COLLEGE OPENS WITH LARGE ATTENDANCE

MANY OLD STUDENTS ARE MUSTERED OUT OF SERVICE AND RETURN

College reopened last Friday with a surprisingly large attendance for the second quarter and almost as if it were opening for a new year since there were so many students to enter who have been recently mustered out of military service. Friday was given over to matriculation and registration of students taking up regular college work at this time. Class work began Saturday.

The number of former students who had dropped out of college to enter the service that have returned to college was surprisingly large. The exact number of men returning is not known definitely, but it is much larger than had been expected. The students who have been in military service and who return to college now will, upon completing the work given from now until June, receive college credit for a full year's work.

Of course there were some of the men who were here in the fall attending the S. A. T. C. who did not return; but the new students coming in and the return of the former students who have been recently discharged from service well compensated the loss of a few S. A. T. C. men.

With the return of old students and the absence of the S. A. T. C. things are beginning to appear normal once more. There is no more the unpleasant sound of the guard calling, "Halt!" or the more unpleasant sound of the bugle blowing reveille. Possibly the one thing which seems most abnormal is chapel exercises coming in the middle of the day instead of the early morning as heretofore. Indeed the most pleasing sight is to see stirring around on the campus once more those who had made college life what it was before the war. These men answered the call of their country; but since victory is ours and no longer their country has need of them, they have returned to resume their education.

Below is given as complete a list as could be secured before the CHRONICLE went to press of the men who have been discharged and have returned to college, showing the original class and the branch of service in each case. Those whose names do not appear in this list will be given recognition in the next issue.

CHANGES ARE MADE AMONG INSTRUCTORS

SHIFTS IN THE DEPARTMENTS OF BIBLE, EDUCATION, ENGINEERING

Professor W. W. Peele, who has been for two years Avera Professor of Biblical Literature, recently resigned that position and took work as pastor in the North Carolina Conference. Professor Peele was sent to Edenton Street Church, of Raleigh.

Rev. H. E. Spence, who has been Sunday School Field Secretary of the North Carolina Conference, has been appointed to the chair of Biblical Literature to succeed Professor Peele. Mr. Spence graduated at Trinity in 1907, taking his A. M. in 1908. He studied later both at the University of Chicago and Columbia University. For a number of years before going into the Sunday School work, Mr. Spence served as pastor in the North Carolina Conference.

Lent. Frank N. Edgerton, Jr., has been engaged to carry on the work of Professor W. H. Hall, of the department of engineering.

Professor Edgerton received the degree of A. B. at Trinity in '09, and A. M. in '11, and served one year as assistant in Physics. He was granted a graduate fellowship in Columbia University and took two years' work in that institution in physics and engineering. He then served one year as instructor in electrical engineering at Trinity College and rendered the College most acceptable service. He then was instructor in electrical engineering and physics at Princeton University where he taught for three years and received flattering recognition. He resigned at Princeton in 1916 to

LT. BASKS ARENDELL SEES GREAT WAR END

FORMER CHRONICLE EDITOR AT FRONT WHEN FIRING CEASES

Below are extracts from a letter written to his brother, Holmes Arendell, of Raleigh, by Lieut. Bask Arendell, '17, who was fighting with the 81st Division, the famous Wild Cat Division, on the front lines when the order "Cease Firing" was given and the war ended. Many of the readers of the CHRONICLE will remember Lieut. Arendell, who piloted the CHRONICLE during the year 1916-17. It is with pleasure that the CHRONICLE publishes for the interest of its readers these lines from its former editor.

The letter in part follows: "Three days before the cessation of hostilities was ordered, my division launched a drive against the Huns on one of the most famous fronts of the whole war. I returned from school the night before we went 'over the top.' When firing ceased we were pushing the enemy constantly rearward. I was enjoying it immensely, the game; but I was a happy man when I heard the news thirty minutes before the war was over.

"Promptly at eleven o'clock and with lightning suddenness, the front changed from a deadly

"Y" MADE EXCELLENT RECORD DURING FALL

WORK WILL CONTINUE UNDER "CAP" CARD REMAINDER OF YEAR

With the organization of the S. A. T. C. at Trinity College, there came another innovation—an innovation which, although un-democratic in its operation, has, in spite of difficulties, rendered an invaluable service. The work of the Y. M. C. A. speaks for itself.

Although the "Y" at this past was in operation only seven weeks, the following record was made: Eight thousand visits by boys were made to the public room in the East Duke building in spite of the fact that it was open for business only two hours each day. There many happy hours were whiled away in playing games and listening to the merry notes of popular songs. But the boys were not the sole beneficiaries of these visits. Because of the easy access to writing material of the red triangle stamp, approximately ten thousand letters were written. Giving vent to the various emotions which these letters no doubt conveyed was immensely beneficial, not only to the authors but also to the recipients of the letters. (Continued on Page 3)

PARK SCHOOL BEGINS NEW TERM WITH GOOD OUTLOOK

NUMBER OF NEW STUDENTS ENTER—SOCIETIES ELECT OFFICERS

On January 3, after a recess of sixteen days, work was resumed at the Park School. Owing to a mumps scare in the community, work was discontinued on December 17, three days before it was scheduled to close. At the opening of school on last Friday, the old student body, with a very few exceptions, had returned, while thirty or more new students had enrolled for the spring term.

The fall term examinations, which should have been completed before the holidays began had it not been for the unexpected close, are being held in the afternoons this week, and are to be completed by Saturday. After they are finished, the spring term alone will call the attention of the school and a most successful term's work is looked forward to.

Athletics in the school are being well organized and a most successful year in this phase of school activity is in view. The athletic association was organized before Christmas and officers elected. Managers were chosen for the various teams and they are now arranging for games.

NOTICE!

Any members of the Sophomore class who wish to try out for places as reporters on the CHRONICLE staff will report to room 205 Jarvis Hall, Friday evening of this week at seven o'clock. Those who are selected will be in line for associate editors next year, and from the associate editors will be elected an editor in the senior year.

ORGANIZATION OF R. O. T. C. SOON

STUDENTS OVER FOURTEEN ELIGIBLE—COLLEGE CREDIT GIVEN

Plans are being perfected for the establishment of an R. O. T. C. at Trinity. The government has detailed Captain Brewer to organize and have temporary charge of the organization, which will be put under way within the next few weeks if there are as many as one hundred men desiring to enter.

The course will consist of about five hours work per week, probably two hours class work and three hours drill. There will be no military discipline upon the men except while on duty. The government requests the colleges to give credit for this work, and the men taking it will receive credit for a three hour course. All male students over fourteen years of age are eligible to enlistment in the R. O. T. C. Uniforms, rifles, and equipment will be furnished by the government. The men in the junior and senior classes will receive the subsistence of a soldier. Each summer the enlisted men will be sent to Plattsburg for a training camp at government expense and receive soldier's pay while there. The R. O. T. C. furnishes for the college man who wishes to do so an opportunity to advance in military science and tactics while pursuing his college course.

H. W. "Slim" Kendall, '18, who is in government employment at Washington City, spent a few days with friends on the campus this week. Slim was showing his old time "pep" and interest in the CHRONICLE, of which he was editor last year.

DR. GLASSON'S BOOK ON FEDERAL PENSION

BOOK WAS EDITED UNDER AUSPICES OF CARNEGIE ENDOWMENT

The Oxford University Press has recently published a new and timely book by Professor William H. Glasson on the subject "Federal Military Pensions in the United States." Dr. Glasson has had this work in preparation for several years under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. It appears now very opportunely just at the close of the Great War when there will undoubtedly be great interest in the subject of provision for disabled soldiers.

The Carnegie Endowment will place Dr. Glasson's book in all the principal libraries of the United States and the principal European countries. The introduction to the volume is written by Dean David Kinley, of the Graduate School of the University of Illinois, and former President of the American Economic Association. Among other things Dean Kinley says: "Professor Glasson has supplied a volume which will take its place among the important contributions to the history of our country. His survey of the subject, from the beginning of our history (Continued on Page 2)

STUDENT GOVERNMENT AMONG YOUNG WOMEN

PLAN WAS SUGGESTION OF MISS BUCHANAN, DEAN OF WOMEN

One of the great innovations of this school year—one which like the S. A. T. C. has never been seen in Trinity before, but which unlike the S. A. T. C., has come to stay—is student government among the young women in the Alspsaugh Hall. It is an experiment which has, so far, proved successful and is gratifying both to the young women and to the Dean of Women, at whose suggestion the plan was considered.

At the meeting of the students when student government was first voted on and accepted, Miss Fannie Vann, an alumna of Trinity, explained student government as it is found in other leading educational colleges and colleges for women and acted as chairman until the new association could elect a president.

As soon as the president and other members of the student council were elected, a constitution was drafted which was presented to and voted upon, article by article, by the student association in a body. Some of the most important provisions of the constitution are the following:

Art. 1. The name of this association shall be the Student Government Association of Trinity College.

Art. 2. The purpose of this association shall be to develop self-control and to govern the young women of the college.

Art. 3. The officers of the association shall be a president, elected from the Senior or Junior class, a vice-president, and a secretary and treasurer.

Art. 5. The Students' Council shall consist of four proctors, the secretary, treasurer, and the president.

Art. 6. Proctors. It shall be the duty of each proctor to maintain order in her section and to report the breaking of rules, upon repeated offense, to the council.

Besides a constitution, the Student Government Association has a number of house rules which have been enacted at the several meetings. The young women realize that wherever a number of people live together each must recognize a few restrictions in order not to trespass on the rights of the others and in order to protect the welfare of the majority.

Since these rules were made, a system of "call-downs" has been instituted by which a trespasser may be warned and given a chance to get back into the straight and narrow path before she is punished, but no one has been able to see this system in operation yet for there have been no culprits on which to practice.

The officers are to be elected once a year by the written ballots of the members of the S. G. A. The present officers are Misses Ruth Merritt, president; Stella Sexton, vice-president; Margaret Harvey, secretary and treasurer; and Misses Estelle Warlick, Gladys Price, Doris Overton, and Oh, ye good old days!

Now that the S. A. T. C. with its guards is gone, O. T. can exercise the authority vested in his office.

Student government for the coeds on a college basis; but the boys are such weaklings as to still require "prep" rules.

Get a Coach at Once

We find ourselves in the middle of the basketball season, and the time to begin baseball practice rapidly approaching. Nothing will put more life into the student body and give to the College better legitimate advertising than to put out strong athletic teams on a square basis.

There is material on the campus for a champion basketball team and one of the strongest baseball teams that Trinity has put out for years. Last year Trinity played close for the winning score in the final contest for State championship in basketball. This year all that old team is back in good trim with only two exceptions. Those two places can easily be filled from the material on the campus.

With prospects for probably the strongest pitching force that Trinity has had for years and stars for every position on the diamond, the baseball team gives promise of being one of the best in the state.

The only asset lacking in order to make this a banner year in athletics is a good coach to direct this material in developing into team work. It is understood that plans are under way to secure Coach Doak, who has been a successful coach here for the past two years, or some one else to do this work. The CHRONICLE hopes that no effort will be withheld to secure at once the strongest possible man for the directing of these teams.

What About an Annual?

That the College and everyone interested in the future of the institution should put forth now every effort to get the College on even a better basis than it was before the war is an undeniable need of the hour. The accomplishments toward this end which have already been brought about by the administration, the students, and the friends of the College deserve high commendation.

There is nothing, however, that would further this cause and stimulate enthusiasm and confidence more than the publication of a creditable Annual this spring. In order for an annual to be a success, it is essential that work should begin on it immediately. Indeed it will take more thorough co-operation and a stronger effort than in some years past to make this publication a success; but Trinity students, as well as others, are ready to undertake the big job.

Some may ask if the publication is to be miniature in the form of another feature edition of the Archives or is it to be a Chanticleer. It may be a practical impossibility to get out a Chanticleer on account of a hanging debt; but it would not be a credit to this generation of students to put out anything less than a high-class annual. Regardless of what it may be called, the students should get behind this movement at once and make an annual a success this spring, backing it financially to the last cent. Let the senior class take the lead and put it through.

Track Work to Start the First of Next Week

Along with the many old Trinity men who have returned from the various branches of the service are quite a number of the men of last year's track team. R. K. Smathers, Trinity's star long distance man and captain, has returned from Camp and has already commenced preparations for spring track activities. Captain Smathers expects to begin practice next Monday and has already secured the services of Professor A. M. Webb as coach. Professor Webb was Trinity's first track coach and in his day was a well known celebrity at Yale.

Although Manager Robert Hambrick has not yet been discharged from the service, he expects to return to college very shortly and begin work on the spring schedule. Manager Hambrick was here for a few days on furlough and has already conferred with Captain Smathers in regard to piloting the team through a successful season. Track activities for the past two years have, on account of the war, fared even worse than the other college activities, but it is hoped that an extensive schedule can be arranged for this year's contingent. An inter-class meet will be arranged very shortly and it is expected that an abundant amount of track material will be manifested.

Those of last year's squad who have returned to college are M. B. Loftin, W. H. Cherry, J. H. Harrison, Robert Price, G. D. Harmon, F. N. McGrannahan, and Captain Smathers. It is hoped that even more may yet return.

Basket Ball Practice Under Captain Cole

Basketball practice was begun Tuesday afternoon in the Angier Duke Gymnasium when fully twenty-five candidates appeared on the floor for the first practice. In the absence of an official coach, Captain Henry Cole took charge of the practice and proceeded to put the contestants through a stiff practice on the first day's try-out. Up to date there are three of last year's letter men back for the 1919 season, Hathaway, Starling, and Captain Cole. Page and Aldridge, members of last year's squad are back and there also appears to be an abundance of new material. Judging from the display of pep at the initial practice, the Methodists will not fail to sustain the reputation made during the successful seasons of the past few years.

Manager F. M. Wannamaker, who has returned from his duties as second lieutenant of the army, has taken up his duties as manager and will begin work on the schedule as soon as he has authority from the Athletic Council. This is Manager Wannamaker's second year as manager of the Methodist quint and there is good reason to suppose that he will help pilot the team through another successful season. It is hoped that the services of an efficient coach may be obtained through the efforts of the Athletic Council, but for the present, practice will continue under the supervision of Captain Cole.

Junior and Sophomore Classes Elect Officers

The class of 1920 held a meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. Hall and elected officers for the ensuing term. The Juniors had not organized before because of the unsettled conditions. Plans for the future activities in school work and athletics were discussed.

The officers elected were as follows:

President: W. N. Evans, Jr.
Vice-President: J. W. Norton.
Secretary: Miss Doris Overton.
Treasurer: Wesley Taylor.
Representative on the Athletic Council: M. B. Loftin.

The Sophomore Class also held a meeting Wednesday in the Hesperian Literary Society Hall, and elected officers and discussed plans for the future.

The following officers were elected:

President: L. B. Hathaway.
Vice-President: H. P. Cole.
Secretary: Miss Mae Waller.
Treasurer: Martin Holton.
Representative on the Athletic Council: Earl Southard.

J. L. Lockhart, ex-'12, since being mustered out of military service, has accepted a position as manager of the Christian and Harvard Furniture store of Durham.

until a recent date, is thorough, full and impartial."

Dr. Glasson's book goes back to the origins of the United States pension system in the pension laws of England and the American colonies. He gives a detailed account of the pensions for the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, and the Mexican War. But the principal part of the volume deals with the Civil War pensions in which there was great waste and extravagance due to political reasons. The fact is brought out that the Civil War pensions cost the United States government over five billions of dollars, and that a large part of this was paid to persons with claims of doubtful merit.

The well known evils of the Civil War pension system brought about the passage in the fall of 1917 of a War Insurance Law to protect the soldiers of the present war and their dependent relatives. In its Appendix the new book gives an account of the circumstances leading to the enactment of the new War Insurance Law with an analysis of its provisions. A very convenient statement is made of the exact terms, conditions, and rates of the War Insurance Law. The volume is also provided with a comprehensive "Bibliographical Note" and an excellent index. It is handsomely bound in blue cloth covers and contains about three hundred pages.

Captain Ben F. Dixon, '03, of the 120th Infantry, "Old Hickory" Division, has been awarded a distinguished service cross posthumously for extraordinary service in action near Vaux and Igny, France, on September 29. In the battle in which he was killed Captain Dixon was wounded three times, but refused to be carried to a hospital and stayed with his men until he was killed.

Elizabeth Floyd, proctors. These also compose the Students' Council.

The Student Government Association fills a long felt need for some simple and satisfactory method of government among the women of Trinity College. Hitherto this responsibility has rested upon the matrons of the women's dormitory and has been an extra duty which she has not had time to attend to properly, but now this new organization operating as it does under the supervision of the Dean of Women—also a new feature—relieves the matron and the faculty almost entirely and places the responsibility where it properly belongs—on the shoulders of the young women themselves. Thus Trinity has taken a great step forward and has placed herself on a level with other leading colleges for women and co-educational colleges as far as honor and development of character among its women are concerned.

boom and rattle to a grave-like silence. Germans jumped from their trenches exclaiming, 'Boche, Finish.' Then they came forward laughing and yelling, stretching forward their hands toward the game American soldiers, who, seconds before, were pushing, driving, pounding upon their veteran resistance. Many Huns gave cigars, cigarettes, coins and other souvenirs to those who had made their utter defeat possible."

Professor H. E. Spence, who has been seriously ill with influenza for the past few weeks, is able to be out again.

However, good as was the work carried on in the public room, the activities of the organization were by no means confined here. Each Sunday evening a devotional meeting was held in the large Y. M. C. A. hall, on which occasions instructive talks were made by members of the faculty. Just prior to the demobilization of the S. A. T. C. three inner circles, each composed of five men from each of the companies, were formed for the purpose of discussing and fitting into operation the best ways and means of serving the student-soldiers; and at the same time a supervisory council, consisting of five members of the faculty, was organized.

But the Y. M. C. A. workers do not propose to rest on their laurels; they have plans for even more extensive work in the future. In accordance with the general plan of the College Associations recently connected with the S. A. T. C., the organization here will be maintained in the present form until the close of this scholastic year. The Bible study classes which were all but started before Christmas will begin soon. This work will be in charge of "Cap" Card and Professor Spence.

Pending the organization of the R. O. T. C. here, no permanent schedule of open hours has been made. Until further notice is given, however, the "Y" room will be open during the week from two until five-thirty in the afternoon and from six-fifteen till seven-fifteen in the evening; on Sunday the hours will be from two till five. The time is thus restricted on this day that there may be no conflict with Church services. It is sincerely desired by those in charge of the work that the students will avail themselves of the opportunity offered by the Y. M. C. A.

accept a chair in electrical engineering at Rutgers College. From there he entered the national army as a private in June of last year, but in a few months received a lieutenantcy. On being mustered out of the army in December as a private in June in December Professor Edgerton was urged to resume his work at Rutgers College; but preferring to labor for his Alma Mater, he came to his present position at Trinity.

Miss Martha Buchanan, Dean of Women, has taken charge of some of the classes in Education, which Dr. Brooks formerly taught. She is well fitted for this work, having studied the subject at Peabody and having also a great deal of experience in teaching it.

On last Saturday night the literary societies held election of officers for the next term. Those elected by the Grady Society were: president, J. I. Gray; vice-president, W. L. Fitzhugh; secretary, V. C. Lassiter; treasurer, C. B. Deane; monitor, W. H. Smith; and chaplain, Percy Lee. The following men were elected by the Calhoun Society: president, M. L. Wilson; vice-president, M. B. Jeffreys; secretary, H. C. Cunningham; treasurer, R. L. Armstrong; and W. O. Jones was re-appointed chaplain.

CO-ED NEWS

Mrs. Chas. Poppler has returned to the campus after several months of attendance at the bedside of her mother.

Miss Sara Hudgins has completely recovered from influenza and has returned to take up her studies again.

The many friends of Miss Emily Loftin will be glad to know that she is recovering and has taken up her college work again after having been ill for several weeks.

There is a new boarding student in the Alsapha Hall—Miss Macon, from Henderson. Miss Macon attended the U. N. C. last year and has entered the Sophomore class here at Trinity.

The Student Government Association had its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening and attended to various matters, among them being the election of a treasurer—Miss Maud Nicholson—and the making of a general rule that young gentlemen were to be allowed to call between 6:30 and 7:15 P. M. only on the days Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of each week.

Economy Expressed in Fall Clothes—Good clothes cost more today

There is no getting around that fact. By lowering our quality and value-giving standards, we could offer cheaper clothes. But we shall stick by the guns of quality for our customers' best interests and our own.

Our Clothes for Fall carry out this policy to the letter. They evidence how good clothes can be made and not how cheap. They will make a stronger appeal to the man who knows real value and that true economy is gauged by quality and not price.
