PARK SCHOOL HAS SPLENDID OPENING

AN ACCOUNT OF HAPPENINGS
AT TRINITY'S PREPARA-
TORY SCHOOL

The fall of 1918 marked that which promised to be the most successful year in the history of Trinity Park School. School opened on September 23, with an enrollment of near two hundred students, gathered from the four corners of North Carolina. Headmaster F. S. Aldridge was to be assisted in instruction by Professor McKay, a former instructor of the school; Messrs. J. L. Murray and A. C. Jordan, Jr., of the Trinity College class of '18, and Messrs. Alexander and Hoffman of the present senior class at Trinity. However, as stated in the old adage, "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," and soon we felt the grip of the influenza epidemic about us. Approximately one hundred of our students were stricken with this malady, but with the careful assistance of trained nurses, members of the college faculty, their wives and the doctors of Durham, we emerged with an enviable record, in that we had no fatalities in all of our number, and lost only two days of school work throughout the entire epidemic.

The Fates having failed to administer us a telling blow, seemed unsatisfied with their results, and accordingly aimed another at us. Thus, in the guise of the Students' Army Training Corps they took from us fifty of our students, who were registrants of September 12, and later admitted them into the Training Corps. The loss of these, together with that of a few who returned home during the epidemic, has diminished our number to approximately one hundred and fifteen.

The academic work of the school is progressing in the best manner possible, while military drill forms the chief avenue of escape to the athletic side of school life. Those of our students who fail to avail themselves of the opportunities afforded them by enrollment in the S. A. T. C., are receiving gymnastic instruction from Director Card of the College Gym. If the military training affords a sufficient lapse of time for training, the prospects for our athletic teams are most encouraging, and after their organization, we will be well able to compete with any like school in the surrounding country.

As is always the case, "every sweet has its bitter," and owing to the unsettled conditions of affairs which now exist, our organization is likely to be interrupted by the call to the colors, to which, members of, both the student body and faculty are subject. However, while our association is permitted to continue, we shall keep the "Home Fires Burning" and each of us will profit for having met.

Lieutenant Beverly Snow has been on the campus recently watching the drilling of the S. A. T. C. men. He is home on an indefinite furlough. Lieutenant Snow was graduated with honors in the class of 1916.

Professor Peele and "Cap" Card Direct Activities. Games and Diversions. Furnished Members of S. A. T. C.

One of the most noticeable results of the establishment of the S. A. T. C. at Trinity College is the passing out of the old Y. M. C. A. with its formal once a week meetings and the introduction of the regular army Y. M. C. A. with its games, diversions, letter writing and other things needed to assist the boys in whiling away their spare time in a wholesome and clean fashion. A program such as is needed to meet the demands of the men is being carried out now and this work will be enlarged as the demand increases.

Professor W. W. Peele of the Department of Biblical Literature is in direct charge of the religious work of the "Y", while Physical Director W. W. Card, who is stationed at the college by the National War Work Board and supported by that organization, has charge of the athletic and social features. "Cap," as the boys all used to know him, is giving much of his time to religious work also, and especially to encouraging the boys to sing religious and patriotic songs and hymns. In addition to his duties here in connection with the "Y", Director Card is also in charge of the Angier Duke Gymnasium where he has held sway from time immemorial.

The headquarters for the Y. M. C. A. is a large room on the first floor of the Administration Building of the college. This room is well equipped with stationery, tables, chairs, games of many kinds, papers, current literature, pamphlets, records, and other things needed to help entertain the student-soldiers. It is a general recreation center for the boys in their "off" periods. The room, although spacious, is proving too small and arrangements are being made to increase the size of the quarters.

It is generally conceded by those who have kept in touch with the affairs of the college, that this "Y" work is meeting a long felt need on the campus. Heretofore there has been no general loafing place or gathering place for the students. The old D. F. L. A. which met in "Bull" Warren's room in the old Inn was the only thing that allowed the fellows to get together in a general free and easy manner. Even this was too crowded and there was sometimes a smack of the unsavory in conversation and general demeanour that was not too wholesome. The "Y" is conducted entirely in keeping with the traditions of the college and the whole spirit that pervades it is one of a wholesome clean nature. It is an interesting sight to look in on the fellows.

BRIEF SKETCHES OF OFFICERS
ASSIGNED TO TRINITY
UNIT

Following is a brief sketch of the officers assigned to the Student's Army Training Corps, of Trinity College. With the exception of Lieutenant Wannamaker, none of these men are Trinity men and the majority of them are from the northern states. A finer looking or more clever set of men would be hard to find. We regret that lack of space and information, (the latter due to modesty on the part of these officers, no doubt) compels us to make a very short statement of their records. A brief sketch of each follows:

Captain George A. Brewer, Opelika, Alabama. Received Academic training at Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Was graduated with degree of B. S. in 1912. Was graduated from Law School of the University of Alabama, in 1914, receiving highest honors at this time. Practiced law in the firm of Barnes & Brewer, in Opelika, Alabama, from October 1914, to May 1917. Entered Officers' Training Camp, at Fort McPherson, May 11, 1917. Commissioned as Captain of Infantry, August 15, 1917. Was stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga., from September 29, 1917, to May 12, 1918. Commander of Alabama U. S. A. Training Detachment May 12, 1918 to September 13, 1918, at which time he was detailed to take command of the S. A. T. C. at Trinity College.

While in the University and at college Captain Brewer made quite a good record both as student and athlete. He was varsity catcher on the Polytechnic baseball team for three years and played first base at Alabama for a while.

He comes from a splendid old southern family whose men have been distinguished in the legal world for generations. His father, the late Judge George E. Brewer, was Judge of the 7th Judicial of the state of Alabama for several years and his uncle, Hon. S. L. Brewer, is now rounding out his third term as Judge of the 5th District.

Lieutenant George A. Lockhart, Minneapolis, Kansas. Member of regular National Guards. Received training for officer at Fort Riley, Kansas. Commissioned 2nd Lieutenant, August 14, 1917. Promoted to 1st Lieutenant, 1918. Instructor at Plattsburg, 1918.

Lieutenant Edward Frances Hopkins, Great Barrington, Mass. Educated at Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass. Commissioned at Plattsburg, 1918. Detailed as Physical Instructor at Trinity College. Second Lieutenant.

Lieutenant Allan Winship Hill, Hartford, Conn. Received high school training in the city schools of Hartford. Was two years in Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Was at Plattsburg in 1916 and again in 1918 at which time he received a commission of 2nd Lieutenant. Recently appointed

College Community Goes "Over the Top" in Its Devotion to this Important Cause

Dr. W. T. Laprade, formerly Professor of History at Trinity College and now Instructor in the Y. M. C. A. Training School at Blue Ridge, addressed the College community on Monday evening of this week on behalf of the United War Work. Dr. Laprade has been given leave of absence for the year to work with the "Y" secretaries at the training school. He is doubtless living up to the record which he established here of being one of the most entertaining as well as one of the most brilliant instructors in the Southern college world.

Preliminary to the address the two companies of the S. A. T. C. engaged in a friendly and hearty rivalry in songs and yells. One was reminded of the old days of intercollegiate debates when Hesperian and Columbian sang rival songs and returned friendly jeers and yells. On this occasion however, instead of the old "loop-the-loop, other society's in the soup," there resounded war songs. "Over There," "Hail, the Gang's All Here," and other favorites rang out again and again. After youthful exuberance had been given vent to sufficiently, Dr. Laprade was introduced and made a stirring appeal on behalf of the boys "over there."

No newspaper report can give an adequate account of the speaker and the impression he made upon his audience. No dignified summary can possibly carry the wit, the humor, the droll mimicry, or even the fiery enthusiasm which blended so well and so strikingly.

After the speech, in a very quiet manner the community was canvassed for donations. Three thousand dollars was the total allotted to Trinity. The hearty interest that was shown is indicated by the fact that more than three thousand dollars were secured in a single evening and the reports not yet turned in will probably swell the amount to practically four thousand.

Dr. Laprade said in substance the following: The war itself is a call to genuine Christianity. Jesus exemplified sacrifices for his fellows in his life; the men who went to France sacrificed for the service of their fellow-men. The need for the work done by the organizations in the United War Work campaign has increased rather than diminished by the signing of the armistice. While the war was going on, the soldiers had the immediate goal of the trenches to keep them keyed up to their best in physical and moral fitness. The absence of that goal causes a natural let-down in morale, thus making the work of these welfare organizations more essential than ever before.

S. A. T. C. UNIT WORK AT TRINITY COLLEGE

ACCOUNT OF MILITARY DRILL AND INSTRUCTIONS AMONG THE STUDENTS

Last summer the Government of the United States adopted a scheme of co-operation on the part of the colleges and the War Department that is unique in the annals of warfare. It comprises the utilization of the plants of some three hundred colleges as camps for the training of soldiers and at the same time giving the soldiers instruction which will be of use in both civil and military life. Briefly, military drill and instruction under the direction of military authorities, comprising eleven hours a week, is supplemented by forty-two hours (recitation, lecture, and study) in certain branches under the direction of the college faculty. The students become privates in the army; those who make satisfactory records are sent from time to time to Officers' Training Camps; those who do not make satisfactory records are sent to the Cantonnements as privates. The dormitories become barracks; discipline is strictly military; tuition fees, board and room rent are paid by the Government. Such is the Student Army Training Corps, a unit of which is in operation at Trinity with 280 inducted men, a score awaiting induction, and a score under the military age of eighteen also drilling. In command there are nine officers. They are Captain George E. Brewer, Commanding Officer; First Lieutenant George A. Lockhart in command of Co. A; Lieutenant Alonzo B. Holmes, in command of Co. B; Lieutenant Vincent V. Hebert, in charge of Co. C. Assisting them are Lieutenants William H. Wannamaker, formerly dean of the College, Allan W. Hill, Edward F. Hopkins, Robert A. Jackson, and William Whitman III.

What changes have been made by this new order of things? In the first place the S. A. T. C. curriculum is restricted. All are required to take courses in War Aims, Military Law, English Surveying. Electives are Mathematics, Government, Economics, French, German, Biology, Physics, Chemistry, Engineering, Psychology, International Law, and Hygiene. The college years has been divided into quarters, grades are recorded monthly, entrance requirements have been lowered, and the Faculty is also under authority—that of the Committee on Education and Special Training, which is subsidiary to the War Department. Inspectors visit the college to investigate both drill and teaching. There are no more Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. The place of these classes is taken by Sections A and B, comprising men new and old of twenty years or above; sections C and D, men of nineteen; and Sections E and F, men of eighteen. Fraternities are quiescent; the literary societies are in a state of suspended animation; study is supervised; and misconduct wins

Everybody in good standing is going to subscribe this year. Is your name on the list. See Professor Webb.

TO THE FRIENDS OF THE CHRONICLE:

After a delay of a few weeks the Chronicle once more makes its appearance on the campus and in the homes of its former friends. Its tardiness is due to the fact that for awhile there was no one to assume the responsibility for its publication. The majority of students were inducted into the S. A. T. C. and the literary societies had hardly enough men to man the work. It seemed so absolutely essential that we should have some sort of periodical for the benefit of the men here and for the preservation of history in these stirring times, that a group of faculty members met to consider ways and means of bringing out such a publication. The result of their meeting was a determination to publish the Trinity Chronicle this year as usual. Six men were elected as a governing board and plans were set on foot to finance the periodical. Our friends in town have come to our rescue in their usual way as is evidenced by the advertising columns. We expect to secure enough subscriptions and donations to help us very nearly pay for the publication of the paper.

Perhaps a word as to the special purpose of the paper will not be amiss. Of course there will be a record of the usual campus news, or rather the unusual campus news. We shall keep our friends notified of the things of interest that occur here. We also expect to print from time to time news from the boys overseas. We invite friends and relatives of these who have in their possession interesting letters or other information to send such material to us for publication. In this way we shall preserve interesting sidelights on the war. A complete roster of all Trinity men who have been in the service will appear after awhile. Promotions, casualties, and other items of interest from the camps and field will be given due place.

We hope to serve you this year in a manner that shall be very acceptable. We trust that you will give us your hearty co-operation by sending us such items as will be of interest to our readers.

Thanking you and wishing that the return of peace may bring joy and happiness to your lives, we remain,

Yours to serve,
THE PUBLICATION BOARD OF THE TRINITY CHRONICLE.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT FEW

I am very grateful for the loyalty of graduates and undergraduates manifested in contributions of money and of time that makes possible the publication of The Chronicle this year. There are unusual difficulties in the way of publishing the paper, and yet it is more needed than ever before. Many of the graduates, especially of the younger classes, are in the camps or in France, and a medium of constant communication between them and the College will not doubt be appreciated by them. The record of the College, of her sons, her servants, and all her resources in the Great War will have to be written, and material for this history will be gathered in a college weekly.

The great experiment of the Students' Army Training Corps, which is to be continued without marked change despite the signing of the armistice by Germany, makes the tasks of the College this year novel and stimulating. The working out of this experiment as it will be reflected in the College paper can be followed and studied while the sober second thought of our best college public opinion is crystallizing on important questions of education and general readjustment that must soon arise. For these reasons that grow out of the extraordinary conditions of the year as well as for the reasons that have all the time justified the existence of the paper, The Chronicle deserves most hearty support. It is in unusually competent hands, and I feel sure it will be a worthy spokesman even for such a year as this.

Through the first issue of the year I send to all our men in wartime service of the Government profound gratitude for the heroic part they have played and for the immortal glory they have added to the name of Trinity College and to our graduates and supporting public an assurance that as we have done our level best to promote the causes of the war so also we will undertake the even harder tasks that lie ahead of us.

W. P. FEW.

DEAN OF WOMEN FOR THIS YEAR

Every loyal daughter of Trinity will be interested in knowing that the women students of the College have at last a Dean of Women. The woman who has been selected for this position is Miss Martha Buchanan, who has had experience in teaching young women and who for the past two years has taught English at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C. Miss Buchanan is well educated and has a strong and winning personality. President Bruce R. Payne, A. B. '96, A. M. '99, now of George Peabody College for Teachers, from which Miss Buchanan holds a degree, says of her, in a letter to President Few, that Miss Buchanan is "the best woman I have ever seen for the position you have in mind."

In addition to performing her duties as dean, Miss Buchanan is teaching Freshman English and History.

GREETINGS FROM MEMORIAL CHURCH

Harry M. North, Pastor of Memorial Church, Extends Greetings to Trinity Men and Women

As pastor of Memorial Church I am extending greetings and an invitation to all men and women of Trinity College. Many generations of college students have worshipped at these altars and shared the fine fellowship of our people. We have claimed ownership in them, and they have felt themselves a part of us. Those on the grounds this year are asked to make this their Church Home during all their stay here, and to have a share in all its privileges. Through the Chronicle I would also send greetings to Trinity men in camp and field, both in America and Europe. The church makes mention of you in prayer every Sunday, asking that you may have strength to resist every evil force that would weaken character and to stand all tests that may come. We have read with grateful pride how our men have conducted themselves in the great war, yet we had always felt it would be that way. We are confident too that they will bear themselves well in the period of reconstruction, even as they did in the midst of battle.

Let me ask each man, though in a far distant place, to think back once in a while to the old church on Chapel Hill Street; to remember its twin towers and the chimneys which pealed out so sweetly from them; and the great organ, and the congregation, and the League and Doctor Billy's class in the Sunday School; and to stand some times with uncovered head and worship in spirit there with those who worship here.

Y. M. C. A. WORK AT TRINITY COLLEGE (Continued from Page 1)

Here is a group surrounding the victrola with its merry tune of "Over There" or some other stirring war song. There a couple of fellows are giving their brains the first real exercise of the day in a game of checkers. A few are aristocratic enough to pretend that they are playing chess. A rattle of—no it is merely carrom buttons not bones. And the letter! How many fond parents receive letters now who in days gone by were made the recipients of nothing to epistles, only when the much needed check was late in coming. More than two hundred letters are frequently written in a single day. This is perhaps due to the fact that stationery is furnished free. But far more is the influence of the pen, ink, letter paper, etc., at hand with nothing to do but write and a score of other fellows telling "Dad" how it is done and what the chances are for promotion. This is perhaps the first time that aforesaid old gentleman has been proud of fond son's dullness for the duller the boy the longer it will be before he is taken away from the college to the training camp.

For lectures and for the regular Sunday services, the large Y. M. C. A. Hall on the second floor of the same building is used. This hall has a seating capacity of 500. If the moving pictures are put on, this room will also be used as an auditorium for the movies. Plans are being perfected by which Bible classes will be organized among the companies. These classes will be arranged with a view of meeting the peculiar needs of the members of the S. A. T. C. Personal interviews dealing with the individual needs of the students are also being held. Pamphlets of a religious nature are distributed free of charge. The "Y" seems to be doing a real and a great service among the members of the S. A. T. C.

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS ITS FIRST SESSION

MR. SPENCE, SUNDAY SCHOOL FIELD SECRETARY, SPEAKS TO MEMBERS OF S. A. T. C.

The Y. M. C. A. held its initial public service on last Sunday evening at six o'clock in the association hall. Rev. H. E. Spence, the speaker, was greeted by a large audience of college men and he gave to them a timely forceful message on the general theme of sentinel duty. Mr. Spence caught the ear of his audience from the very first by giving the command so often heard these nights on the campus: "Halt! Who's there?" With these words as a fitting introduction the speaker discussed some of the sentinels that walk guard protecting the hearts of men from enemies that are without seeking admittance. Telling illustrations were used and special applications made to the needs of S. A. T. C. students. The service was short, spicy, and to the point. This is the plan for all these Sunday services.

Another work that can be undertaken now is to educate the soldiers who now have the leisure for that purpose to make them better citizens when they return home. These organizations have already begun to work out this problem, and more than one-half of the sum asked for could be used profitably for this purpose alone.

It is essential that college students have a share in contributing to these causes because their relatives and friends are in the army, and they thereby serve those in whom they are personally interested. In the second place, they are citizens of the country and consequently ought to be interested in making the soldiers, who are to be the dominant element in the citizenship of the future, of as high type mentally and morally as possible. In the third place, the soldiers who have gone to France have made supreme sacrifices. Unless the young people who stay at home have some share in these sacrifices, they will not be able to meet their returned friends from the army on a common ground.

The men who are undertaking this service under the auspices of these organizations are making sacrifices of a vital kind in their own lives to do the work. It is not too much, therefore, to ask college students to make sacrifices from their usual spending money.

What of the future? Undoubtedly the college will learn much as to speedy preparation of men for life's work. New courses of study are being evolved. Physical health will be improved. Useless traditions will be abolished, old ones will take on new life, and college affairs will never be "as you were." Here also lies the chance for real social democracy. Why should not some system of government subsidy be continued after the war in order that the great inequalities in the opportunity for higher education may be abolished? Why should not society see to it that the youth of our land should have a chance to be trained for greater service and also to make acquaintance with the best heritage of our past?

PERMANENT RECORD OF

CHRONICLE AND REGISTER DESIRE THE RECORDS OF TRINITY MEN

Blanks are being sent out by the Trinity Alumni Register to the various Trinity men engaged in service with the hope of securing information that will be of interest and value in the coming years. It is sincerely hoped that every son of Trinity who receives such a blank will fill it promptly and return it as it is desired that we may have a complete record of the part that the College played in the Great War. As an illustration of the kind of information that we hope to receive we print in part the record sent in by Lient. Gordon M. Carver, who is well known in Durham as well as to many Trinity men:

Entered Officers' Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., May 13, 1917. Commissioned 2nd Lieutenant Quartermaster Corps, August 15, 1917. Stationed at Camp Jackson, S. C., from August 29, 1917, to December 10, 1917. Stationed at Camp Joseph E. Johnston, Fla., from December 11, 1917, to May 18th, 1918. Overseas since May 28, 1918, with the American Expeditionary Forces as Commanding officer of Motor Truck Company 414. Transferred to the Motor Transport Corps September 22, 1918. Promoted to the grade of 1st Lieutenant Motor Transport Corps, October 11, 1918.

Took part in the battle of the Marne, July 15, 1918, to August 15, 1918, acting as convoy officer with Motor Truck 414, acting as an emergency ammunition and supply train.

There are many other bits of information that we should like to receive also. There are personal experiences which are perhaps in lighter vein. There are reminiscences which will make interesting reading. There are awkward mistakes and funny blunders of which we would like an account. We hope that the boys "over there" and their friends over here will furnish such an account to us.

Only recently a letter came from Captain Charley Bagley. Quite an interesting account was given of the way in which the six inch shell caused men to lie down and take notice instead of the conventional slang way of putting things. He narrated interestingly how the old Trinity men got together and told their experiences of how they cut Chapel and got off with it, of midnight escapades, of crap games and hazing sprees. We hope to have any information that falls into the hands of any of our friends who are willing to furnish this information without feeling that they are divulging secrets.

WHO'S WHO IN THE

Intelligence Officer of the S. A. T. C. and assigned to Co. B.

Lieutenant William Whitman, III, Boston, Mass. Educated at Westminster School, Conn. Student at Harvard University. Received military training at Harvard camp and Plattsburg. Assigned to local S. A. T. C. as Mess Officer and Rifle Instructor.

Lieutenant William Hanes Wannamaker, Durham, N. C. Lieutenant Wannamaker needs no introduction to Trinity Family but for the sake of uniformity his record is here given. Educated at Wofford College, S. C., from which he received the degrees of A. B. and A. M.; Trinity College, N. C., with degree of A. M.; Harvard University, A. M.; Universities of Leipzig and Berlin. Lieutenant Wannamaker has been at Trinity College for several years as professor of German and has been Dean for a year or two. He recently received the honorary degree of Litt. D., from Wofford College.

Lieutenant Wannamaker was among those who went from the Trinity faculty to Plattsburg in the summer of 1918. He received a commission as 2nd lieutenant and was assigned to the local S. A. T. C. first as Personnel Adjutant and later also as Adjutant.

Lieutenant Robert A. Jackson, Appollo, Penn. Educated at Pennsylvania State College in the School of Mines. Member of Signal Corps at Penn. State College for three years. Commissioned at Plattsburg, 1918.

Close Order and Ordinance Officer.

Lieut. Alonzo Barker Holmes, Holbrook, Mass. Educated at Bowdoin College, Maine. While in college, member of baseball, football, and basketball teams. Captain of last named. Member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity.

Member of Mass. Cadets Corps, 1913-1917. Captain nCo. D., R. O. T. C. Unit, Bowdoin College, 1913-1917. Captain Co. D., R. C. Commissioned at Plattsburg 1918.

Bayonet instructor.

Lieut. Holmes is a relative of the famous poet and humorist, Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Lieutenant Vincent V. Hebert, Easthampton, Mass. Educated at Williston Seminary and Bay Path Normal. Commissioned at Plattsburg, 1918. Machine Gun Instructor.

People throughout the country are naturally interested as to what effect the signing of the armistice by the Germans will have on the immediate and later future of the Students' Army Training Corps as now established. The following telegram, received today by the president of Trinity College will therefore be of great interest:

"Students' Army Training Corps units will continue military and academic work without interruption regardless of armistice. Plans have been prepared for the future of S. A. T. C. Number conditions brought about by armistice which will be sent you as soon as authorized."

It is therefore evident that the S. A. T. C. will be continued without marked change for some time at least.
