FALL SOUTH ATLANTIC QUARTERLY APPEARS

LATEST NUMBER OF MAGAZINE HAS ATTRACTIVE TABLE OF CONTENTS

EIGHT STATES ARE REPRESENTED

Dr. Archibald Henderson of Chapel Hill is This State's Representative—Review of Articles

The fall number of the South Atlantic Quarterly has an unusually well-filled table of contents. The first article by Henry E. Harman, the Georgia poet, will be of great interest to North Carolina readers. Under the title "John Charles McNeill and His Work" Mr. Harman contributed an appreciation of the talented North Carolinian with whom he enjoyed a close personal friendship. Appropriately enough Mr. Harman's article begins with a quotation from McNeill's poem "October." The article includes quotations from letters and conversations by John Charles McNeill.

The need of a greater system of economy in the financial management of the Federal Government has long been recognized. Mr. Charles Wallace Collins of the Library of Congress contributes an illuminating essay in which he explains in a readable way the manner in which federal appropriations are now made and shows what improvement and economy might be secured by the adoption of a systematic budget system. He points out that all the leading political parties have in recent years recognized the need of reform in this direction, and there is promise of the establishment of a budget system in the near future.

Professor Archibald Henderson of the University of North Carolina contributes a timely paper on "The American Drama and the European War." He predicts that Europe will in the future have to look to America for fine examples of the dramatic art. The conditions of the past will be reversed. The war has dealt a severe blow to the European drama from which America has drawn so liberally in the past. The new situation provides the greatest opportunity ever given to American dramatists to produce great works for audiences on both sides of the Atlantic.

Professor D. R. Anderson, of Richmond College is the author of a well-written biographical sketch of Chancellor Wythe of Virginia, who was "The Teacher of Jefferson and Marshall" while a professor at William and Mary College.

Two interesting literary essays are those of May Tomlinson on Arthur Christopher Benson and of Professor Carl Holliday of the University of Montana on Francis Grierson.

Professor M. L. Bonham, Jr., of Louisiana State University contributes an interesting essay in the field of government on "The Louisiana Police Jury," and institution peculiar to the parishes of that state.

TRINITY REPUBLICANS ORGANIZE TO HELP G. O. P. CANDIDATE

MEMBERSHIP IS SEVENTY-FIVE

F. C. Patton Appointed President of Alliance—Other Officers—Republican Speaker to be Secured

The Trinity College Hughes Alliance is the latest political organization on the campus. The organization was perfected during the past week by Gen. Zeb V. Walser, of Lexington, N. C., president of the North Carolina Hughes Alliance. The Alliance here will become a part of the State Hughes Alliance which is in turn a part of the National Hughes Alliance. Through the power invested in him by Gov. W. C. Forbes, president of the National Alliance, Gen. Walser has appointed the following officers for the local Alliance: president, F. C. Patton; vice-presidents, N. M. Patton, J. E. Thompson, W. S. Huntley and S. A. Delap.

The alliance here, which has approximately seventy-five members, is in receipt of literature and badges from Republican National headquarters and is doing everything possible to bring about the election of Hughes and Linney. According to present plans, some Republican of note will be secured to address the Alliance at an early date.

TRINITY Y. M. C. A. FAVORED BY TALK OF G. F. WARNER

SECRETARY OF DURHAM ASSOCIATION MAKES INTERESTING ADDRESS

On last Wednesday night Mr. G. F. Warner, secretary of the Durham City Young Men's Christian Association; addressed the College Association. Mr. Warner, who recently came to Durham from Jackson, Tennessee, where he held a similar position, is an enthusiastic Y. M. C. A. worker.

He used as the subject of his address, "How The College Young Men's Christian Association Can Help the City Association." He said that the Y. M. C. A. would give to every member a training that would not only help him to be of more service to his college and to the world in after life, but prepared him to do a great work by helping the city Association care for the work in the city of Durham. Mr. Warner assured those present that he was anxious at any time to be of service to the college students.

CLASSICAL CLUB MEETS

A short business meeting of the Classical Club was held last Thursday night in the Latin Room of the Library. The regular initiation of new members into the club will take place tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Greek Room in West Duke Building, and all old members are urged to be present. Immediately after the initiation an informal feed will be given.

JUNIORS TRIM SOPHS IN OPENING CONTEST

FIRST INTERCLASS BASKETBALL GAME WON BY '18, SCORE 28-20

LONG OF JUNIOR TEAM STARS

Junior Captain Scores Fourteen Points—Aldridge and Thomas Feature for Sophs—Line-Up

By a much smaller score than was expected, the Juniors defeated the Sophomores in the first game of the interclass series last night by a score of 28 to 20. The game was slow and uninteresting and, save for the stellar work of Captain Long of the Juniors, was devoid of any special feature. Nervousness and lack of team-work, which caused much wild passing and inaccurate shooting, was noticeable on the part of both teams. The Sophomores, although greatly outweighed, put up a game fight at all times and for a few moments during the second half fairly played the second year men off their feet.

Nervousness was especially noticeable on the part of the Juniors, Captain Long at left guard apparently being the only man on the team who felt perfectly at home on the floor. The Junior captain was in the game every moment of play, and, besides unusually effective guarding, secured five field goals and made good at foul shooting four times out of eleven chances. The guarding and passing of Page also figured prominently in the Juniors' victory. In the second half Saunders managed to get away from the opposing guard and pocketed four field goals in rapid succession. Timberlake, at left forward, secured two goals, and Falls, at center, one field goal.

Corpening, at center, probably played the best all around game for the Sophomores. Although he failed to secure a single field goal, he was unusually strong on the defensive, secured the tip-off practically all-the-time, and, by effective guarding and the breaking up of numerous passes, enabled his team mates to pocket the ball. Aldridge and Thomas, the Sophomore forwards, did all the scoring for their team, the former securing three field goals and six fouls out of eleven chances and the latter getting four field goals. Considering the heaviness of their opponents, the whole Sophomore team played a good defensive game, the guarding of McMullen being especially effective.

ALUMNI REGISTER FOR OCTOBER COMES OUT

ISSUE CONTAINS SIXTY-FIVE PAGES AND IS UNUSUALLY GOOD

PROF. BROOKS WRITES ARTICLE

Deals With Life at Old Trinity in Late Eighties—Trinity's Late Friend, J. H. Southgate, Eulogized

The October number of the Trinity Alumni Register is just from the press. It is an exceptionally interesting issue of sixty-two pages.

The first article is by Prof. E. C. Brooks, of the class of '94, and deals with that part of the history of Trinity College in its struggle to maintain itself just after the war. The second article is the memories of an old student, telling of the life at Old Trinity in the late eighties. This was written by Rev. J. R. Moore, of the class of '92, now a missionary in Korea. The third article is by E. J. London, of the class of '12. This is a vivid account of a political convention just before the last presidential election, in which only Trinity students participated.

There are a number of reports from alumni meetings and extracts from various publications relative to former students.

The closing article is an appreciation of the life and work of the late James H. Southgate, who for twenty years has been president of the Alumni Association.

FIRST OF CITY CLUBS IS ORGANIZED AT TRINITY

STUDENTS FROM WILMINGTON ASSEMBLE AND SET PRECEDENT

The Wilmington men have taken the lead of the other cities in the state by organizing the first city club in Trinity College. The first meeting of the organization was held Friday evening. H. K. King acted as temporary chairman until V. C. Hall was unanimously elected president. Hall took the floor and in a short and concise speech pointed out the object of the new organization.

The new club is to be called the "Wilmington Club," and is composed only of Wilmington students. Its object is to secure men for Trinity, and to keep them in close touch with each other during their college years.

E. M. Thompson was elected vice-president, and H. K. King secretary and treasurer. The charter members are as follows: honorary, Miss Gladys Price, class of '20; active, V. C. Hall, '17, E. M. Thompson and H. K. King, of '18, Eugene Craft, Harris Newman, Claude Cooper, of '19, E. D. Cavanaugh and R. L. Johnston, of '20.

DR. BROWN AT ELON

Dr. F. C. Brown recently made a speech on Folklore at Elon College. Dr. Brown's words were listened to and enjoyed by an unusually large and enthusiastic audience.

DR. KNIGHT PUBLISHES BOOK ON EDUCATION

HOUGHTON MIFFLIN CO. ISSUES "PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION IN N. C."

ADOPTED FOR STATE TEACHERS

Dr. Joyner Praises Work—Is a Practical History of Growth of Public Education in This State

"Public School Education in North Carolina" by Dr. Edgar W. Knight, of the Department of Education, is the title of a book just issued by Houghton, Mifflin & Company. Though not yet in circulation, this volume was some time ago most flatteringly recognized by the educators of the state. While yet in manuscript form, the book was officially adopted by the State department of Education for the State teachers' reading circle and will be used by the teachers of the State. Although the work is entirely local in character, the manuscript was readily accepted by the Northern publishers on its first application. State Superintendent of Education James Y. Joyner is especially pleased with the book and predicts that it will prove of great value and have a large circulation.

Dr. Knight has been at work on this book for the last two or three years, collecting his data from the local library, the State Library, the Library of Congress, and the New York Public Library. He began putting his manuscript in final form last Christmas. There are 384 pages and 17 chapters in the book dealing with educational problems from the time of the Lord Proprietors to the present and future. It presents a complete story of the educational efforts of North Carolina, and in a single volume makes accessible to teachers, educational administrators and the general reader historical and educational materials hitherto to be found only in the original sources and widely scattered. A complete bibliography is appended to each chapter which is also followed by questions and suggestions for further study.

Credit is given in the preface of Dr. Knight's book to Dr. W. K. Boyd, and Prof. E. C. Brooks of this college; Prof. Paul Monroe of Columbia University; Dr. James Y. Joyner, of the State Department of Education; and Prof. N. W. Walker, of the University and State Inspector of State High Schools. Dr. Joyner contributed the last brief chapter on "What of the Future," and Prof. Walker is the author of two or three paragraphs on the chapter on "The Present System; its Tasks and Tendencies." Dr. Knight has dedicated this lasting work to his father and mother.

The commanding purpose of this book is aptly phrased by the Author in his Preface. "That the history of education, as a subject which contributes to the professional training and equipment of teachers, has been on trial for its life, no serious student of the subject will undertake to deny. In fact, the conviction has grown

EDITORIAL

Some one has said that every home should be a co-head institution. Take heed, "Co-eds."

There have been organized here both a Democratic and a Republican club. As for the other party, —well, we all should be Prohibitionists.

We are continually hearing certain sanctus say why the Great War started and when it is going to stop, and some even insist upon various names for the War. If these know-alls have all this to do with the giant conflict, we wonder that they didn't step in at first and keep the fight from beginning.

NATIONAL POLITICS

With the formation of the Trinity College Hughes Alliance, the bee of politics, that is, of national politics, seems not to have buzzed in vain around here. The two great parties are now represented on the campus in organized clubs, and when the time comes for choosing the next President of the United States, Trinity will doubtless have her share in the resulting enthusiasm and anxiety.

A good number of us students are going to vote in the approaching election; all of us will be more or less affected by its outcome. A new president may be chosen, and present conditions all over the country may undergo a sweeping change. Then the present administration may remain in power, and the present-day prosperity will doubtless continue.

Only three candidates are in the race this time: Hanly, the Prohibitionist; Hughes, the Republican; and Wilson, the Democrat. The former has no hope of winning out; the latter two seem to be running neck and neck.

When the time comes for voting, the Trinity voter should not cast his ballot indifferently. He should, on the other hand, realize that his decision will help determine whether good or bad conditions will exist here at Trinity for the next four years, and vote accordingly.

FREDDIE FRESHMAN

BAD SPELLING

Perhaps there is no one greater failing which the average entering student at Trinity has than the inability to spell correctly.

It is a lamentable tendency that preparatory schools have nowadays of neglecting this particular phase of school work. And the harm which such a neglect causes a student is especially evident after the student comes to college. Night here at Trinity professors and theme readers are perpetually kicking over students' being unable to spell. Not only freshmen but even upperclassmen fall into this habit of misspelling even the simplest of words.

Trinity Park School, the Chronicle is glad to be reminded, has begun a means of teaching students better spelling methods. This means is in the institution of the old-fashioned spelling bee. Its influence will surely do much toward making better spellers out of those who participate therein.

It would be well if other preparatory schools would follow the example set by Trinity Park School in paying more attention to training men to spell.

FALL SOUTH ATLANTIC QUARTERLY APPEARS

Professor E. G. Cox of the University of Washington discusses very effectively the topic "The Distemper of Modern Art and its Remedy." There is in his article an exposition of the fundamental principles upon which good art should be based.

The Quarterly contained the usual well-filled department of book reviews and of "Notes and News." With this issue the journal completes the fifteenth year of its publication. The fact that the contributors in this issue represent the states of North Carolina, Virginia, New Jersey, Louisiana, Washington, Montana, Georgia, and District of Columbia, illustrates the extent to which the Quarterly has become a publication national rather than sectional in character.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Pepper have as their guest Mrs. Charles Pepper, of Baltimore. Dr. and Mrs. Pepper motored to Charlotte and brought their mother to Durham by automobile.

PARK SCHOOL NOTES

Mr. D. W. Newsom, Treasurer of Trinity College, spoke to the students in chapel last Friday morning. While Mr. Newsom does not often speak in public, he made one of the finest chapel addresses in the history of the school. His subject was "The Model Student," and had in it a message to every boy who expects to make a man of himself in the future. Mr. Newsom is a deep thinker, and the school considered it an honor to hear him.

Quite a number of students visited the state fair, Thursday, but they reported promptly on class Friday morning.

Many students are taking advantage of the fine weather, and are spending their leisure hours on the athletic field.

The first examinations of the year are due in a little less than two weeks. The men are doing fine work on their books, and it is expected that some high marks will be made.

SIGMA UPSILON

At the regular fortnightly meeting of Sigma Upsilon on last Friday evening, I. S. Harrell read a review of H. G. Wells' latest novel, Mr. Britling Sees it Through, and V. C. Hall read an original story, "The Derelict."

Mr. Britling Sees it Through, as reviewed by Harrell, is essentially a war novel. The purpose of the book is to show how slowly the average Englishman is to work himself up to the fighting point, and how, when once aroused, he sees it through to the end.

Hall's story, "The Derelict," deals with one Burke Gorman, who having been disinherited by his father and for that reason forsaken by his fiancée, takes to the sea. After three years at sea he turns to story writing. His first story is a success and he achieves wide reputation. His former sweetheart then writes him, but he spurns her advances.

Immediately following an informal discussion of the papers, an enjoyable "feed" was served to the members of the Club.

This day was provided for by a recent act of the Legislature and it is planned this year to have the celebration center about Dr. Knight's recent book on education which has just come from the press. Archibald D. Murphey, who is known as the father of the common schools of North Carolina, is the educational character in whose honor the celebrities will take place this year. A detailed study of his life and service to the educational cause of the State will be carried out.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

"The State of Franklin" was the subject of a very interesting paper read by Dr. W. K. Boyd, at the meeting of the Historical Society, Monday-evening. Franklin was a fore-runner of the present State of Tennessee. The facts as given in this paper by Dr. Boyd are now, having for the first time been collected by him. An informal discussion of the paper, led by Dr. Laprade, followed.

COUNTY CLUBS ORGANIZE

The Union County Club was organized for the present year Monday night with ten members. The following officers were elected: president, H. G. Love; vice-president, H. C. Deal; secretary, G. N. Lee; treasurer, E. H. Broome. The club decided to take a page in the Chanticleer and to wage a vigorous campaign for securing new students from Union County. Immediately following the business meeting, the members enjoyed an informal smoker.

The first meeting of the year of the Weaver College Club was held last Monday evening; five new men were taken into the Club. D. A. Clark, M. F. Teeter, I. Brittain, J. H. Allison, and C. M. McKinney. The officers elected for the year are, president, R. H. Shelton; vice-president, C. A. Reep; secretary, Edwin Burge; treasurer, W. H. Lefler. Two committees were appointed by President Shelton, one to supervise the securing of new students from Weaver College, the other to map out an interesting program for the club's year.

SOCIETIES POSTPONE

The Columbian and Hesperian Literary Societies at their regular meetings on last Saturday night voted to postpone their next meetings until Saturday night, November 4th. This was done in order that all the students of the College may go en masse to hear Hon. O. Max Gardner, of Shelby, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, who will speak in the Supreme Court Room on next Saturday night. Seats will be reserved for all students of the College, and the Democratic Club of the College hopes a large delegation of students will go to hear Mr. Gardner.

ARTICLE BY DR. PEPPLER

The forthcoming number of the American Journal of Philology, the foremost magazine in America dealing with language and literature, especially the Greek and Roman languages and literatures, contains an article by Dr. C. W. Peppler on one of the sources of laughter in comedy, namely, that which is found in the shift of the termination of a word for the comic effect, when an unexpected ending is substituted for the usual ending of a word. The great comic genius of antiquity, Aristophanes, makes free use of this means of provoking laughter.

T. W. Sprinkle, of the class of 1916, spent a few days on the campus last week.

in recent years, even among those engaged in the professional training of teachers, that the history of educational theory and practice needed to justify itself. . . Gradually, therefore, it has become necessary to present the subject so as to impel a more complete analysis of modern educational problems and a clearer and more rational understanding of those practices with which teachers themselves are constantly concerned." While pointing to the difficulties still in the way, Dr. Knight nevertheless shows what progress has been made. He is himself a successful educator, and has had an opportunity to meet many of the problems at first hand and to discover what facilities there are for handling them. He is well acquainted with current practice and, as his book shows, knows how this came into existence.

"Public School Education in North Carolina" is a practical history of the growth of education in this State. With its face ever toward the practical side of its problem, it deals thoroughly with all the problems which the different legislatures have faced, what problems they have refused to face and so have left as a legacy to the future. The book offers a judicious and discriminating analysis of present-day tendencies, tendencies made intelligible in the light of the facts about the earlier history of the State. Educators say that this work is the most scholarly and at the same time one of the most readable and attractive single contributions yet made to the history of public education of any state. Accurate in historical fact, judicious in its temper, and marked by loyal purposes and ideals, the book cannot fail to be of definite value and inspiration to every teacher and school administrator in the State.

One of the most important chapters in the book is "The Beginnings of Public Education (1838-1852)." This was the "experimental period," the period in which the difficulties in the way of establishing a school system in North Carolina were finally cleared away and the first really effective State-wide work was accomplished. The period which follows this is "The Educational Revival under Wiley (1853-1865)." Dr. Knight brings forward the rather startling proposition that Calvin W. Wiley ranked favorably as an educator with Horace Mann and Henry Barnard, the famous New England educators. Dr. Knight qualifies this statement, however, with the obstacles under which Wiley worked and presents such a keen appreciation of the North Carolinian that the comparison does not seem out of place. —J. H. Small, Jr.
