COLLEGE OBSERVES LUTHER CENTENNIAL

CELEBRATION HELD IN CONNECTION WITH Y. M. C. A.

Dean Wannamaker and Dr. Boyd Discuss Influence of Luther in Political and Social Life, Language and Literature of Germany

The Luther Centennial Celebration was held last Thursday evening in connection with the regular weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A., at which time Dr. W. K. Boyd, of the Department of History, and Dr. W. H. Wannamaker, of the department of German read papers on "Luther as an Influence in the Political and Social Life of Germany" and "Influence of Luther on the Literature and Language of the German People" respectively.

After the usual opening ceremonies Dr. Wannamaker delivered his lecture. He said that Luther's translation of the complete Bible is his greatest literary performance and the discussion of his influence on the German language and literature must be confined to a discussion of his translation of the Scriptures. It has held its own and is today the German Bible in spite of the many other translations, for it is not merely a slavish rendering into one language of the thought contained in another, but it is in reality a creative work and will keep fresh and beloved the name of Luther long after his other work is actually forgotten.

Dr. Wannamaker further called attention to the fact that a translation of the Bible based on mere scholarship is impossible. The translator must possess scholarship but in addition personality, spiritual insight, sincere sympathy for the subject-matter, a moving and compelling belief in the great messages of the texts, and a genuine love of his fellow man and a wide knowledge of human nature. All of this Luther displayed in his translation.

"Luther's Bible was by no means the first one in German. There were ninety-seven editions of the Bible printed prior to the close of the fifteenth century. At least twenty-seven of these were in German. In spite of this fact, however, it is well known that in Luther's young manhood Bibles were hardly known among the people and he himself claims not to have seen one up to his twentieth year. His translation of the New Testament was made in 1522 and his complete translation of the Bible was published in 1534. It can be said, therefore, that though coming after the other Bibles Luther actually gave the Bible to the German people.

"Luther's religious experiences and spiritual development as a monk resulted in his conversion, gave him adequate spiritual preparation to undertake his great work. Of course he was well trained in languages and had sufficient knowledge to render accurately the New Testament from Greek and the Old Testament from Hebrew. As to the German

TABLET TO BE ERECTED TO LATE JAMES H. SOUTHGATE

NATIONAL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION TO PLACE MEMORIAL AT TRINITY

A memorial tablet to the late James Haywood Southgate, the beloved benefactor and chairman of the Board of Trustees of Trinity College, is to be placed here at the College at a very early date by the National Association of Insurance Agents, of which Mr. Southgate was an old and energetic member. This was the plan agreed upon at a recent meeting of the Association held in St. Louis. Just where the tablet will be placed has not yet been decided.

The following excerpt from an article in the number of the Spectator, a leading insurance magazine, for October 18 gives a full account of what has already been done about the matter. The excerpt is as follows:

"The first regular order of business taken up was the committee report on the Southgate Memorial. Chairman A. W. Neale, Cleveland, said that the committee had decided on a tablet to be placed in Trinity College, Durham, N. C. The tablet was shown. It had been placed in one corner of the convention hall, next to the rostrum, and was hidden by American flags, which were withdrawn. The audience stood in silence for several moments after it was unveiled.

RIFLE CLUB TO HAVE RANGE AT EARLY DATE

BOWLING ALLEY OF GYMNASIUM TO BE FITTED UP FOR GALLERY

The Trinity Rifle Club has begun actual work. Secretary H. P. Newman has had the charter for the organization properly made out and signed, and it has been sent to the proper authorities to be accepted for membership in the National Rifle Association.

President Few has given the Club free access of the old bowling alley under the gymnasium. The work of putting the alley in shape for a rifle range will begin at once. The entire west end of the alley is to be closed up and several of the windows on the north side will be covered. The stand will be at the east end and the men will shoot down the alley. National Rifle Association targets are to be used.

Secretary Newman has made arrangements to secure some excellent rifles, and as soon as these are bought the club will begin preliminary work. For the first few months the shooting will perhaps be done indoors, but as soon as the weather conditions permit outdoor work is expected to be taken up.

There are many men in Trinity College who are expert marksmen and who take a vital interest in rifle shooting. Every member of the College community, whether he is a student or a faculty member, is cordially invited to join the Rifle Club or to come over to inspect the new range when it is completed.

SOPHS DEFEAT JUNIORS IN FIRST CLASS GAME

ONE POINT MARGIN GIVES GAME TO WEARERS OF DERBY

Close Guarding and Long Shots Bring Victory—Hornaday and Whitaker Star for Sophs, Brendall and Carver for Juniors

A hard fought game from which the Sophomores emerged victorious over the Juniors by a count of 20 to 19 opened the Interclass Basketball Series in the Angier-Dunke Gymnasium last night.

The result of the game was in doubt up until the last moment of play. With the score standing 9 to 5 against them at the end of the first half, the third year quintet secured several goals in rapid succession in the final period, but close guarding by the entire Soph five and several long shots by Captain Hornaday kept them from assuming the lead and saved the game up for the wearers of the derby.

Although rough in some places the game last night was free from much of the "sweating" that usually characterizes the initial interclass contest. Both quintets showed considerable lack of practice and team work. Especially on the part of the third year five was wild passing and inability to locate the basket noticeable.

For the Sophomores, Captain Hornaday and Whitaker, right guard, were the outstanding stars. Hornaday was all over the floor, played a good defensive game, and made several sensational shots from mid-floor. He pocketed four field goals in all and made good at fouls four times out of eight chances. Whitaker figured in practically every play, broke up numerous passes, held his forward to one goal, and himself pocketed the ball once from a difficult angle.

Brendall and Carver good work for the defeated Juniors. The former did effective guarding and

SUCCESS OF DECLAMATION CONTEST NOW ASSURED

9019 HAS PLANS FOR ANNUAL THANKSGIVING CONTEST WELL UNDER WAY

Plans for the annual 9019 Declaration Contest to be held on the day after Thanksgiving are well under way. From all indications the contest this year, despite abnormal conditions, will be equally successful as have those of past years.

The committee in charge of the preparatory work has been very busy for the past few days. Many high schools have sent in calls for declamations and quite a number have accepted the offer to take part in the contest.

The medal for this year will be very handsome and perhaps better than those that have been given in the past. The committee in charge of the program has already picked out the medal which will be awarded to the best speaker.

The Chronicle is taking an active part in all of this work. The paper is being sent all over the state and is being carefully read by many high school students. The last issue before the declamation contest will be of most vital interest to the contestants, as it will contain an entire outline of the rules and regulations governing the contest.

W. R. Minshew, '19, was drafted into service and has entered training at Camp Jackson, South Carolina.

TRINITY STUDENTS HEAR NOTED FRENCH EDITOR

M. LAUZANNE MAKES INTERESTING TALK TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Trinity students had the pleasure of hearing France's most distinguished editor, M. Stephane Lauzanne, of Le Matin, Paris on last Wednesday afternoon. M. Lauzanne served two years as an officer in the French Army, and in this capacity he has had many experiences in conflict with the Germans on the Western front. He spoke to the Trinity cadets who were brought in review before him on the campus.

On Wednesday evening at eight o'clock the distinguished Frenchman spoke to a large audience in the Academy of Music. His address on that occasion being given under the auspices of the Durham Chamber of Commerce. The Trinity students marched to the Academy in a body and were given seats in the first balcony. They made the house ring with yells for the United States, for France, and the cause of democracy.

The speaker made an excellent address, and held the closest attention of the audience for about forty minutes. He upheld the cause of France, which he declared is more magnanimous than that which would be expected to be held by a single country because it is the cause of justice, civilization, and humanity. He said that France is by no means exhausted and that today she has

TRINITY SPLITS WITH CAROLINA IN TENNIS

METHODISTS WIN IN DOUBLES BUT LOSE IN SINGLES

Trinity Team Captures Doubles After Hard Struggles—Prince Defeats Powell and Wilson Aldrich in Singles

In the first intra-collegiate tennis match of the season with the University of North Carolina Trinity came out victorious in the doubles but lost out in the singles. The tournament was held Saturday afternoon on the varsity courts and was witnessed by a large number of spectators.

The contest opened with the playing of the doubles. Carolina walked off with the first set by a score of 6 to 1. The splendid service of Hugh Prince and the returning of H. V. P. Wilson of Carolina, accounted for this first success. In the second set Trinity's team rallied and by steady fighting succeeded in carrying off the victory with six games to Carolina's four. The third set went the same route as the second and Trinity again won by the score of 6 to 4.

In the singles Powell of Trinity had as his opponent Prince of Carolina. At first he did not show up so well as his opponent won the set by a score of 6 to 1. In the second set, however, he rallied, winning by a score of 6 to 4. He lost the last set, the score being 7 to 5.

With Wilson as his opponent, Aldridge in the beginning of the singles showed excellent form. But he soon succumbed to the splendid playing of Wilson and lost the first two sets by the scores of 6 to 1.

For the first match of the season Trinity's men showed up very well indeed. Both of the members of the varsity are new. Powell played class teams last year, but this was his first appearance in varsity form. He played an excellent game both in doubles and singles and lost in singles by a small margin. Aldridge also made his debut in varsity tennis. He did not play even class tennis last year. Although he lost in singles by a rather large score, his playing in the doubles was excellent and made a much better showing at first than later. From the showing made in this contest the prospects are very good for a successful tennis season.

Colonel F. A. Olds has made a request that the photograph of Trinity College men who attended the first officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe be sent to him for the Hall of Fame. A photograph was secured and Colonel Olds writes that he has placed it in a permanent place in this hall.

H. L. Caveness, ex-'19, who has enlisted and is stationed at Camp Jackson, S. C., visited friends on the campus Saturday and Sunday.

Oscar Martin, of the Marine Corps stationed at Port Royal, S. C., spent Sunday and Monday on the campus.

Aw, cheer up, there's some consolation—an Eskimo would feel perfectly at home in your room after ten o'clock at night.

A three-cent postage rate and still no Sunday delivery! Kind of rubs against the grain, doesn't it?

Noticed the dense fog overhanging the campus? Sure, the Interclass Basketball Series started last night.

An animal trainer, an asylum keeper, or a wild and woolly puncher would do well to locate on Trinity campus. The general hubbub of noises that usually follows the supper hour calls for the professional services of one or probably of all the aforesaid gentlemen.

The Relay Race and the Interclass Series ought to provide some several men with two pieces of pie. Or is pie a thing of the past?

MILITARY TRAINING

Military drill at Trinity appears to be hanging in the balance just at present. The whole matter now rests entirely with the student body, and it is for them to decide whether or not military training shall be discontinued or made a permanent fixture in the college community.

The drill work undertaken until a few days ago was apparently of such a light nature as not to sustain the interest and enthusiasm of the student body. With the intention of remedying this disinterested spirit, students signed a petition, which called for more drill and academic credit, and presented it to the faculty.

After due consideration, the faculty acted on the petition and worked out a plan which, according to the petition, should meet with the approval of the majority of students on the campus. The faculty agreed to let eight hours of drill work each week take the place of any three hour general elective course, the plan to be adopted provided seventy-five students agreed to take the drill work.

Of the approximately two hundred men who signed the petition, only fifty-six have so far signified their intention to take the work for which they so furiously clamored. If the required number of students do not sign for the drill within the next few days, military training to the discredit of the student body and the college, will in all probability be discontinued for the year.

The future of military training at Trinity rests, therefore, in the hands of the student body. It is for them to say whether Trinity shall keep pace with the other colleges of the South or fall behind her sister institutions in patriotic work.

TRUE AMERICANS ALL

Jules Dupre, John Robinson, Karl Schwartz, Ivan Nicholovskii, Gheppi Petravanno, Moses Kouri, Antonio O'Donohue, all khaki-clad, sprang to rigid attention and answered roll-call with a hale and hearty "Here!"

Only four years old was Allen Smith when his parents came to America from England in the late eighteenth century. In his veins flowed English blood that boiled with aggressiveness, love of liberty, and high ideals of freedom. When a mere boy, Allen wooed and married flaxen-haired Gretchen Mueller who still confused V with W and spoke with tears in her eyes of the Fatherland she had left behind. To strengthen this union came Naomi Smith with her father's aggressiveness and love of freedom and the Prussian stamina and determination of her mother's ancestors.

Nicholas Pellivinski was Russian—decidedly Russian—big, blond, dreamy, overflowing with ideas that would bring about justice, equality, and a better world. Such a man was the husband of Naomi Smith. In Nicholas Pellivinski the second was fused the liberty-loving ideals and spirit of determination of his grandparents and the dreamy, scheming brain of his Russian father.

Petite, blonde Jeanette Ribot, in whose dark eyes flashed the reckless spirit of many an ancestor who had fallen in battle, captured the heart of young Pellivinski, and marriage followed a brief courtship. In the wee little Marie Pellivinski, the exact image of her mother, was combined the traits of her father's lineage and the new element of impetuosity, daring, recklessness of thoughtless France as embodied in her mother from over the seas.

'Twas no wonder that Patrick O'Donohue, with his hot Irish passion, characteristic love of humor, and care-free, happy-go-lucky disposition bred in the Emerald Isle, fell madly in love with beautiful Miss Pellivinski. Their marriage was but a matter of time. Into the blood of their first son, Nicholas O'Donohue, went the highest racial elements and characteristics of England, Germany, France, Russia, and a new element of Irish happiness, sympathy for the "under dog," and rough and ready spirit of adventure.

Nicholas O'Donohue, Jr., found an ideal wife in rosy-cheeked Maria Machelli whose very looks symbolized the romance of old Italy. Then was born Antonio O'Donohue through whose veins coursed the blood of six nationalities and in whose character was blended the noblest traits of every powerful nation—English aggressiveness and love of liberty, French recklessness and daring, Russian dreaminess and expectancy, Irish passion, humor, and love of adventure, Italian romance and impulsiveness. The typical American of today, that was Antonio O'Donohue—Irish in name but American in heart and spirit.

Then came war—was to a finish. Every element in his makeup stood forth for enlistment, for support and defense of the flag that had protected him all his life. Antonio O'Donohue did credit to the blood of every nation that furnished life to his lithe body, and suddenly changed from the hustling youth of the business world to the modern trimly dressed Sammy—at the same time led his team in scoring with three goals to his credit. The latter passed well, played a strong defensive game, and found the basket for two counters.

According to the newly arrayed schedule which appears elsewhere in the Chronicle the next game of the Interclass Series, between the Seniors and Freshmen, will be played Friday night. Manager F. M. Wannamaker found it necessary to make several changes in the schedule as previously announced as the dates for some of the games conflicted with various meetings on the campus.

"The tablet was of bronze with raised letters, and read:
"James Haywood Southgate
1859-1916

This tablet is erected by members of the National Association of Insurance Agents, in grateful remembrance of his years of service, during which his splendid personality and eloquence were generously and without reservation given to its cause.

"Above the tablet was a portrait of Mr. Southgate. Mr. Neale spoke feelingly of Mr. Southgate. A resolution on Mr. Southgate was then offered by the committee. The resolution was adopted and ordered placed on the records of the meeting. Remarks were then made by Chas. F. Hildreth, who gave some personal reminiscences of Mr. Southgate."

language, while it is often claimed that Luther is the father of the German language, this assertion must not be misunderstood. Luther did not make the language. The fact is that there had been a great literature in the same language Luther used over two hundred years before he lived. At this time, however, Latin was the language of all scholars and the use of German as a literary language had practically ceased. Luther simply used the language of the Imperial Chancery which had also been made the official language of the Saxon Chancery. His use of this special form of German made it soon the prevailing language of the whole country which was used up to this time among different dialects. In this sense he is the father of modern German."

Dr. Boyd's paper dealt with the political and social aspects of Luther's message. He pointed out the characteristics of the church as an international monopoly with absolute control over religious thought and less the actual control of land, litigation, and intellectual life, the inevitable clash between this monopoly and the nationalistic tendencies in Germany. Luther, with his attacks on indulgences and his conclusions concerning the freedom of the Christian man played into the hands of nationalism and so made possible a new church. However, Luther's interpretations of social and intellectual rights and actions were not liberal and Protestant German was allied with a mental life as reactionary as that of the medieval church. Yet it was pointed out that Luther enunciated the cardinal principles of Protestantism which even today are not thoroughly realized.

PRELIMINARY HELD FOR INTERCLASS RELAY RACE

The preliminary preparatory to the Interclass Relay was held last Tuesday afternoon on the college race course. This event had been scheduled to take place on Wednesday afternoon, but the condition of the weather prevented its being held. Contrary to the usual custom very few contested for places. Not more than twelve men ran for positions on any of the teams, while the Freshmen had only nine men.

Although the preliminary was conducted under difficulties, all of the participants entered the race with spirit and "pep." The best time was made by R. K. Smathers who finished first for the Juniors in 5.10 2-5. Lewis for the Seniors was second in 5.27, and Loftin for the Sophomores next in 5.32 4-5. Most all of the contestants came in in close order.

The regular Interclass Relay race will be held on next Thursday afternoon. Unlike the usual races the event will be held on the college race course instead of a cross country course. The teams will start from the Library. It is expected that an unusual amount of interest will be manifested as the coveted cup will become the property of the Seniors if they succeed in making this their third straight victory. The Senior team under the leadership of Capt. Lewis of the Varsity team has proved invincible for the past two years and judging from the exhibition made in the preliminary, they are still "in the game."

The teams elected to follow men for captains: for the Seniors, M. S. Lewis; for the Juniors, R. K. Smathers; for the Sophomores, M. B. Loftin; for the Freshmen, F. C. Sanford.

PROF. A. H. PATTERSON LECTURES AT TRINITY

Professor A. H. Patterson, of the Physics Department of the State University at Chapel Hill, delivered a lecture on the "Gyro-scope and Its Recent Applications" Tuesday night in the West Duke building. He was invited here and came under the auspices of the Science Club, an organization that is energetic in arousing interest in sciences at Trinity. The lecture was very interesting, as well as instructive, for the gyroscope is an instrument of which most people have a hazy conception. The attendance was large in spite of the fact that a basketball game was scheduled for the same time, and the students filled the large lecture room to capacity.

On last Thursday evening, the Kappa Delta Sorority gave a very elaborate Halloween party at the home of Miss Mary White Crawford, on Buchanan Boulevard.

Dr. Joseph Speed, ex-'12, who recently volunteered for government service and was commissioned a first lieutenant, is now at Watts Hospital in Durham, pending an operation.

over two and a half million men in the army, whereas there were less than half a million when the war began. He said that the production of shells has enormously increased since the beginning of the war.

After the completion of the lecture, several reels of motion pictures were shown. They were the official pictures of the French War Department, and gave the audience an idea of the work France is doing to abolish autocracy. The last of the reels showed several views of General Pershing and his men in France.

M. Lauzanne came to Durham
under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. He is in this country as the official representative of the French Government and has as his task the giving to the American people of facts and real conditions concerning the great European War.

Last Saturday evening Phi chapter, of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority, initiated Miss Lucille Lita-ker and Miss Grizzelle Hartelle.
Those present at the initiation
were Misses Graco McGranahan,
