TRINITY BLANKED BY STRONG A. & M. TEAM

LOCALS UNABLE TO SOLVE DELIVERY OF SOUTHPAW WEATHERS.

BENNETT'S AUSPICIOUS DEBUT

Love and Earnhardt Alone Hit Safely—Langley Stars in Center—Winston Gets Three Timely Hits.

With the big southpaw, Weathers, pitching air-tight ball and the whole A. & M. team playing an errorless game behind him, Trinity went down in defeat before the strong Tech team on the latter's diamond Monday to the tune of 4 to 0.

From the first man up in the opening frame until the last man fanned in the ninth it was simply too much Weathers for the locals. Only two members of the Trinity aggregation were able to connect with the big fellow's delivery for safe hits, Love and Earnhardt each being accredited with a single. More than this, seventeen Trinity batters fanned the air in an attempt to land on the opposing pitcher's curves for safeties. Only twice did Trinity men get as far as the keystone sack, but the necessary bingles were not forthcoming.

The Techs began their scoring in the first stage of the game. Hodgins, first up, lifted a clean hit to deep right. Wharton hit to Earnhardt, who threw wild to Beal, both runners advancing. Wheeler popped up to Durham, but Winston cracked out the necessary hit by third base, scoring both runners and reaching third on the throw home in an effort to catch Wheeler. R. Johnson hit to Durham, who caught Winston at the plate. Sullivan flew out to Langley. Another tally was added in the third inning when Wheeler hit over short, went to third on Winston's single over second, and raced around the pan when R. Johnson hit through short. The last run came in the fourth frame after two men had been retired. Hodgins slashed out a double to the bleachers in right center, went to third on Earnhardt's low throw to second to catch him napping, and crossed the rubber on Wharton's hit between first and second. After Wheeler and Winston had singled in quick succession and filled the bases, Bennett came to the rescue and made R. Johnson bite at three strikes.

Trinity threatened to score but twice. In the third inning Falls, first up, received a free pass. Durham fanned. Earnhardt secured a hit to right field. Rone fanned, and Langley hit a long one to left field which seemed good for three bags, but Thrash made a beautiful running catch of the apparent hit. Again, in the fifth frame Beal took four wide ones, went to second on Falls' sacrifice, but died there when Durham fanned and Bennett was thrown out, Wheeler to R. Johnson.

Besides the gilt-edged pitching of Weathers, the hitting of Winston and Hodgins and the hitting and fielding of Wheeler were features for the victorious Aggies.

GUILFORD CAPTURES FAST GAME IN NINTH

PRETTY PITCHERS' BATTLE WON BY QUAKERS SATURDAY, 2 TO 1.

ONLY SCORES IN THE LAST INNING

Contest Before Large Crowd at Spencer—Zachary for Guilford Strikes Out Fourteen and Gets 3 Hits.

Spencer turned out the largest baseball crowd in its history for the Trinity-Guilford game Saturday afternoon. And the spectators were awarded with one of the prettiest pitchers' battles of the season. Not a run crossed the plate until the ninth inning, but in that inning, Guilford followed Trinity's single tally with a brace and captured the game with that score, 2 to 1.

Trinity, it can be fairly said, was outclassed both in the field and at the bat. Two notable features of the game were the facts that Trinity produced only two hits and added fourteen strike-outs to Pitcher Zachary's record. However, the game was cleanly played on both sides and was one of the tightest ever seen on the Spencer diamond. Scores for both teams were several times prevented by lightning support. Flythe and Durham played perfect ball in excellent fashion. The pitching and batting of Zachary and the perfect fielding of the whole team marked the work of Guilford.

YALE PROFESSOR SPEAKS ON HISTORY PROBLEMS

DR. CHAS. M. ANDREWS SPEAKS TO ADVANCED HISTORY CLASSES FRIDAY.

Dr. Charles M. Andrews, professor of American history in Yale University, who has just spent two months in the South doing historical research work, on Friday morning spoke to the students in the advanced history classes on "Problems of History."

There has grown up in this country, said the speaker, a habit of writing histories of states, counties, and other small divisions from a local point of view alone, without showing the relation of the section to great national movements. There is at present, however, a hopeful tendency away from this narrow practice. In order to write a reliable history of a subordinate division of the country, one should leave that section and get an outside point of view.

A second harmful tendency in the writing of local history is that toward writing biographies of the great leaders and of ignoring the common, work-a-day people, who frequently have more to do with the making of history than do the leaders.

The speaker closed with a plea that such patriotic organizations as those of persons who claim participants in certain wars as ancestors and devote themselves to the collection of certain facts of history of special interest to them not go to distort the facts as to give them the tone of a Fourth-of-July oration, but to give the facts

APRIL ARCHIVE IS A SHAKESPEARE NUMBER

ENTIRE ISSUE IS TERCENTENAL MEMORIAL DEATH OF DIAMATIST

MANY ESSAYS ON GREAT POET

Two Poems and Seven Articles Devoted to Noid Dramatist—"A Cavest for Shakespearians" is the Feature.

The April Archive is entirely a Shakespeare number. And in variety and excellence of material on this subject, the issue is a distinct success. The poetry is at least up to the standard, and the prose work shows analytical work and appreciation. There is, as a frantispiece, in excellent photograph from an oil bust of Shakespeare.

The verse in this number lacks quantity, but the two poems which appear—both eulogies of Shakespeare—are pleasing and suggestive. "The Master of Song," a sonnet by M. B. Andrews, suggests the soothing and restorative influences of reading Shakespeare. The idea of the poem is rather original, but the verse is rather awkward, the rhyme having the appearance of being strained. The other poem, "Bill, the Bard," by Mr. D. W. Newson, is one of the most virile and commanding bits of verse which has appeared this year. The thought is striking and well expressed.

BURRUS AND BENNETT TO PILOT 1917 CHANTICLEER

FINANCIAL SUCCESS OF ANNUAL PROBABLE—ASSISTANTS ELECTED.

The governing board of the Chanticleer in their meeting last Thursday evening elected officers to serve during the collegiate year 1916-17. J. H. Burrus will succeed G. W. H. Britt as editor-in-chief, with K. C. Towe and H. W. Kendall as associate editors; and R. H. Bennett, Jr., will succeed S. B. White, Jr., as business manager with R. K. Courtney and E. F. Dunstan as assistants.

As is the usual custom, the Chanticleer Board elects towards the end of each year the editor and business manager for the ensuing year from members of the Junior Class. Heretofore the board has also elected one associate editor and one assistant business manager from the Sophomore Class, but this year two men have been chosen for each of these offices.

Manager White did not make any report but stated that, in case collections were good, the financial prospects for the publication this year were very good.

President Few to Speak at Sigma Upsilon Celebration Tuesday Evening—To Plant Memorial Tree.

All plans are being rapidly carried out for the celebration by Durham of the Tercentenary of Shakespeare's death, which occurred in Stratford-on-Avon on April 23, 1616. Schools, cities, clubs throughout England and America are entering into this celebration almost universally; never in the history of the world perhaps has the memory and work of any man been so cherished.

Durham will not be behind, for an extensive program is being prepared for the celebration, and every organization and institution in the city is represented on the general committee—the City Government by its head, the Mayor, the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' Association, the Rotary Club, the Civic League, Trinity College, the City High School, the Southern Conservatory of Music, the Durham School of Music, the Up-to-Date Club, the Tourists, the Halsey Club.

The celebration will begin on Friday, April 28, afternoon and night, and it will end on Tuesday

HIGH SCHOOL MEET HERE ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

FORTY-NINE HIGH SCHOOLS IN TRACK MEET AND OTHER CONTESTS.

Seventy-seven contestants have already been entered for the track meet which is to be a part of the district convention of state high schools in Durham on Friday. It is expected that the number will reach 100 before the meet is held.

E. H. Moser, of Zebulon, secretary of the East Central Division of State High Schools, was in Durham yesterday making final arrangements for the convention.

While in Durham the representatives of the forty-nine high schools of the division will be the guests of the local high schools.

The convention will consist of basketball tournaments and declamation and recitation contests besides the track meet. The first event will be the girls' basketball tournaments held in Angier Duke Gymnasium Friday afternoon. The track meet will follow this tournament.

The track meet will consist of the following eight events: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, relay race (each lap about 1-4 mile), pole vault, high jump, broad jump, shot put, and hammer throw.

Forty-nine high schools in the following twenty counties are expected to send representatives: Alamance, Caswell, Chatham, Davidson, Forsyth, Franklin, Granville, Guilford, Lee, Montgomery, Moore, Orange, Person, Randolph, Richmond, Rockingham, Stokes, Vance, Wake, and Warren.

TRINITY SPLITS EVEN WITH PRESBYTERIANS

FIRST GAME WON FROM DAVIDSON, 4 TO 2—SECOND LOST, 18-10.

EARNHARDT BETTERS LAWSON

Trinity Twirler Gives Up But Three Hits in First Game—Second Game Featured by Much Hitting.

The features of the first Davidson game, played on the Lenoir College grounds at Hickory on Thursday, were the pitching of Earnhardt, who held his opponents to three hits, the sensational one-handed catch by Flythe of a long fly in the ninth, and the home run of McMillan, of Davidson, scoring Saunders ahead for Davidson's only two runs.

The game was a pitchers' battle royal, Earnhardt allowing the Presbyterians but three hits, and Trinity being able to get only seven hits off Lawson's delivery. The Trinity team committed but one error in the game, but the three errors made by Davidson proved costly.

Trinity gained a lead in the opening frame, and never lost it, scoring again in the second and fourth innings. Falls hit a long triple, and Beal and Earnhardt hit for doubles.

SECOND GAME

In one of the biggest matches ever heard of around these parts, Davidson triumphed over Trinity on the Presbyterians' diamond last Friday in the second of the three games scheduled for the season between the two teams, the final count being 18 to 10. Twenty-eight runs, twenty-four hits, and eleven errors in eight and one-half innings, lasting two hours and twenty minutes, best describes the hitting fray.

From the first frame till the first half of the eighth the ball was scarcely still a minute. In all but two stages of the game as many

EDITORIAL

On account of the Easter holidays, THE CHRONICLE will not be issued next week, but will make its next appearance on May 3.

"Your team is composed of the most gentlemanly bunch of fellows we have played this season," writes a Davidson man of the Trinity team. The Lynchburg News after the Trinity-Cardinal game spoke of the Trinity basket ball team as one of the cleanest that played on the Lynchburg court during the season. Everywhere the teams, baseball and basket ball, have made this impression this year, and it is believed that the treatment accorded visiting teams here both by players and spectators has been all that could be desired.

It is such a spirit as this that counts for more than a long string of victories, and it is to be hoped that Trinity men this year and always will maintain this reputation.

THE CHRONICLE wishes to congratulate its contemporary, The Archive, on its splendid Shakespeare number which has just come from the press. The number is composed entirely of material relative to Shakespeare, covering a wide range of subject matter from the "gravy rider" on English III to a discussion of the attitude of the Restoration toward the Bard of Avon and written in every form, essay, story, and verse. May the Shakespeare Archive and the elaborate celebration to commemorate the death of the great Elizabethan dramatist serve to awaken a new interest in him and his plays.

Professor A. M. Webb returned Sunday from Bell Buckle, Tennessee, where he attended the bedside, and funeral of his father, Professor John M. Webb, who died on April 5.

as three runs were scored by one or the other of the two teams. Trinity opened the game in the first inning by pushing three runners across the plate, and everything appeared to be going the right way for the locals. But the Presbyterians also began tallying in their half of by securing one run. In the second inning they came back with three tallies and, to cap the climax, sent five runners home in the third. But even these runs were not sufficient to satisfy the swat-thirsty batters of both teams. Davidson scored three runs in each of the fourth, fifth, and seventh innings, while Trinity piled up four in the fifth and three in the final frame.

the pen of Carrie B. Craig, is a rather critical survey of four of the greatest of the master's creations: Portia, Juliet, Cordelia, and Lady Macbeth, taken as familiar representatives of different types of female characters. The article deals with the personal characteristics of each of these four women and follows their relation to the plot of each play and their influence upon the final results. The article is analytical and thorough, backed by a complete fund of comparative material.

"The Gravy Rider," an anonymous story, is self-explanatory. Even this article smacks of Shakespeare and Romanticism—though the latter is hardly of the sixteenth century—for the particular work which this connoisseur in "crip" courses masters, together with a poker game, in one night is the redoubtable English III.

J. T. Ring appears with an essay on "The Elizabethan Taverns" which are taken as presenting "innumerable pictures of the society and modes of the time." The English taverns of the Elizabethan period are very cleverly pictured in their physical appearance, as well as in the habits which prevailed in them, their part in the life of the country, and their effects upon later-day club life.

"A Caveat for Shakespearians" is another anonymous contribution. This article seeks to correct a growing tendency to "rhapsodize over the beauties of Shakespeare" and grow eloquent over the 'myriad-minded' singer of Avon merely because it is a tradition to do so." The writer takes as his thesis that Shakespeare was not so universal as imagined and does not, therefore, possess that degree of modernity which is ascribed to him. The writer points out especially that Shakespeare "came far short of nature worship," and seemed to confine himself largely to "the soft and gentle aspects; for the rugged, the grand . . . he possessed little or no positive affection." This contribution would seem from every standpoint to be the best in the present issue. Its literary style is finished and experienced.

W. M. Pickens whose article last month in Wayside Wares on summer experiences in selling auto-harps, returns with a rather more serious subject, "The Attitude of the Restoration Towards Shakespeare." This subject has been studied with some degree of thoroughness, as the careful division of the essay shows, and the facts which support the statements advanced offer good proof of the contentions; there is, however, no attempt at a complete examination of all that was said of Shakespeare during the Restoration.

That Shakespeare was an inventor who in both number and variety of inventions surpassed Edison is the contention of A. L. The field in which Shakespeare has operated has been literature, and he has produced characters and quotations.

Two articles follow on Shakespearean literature, "The Anne Roney Shakespeare Collection," by J. P. Breedlove and "Recent Literature on Shakespeare" by J. H. Grigg. The first is an historical summary of the College Library's entire collection of books on Shakespeare. There is now in the Library a total of 868 such volumes, and Librarian Breedlove concludes his article, "We believe that not another library south of Baltimore has a collection of Shakespeare books equal to the Anne Roney Shakespeare Collection in size and value." The article by Grigg is, of course, not exhaustive of recent literature on Shakespeare, but it does at least leave many pleasant suggestions as to lines of study or general reading on the poet.

Wayside Wares has been omitted from this issue. The Alumni Department is occupied with a reprint from the Archive of June, 1899, in the form of a comedy rendering and dispensing football, by H. M. North. This, too, was modeled from Shakespeare and uses the blank verse. The title of the two-act play is "The Comedy of the Goal," and dramatically and poetically, it is an excellent piece of work.

LECTURE ON WEATHER BUREAU

"The Weather Bureau, Its Work and Worth," was the subject of a lecture delivered on Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. Hall by Mr. O. O. Atto, of the United States Weather Bureau. This lecture, although given under the auspices of the Science Club and intended primarily for its members, was attended by a large number of students and friends of the College.

In discussing the founding of the Weather Bureau, Mr. Atto said that as early as 1850 or 1860 the Federal Government realized the need of some agency to warn the farmers and sailors of the approach of damaging storms, but not until about 1868 did it make much headway. At first the work of the Bureau was under the direction of the War Department, but it was later put under the care of the Department of Agriculture. With the advance of telegraphy and the wireless telephone the usefulness of the Bureau has increased. Today Congress annually appropriates $1,600,000 with which over six hundred men are employed and sub-stations maintained all over the United States.

The work and workings of the Bureau were illustrated by means of charts and photographs.

Winston secured two singles and a double out of four trips to the plate, while Hodgins was accredited with a double and a single out of four times up.

For Trinity the pitching of Bennett was the outstanding feature. Going in to relieve Earnhardt with the bases filled in the fourth inning, he retired the side by fanning R. Johnson and held the Techs to one scratch hit for the remainder of the game. Langley nabbed a total of six flies in the center garden, one of which was a sensational running catch of Evans' high one toward left center. Love and Earnhardt were the only Trinity batters who were able to garner safe hits off Weathers.

SOPHOMORE DEBATORS Thirteen Chosen to Enter Preliminary for Soutate Prize.

The English Department has announced that the following members of the Sophomore Class have made places on the annual Sophomore Debate: Misses Mary Bynum, Durham, Blanche Mann, Charlotte; Cora Moss, Durham; Adelaide Lyons, Glade Springs, Va.; and F. C. Cavness, Cole-ridge; C. P. Cothran, Clendenin, W. Va.; John Cine, Lincoln; R. L. Fisher, Gatesville; H. W. Kendall, Shelby A. H. Gwyn, Yanceyville; W. G. McFarland, Mebane; C. A. Poole, Jackson Springs; P. L. Simple, Elizabeth City. These persons will contest for the set of Shakespeare's works which is offered each year by Mr. James H. Southgate, of Durham, who is president of the Board of Trustees.

The date has not yet been set for the preliminary when six of the above persons will be chosen to speak in the final. The dates for both these events will be announced later.

The Class of 1916 is now taking steps toward erecting a drinking fountain to be given to the College as a class gift. The College architects, Hook and Rodgers, of Charlotte, are now working on plans and specifications for the fountain. The purpose of the class at present is to erect at some convenient place, probably opposite the stone bench presented by the Class of 1907, a twin-bubbling fountain with pailion, which is to be covered with green tile to match that on the other College buildings. The fountain is to be connected with the city water main.

SHAKESPEARE PROGRAM IS ELABORATE AFFAIR

night, May 1. The program is as follows:

Friday afternoon, April 28:

The singing of one of Shakespeare's great sonnets, "Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?" in which the poet prophesied the immortality of his verse; address by President Biv. of Trinity College; the singing by the large chorus of Under the Greenwood Tree; the planting of a memorial tree and address by Col. James H. Southgate; the flower pageant in which seven or more children dressed to represent the flowers the great poet loved and mentioned in his songs, will bear garlands to decorate the bust of Shakespeare and repeat from his many plays the lines in which he lifted the little flowers into positions of ever increasing love and honor.

Friday night April 28:

The Lovers' Masque will be presented. This has been composed to represent many of the most poetic and beautiful scenes from the poets' most popular plays—the lovers and fairies from The Midsummer Night's Dream and The Tempest; the delightful scenes from As You Like It, Twelfth Night, Romeo and Juliet, Merchant of Venice, Winter's Tale, Cymbeline, etc. The masque provides for the presentation of many of the old English singing-games and figure-dances, which date back even centuries before Shakespeare's time and which were popular during the entire Elizabethan period—such as the Morris dances by children and the sword dances.

The Fortnightly Club chapter of Sigma Upsilon will on Tuesday night at eight o'clock hold in the Y. M. C. A. Hall a Shakespeare Tercentenary Celebration, the principal feature of which will be an address by President W. P. Few on some phase of the life or works of Shakespeare.

The last feature of the celebration will be the appearance on Monday and Tuesday, May 1 and 2, of the Coburn Players in three of Shakespeare's plays, Hamlet, Richard III, and The Tempest on the Woodland Stage.
