NEW PLANS FOR RAISING GYM FUND PERFECTED

MAYOR M. E. NEWSOM WILL MANAGE FINANCIAL DRIVE

Literature Mailed Out to Alumni—Liberty Bonds to Be Accepted As Donations—Plan to Work Out a Broader Physical Education

Several weeks ago the CHRONICLE published a statement by President W. P. Few concerning the renewal of efforts looking to the building of a new gymnasium at Trinity College. It was announced in this statement that Mr. M. E. Newsom, Jr., of the class of 1905, mayor of the city of Durham, and a member of the Board of Trustees, had renewed with very promising prospects this movement which had been started by Bishop J. C. Kilgo.

Mr. Newsom, at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Alumni Association, offered his services to the College in this campaign without price. He proposes to spend as much of his time as is necessary this spring in organizing the alumni in order to present the needs of the College to them and to carry forward the movement for raising funds to build a new gymnasium.

The campaign in being launched by the mailing out to the alumni and friends of the College a personal letter from Mr. Newsom, enclosing a folder presenting the pressing need of more adequate equipment for physical education at Trinity, and a cut of the proposed building. It is estimated that the total amount necessary to be raised will be approximately $50,000.

Owing to the fact that so many calls for donations and subscriptions for various war campaigns are being made, the Executive Committee has decided to accept, where the cash cannot accompany the subscriptions, pledges covering a period of not more than four years, and payable in equal semi-annual installments. Also the committee is offering to accept Liberty Bonds as donations to this cause.

The whole country has been astounded at the recent revelation of the distressingly defective physical condition of young men. There is a very urgent and present need for better physical training among college men. It is to this end that the Executive Committee is pressing this movement and have requested "the College authorities to work out a broader physical education which may rank equal in academic value with other college courses in order that Trinity men may become famous not only for character and culture but for physical excellence as well."

Dr. E. C. Brooks, head of the Education Department, leaves for Atlanta Thursday to address the Schoolmasters' Club Saturday on "The Changes in Education as a Result of the War."

Dr. F. C. Brown, of the English Department, is suffering from a Department, has been confined to his home by illness for several days.

TRINITY TOSSERS' STRING OF VICTORIES UNBROKEN

ELON DEFEATED BY TRINITY BY DECISIVE 40-27 COUNT

Trinity redoubled its claim to State Championship honors by defeating Elon the second time of the season in Angier Duke Gymnasium last Monday night by a count of 40-27. The game was hard fought from beginning to end.

The Methodists opened the game with a smart display of pep and succeeded in pocketing the ball for six points during the first few minutes of the play. The Christians soon regained this advantage, however, and succeeded in amassing a score equal to that of the Methodists. Neither team succeeded in obtaining a sufficient lead to "sew up the game" during the first half which ended 21-19 for Trinity. In the second half, the Methodists improved their teamwork and by close guarding and accurate shooting, they succeeded in gaining a lead which enabled them to win by a decisive count.

For the victorious Methodists, the work of Cole and Starling as forwards and the defensive work of Douglas and Hathaway at center and left guard, respectively, contributed greatly to the success of the team.

For the defeated Christians Preston, at left forward, and Stephens, at center, were the outstanding features. Preston led his team in scoring by securing ten of the twenty-seven points accredited to the visitors, and Stephens played an all-round excellent game.

The line-up:

Elon: Grey, R. F., (4); Preston, L. F., (10); Stephens, C., (4); Tuck, R. G., (2); Johnson, L. G., (7).

Trinity: Cole, L. F., (12); Starling, R. F., (12); Douglas, C., (2); Hathaway, L. G., Long, R. G., (14); Saunders, R. F.

Referee, Pond; time-keeper, Balch; scorer, Carver; time of halves, 20 minutes.

CO-EDS WANT THE BALLOT

The women of the college were recently visited by Mrs. Liddell, one of North Carolina's most enthusiastic woman suffrage workers. Mrs. Liddell talked to the young ladies in the interest of her cause; and the result of her visit has been the circulation of a petition over the campus.

Petitions of a similar nature are being circulated through most of the colleges in North Carolina. The petitions are addressed to Senators Overman and Simmons, and they ask that the senators vote and work "for the immediate submission of a Federal Suffrage Amendment to the Legislature of the several states."

WILLIAM MATHER LEWIS SPEAKER FOR OCCASION

DELIVERS SPEECH ON WAR TO ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE

Flag Contains 347 Stars—Presented to College Through C. C. Alexander, Accepted by Mayor M. E. Newsom—Music by College Band

Marked by a stirring patriotic address by William Mather Lewis, executive secretary of the national committee of patriots and defense societies and the presentation of a huge service flag bearing a star for every Trinity man in the service to the college by the student body, the annual civic celebration held under the auspices of the 9019 took place in Craven Memorial Hall last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

According to custom the celebrations in the past have always been held on Washington's birthday, but the inability of the speaker to be here on that date resulted in the change to Thursday.

To Trinity students and alumni the most interesting feature of the entire celebration was the impressive presentation of the large service flag with its 347 stars, one for every Trinity man in the service. As the huge flag was slowly raised to the ceiling of Craven Memorial Hall, the college band played "The Star Spangled Banner," and the entire audience arose in honor to the sons of Trinity out yonder and over there.

C. C. Alexander, of the junior class, after having called attention to the fact that the flag had been purchased with the earnings of Trinity students who so patriotically aided the citizens of Durham in allaying the fuel shortage recently, presented the flag to the College in behalf of the student body.

Mr. M. E. Newsom, '05, mayor of Durham and a member of the Board of Trustees, made the speech of acceptance as a representative of the College.

This ceremony immediately followed the speech by Mr. Lewis. After the meeting had been opened with prayer by Dr. M. Bradshaw, of Raleigh, President W. P. Few, as presiding officer, presented the speaker of the occasion to the audience.

"In appearing at a good Methodist institution," began Mr. Lewis, "I feel as though I should take a text upon which to base what remarks I shall make; therefore I give you the words, 'Where there is no vision the people perish.' I wish you to consider this text in the light of the present war, for most of us live only in today and reckon in very small figures. A true genius has that force which

PRELIMINARY FOR INTER-COLLEGIATE DEBATES HELD

MEN CHOSEN TO UPHOLD TRINITY AGAINST SWARTHMORE AND W. & L.

The preliminary for the inter-collegiate debates was held last Saturday evening. Those contesting for places were L. H. Allison, R. H. Durham, W. H. Cherry, H. E. Fisher, R. L. Fisher, H. P. Newman, S. M. Holton, W. A. Rollins, R. M. Price, N. M. West, L. L. Gobel and E. M. Spivey.

The two teams of debaters were chosen. One team consists of R. L. Fisher, Allison, and Durham, and will take the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, That the war-time scope of federal regulation should, in principle, be permanently established in times of peace," in a debate against Washington-Lee on March 16. The other team, composed of Newman, Rollins, and H. E. Fisher, will uphold the negative side of the same question in a debate against Swarthmore on March 23. The alternates chosen were Gobel and Holton. Both of the debates will be held at Trinity.

LECTURE ON AVIATION

A most interesting lecture on service in the Aviation Corps was delivered in the Crowell Science Hall before the members of the class on War-Engineering and other Monday evening. The speaker The campaign is being launched with the possibilities of interesting work for young men in the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps; the wonderful chance for advancement in grade and rank, and the future of America's air service.

The talk was given by Graduate Cadet E. Talmadge Miller, A. S. S. C., of the Ground Officers' Training School at the Georgia School of Technology, who is now on a furlough awaiting his commission and assignment. Mr. Miller is known to many of the older men and upper classmen, as he was an instructor in the Engineering Department of Trinity during 1914-15.

At the meeting of the Botanical Club last Monday night an interesting paper on "Chlorophyll" was read by Mr. G. H. Satterfield. His talk was illustrated by specimens of his own work. Much interest has been manifested in the club as shown by the very interesting papers read from time to time by the various members. Several new members have recently been added.

Lieut. E. G. Harris, '17, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting friends on the campus. He is at present stationed at Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C.

ARCHIVE FOR FEBRUARY MAKES LATE APPEARANCE

MATERIAL IN WAYSIDE WARES DEPARTMENT ABOVE STANDARD

Poem by Dr. H. M. Ellis Features Issue—Three Other Poems and Four Short Stories Go to Make Up Contents of Number

The February issue of the Archive made its belated appearance on the campus yesterday. The contents of the magazine consist of the usual departments with the usual variety of contributions to the literary department. The magazine as a whole manages to keep fairly well to the high standard set by the preceding issues.

With the exception of the narrative in the alumni department the stories of the issue are all of the more or less conventional adventure type. "Lady Fingers at Riverside Inn" by Raymond A. Smith, is another interesting version of a well known anecdote. It is well told and is quite entertaining. "The Mysterious Woman: A Ghost Story," by Robert A. Walker, Jr., is all that the title implies. The story arouses great interest on the part of the reader, but this interest is doomed to disappointment by the unsatisfactory conclusion of the story. The writer never explains just who or what the mysterious woman is. "The Legend of Honey Blaine," by Eugene Craft, is another example of the time-worn story of privates and hidden treasure. "A Victim of Temptation," by R. E. Parker, '17, is an interesting account of the misfortunes of an old bookkeeper and the ultimate downfall of the villain of the story.

The essays, two in number, are of quite different type. "Religious and Educational Training of the Slave," by Robert W. Sanders, is a lengthy and somewhat tedious discussion of slavery conditions in North America. The information and subject matter, however, is quite interesting. "Poe's contribution to Southern Literature," by Conn O'Meyer, is a critical essay on the part Poe played in the development of southern literature. Though his criticisms of the other poets is somewhat extraordinary, the author handles his subject well.

The poems of the number are quite up to the usual standard. "An Old-Time Valentine," by H. E. Spence, is the complaint of a lover for the old-fashioned valentine. "Our Times Are in Thy Hands," by D. W. Newsom, an excellent poem warning the people not to depart from the ways of God. "To Edgar Allan Poe," by W. K. Carr, is a sonnet written in appreciation of the misunderstood side of Poe's life. "Lusitania," by H. M. Ellis, is an excellent poem describing vividly the twofold effects of the sinking of this vessel.

Wayside wares is unusually good this time. "An Apology for Old Maids," by A. C. Jordan, Jr., is a witty plea for the overthrow of the feminist movement. "A Eulogy on 'Song Birds'," by G. E. Powell, is a rollicking appreciation of the virtues of the inmates

On to Raleigh!

Yes, Methodist supporters know that Elon College puts out a basketball team.

"Two drinks and the world is mine"? No! Two games and the state championship is ours.

Time for the songbirds to return from the South; pink ice-cream has assumed its old place of popularity.

And the co-eds want Woman Suffrage. Why not start at home with a demand to be allowed to pay an athletic fee like "the men"?

Davidson tomorrow night and then the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts. Reckon we can beat all that?

Of course no one knows for sure, but 'tis rumored that a large number of Trinity students signed up for the recent Sunday School training because of the free lunch feature.

Handbills played an important part in the recent football demonstration. Now let some budding genius come forward, suggest a joining of the two words, and effect a compromise by saying that Trinity students can "foot bills."

BASEBALL AND YOU

"Will the 'varsity baseball season be a success?" is a question which practically every student in the campus is asking himself. So long as students confine themselves to the mere asking of this question and do not contribute their efforts towards working out an affirmative answer, they must be content with no answer at all.

As shown by the practice which has been going on for several days, there is some good material in College, but in all probability there are many men with marked ability who have not yet gone out for a place on the team. Right now a freshman or underclass man stands a better chance of making the 'varsity than ever before and is doing a great injustice, both to himself and to his College, if he does not contribute to the success of the 1918 team.

The mass meeting to be held just before the basketball game Thursday night will serve to usher in baseball and arouse enthusiasm for the approaching season. The meeting will be held in Angier Duke Gymnasium just before the basketball with a grand finale and at the same time to start off baseball with a rush and a bound.

Be there and have your yelling apparatus with you!

ON TO RALEIGH

With only two more games to be played, the 1917-18 basketball season will draw to a close for Trinity next Saturday night. Nine wins out of twelve starts tell the wonderful success of the Methodist five. A victory over Davidson tomorrow night means a claim to State, and probably South Atlantic Championship Honors, and then a final big game with N. C. State in Raleigh Saturday night.

Upon this final game with the Aggies will rest the ultimate success of the whole season. Whether the team will repeat the record of last year and establish a high water mark in Trinity athletics by winning Championship Honors for two consecutive years will depend upon the outcome of this Shopping Day struggle.

According to comparative scores Coach Doak's quint has the edge on the Raleigh tossers. The Tech fingers, however, will be greatly aided by the staging of the game on their home floor and the presence of their whole student body to cheer and support them. To offset this advantage enjoyed by the Aggies, Trinity cheer leaders are desirous that every Trinity student adopt "On to Raleigh" for his slogan, be with the quint in full force Saturday night, and do his part toward bringing Championship Honors Trinityward.

Of course this final game depends upon a victory over Davidson on the local floor tomorrow night. To assure this victory and at the same time to get in practice for the real fray in the Capital City, Trinity wants to be on hand en masse tomorrow night and yell and pull with the idea that a State Championship is at stake.

SCHEDULE STUDY IN

RACE PROBLEM ANNOUNCED

The first lecture of the course to be conducted by Dr. E. C. Brooks on "Race Problems of the South" will be held on the evening of March 8 at 7:15. At this time arrangements will be made for the other meetings of the course. About six of these lectures will be given, each lasting about thirty minutes.

Dr. Brooks is well qualified to give a course of this kind, having taught a class at Trinity along similar lines several years ago. He has given a great amount of study to the negro problem and is prepared to make the course both interesting and beneficial.

The book to be used in this course is "Negro Life in the South," by Dr. W. D. Weatherford, graduate of Vanderbilt University and student secretary of the International Y. M. C. A. committee. The books to be used in this course are now at the college book room. About a hundred

BASEBALL PRACTICE UNDER COACH DOAK CONTINUES

MASS MEETING IS CALLED BY MANAGER BOLICH FOR THURSDAY NIGHT

Early spring practice for baseball, which was begun last week, has been continued throughout the past week under the direction of temporary Captain Carver and Coach Doak. Approximately thirty men answered the first call for baseball candidates, and a surprisingly large amount of good material has been showing itself in the daily practice.

Despite adverse weather conditions a partial form of practice has been conducted each day for the past week. Each position on the coveted 'varsity nine has a goodly number of candidates contesting for its holding, and from all outward indications, the squad now under practice will develop a 'varsity of which Trinity may well feel proud. The following is a list of the candidates in their respective positions:

Pitchers: Mallard, Southard, Page, Cole; catchers, Thompson, Rose, Carson; first base, Banbury, Edens; second base, Carver, White; short stop, Kopf, Whitesides; third base, Harrison, E. T., Wannamaker, T. M.; outfield, Chapin, Ellis, Vultz, Few R., Few, W., Hale, Ashe, Spivey, Loftin, Hathaway, and McArthur.

Manager Bolich has practically completed the schedule which he intends to announce in the next issue of the CHRONICLE. With the exception of one or two pending games, the schedule is now complete. For the purpose of creating more interest in baseball, Manager Bolich proposes to hold a mass meeting Thursday night in Angier Duke Gymnasium just before the basketball game. The manager urges all students to attend this meeting and lend their support to Trinity's major sport. A canvass for financial aid will not be made at this meeting.

of a neighboring institution. "Camouflage," also by A. C. Jordan, is still another proof that there is nothing new under the sun as according to the author camouflage has been used from the earliest times.

The editorial department contains two strong editorials both of which contain food for thought. The first, "What's Wrong With Trinity," is a discussion of the students' relation with the college while the second, "Peace, When?" seeks to impress one with the responsibility coming during the days of reconstruction.

RED CROSS HEARS MRS. HILL Mrs. John Sprunt Hill, president of the Durham Red Cross Chapter, addressed the Trinity Red Cross workers in the work room in the East Building last week. Mrs. Hill spoke of the phenomenal growth of Red Cross work and impressed upon the women the fact that the present war is a woman's war—for the protection of women everywhere—and that in doing Red Cross work women are not only working for their men but also for the protection of themselves and sisters.

enables him to count in big numbers. No one had more of this vision than did George Washington, whose birthday we celebrate tomorrow; he was above the pettiness of people around him, and had the vision to bring into existence a true liberty-loving nation.

National ideals have faded since Washington's time was the declaration of the speaker. He believed in preparedness as a policy of avoiding war. History itself shows this fading to be true as evinced by the humiliation undergone by America during the war of 1812 in the loss of her capital. And this vision has grown dimmer and dimmer with the thought of amassing fortune taking its place.

"If this war simply teaches us vision and turns us from the idea of the dollar mark as the emblem of success and takes us back to the high ideals and principles of Washington," declared Mr. Lewis, "then it will be worth while, no matter how great its cost in money, sacrifice, and blood."

The speaker then dealt briefly with the origin of the present war and told some of his experiences in Germany just before the actual outbreak of hostilities. He pointed out instances of German intrigue, showed the methods employed by the Huns to entangle America in the war, and noted the difference between the spirit prevalent in Germany and that in France. Put the honor shown by France when she allowed her whole army to be captured by the German forces in 1870 rather than violate Belgian neutrality, put that against the regard Germany showed for a scrap of paper and draw your own conclusions, was the advice of Mr. Lewis.

"Do not think that Germany has not planned the invasion of this country for many, many years," was the statement set forth by the speaker in refutation of the common belief that the war should and will be confined to far away Europe and never come home to us. He quoted the Kaiser as having said to Ambassador Gerard in 1908 that America had better watch out; and if we do not aid wholeheartedly in this war, this warning will be put into effect, and America will feel the fangs of Prussian tyranny and oppression. "The settlement of this question," reiterated Mr. Lewis, "lies entirely with you, with a hundred million people."

"What doth it profit you if you win the whole world and America lose its soul? As descendants of Washington you must prevent this loss; for the Kaiser has just as large and well paid armies in the United States as he has in France or Russia, and these armies are waiting under arms ready to strike. You must, therefore, treat every alien as guilty until he is proved innocent and not innocent until proved guilty.

"We can do many things to aid the war each in our own sphere. Keep down and prosecute the Kaiser's paid agents and propagandists. We must come down tight on them, for a backfire at home may result in the death of your brother or my brother over there."

"The practice of thrift and the adaptation to present conditions and circumstances will go along way towards winning the war. We must give way to the conditions as they exist and become the makers of those silver-nosed bullets that will prove the final destruction of Germany and Germanic principles and ideals."

"Buy a thrift stamp," urged the speaker, "and as you lick the stamp to stick it on your card, know that you are at the same time licking the Kaiser. Hell is paved with good intentions, and if that is the case, America is on the road to Hell. Make these intentions materialize and turn your country, my country, and Washington's country from the path to destruction and into the road that leads to world democracy and the liberation of mankind."

"If the army at home concerns itself with trying to crush the Kaiser with all possible force," concluded Mr. Lewis, "the awful shadow of Prussian oppression will melt away in the radiant sunlight of the brotherhood of man, and life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness will come to be more than mere phrases."

MANAGER DURHAM BEGINS TRACK WORK FOR SEASON

M. S. LEWIS ELECTED TEMPORARY
CAPTAIN BY CANDIDATES

The candidates for the track team met last week, and elected M. H. Lewis as temporary captain; all the candidates are very enthusiastic over the prospects for a winning track team this year. Captain Lewis issued a call for candidates last Monday; more than a dozen men responded, and short runs were engaged in in order to size up some of the new men.

The squad is to meet every afternoon as long as the pretty weather lasts and the Captain will train the men in whatever way he sees fit, presumably in cross country runs in order to harden the men for the coming meets of the season. The track is not in the best of condition as yet, but work is to begin immediately in order that the main track may be utilized for the runners.

The prospects for a good track team are unusually good this year; practically all of last year's squad are back for the team, and several new men are out who glittered in the interclass meet last fall. The inter-class meet this past fall was far above the average, and the results are very encouraging for a superior varsity team this year. The coach for this season's track team has not been secured; the one who is secured for baseball, however, will more than likely be the one who will coach track.

Manager Durham has secured several meets for the Trinity team during the coming season. One meet with Virginia Military Academy is almost assured, and the manager hopes to get another meet or so while the team is on the Virginia trip. A meet has also been scheduled with Carolina, to be held on the home grounds. The State meet is to be held on the University grounds. There will be at least three meets this year and the new material together with the veteran members of the team make things look good for Trinity.

Capt. D. H. Fuller, '12, stationed at Camp Jackson, spent Friday and Saturday on the campus.

DR. W. H. GLASSON WRITES NEW BOOK ON PENSIONS

BOOK WILL BE PUBLISHED BY
CARNEGIE PEACE
FOUNDATION

Dr. William H. Glasson, of the Department of Economics, has recently completed a new book on "Federal Military Pensions in the United States." This is a subject on which Dr. Glasson has been working for a number of years.

The new work makes a study of the national pension system of the United States from its origin in Colonial and Revolutionary times and shows what has been done in this respect for the soldiers of all our wars. It includes an analysis of the recently enacted War Insurance Law for the soldiers.

Dr. Glasson's book is already in the hands of the printer, and it is to be published sometime during the spring or summer under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace.
