposing of the bodies of the dead. Christ put in the fore-front of his teachings the proof of his own divinity in the resurrection of his own body.

In teaching reverence for the body, Christianity emphasized not only the purification of the exterior by water, but the cleansing of the interior by temperance and chastity. Christ's teaching was that the human body was more than the temple of the rational soul; he proclaimed it as the abode of the Holy Spirit.

Immediately following the lecture, music was rendered by a quartette composed of J. E. Bennett, G. W. Harley, E. G. Harris, and L. C. Larkin.

APRIL SOUTH ATLANTIC
QUARTERLY IS ISSUED

This number contains the fourth installment of "The Letters of a Virginia Cadet at West Point" which have given pleasure to so many readers in all parts of the country. This installment brings the letters down to the time of the election of Lincoln.

Doctor Edgar W. Knight, of the Department of Education at Trinity College, continues his instructive discussion of "Reconstruction and Education in Virginia." He shows that the school system of the state was the outgrowth of the work of native conservative Virginians, who believed in a system of public education free and open alike to all classes.

Doctor T. S. Graves of Trinity College contributes a very original paper on "The Ass as Actor." This essay is marked by a quiet vein of humor and will doubtless be greatly enjoyed by students of the English drama.

Professor G. M. Dutcher, of Wesleyan University, Connecticut writes for this number a timely review-article on "National Safety of the United States, Past and Future."

The book review department contains reviews by Professors W. H. Glasson, W. T. Laprade, E. W. Knight, C. A. Moore, W. H. Wannamaker and others. The number is brought to a conclusion with the department of Notes and News.
