NEW INSTRUCTORS TO AID STRONG FACULTY

THREE FORMER MEMBERS RETURN AND SIX NEW ONES ARE ADDED

LAPRADE, HALL, GRAVES RETURN

Several Old Trinity Men Return to Take Places as Instructors After Taking Higher Degrees in Other Institutions

The make-up of the Trinity College faculty has undergone quite a few changes during the summer, making nine additions with a loss of four members of last year. Three of these men were previously members of the Trinity faculty, who are returning after leave of absence for service in the war. The faculty is greatly strengthened by the return of these men and the addition of six new ones. All of them are excellent men, well qualified for the work they are assuming here.

Of the four instructors who have gone out, only three are permanently separated from the College. Prof. Bert Cunningham, professor of biology, is on leave of absence, doing research work in the University of Wisconsin, and will return to Trinity next year. Dr. H. M. Ellis, of the department of English, has gone to the University of Maine, which was his alma mater, where he will be head of the English department this term. Prof. F. N. Egerton, Jr., instructor in engineering, will be connected with that department at the University of Georgia. Prof. H. L. Hoskins, who filled the vacancy of Dr. W. T. Laprade during his leave of absence, will not be here this year.

Professors W. T. Laprade, of the chair of European history, and W. H. Hall, of the department of engineering, are both back after service with the Y.M.C.A. The former was engaged in the training of Y.M.C.A. Secretaries at the training school at Blue Ridge. His intimate knowledge of social conditions in America and Europe made him a most valuable person for this sort of work. Dr. Laprade is a recognized authority in his department, having won wide recognition with numerous books he has written, and he is a very valuable addition to the department of history. Professor Hall has only recently returned from France, where the character of his work called forth remarkable praise from the Y. M. C. A. officials in charge of his division. He is a very competent instructor in engineering, and that department is greatly strengthened by his return.

Dr. T. S. Graves, captain of infantry in the 81st division, A.E.F., resumes his work as professor of English. Professor Graves has won for himself by his many published studies the reputation of an expert on Elizabethan literature and the stage.

Dr. N. I. White, an A.B. graduate of the College of the class of 1913, and an A.M. graduate of the following year, comes to Trinity as professor of English literature. Since graduating here, where he was very popular and affectionate-

EXCELLENT WORK DONE BY COLLEGE Y. M. C. A.

YEARLY BOOKLET ISSUED FOR CONVENIENCE OF CLASS OF 1923

ANNUAL RECEPTION SEPT. 24

Representatives from Local Y. M. C. A. Meet Incoming Train-Bureau of Information Conducted at College

The college Y.M.C.A. has been and is living up to its reputation of service in handling the large bodies of freshmen who have been pouring in on every train, and the task has been an unusually large one this year owing to the record-breaking enrollment of new students. The Y.M.C.A. has before it a year of brilliant prospects and great success. Headed by a most efficient set of officers, it should forge ahead more than ever this year, and be a great factor in the college community.

Meeting the new men was the first task undertaken by the Y. M. C. A. this year. More than twenty representatives with badges on their coat lapels met the trains Tuesday and Wednesday, and escorted and directed the freshmen to their rooms.

The next event toward which the organization is working is the annual reception given to the new men, which this year will be given next Wednesday, September 24. The reception will be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall in the East Duke Building, where every freshman and every member of the College community is expected to be present. This reception is an annual affair, and is one of the few times when the whole community meets face to face with each other in an informal way, and it does a great deal in making the freshmen feel at home and giving the old students an opportunity to get acquainted with them.

The invitation to this event is given in a formal manner in the front of the Y.M.C.A. booklet, which is just off the press. This booklet, which is the work of J. E. Gilbreath, president of the Y. M. C. A. this year, is published each year by the Y.M.C.A. for the benefit and convenience of the new men. It is a very neat little hand-

ATHLETICS AT TRINITY HAVE GREAT PROSPECTS

INTERCLASS FOOTBALL WITH COACH WILL START IN COOL WEATHER

FINANCIAL TROUBLE REMEDIED

Athletic Council Increases Capacity of Dope Shop; Royalties from Pressing Club and Laundry; Big Athletic Fees

Prospects for athletics for this year were never brighter before in the history of the institution. The Board of Trustees authorized football in Trinity two years ago, but because of unsettled conditions of last fall, very little was done along that line. This year the college is going to start to build up a team, and next year we will play inter-collegiate football and win the State championship and take the Southern championship the year after. The Athletic Council is working on the proposition of a coach, and has several men in view. It is the present plan to get a man who can devote full time to outdoor sports and athletics and coach all the teams. If a man can be found that measures up to the needs and standards set by the Athletic Council, he will be employed. If this cannot be done, a special coach is going to be engaged to train a football team. Major M. Crawford, in charge of the R.O.T.C. unit here, is a splendid athlete, and has had years experience. He has offered his services as a coach, just to help along until a man is found to hold the place regularly. Major Crawford is an athlete of former fame, and there need be no fear that athletics will suffer because the coach is not on hand just at the opening of the school.

Fall baseball will be started immediately, and with the aid of the old varsity men who are back, new material will be tried out with a view to selecting prospects for next spring, when we expect to put out a winning team that will take anything in the South.

Quite a number of the old basketball varsity team are back, and prospects for that sport this year are excellent. Captain Cole is back, and promises to give his men hard drill and training, in order

R. O. T. C. UNIT WILL START TO WORK SOON

MAJOR CRAWFORD IS EXPECTING LARGE ENROLLMENT FROM FRESHMAN CLASS

ACADEMIC CREDIT PART OF WORK

Equipment is Here, and Requisition for Uniforms will be Sent Immediately. Company Officers Announced Later

The R. O. T. C. is going to run in full swing this year. Major M. Crawford, who was in charge of the unit last year, will be here again this term. He is able to make the work even more interesting this year than before, owing to the fact that has been sent overseas during the summer, and went all through the war-torn districts of France and Germany, and gained more intimate knowledge of European warfare.

Equipment for work, consisting of rifles and packs, is here, ready to be issued, and as soon as the number enrolled is ascertained, a requisition will be put in for uniforms, and they will be here in a very short time.

The R. O. T. C. should be greatly swelled in numbers this year. It is expected that many of the freshmen will take the drill work. Credit will be given in academic work amounting to four hours, and the men in the training corps will be excused from gymnasium, the drill counting for that.

Work this year in the R.O.T.C. will consist of three hours a week, at present, two hours of which will be for drill, and one hour lecture. The work will be fitted in the college schedule in such a way that it will not conflict with student activities, as it has done heretofore, the plan now being to have it in the morning hours, a regular time being set for it, just as for any class.

Officers will be chosen for the companies as soon as enrollment is complete, and their names will be announced later. Major Crawford expects to have four companies, making a full battalion, and if he is able to do that, he hopes also to be able to put this College in the Distinguished Institution class, which would mean a great deal to

PHI BETA KAPPA WILL GRANT CHARTER HERE

PETITION FIRST PUT BEFORE NATIONAL COUNCIL SIX YEARS AGO

FACULTY MEN INSTRUMENTAL

Eight Faculty Members of Phi Beta Kappa Gratified with their Success. Great Boost to the College

The efforts of the Trinity faculty members of Phi Beta Kappa, the national scholarship fraternity, have been successful, according to information from very reliable sources, which is not, however, official. The announcement was received here with great satisfaction, for the installation of Phi Beta Kappa at Trinity College, has long been the dream of the 9019 men and those who are interested in scholarly attainments. Faculty members at Trinity have been working on the petition for a charter for several years, and their final success in getting a charter for Trinity will mean more to the institution than anything that has taken place in some time past. The members of the faculty who belong to Phi Beta Kappa are: Dr. W. H. Glasson, elected at Cornell; Professor A. M. Webb, elected at Yale; Dr. W. K. Boyd, elected at William and Mary; Dr. A. M. Gates, elected at Wesleyan University, Connecticut; Dr. W. T. Laprade, elected at Johns Hopkins; Dr. C. W. Peppeler, elected at Johns Hopkins; Dr. T. S. Graves, elected at University of Chicago; and Dr. F. A. G. Cooper, elected at Trinity College, Connecticut.

Dr. Glasson, who has headed the committee in the petition for a charter, has given out the following announcement.

"At the recent meeting of the National Council of the Phi Beta Kappa Society held at Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., a charter was granted for a chapter of the organization at Trinity College by practically unanimous vote of the delegation from all over the United States. Last spring the application of Trinity College for such a charter had been favorably passed on by the Senate of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and the action by the National Council was all that was necessary to admit Trinity to the number of institutions having this famous scholarship society. At the National Council of Phi Beta Kappa held in 1916 it was voted to adopt a policy of granting charters only to distinguished institutions and this favorable action after an extended investigation by the officers of the Society is undoubtedly a marked recognition of the high standing Trinity College has attained among the educational institutions of the country.

"There are now in the faculty of Trinity College eight members of Phi Beta Kappa who were elected at Cornell, Yale, Johns Hopkins, University of Chicago, Trinity College, William and Mary and Wesleyan University. The work of presenting information to the National Organization of the Phi Beta Kappa Society regarding

PARAGRAPHS

"By their question shall ye know them."

"The girl I left behind me" will soon be obsolete around Trinity unless we miss our guess on the quality of the co-eds.

Students are warned not to mention the Shantung agreement after the Chinese students arrive, for poor Tanaka is the only Japanese here, and the odds would be against him.

We are glad to welcome back our friends "Lap," "Shirley" and "Wim." We suppose "Wim" will continue to give the engineering students endurance tests, not to mention other kinds, while "Lap" and "Shirley" will resort to their former indoor sport of riding freshmen.

STAFF APPOINTMENT

Appointments for the staff of this paper have been made by different plans, but for the last few years the staff, including associate editors and reporters, has been chosen on the basis of direct competition. The present incumbent of the editorial chair finds this scheme highly commendable, and will follow it. Owing to the unusual and unsettled conditions under which The Chronicle started last year, there was a board of directors and three staff associates, two elements which were only introduced last fall. At the end of the year, when the college was operating under normal conditions, The Chronicle was returned to the supervision of the Chronicle Board, under whose general management it will be this year.

The number of associate editors this year will be returned to two, as formerly, which is the number provided for in the original constitution of The Chronicle. These men will be appointed on the basis of the work done on the staff of the paper last year, and their names announced in the next issue.

The general reporting staff will continue to consist of four reporters, chosen on the basis of a competition of which announcement will also be made later concerning the retention of staff associates.

PURPOSE AND POLICY

It has been the custom for each succeeding pilot of The Chronicle to take advantage of an unsuspecting public with the first issue of the college year long enough to give a dissertation on the policies and purposes of the paper.

The purpose of the paper is "to print everything of interest to Trinity men." In living up to its name The Chronicle must serve the students and the community in every way that a periodical of its nature should. The best interests of the college should be the watchword of the "sheet," and to this end it should be of service.

The policy of the present incumbency is straightforwardness. We shall under no circumstances allow The Chronicle to become the servant or agency for any group or groups. Every item shall be given its proper space and treatment according to our best judgment and as far as we are able. We shall try to represent things truthfully, and without erasing from opposite opinions, and yet without seeking any conflict of opinion with others.

This is the task to which the editor has set himself, and to this end we shall labor. If, at the end of the year, we have truthfully represented and reflected the best there is in the College community, we shall feel that our purpose and policy has been accomplished,—if we have represented Trinity.

WELCOME

In behalf of the entire community The Chronicle extends a most hearty welcome to those wandering, forlorn beings called freshmen, who roam about erratically, or sit dreamy-eyed upon the dormitory steps and sigh. You feel as strangers in a strange land, and you are dejected as you tread the paths of the campus for the first time for TRINITY has little significance for you. But college is not a prison-house, surrounded by a formidable wall, lurking with all manner of weird dangers in the form of blood-thirsty sophomores, nor is it a friendliness expanse of green grass, with a number of towering buildings ruled by an iron-hearted and inhuman faculty. But when you find the real Trinity, which will not be long, you will find a home. You will learn to love Trinity when you know and feel her spirit,—that spirit which makes men kin, and point with pride at the institution which is their alma mater.

In later life you will realize what Trinity has meant to you, and how much you owe it. Begin now to put in your whole time and strength. You can never pay back what you will owe her, neither can you put in as much as you will get out, but "as ye sow, so shall ye reap." Get into the life of the college. Take an active part in everything. Interest, to you, spells success. If you can play a part, play it. If you are an athlete, put your whole soul into football or basketball or baseball, and go after it in earnest. If you can write, go in for the Archive or The Chronicle and contribute to them. If you will throw yourself into the life of Trinity, you will be greatly surprised at the friendliness and welcome that will greet you. Best of all college is a place of remarkable discoveries. You will discover yourself, find out what you can do, and when you have done that and have made a success, you will be proud of yourself, and Trinity will be proud of you.

PHI BETA KAPPA

In the opinion of The Chronicle the announcement of the granting of a charter by the National Council of Phi Beta Kappa to Trinity College is one of the greatest achievements and boosts the College has had in years. Phi Beta Kappa, representing, as it does "the highest recognition of scholarly achievement," will mean more to Trinity than any other organization has meant or can mean. Securing the charter from the national body by the local faculty members of the organization, marks not only ultimate success after years of effort on their part, but it marks an event in the history of the college, putting her on the same high plane with other old and high standing educational institutions throughout the country.

To the students it means a powerful incentive to better work. It is a material reward for conscientious study, and the fortunate one who is given a Phi Beta Kappa key to stamp him as a scholar may be justly proud, for the little key is a mark of recognition for achievement anywhere in our broad land. Present and future students of Trinity should ever be grateful to the faculty members who have won such an honor for the College, and opened such an opportunity to them.

PARK SCHOOL NOTES

Trinity Park School opens today, September 17, with the largest enrollment ever known in that school. Up to date more than two hundred students have been assigned rooms on the campus, and these, added to the town students, and counting the number that regularly comes in the first week of school, will swell the total number to 250 or more.

A committee from the Y.M.C.A. at the Park School have been meeting all the trains, and assisting the new men in every way possible. The new men are pouring in in such numbers that the institution will soon be filled to overflowing.

Quite a large delegation from last year's graduating class will enter Trinity this fall, while a few will enter college at other places.

The buildings have been gone over, and put in first class, sanitary condition, and have been made as convenient as possible.

Professor F. S. Aldridge is again headmaster this year. Besides the regular corps of instructors retained from last year, five new instructors will be added, all of whom are Trinity men. B. B. Jones, who has been principal of the Kinston High School the past two years, will be a professor at the Park School, as will Frank Yarbrough, who will also be a senior in college this fall. Mr. Yarbrough was an instructor at Oak Ridge the past year. The other three men are all members of the class of '18. They are M. S. Lewis, W. B. Bolich, and Carson West.

DON KIRKMAN DROWNED

The Alumni Register contains an account of the death of Don Raymond Kirkman, '13, of High Point, who was drowned at Wrightsville Beach on July 24. Mr. Kirkman had just arrived at the beach for a short vacation, and during the afternoon after his arrival he saw a woman struggling against the current, and though he was not an expert swimmer, he went to her aid. He encountered the usual difficulty in dealing with drowning persons, and the terrorized woman hampered his efforts to such an extent that they were both lost. The Register says in comment,

"The untimely end came, as it often comes, just when life seems in the heyday and so full of youthful hope and promise. To the host of alumni and friends of the young man the news of his tragic but heroic death brings sincere sorrow, for he was a particularly bright and loyal son of Trinity."

Frank McNeill, '18, has a position with the British-American Tobacco Company of New York.

R. K. Smathers was physical director at Lake Junaluska this summer. He has accepted a position as track coach at Emory University of Atlanta, Ga., for this year.

ENORMOUS ENROLLMENT OF NEW STUDENTS THIS YEAR

300 FRESHMEN REGISTERED—MEN
FROM CHINA, JAPAN, AND FRANCE

Enrollment in College this fall has broken all previous records. The number of new students, and those who are returning after having been out a year or so, added to the number of old students returning, will boost the student body to 650 or above, the largest Trinity has ever had. The increased enrollment shows a big increase in the number of co-eds, as well as in the male students. Definite statistics could not be given out before this issue of The Chronicle went to press, but according to estimates there will be about 275 freshmen, and enough old students who were not in school last year to boost the number of new students close to 350, and already more than 300 last year's students have signified their intention of coming back to take up their studies in Trinity.

Students are coming in to Trinity from all parts of the civilized world and South Carolina. There are to be four Chinese students, and we have already one Japanese who has become quite a figure on the campus, making five men from the Orient. Besides these, two Frenchmen, LaVallee, and Vieller respectively, landed in New York September 16, and will enter Trinity College.

The Law School is to have a large number this year, twenty-five or more having signed for the Law School alone, and many more will take a few hours law in addition to academic work. At least ten students will be in second year law this year, completing the course ready for the bar examination next summer.

The following girls of the class of 1919 have accepted positions for next year: Leonora Aiken, in the high school at Marion, N. C.; Nancy Green, in the Durham high school; Mary Latta, in the West Durham School; Florine Lewter, in the Roanoke Rapids high school; Mable Crumpler and Nellie Reade, at Mount Pleasant high school; Inez Allen, in the public school at Wilson; Emily Loftin, in the high school at Beaufort; Imogen Hix, in the high school at Plymouth; Rosalie Stepp, in the high school at Martinsville, Va.; and Vera Wiggins in the high school at Dover, N. ## DEPARTMENTS OFFER VARIETY OF COURSES

The addition of Professor Barnard to the Department of Economics makes possible the announcement of a revised and enlarged program of studies. A considerable number of courses are offered which will be valuable as training for a business career.

Courses 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 will be given, as stated in the catalogue, Professor Barnard having courses 1, 3, and 5, while Dr. Glasson retains 2 and 4. In addition to these however, there will be offered the following courses:

Course 9a. Principles of Political Science (see catalogue 5a). Open to those who have passed course 2. Tues., Thurs., Sat., at 11:30. Professor Glasson.

Course 9b. Municipal Government. Second half year. Open to those who have passed course 2. Same hours as 9b. Professor Glasson.

Course 10a. History of Political Economy. For seniors and graduates who intend to specialize in Economics. Hours to be arranged. Professor Glasson.

Course 10b. Research in Economics. Second half year. For seniors and graduates who intend to specialize in Economics. Hours to be arranged. Professor Glasson.

Some changes have been made in the plans of the English department. The freshman and sophomore work, which is always the heaviest with respect to numbers, will be divided between Professors Brown, Graves and White. In addition to these, however, upperclassmen are offered a wide variety of selection. Courses 3, 5, 7, 11, and 14 will be given this year. (See catalogue for details.) Dr. Few and Dr. Brown will have English 3. Dr. Brown will teach English 5, Dr. Graves, English 7, Dr. White, English 11, while the course in short story writing, English 14, will be under Dr. Brown.

In the History Department a few changes have been made. The old course known as History 2, which is widely known among old Trinity students, and will be taken by a great number this year, will be continued, but will be under another number. This year it is to be known as History 9. The course designated as History 9 heretofore will be given as History 10.

In the department of Biblical Literature and Religious Education, several courses will be given this year that were not on the schedule last year. Bible is a general course in Bible study, and is required of all students before they reach the senior year in college. Juniors who did not have the three hour course last year will be required to take it this year, while freshmen are allowed to elect in for any of the first three years. Professors Spence and Cannon will both have classes in this course.

Besides this, Bible 2 and 3 will be given by Professor Cannon. (See catalogue for details.)

In Religious Education, Professor Spence will give course 2 and 3 (for details see catalogue), and if there are enough students desiring other courses, more will be added, the most probable of which would be Bible, 4, 5 and 6, and Religious Education 5 (see catalogue).

Avery Thompson has entered the lumber business with his father at Wanaish, N. C.

Frank Wannamaker and Arthur Carver are at Pongheepsie, N. Y., taking a course in business college.

CO-OPERATIVE DINING ASSOCIATION OPENED

The Students' Co-operative Dining Association of Trinity College will resume its activities with the opening of College this fall for the purpose of providing good wholesome food for students at practically actual cost. Mr. Luther M. Atkinson, of Snow Hill, Md., has been secured as manager of the Association and will devote his entire time to the work. Mr. Atkinson has only recently received his discharge from the army. As mess sergeant, first class, he had entire charge for a year of the great mess hall at Fort McHenry, Baltimore. He furnished on an average of 3,000 meals a day for hospital patients, for officers, and for detached troops. He comes to his new position with a fine record of success and with excellent recommendations. He is already hard at work and promises to give the students first class board.

The mess hall will be run on the co-operative basis, and board will be furnished at actual cost.

The boarding hall in the Woman's Building will be in charge of Mrs. Etta Wyche, of Waynesville, and board there will also be furnished at cost. Students and patrons of the college will gladly welcome this provision for meeting the problems that are incident to the high cost of living.

Several other boarding houses, located just outside the College wall, will be operated at different, but very reasonable prices. Students desiring to board at any of these places will see the College representatives, who will soon make themselves known.

"Too Young for Old Ideas"

NEW INSTRUCTORS TO AID STRONG FACULTY

ly called "N" by his admirers both for his personal qualities and his remarkable ability as a tennis player, Mr. White has been a student in the graduate school of Harvard University, where he won his degree of doctor of philosophy, and has also been teaching English in several colleges. He comes to Trinity from Washington University, in St. Louis. His election of the Trinity faculty has met with general approval, for Dr. White was not only a very popular student in his undergraduate days, but was regarded by both students and faculty as a scholar of great promise and a writer of ability and genuine feeling for literature.

James Cannon, III, a graduate of Trinity of the class of 1914, and for two years a graduate student in the theological school of Princeton University, of which he is an A.M. graduate, has been elected assistant professor of biblical literature. Mr. Cannon was an exceedingly able student in College and was highly respected, both for his great ability and for his strong character. He took an active part in literary society work and was in his senior year editor of The Chronicle. Mr. Cannon returns from overseas service with the army with the rank of captain, having served as a chaplain in the A.E.F., and having been cited by divisional headquarters for his great bravery under fire while ministering to wounded soldiers.

M. L. Lowery, an A.B. graduate of Chicago University and with two years at the University of Pennsylvania, has been elected professor of education. Professor Lowery comes to Trinity with the finest of recommendations of the men under whom he has been working.

Paul Gross, a B.S. graduate of the College of the City of New York, and an A.M. and Ph.D. of Columbia University, begins his work at the college as an assistant professor of chemistry. Dr. Gross has had considerable experience as a teacher, and was especially successful in his teaching at Columbia University.

B. W. Barnard, A.B. Trinity, of the class of 1915, and student in the graduate school of Princeton, from which he was graduated with the degree of A.M. and where he held a graduate fellowship which he gave up to enter the service of the United States Army, has returned from overseas and will serve the college this year as assistant professor of economics and finance. Mr. Barnard's great ability as an undergraduate student and his excellent record both in the graduate school and in the army, make his election very popular among Trinity men.

Miss Fronde Kennedy has been elected Dean of Women. Miss Kennedy, who comes to the College from Columbia, S. C., is an A.B. graduate of the College for Women at Columbia, S. C., and an A.M. graduate of Columbia University. She has been for some time a student in the Teachers' College in New York and has been specializing in dean's work and has had several years of experience in such work.

In addition to the regular members of the faculty, graduate assistants and instructors have been named in the several departments.

book, containing all information that might be of interest or of use to the class just entering college.

The booklet opens with a message from President W. P. Few, welcoming them and urging them to unite themselves immediately with that which stands for the best things of life. Besides the message of President Few, this little booklet contains many suggestions of interest and value to the freshmen. The work of the Y.M.C.A. is placed before the reader, and its objects and purposes outlined. It contains such bits of information as facts concerning the college publications, brief write-ups of the various organizations, including literary societies, clubs and other organizations on the campus. There is also a page of facts about the various athletic teams of the college, and another page of athletic yells and college songs.

Another great service the Y. M. C. A. has rendered is through the bureau of information being conducted by the president. The information desk is in the door of the old Red Cross Headquarters, next to the bulletin board in the East Duke Building. The Y. M. C. A. committee is working in conjunction with the committee from the Greater Trinity Club in meeting and stationing the incoming freshmen.

Another feature of the work of this organization this year will be the reading room which was opened by W. W. Card, who was in charge of the Y.M.C.A. during the old army days last fall. This room is the first door on the left of the stairway on entering the East Duke Building from the west entrance. There will be magazines and periodicals, and a writing room, Victrola, and various card games and checkerboard for the amusement and diversion of students who have spare time.

The officers of the Y.M.C.A. for this year are given in Who's Who at Trinity. They have mapped out a splendid program this year, and after the reception on next Wednesday evening, it is the plan to return to the plan of Wednesday evening services, and a splendid program is assured for each meeting.

the college. If this unit were in the Distinguished Institution class, Major Crawford would be empowered to give a commission in the regular army to any man who had shown himself capable, and competent to hold the commission, and the appointment would hold without further examination.

Summer camps will be offered again next summer, and much more is expected of them than was accomplished last year. Information concerning them will be given out later.

PHI BETA KAPPA WILL GRANT CHARTER HERE

Trinity College was done by this committee of Phi Beta Kappa men, together with President Few and other officials of the College. Trinity already has a local scholarship society known as the '9019,' which has for a long period of years done great service in promoting fine standards of scholarship at the college. The 9019 Society has heartily favored the establishment at Trinity of a chapter of the National Organization with similar aims and purposes. Doubtless the installation of the Trinity Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa will be made an occasion of impressive and interesting ceremonies at which representatives of the National body and other invited guests will be present. As soon as the charter has been issued to the Phi Beta Kappa men in the Trinity faculty they will proceed to take preliminary steps towards organization.

"The Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity has a long and distinguished history. It was originally organized in 1776 at William and Mary College, Virginia, and has since been extended to more than ninety of the leading colleges and universities of the United States. A large proportion of distinguished American men of letters, scholars and statesmen have been elected to the Society during their college careers. President Woodrow Wilson and ex-President Taft are members as was also Theodore Roosevelt. Election to the Society in leading American Colleges has come to be the highest recognition of scholarly attainments."

ATHLETICS AT TRINITY HAVE GREAT PROSPECTS

to walk away with the championship this winter.

The Athletic Council is in fine condition financially, and has better prospects than were ever known before. It is clear of all debts, and has a great many accessions to the channels of money flowing to the treasury. The athletic fee of five dollars, which was authorized by the Board of Trustees several years ago, and which is added on to the regular matriculation fee, will amount to many thousand dollars this year owing to the large enrollment. In addition to this, the Athletic Council is making more commodious quarters for the old "dope shop" which is to be entirely changed, from the name to the line of goods sold. A room is being remodelled for the dope shop in the basement of the West Duke Building, where the old Post Exchange was during the army days of last fall. In addition to the usual line of cakes, candies, ice cream, and tobacco, the shop will carry athletic goods of all kinds, felt goods, and all equipment. Arrangements have been made whereby Spalding's goods can be handled, and the Athletic Council will be able to supply students with equipment at much less cost than dealers down town. A manager will be employed to devote his time to the business of the store, and besides his salary, and the pay of clerks, all profits will go to the athletic funds. It is the plan to install a soda fountain later on, and the old dope shop promises to grow into one of the largest revenue paying channels yet developed by the Athletic Council. Besides these methods of raising money, provision has been made whereby the Athletic Council will get a royalty on the profits of the campus pressing club, which will install a steam press, and will be prepared to handle all the college trade. A royalty will also be gained from the shoe repair shops and laundry down town. Worries over finances, with such additions as these, will soon fade into a memory.
