FACULTY LOSES AND ADDS THREE MEMBERS

INSTRUCTORS YOST, ALDERMAN, AND SMITH GO ELSEWHERE

THREE ALUMNI TAKE PLACES

Messrs. Hornaday, Bagley, and Coman Are New Profs.—Prof. Peele Remains—Student Assistants

The loss of three instructors and the addition of the same number constitute about all the changes made in the Trinity faculty for this session. Messrs. C. A. Yost and S. S. Alderman, both instructors in the departments of German and French, and M. A. Smith, of the department of physics will be succeeded this year respectively by Professor C. L. Hornaday, as instructor in German, C. R. Bagley, as instructor in French, and J. H. Coman, as instructor in physics. Professor Peele will devote his entire time to his duties as head of the Biblical Department in the College. There will, as usual, be several student assistants.

INSTRUCTOR C. A. YOST

Instructor Yost, who has assisted in the departments of French and German for the two past years will be situated during the coming session in a New England educational institution known as Williams College. He was called also to the White Plains High School, New York, but his acceptance of the former position had already gone into effect when the latter call came.

INSTRUCTOR S. S. ALDERMAN

Instructor Alderman, also of the departments of French and German, for the past two years has given only divided time to his duties. Besides his work in instructing French and German, he also took up the study of law in the Trinity Law School. At the recent Supreme Court examination held at Raleigh, he was given his law license. His withdrawal from the faculty of the College is to permit him to take up his work as a lawyer.

INSTRUCTOR M. A. SMITH

Instructor Smith departs from the College faculty to take up his former job with the Westinghouse Electric Company, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

PROFESSOR C. L. HORNADAY

Professor C. L. Hornaday, who for several years has been teaching modern languages and English in Trinity Park School, has been selected to be assistant professor of German in the College faculty. Professor Hornaday is a graduate of Trinity both as a bachelor of arts and as a master of arts. He has taken advanced German in two summer schools at Columbia University, and for eight weeks of the past summer he taught the language in the summer school at the State Normal College at Greensboro. Professor Hornaday has a thorough mastery of the language and will doubtless prove an invaluable assistant in that department.

INSTRUCTOR C. R. BAGLEY

As assistant professor in the department of French Mr. C. R.

OPTIMISM REIGNS IN RANKS OF ATHLETICS

SYSTEM OF COLLECTING ATHLETIC FEE READOPTED THIS YEAR

'CRIP' WEST RESIGNS COACHSHIP

Executive Committee of Athletic Council is at Work Considering Coaches for Various Teams

It is doubtless widely hoped that athletics this year will have a much better year than they did last season, and first appearances surely point in that direction. Although several reliable players were lost in the graduating class of last year and although several underclass athletes are expecting not to return to College, the outlook based on ranging reports is exceedingly bright.

The athletic fee system, which was adopted two years ago, has been authorized for collection again this year. The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees took this step at their meeting last commencement. There is no doubt that this system of collecting five dollars from each male student as athletic fee has been favorable to promoting a deeper interest among the students in all forms of athletics and also to putting Trinity athletics on a much firmer and safer basis than formerly.

BASEBALL

Although baseball took a downward lurch about the middle of last season and although the team after beginning its slide could not stage even a fair come-back, still this fact will not cause any pessimism to be launched towards prospects for this year. The resignation of "Crip" West, the faithful coach of two Trinity teams, has put the Athletic Council in a quandary as to whom to choose for the pilot of this year. Several good men have put in their applications for the position; and whichever one of them is fortunate enough to secure the coachship of the next Methodist team will give his undivided attention to putting out a deserving nine. A committee appointed by the Athletic Council at its last meeting in the spring has been considering the applicants and will report to the Council at its first meeting after

HOOK BUSY DRAWING UP PLANS

Prof. Flowers is Certain of Gym's Erection—"Cap" Card Expresses Himself—Work on Old Building

In accordance with the proposition set forth by Bishop John C. Kilgo at the annual alumni dinner last Commencement, Trinity will soon be the possessor of a long wished-for modern gymnasium.

In his speech before the assembled alumni Bishop Kilgo said: "You friends and alumni of this College have got to build a new gymnasium here. Furthermore, I am going to spend the coming year in receiving contributions for this purpose, and I am going to expect every friend and son of the College to come to me with donations whole-heartedly."

As a result of Bishop Kilgo's earnest labors in this behalf, practically all the accessible alumni and interested persons of this institution have responded favorably to the proposition. The College architect, Hook, is now at work drawing up definite plans for the new building. The site for the structure has been selected, and the ultimate completion of the gymnasium appears to be merely a matter of time.

Speaking of the interest and the backing which friends and alumni are already displaying in the campaign the aim of which is the final presentation of the much needed building, Professor R. L. Flowers said: "I have no doubt in the world that we will have the new gymnasium. Those alumni and patrons of the College to whom I have had occasion to mention the matter seem very enthusiastic and promise substantial aid."

A circular letter drawn up by Bishop Kilgo and setting forth in brief, explicit wording the need Trinity has for the new gymnasium and the plan which he thinks will end in the construction of such an edifice will soon be sent out to patrons and alumni. If the letter receives a hearty response,—and there is little fear that the opposite will take place—

TRINITY Y. M. C. A. AGAIN WORKS TO AID NEW MEN

USUAL HANDBOOK OF INFORMATION PREPARED BY PRESIDENT BUNN

COMMITTEE MEETS ALL TRAINS

Bureau of Information Has Quarters in East Duke—Preparations Under Way for Annual Reception

The Trinity Y. M. C. A. begins its work this year mainly in four forms, and these are aimed primarily for helping the numerous new students who have arrived and who are still arriving here at the College. The usual handbook which the Association prepares for the use of freshmen has come out this year under the direction of President C. Settle Bunn. Members of the Association are cooperating with appointees of Recording Secretary Johnston, of the Greater Trinity Club, in meeting all the incoming trains for the purpose of directing new students to the College. Also a bureau of information established by the Association has its quarters in the East Duke Building in order to be of some assistance to new students in various capacities. Finally arrangements are being made for the annual reception to the freshman class given under the auspices of the Association.

The handbook this year is one of the most attractive which has ever been got out on the campus. The book is aimed primarily to be the catalogue of much valuable information and advice for freshmen, and this issue by no means falls in this respect below the general standard established by former issues. The book opens with the usual salutation and welcome by President W. P. Few, followed by the greeting from the Y. M. C. A. Then comes a series of advisory articles from several faculty members and from the Association. The latter part is taken up with setting forth in a simple, clear-cut manner the different phases of College activities.

The custom of Y. M. C. A. and Greater Trinity Club appointees meeting incoming trains is being followed this year. This is done to make the new students to direct new students to the College and to make them feel at home

MEMBERS OF FACULTY VARY SUMMER DOINGS

TEACHING, LIBRARY WORK, AND PLEASURE-SEEKING MAIN THINGS

ONLY TWO DO SUMMER TEACHING

Profs. Boyd Taught History in George Peabody College, Dr. Laprade in University of Illinois

Teaching, library work, and pleasure-seeking were the principal summer pursuits of the members of the Trinity Faculty. All of the faculty-members devoted the greater part of the summer months to work of various kinds, but all have likewise given some time to pleasure.

President Few spent a large part of the summer in his office. He also made short visits at the home of his father in South Carolina and at the home of Mrs. Few's parents in Martinsville, Virginia, and spent a short time at Lake Junaluska.

Dr. Glasson remained here until the appearance of the July number of the South Atlantic Quarterly, of which he is managing editor. During the remainder of the summer he did research work in the Library of Congress, at Washington, for the Carnegie Peace Foundation. He was assisted in his work by B. W. Barnard, last year instructor in economics here.

Professor Brooks spent most of the summer at work on his new book, Woodrow Wilson as President. During the latter part of the summer he took a fishing trip on Roanoke Island and a short business trip to Chicago.

Except for a few short business trips Professors Flower and Wannamaker spent the summer hard at work in the College office. Professor Markham spent most of the summer working in the Treasurer's office, taking a vacation of one week. Professors Pegram, Gill, and Webb were here most of the time supervising the removal of their homes from Faculty Avenue. Professor Gill later visited his father near Henderson.

Dean Mordecai, of the Law School, spent the entire summer at his home on the campus. Professor Hedrick devoted the summer months to his law practice in Durham, as did Professor Lockhart except for several weeks at the Military Training Camp at Plattsburg, New York.

Dr. Boyd taught for twelve weeks in the George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee, and later visited his father at Weaverville. Dr. Laprade gave a special course in European history at the summer session of the University of Illinois and then returned here to supervise the erection of his new home on Guess Street.

Dr. Knight spent several weeks on his honeymoon at Eagle's Nest and Waynesville, conducted a teachers' institute at Newton, and later returned to Durham, where he spent the last few weeks reading the proof of his new book, The History of Education in North Carolina, which will soon come

ANNOUNCEMENTS

There will be a marked change in entrance requirements in the College this year, of which the students are requested to take careful notice. This change particularly concerns the study of foreign languages.

Heretofore, six years of foreign languages have been absolutely required for entrance; whereas now only four are necessary. These four may be all of Latin or none of Latin and two years of each of German and French.

This lightening up of absolute requirements affords the individual a great deal more range for presenting elective credits. But the new foreign language requirement has to be taken care of in College. For instance, a student presenting credits of four years of foreign languages is required to take four years of them while in College. Conditioned students in this group will be required to take French A or German A, which will meet for five hours a week.

This change which makes Latin unrequired for an A. B. degree concerns only the course of instruction in Group B.

For the regular course in industrial Chemistry, catalogued number 4, a course will be given this session in household Chemistry, food, and nutrition. This course, however, will not satisfy the one year requirement of the college in laboratory science. It will also be open to young women who have had Chemistry 1 in College or who offer it for entrance.

I expect to have charge of part of the instruction in Bible III; and the course will meet on Wednesday and Friday at 12:00, as last year, and not on Tuesday at 9:00 as announced in the current catalogue. As a section of Bible III Professor Peele will offer a course in Sunday School Teacher Training, which will also meet at 12:00 on either Monday, Wednesday, or Friday. I should like to see a great many members of the Junior class undertake this Sunday School course, for I believe it will be of great value to all who have the opportunity to take it.

W. P. FEW.

The course in American literature will take the place this year of English 12 and will probably meet at the hours announced for 12—Monday, Wednesday, Friday at 11:00.

There will be an important meeting on Friday evening, 7:30 o'clock, in room 103, Alspaugh Hall, of all those members of the Junior and Sophomore classes who intend to enter the contest for associate positions on the editorial staff of the Chronicle.

A change will be made this year in the Greek Literature course (Greek 6). In place of the two courses, the one in Greek epic poetry and the other in Greek drama, that were given in alternate years, a new course will be substituted which will combine parts of each. It will consist of the study of Homer's Iliad and Odyssey in translation during the first half year and of a selection of the greatest Greek tragedies, also in translation, during the second term. No knowledge of the Greek language is required.

Students intending to enter any of the leading medical schools of the country are advised to take at some time during their college career the following courses:

- Biology I and II.
- Chemistry I and II. (or V, depending on the institution).
- Physics I and II.
- German I (or A) and II.
- French I (or A) and II.

This list includes only the minimum amount of work necessary to meet entrance requirements in our best medical schools.

For lack of space for the detailed requirements of the institutions upon which this recommendation is based, could not be published at this time, but will be later.

work on the building will commence sometime during the ensuing year.

The site which has been selected for the new structure is the plot of land between the eastern wall of the Craven Memorial Hall excepting that it will be very much larger. The material used is to be red pressed brick doubtless for the purpose of carrying out the effect of the Library and Alspaugh Hall, both of which are of the same material.

Gymnasium Director W. W. Card, in a recent interview, stated that the gymnasium floor will be at least one hundred and twenty five feet in length. Since this length would be too great for a single basketball court, the regular size court will be measured off and the remaining space at one end will be used for the accommodation of spectators. The inside walls will be equipped with first class apparatus and will afford exercising room for more students than the present gymnasium affords. At the back entrance of the gymnasium which will open on the western side there will be an out-door exercising ground. This will be floored with cement and enclosed within a moderately high fence, but will be without a roof. There will be room in this place for at least one basketball court, perhaps two, and one handball court. In good weather gymnasium frequenters, especially class basketball teams, will be encouraged to use this outdoor court.

The old gymnasium, Director Card states, has been overhauled preparatory to the opening of college, and arrangements have been made to make better provisions than those of last year for the regular gymnasium classes and for class basketball teams. The basketball floor has been given three heavy coats of white paint and has been otherwise put into first-class shape. Director Card says that he will encourage outdoor exercise immediately after College opens.

"Well, Son, said Mother, "you should never defer until tomorrow what you can do today."

"Then, Mother," returned Son, "hadn't we better eat the rest of the mince pie tonight."

TRINITY Y. M. C. A. AGAIN WORKS TO AID NEW MEN

The Y. M. C. A. Bureau of Information has its headquarters in the eastern parlor of the Administration, or East Duke, Building. Some one of the Association's members sits in there to receive any new students who desire to know the way to their rooms, situation of a boarding house, or any thing else pertinent to College life. The chief of the Bureau has assistants to accompany the new students to their rooms.

The annual reception to the incoming class which is always held under the auspices of the Association, will be given this year on the evening of Wednesday, September 20, from 8 to 11 o'clock. This occasion affords the new students, one and all, to get in close touch with old students and to get introduction to College life in general. All members of the College community are expected to be in attendance upon the social, and the evening is spent in a purely informal gathering.

from the press of Houghton, Mifflin and Company.

Dr. Brown spent the entire summer at the home of his mother at Harrisonburg, Virginia, doing special work on a volume of North Carolina folk-lore.

Dean Cranford and Professor Edwards were at their summer homes near Lake Junaluska. Professor Edwards also spent some time making experiments in the physical laboratories at Columbia University, New York.

Dr. Wolfe was engaged in work for the United States Government in the fisheries laboratory at Beaufort. During the first six weeks of the summer Professor Wilson gave the course in qualitative analysis for several students. He spent several days at Lake Junaluska attending a Sunday School conference.

Drs. Peppler and Gates spent the summer in Baltimore, Dr. Gates doing research work in the library of Johns Hopkins University, and Dr. Peppler visiting relatives.

Dr. Graves spent the whole summer at the home of his mother in Texas. The greater part of Dr. Moore's summer was devoted to his reading entrance examinations papers for Harvard University.

Professor Peele represented the College at many district conferences of the Methodist Church and took a short vacation in Western North Carolina.

Professor Hall took work in civil engineering at the summer session of the University of Michigan; Professor Holton studied law at the summer session of the University of Chicago Law School.

Treasurer Newsom and Librarian Breedlove were at work in their offices most of the summer, each taking a short vacation. Gymnasium Director Card was at his home throughout the summer and was active in promoting a movement which led to the establishment of a children's playground at the corner of Main and Duke Streets.

And he was wondrous wise;
He could unscramble scrambled eggs

And mince unstead pies.
He could unbutton butter, too,

There was one thing he could not do—

Unpay a paid gas bill.

EDITORIAL

SALUTATION

The Chronicle again avails itself of the opportunity of greeting its reassembled friends and associates and the promising class of new students who are about to enter upon a career among our number. Its salutation to both old and new readers who have come here after a summer of sunshine and showers is dominated by a deep feeling of good-cheer and of confidence.

The Chronicle returns with that same spirit of cooperation for lofty ideals which has marked its eleven years of existence. The earnest hope of its new management now, as in the past, is that it may measure up at least to that high standard which former managements have so faithfully established and that it may in some manner lift this standard still higher in line with the new standard which energetic and aggressive thought and endeavor are establishing for our beloved institution and for other institutions of similar motive and purpose. In endeavoring so highly, the paramount purpose of The Chronicle this year should and shall be to deal squarely and fairly with every phase and feature of the community which it is called upon to serve.

We have no stereotyped advice to give either to the returning family or to the numerous new additions. We might mildly suggest, however, that the way to win is to work. And in this age of intellectual advancement it behoves each and every member of this community to aim high and do his full duty in his own sphere of work.

TO BE WELCOMED

The completion of the picturesque stone wall encircling the Trinity campus was by no means symbolic of a final addition to the modernly beautiful park which we have here. Bishop Kilgo proved this in his alumni address last commencement by signaling the proposition for a new gymnasium. The plans for the new building are about formed and its final completion is only a matter of time.

THE NIGHT BEFORE

And such an addition will put another stone in Trinity's wall of architectural perfection. The old gymnasium has seen many years of stringent use and it has done its part in developing into better physical beings, with the assistance of its faithful director, those members of the community who have been sensible enough to seek what it had to give. But the steady and almost incredibly rapid growth of the college has long since put it in a state of inadequacy. Its successor will be most welcome.

OUR ADVERTISERS

The average college student here has seemingly always been un-mindful of what advertising really means to the college publications. He apparently thinks of advertising as a conventional scheme which publication managements have of filling up extra space in their papers. Such an attitude, however, comes not from unintelligence on the part of the student but rather from utter thoughtlessness and indifference therefore it should be corrected.

Our advertisers, on the contrary, mean a good deal more to us than we could readily or perhaps satisfactorily explain. They have put in the form of advertisements directly in this and the other college publications and indirectly in the institution itself both personal and pecuniary interest. In fact, the advertising which we get from the merchant institutions of Durham and elsewhere constitutes the veritable life blood of this paper. Were this to be taken away, the Chronicle would have to cease its being published.

But these benefactors, whom we call in this case advertisers, necessarily have their own interests in view also. And this fact should be impressed on the mind of every member of this community. Doing what they do for the existence of the college publications, which in turn take more than an ordinary part in college activities, they should by all means be patronized.

On another page of this opening issue of The Chronicle, there appears a tabulated list of our advertisers. Let students one and all feel it incumbent upon themselves to visit these friends first when they are about to make purchases. Tell them that you are patrons of them as they are of the College and its interests. If this is done, both ends, that of advertising and that of patronizing, will be brought near, if not all the way, to the meeting point.

MARSE JACK

Marse Jack, the faithful bell which tolls nearly every hour of the day during the College year, tolled out of its time once during the past summer. This time it was about noon on July 22 and it was in a dual celebration that its familiar sound was issued forth. In the first place, it was to commemorate its own birthday anniversary, it itself having been presented to the College by Mr. B. N. Duke just five years back from that date. But it had another provocation—surely a more salient one—for pealing forth at such an unusual moment.

Just fifty-five years ago from that day in July the blessed soul of its gracious namesake, Bishop John C. Kilgo, was given to the world. From year to year for over half a century he has labored hard, and in the time he has labored the world has edged forward on its way toward betterment along all lines partly because he has lived in it. Especially were his patriotic and aggressive endeavors for the benefit of Trinity College. Serving in the capacity of president and president-emeritus of the institution for over two decades, he has taken it upon himself to interest himself in the progressive welfare of Trinity not only to the extent of hoping but also to the extreme extent of doing. We students of today can see the result of his earnest labors in our behalf, and we are consoled to know that these are by no means at an end.

CHRONICLE CONTEST

Pursuant of the plan of selecting associate editors and members of the reportorial staff employed with little intervening changes by the three latest editors of the Chronicle, the competitive method of selection will again be used this year. But differing from the constituency of the editorial staffs of Editor Brown, '15, and of Editor Johnston, '16, the number of associate editors of this volume will be increased to three and that of the members of the reportorial staff to five.

The Chronicle makes this change with anticipation of stimulating a deeper interest among Juniors and Sophomores in trying out for associate positions. Heretofore comparatively few students of these two classes have lined themselves up in these contests, possibly because the victory to be won is to be shared by a comparatively few contestants, probably because it is generally suspected that former staff members have the edge on outside men. These causes, however, are altogether without solid foundation. And the editor hopes that more try-outs than usual will enter the race this year, for the success in picking competent editorial assistants will depend largely thereupon.

RECITATION ROOMS

For the convenient use of the new men there follows below a list of the rooms in which members of the Trinity faculty may be found for consultation. the opening of College. Definite announcement will doubtless follow immediately thereafter. Several members of last year's squad, including Captain Flythe, anticipate returning to College this season. Fall practice will begin soon after college opens.

BASKETBALL

Trinity's chances of securing the services of "Bob" Doak again this season were shattered when the announcement of the meretricious coach's appointment as head of all athletics at Guilford College was made during the summer. However, just as the special committee of the Athletic Council is at work considering the appointment of a coach for basketball, so it is giving due consideration to procuring a good pilot for the basketball team. Banishment of fears from many quarters that Captain Martin would fail to return to College this fall came recently when this All-State guard stopped by the campus and made arrangements to enter the law school. This fact within itself is enough to make the prospects for a successful season in this line of athletics look exceedingly bright. The annual class season will begin sometime in October.

TRACK

Captain Ruif expresses himself as being very optimistic over the outlook for the track season this year. Several old men will return to College and many men who participated in the high school and preparatory school track event of last spring announced their intention of attending Trinity this fall. In addition to these a good number of other freshmen will in all probability be found to be good track material. The various forms of fall practice, such as a handicap meet and the annual inter-class relay, will begin at some early date.

TENNIS

A great loss to the tennis team will be the failure of both of last year's regular men to return to College. These are Captain Anderson, South Atlantic Tennis Champion, and J. W. Lambeth, Jr., his playing mate. There are, however, several good tennis men on the campus who will doubtless make up a good team this year.

PARK SCHOOL NOTES

A recent announcement was to the effect that W. P. Henry, a prominent tobacconist of Durham, has instituted a medal in the Park School to be offered to that member of the senior class who is adjudged the leader of his class in general efficiency. Mr. Henry has given the medal in memory of Dr. E. A. Yates, who was for a number of years a prominent Methodist preacher and who was at one time presiding elder of the Durham District.

With all available space in the dormitories filled up Trinity Park expects an unusually large attendance this year. So many more students are arriving than there is room for that arrangements are now being made for an increase in room facilities. Everything points to a most successful year.

The fourth session of the summer school at the Park School proved very successful. Many students were in attendance to take advantage of the summer courses. The summer school was begun three years ago merely as an experiment but the success it has had in its three sessions has made it a permanent institution.

The faculty of Trinity Park has undergone two definite changes since last session. Professor W. W. Peele has resigned as headmaster in order to devote his whole attention to his duties as head of the Biblical Department at Trinity College. He is succeeded by Professor F. S. Aldridge, who has for a number of years been professor of mathematics and science in the school. To fill the vacancy left by Professor C. L. Hornaday, who has been called to be instructor of German at Trinity, A. R. Anderson, A. B. and A. M. at Trinity, has been employed to be instructor in French and German.

The pursuits of the faculty have been along various lines. Professor Peele took several business trips in the interest of the College and the Park School, attended several district conferences, and spent a short while at Lake Junaluska. Professor Aldridge spent a good part of the summer traveling in the interest of the School. Later he took a pleasure trip to Lake Junaluska. Professor Hornaday was instructor of German for eight weeks in the summer school at the State Normal College, Greensboro, and later went to Beaufort on a pleasure outing. Professor I. B. McKay taught for six weeks

GREATER TRINITY CLUB KEEPS UP ITS GOOD WORK

SECRETARY JOHNSTON LABORS
ALL SUMMER IN CLUB'S INTEREST

The Greater Trinity Club has by no means been idle during the summer. This organization, represented in every state of the United States where there is a Trinity College student, has been applying its efforts during the summer months to inducing high school and preparatory school graduates to seek their advanced knowledge here at Trinity, thereby carrying out the purpose of its formation.

The membership of the Club is constituted by every single man in the College community. And being so, the interest and the primary purpose of the organization is in the doing of anything which will make for the uplift and the welfare of the Institution. The corresponding secretary maintains an office at the College throughout the entire summer and the assistant secretaries, as well as practically every student in the College, send in from their various homes in different states the names of prospective students for the College. The corresponding secretary gets in touch with these in order to get them to decide on coming to Trinity.

The corresponding secretary this year was R. M. Johnston, of the graduating class of 1916. Remaining in his office during the whole of the summer, Secretary Johnston has got in touch with hundreds of students ready for College and has turned numbers of them toward this institution. His work consisted mainly of sending these prospective college catalogues and elaborately prepared booklets containing representative photographs of many campus scenes.

Several days before the beginning of the College year, Secretary Johnston, together with the Y. M. C. A., appointed a committee of men students to meet all the incoming trains and to direct new men to the College, where another committee waited to show them to their rooms. A number of girls also were appointed to look after the newly arriving female students.

in the summer school at the Park School, and spent the remainder of the summer at his home in Durham County. Professor C. B. West traveled some in the interest of the school, and visited later with his wife at Hickory.

FIVE NEW TRINITY LAWYERS: RECORD REMAINS UNBROKEN

ALL TRINITY APPLICANTS PASS
STATE BOARD—ALDERMAN
WINS PRIZE

Again sustaining the remarkable record which the Trinity Law School has attained, that of not having ever had an applicant fail to pass the State law examination, five of Dean Mordecai's law graduates were passed on the Supreme Court Examination recently held in Raleigh. The newly made lawyers from Trinity are S. S. Alderman, of Greensboro, W. L. Johnson, of Apex, F. H. Gibbs, of Fayetteville, A. W. Byrd, of Mt. Olive, and I. R. Strayhorn, of Durham.

The regular prize given by Chief Justice Walter to that member of the class having made the best record in his law course was awarded to S. S. Alderman. The winner was unanimously adjudged by his classmates as the best student in the class.

Alderman is at present at the Military Training Camp at Plattsburg. When the camp breaks up, he will go to Southport, Long Island to enter the employment of the American and English Encyclopedia of Law.

Strayhorn has accepted the position of deputy clerk in the Superior Court at Durham. Gibbs, Johnson, and Byrd are undecided as yet just where they will locate. They are now looking the ground over and will doubtless set up their practice sometime in the near future.

Bagley has been selected. Bagley received both the A. B. and the A. M. degrees at Trinity, and has for the past year taught in the Spartanburg, South Carolina, High School. While a student at Trinity he took several advanced courses in French, and this fact coupled with the fact that he has done some research work in this line in New York this summer will make him especially fitted to take up the work which will be assigned him in that department.

INSTRUCTOR J. H. COMAN

J. H. Coman, a member of last year's graduating class, has been chosen as assistant instructor in the department of physics. Coman took physics as his major subject while he was in College, and the work he did in that department was highly creditable. He will doubtless prove a reliable assistant.

PROFESSOR W. W. PEELE

In order to give his undivided attention to his duties as head of the department of Biblical Literature, Professor Peele has resigned as headmaster of the Park School and has been succeeded by Professor F. S. Aldridge.

STUDENT ASSISTANTS

There will be, in accordance with the usual custom, several student assistants to the faculty this year. As yet the names of these have not been made public.

ANOTHER LECTURESHIP

"John McTyeire Flowers Lectureship in Christian Citizenship," is the title of a new lectureship which is to be instituted in the College.

The institution is the gift of Mr. B. N. Duke, who donated $5,000 for the foundation of the lectureship. The purpose of the new lectures is marked. They are designed to be a strong factor in the promotion among students, one and all, of a sound and sane Christian citizenship.

John McTyeire Flowers, of the class of 1900, in whose memorial honor the lectureship is to be founded, was graduated from Trinity with distinguished honors.
