VIOLIN CONCERT BY JOSEF KONECNY WAS AN EXCELLENT TREAT

Master of the Violin Rendered Splendid and Very Distinctly Classical Programme

LARGE CROWD OUT TO HEAR HIM

Craven Memorial Hall Was More Than Half Full. Estimated that There Were More Than 600

THE ACCOMPANISTS SANG AND PLAYED

Miss Alley Sang Several Numbers and Miss Tris Gave Some Piano Solos. Both Accompanists Were Skilled Artists

Six hundred people heard a splendid and distinctly classic programme rendered at Craven Memorial Hall Thursday night by Josef Konecny, the Bohemian Violin Virtuoso, assisted by Miss Lola Murel Alley, American Soprano, and Miss Mary Tris, pianist. A large audience was present and showed great delight in the beautiful musical numbers by prolonged applause and repeated encores. Although the programme was quite an extended one, the music lovers in attendance appeared anxious for other numbers from these talented musicians.

The recital was given under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A., and if this entertainment is indicative of those which are promised to follow during the year, there will be no trouble in getting large audiences for the coming performances.

Josef Konecny is an artist of rare ability, whose playing approaches that of the greatest violinists of the day. He was a pupil of Professor Seveik. He played with much beauty last night, his selections being well chosen for a public audience. After his fifth encore he rendered that general favorite, "Humoresque," which was received with an outburst of applause as soon as the last exquisite strains came from his bow. Mr. Konecny gave a group of smaller compositions that were classic treats, as were indeed all of his numbers.

Miss Alley possesses a voice of true sweetness, and each number she rendered was a gem. She was recalled after each selection, and responded with gracious readiness. The selections which she rendered were in themselves well worth the entire admission.

The piano solos by Miss Tris were equally well received as were the other numbers, and she was forced to respond more than once to encores. The entire programme proved a treat to all.

President W. P. Few leaves this week to attend a meeting of the Association of College and Preparatory Schools of the South, which will be in session at Louisville, Kentucky, December 4 and 5. Professor R. L. Flowers, a member of the Commission on Accredited Schools, was to attend this meeting and address it on "Improved Ways to Use and Save Undergraduate Morale," but because of the illness of Mrs. Flowers, he will not be able to do there.

PRELIMINARIES, FINAL, AND BANQUET OF EIGHTH ANNUAL 9019 DECLAMATION CONTEST CONSIDERED GREAT SUCCESS

MEETINGS HELD ON THURSDAY NIGHT AND ON FRIDAY MORNING

THIRTY-ONE BOYS CONTESTED

Twelve Speakers for Final Contest Chosen From Three Preliminaries. Trip Taken Through Tobacco Factories

The delegates of the various high schools of the state to the annual 9019 inter-scholastic Declaration Contest began arriving in Durham on the afternoon trains last Thursday and were met by the entertainment committee of the 9019. By 7:20 p. m. the contestants who had arrived numbered about twenty-five. They were assembled in the Y. M. C. A. Hall in the East Duke Building to receive instructions and to draw lots for places in the preliminaries which were held Friday morning.

After the matter of selection of places was dispensed with, the members of the 9019 took their guests to supper. The delegates spent the rest of the evening in visiting Durham's playhouses and other places of amusement.

Promptly at 9:15 Friday morning the contestants, who then numbered thirty-one on account of those who arrived on evening trains Thursday, met in the Y. M. C. A. hall to receive final instructions regarding the preliminaries which immediately followed this meeting. There were three preliminary contests; Number 1 was held in the Hesperian Literary Society Hall, Number 2 in the Columbian Literary Society Hall, and Number 3 in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. In each preliminary, the presiding officer called the speaker to the floor by his number, which he had previously drawn, and hence the judges knew neither the speaker's name nor the school he represented. Four speakers were chosen from each one of these preliminaries to speak in the final contest.

During Friday afternoon representatives of the 9019 escorted their guests over the city

Hicks, contestant from High Point high school, won honorable mention in second place. A large audience heard the twelve speakers, which were chosen in the preliminaries of the morning, deliver what were pronounced to be twelve of the best declarations ever given in any of the contests. The interest in the speeches was exceedingly good, and the speakers were applauded impartially. The

Contestants and Many Others Enjoyed Hospitable Occasion. Fine Spirit Manifested by High School Youths

In accordance with the custom of preceding years, a very enjoyable, yet an informal, banquet was given in honor of the high school representatives immediately following the final contest of Friday night. The banquet was held in the Co-operative Dining Association Hall in the West Duke Building, and all the high school representatives, judges of all the contests, those entertaining contestants, the college and Park School faculties, 9019 men, and especially invited guests were present.

The banquet was really in the nature of an informal feed, and was in the charge of the faculty committee working in connection with the committee from the 9019. The occasion seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. A fine, congenial spirit was manifested by all the visiting representatives of high schools, who expressed themselves as feeling perfectly at home at Trinity.

Dr. W. H. Wannamaker was the toast-master of the evening, and in introducing the speakers said that he was glad to welcome all the visitors, and was especially glad to see such splendid material coming from the high schools. W. G. Bramham, a prominent lawyer of Durham, and one of the judges in the final contest, was the first speaker. Mr. Bramham told of the difficult task that confronted the judges in deciding on the winner, and said that he was interested in boys, especially those of high school age. He spoke of the need for educated men, and urged the boys to follow their education to completion. In addition he gave some very good pointers regarding the choosing of a vocation. J. P. Blair, of Winston-Salem, a visitor here during the

JUNIOR QUINT TOOK CHAMPIONSHIP WITH STEADY VICTORIES

Third Year Men Won Sixth Straight Victory by Defeating Seniors Monday Night

SOPHOMORES WON SECOND PLACE

Bloody Sophs Came Out Second With Three Victories to Their Credit

EXCELLENT MATERIAL IS DEVELOPING

Teams Play Fast Contests, and Few Errors or Amateur Plays Are Seen. Varsity Schedule Not Announced

The juniors carried off the interclass honors in basketball Monday night when they won their sixth straight victory by defeating the seniors by a score of 20 to 13. The score in games at present stands with the juniors leading with six straight victories, the sophomores second with three victories, the seniors third with two, and the freshmen last with but one scalp on their belt.

The series of double headers was continued, and the fifth set of double headers was played Friday night, beginning at 7 o'clock, so that the declaimers might see the game. In the first game the sophomores defeated the seniors by a score of 12 to 4. The juniors doubled the score on the freshmen in the second contest, and won by 18 to 9.

The sophomore-senior game last Friday night was notable on account of the wild passing of the seniors, who did not play in their usual form. The sophomores played a fast, clean game of ball. The stellar work of the game was done by Scott for the sophomores, playing left guard. He did not let his man shoot a single goal, but succeeded in pocketing two goals for his own team.

In the junior-freshman game the freshmen did not work well together, while the juniors played a very fast game. Giles was the highest individual scorer for the first year men. Moore played a very fast game at left forward. Richardson played a good game at center, securing three field goals, one of which was very spectacular, being thrown from almost the center of the floor with one hand.

In two interesting games of basketball on last Monday night, the juniors defeated the seniors by a score of 20 to 13, and the sophomores won from the freshmen 16 to 15.

The first game was rather slow with the ball uncovered a great deal of the time. A few spectacular plays gave life to the contest, noticeably the difficult goals shot by Bureh for the juniors and the guarding of Moore for the same team. Finch did well in the guard position and Jeffries and Saunders handled the ball well at times for the seniors. The first half ended with the score standing 10 to 7, leaving the possible outcome much in doubt. During the second half, however, the juniors clearly outplayed their opponents and won by the final score of 20 to 13.

The second game was the closest and most interesting game played

IN REVIEW

The high school declaimers have come, declaimed, and gone. Few will remember their speeches; many will remember the event. The possibilities and the opportunities offered by the contest, however, are what really make it worth while, rather than the intrinsic value of the contest itself. It is important and significant because it brings the high schools in touch with the college, and the college with the high school. The boys from the high schools and preparatory schools are given an opportunity to see what college, and Trinity in particular, offers for those who want to complete their education. The CHRONICLE believes that all the time and work put forth that the contest might be successful were, and are, fully worth while.

As in any work that is real and lasting, the Declamation Contest requires work, and hard work, from those who undertake it. The fact that the organization behind the contest is willing to spend itself in such efforts is its fullest justification, and one more achievement can now be added to the list of the 9019.

CRITICISM vs. SATISFACTION

Students are sometimes heard to criticize, in a very biased and non-chalant manner, everything in general about the college. The chances are that the student who expresses dissatisfaction with the college in general is one of two things; he is either unsophisticated and is trying to appear worldly-wise, or the trouble is really in the man himself,—he has not lived and accomplished as he feels he should have.

Trinity students have almost everything that could be given them to make them satisfied. Let us look about us and appreciate some of the things we have. In the first place, our living conditions are splendid. All of our dormitories are new, and are equipped with all modern conveniences. We are able to secure excellent board at very reasonable prices. Now when a man has a good place to sleep and can get good things to eat, he is a long way on the road to contentment.

Our working conditions are excellent. We have wonderful advantages in having a wide range of courses from which to select, a large corps of competent and efficient instructors, many of whom are the best in the South in their lines, and excellent facilities with which to work. Our library is one of the best in the South, and yet few Trinity students realize its value, and the treats and enjoyment that can be gotten from it. Furthermore, we live and work with a crowd of congenial people, working toward the same end, striving for a common goal. We are surrounded by scenery that is beautiful to look at, and its almost luxuriant appearance has a soothing effect upon the mind, which is conducive of hard mental work.

In addition, we enjoy a reputation of which we should all be jealously proud. I say jealous, in the sense that we should guard that reputation, and watch ourselves, lest something that we do as individuals should reflect dishonor upon it. As it is, when we go out into the state and are known as Trinity students, we are looked upon as a part of those who have helped to make a college that has an enviable athletic record, a high moral record, and a reputation for turning out men,—educated, cultured, refined men who have done things and have achieved greatness in the state and nation.

Let us quit our grumbling, and instead put our shoulders to the wheel and let the good work go on.

BANQUET

contest, and a man who has always been interested in the welfare of Trinity College, next spoke to the boys. He complimented the contestants very highly on their endeavors, and also highly commended the 9019 for its fine spirit in carrying on the declamation contests, which, he said, were an excellent means for developing oratory. He lamented the fact that the South had fallen down on her former reputation of producing orators, and said that the art of public speaking was a most essential accomplishment, and he was glad to see the colleges fostering such movements as the declamation contests. William Head, of Rockingham, the winning contestant, was called upon to explain just how he won. Mr. Head expressed his gratification for his success, and said he didn't really see just how he did win the medal. Being the last declaimer he said that he thought each declaimer had him so far outclassed that he was almost too discouraged to try. Howard Hicks, of High Point, who won second place, was called upon to tell how it feels to be a loser. In a fine spirit Mr. Hicks said that he was satisfied with the decision of the judges, and that he appreciated the fine compliments that the judges and others had given the declaimers. W. N. Evans, Jr., speaking for the 9019, explained briefly the origin of the contest and its purpose, and thanked the previous speakers and the declaimers for their expressions of good will toward the 9019 and the college. Allen H. Gwyn, a law student in college who won the medal in the contest in 1913, and was later a member of the 9019 in Trinity, ended the speaking by pointing out the value to the boys of continuing their education and preparing themselves for something bigger and better. After a few further remarks by Dr. Wannamaker, the banquet was ended, and the last of the series of events connected with the eighth annual Declamation Contest was over.

The Classical Club held its regular fortnightly meeting last Tuesday evening. The program opened with the singing of two songs in Latin, "To Patria" and "Gaudeamus." Professor Pepler then gave an interesting illustrated lecture entitled "The Cretan Labyrinth," after which the usual business was carried on.

W. L. C. Ormond, '19, and C. N. Ormond, '20, were greeting friends on the park last Thursday.

NOVEMBER ARCHIVE IS INTERESTING EDITION

NUMBER OF CONTRIBUTIONS INCLUDES STORIES AND ESSAYS

1918 SOUTHGATE PRIZE STORY

Wesley Taylor's Prize Story and Winning Essay in Braxton Craven Contest Among Contributions

The November issue of the ARCHIVE, which appeared during the latter part of last week, contains a large and varied number of contributions, the most notable of which are an essay by Ruth Merritt, '19, and a story by Wesley Taylor.

The essay by Miss Merritt entitled, "War Poetry an Expression of War Thought" was the winning one in the Braxton Craven Contest of 1919, and it is indeed a notable production. In her essay, Miss Merritt discusses many of the fine poems written by men in the trenches and draws the proof of her subject from the general sentiment of these poems. Mr. Taylor's story entitled, "A Great Kleptie Achievement or the Remarkable Attainment of Addison Crabbe," won the Southgate Short Story Prize of 1918. The author shows in this article a wonderful command of the English language both as to the variety and appropriateness of the words NINE—Chronicle which he uses, and this production in several places bespeaks of a future literary career for this young writer.

Other stories in this issue are those written by W. N. Evans, J. L. Patterson, and R. A. Smith. The story by W. N. Evans entitled, "The Eternal Why," is a light romantic love story in which the writer shows a fine sense of character portrayal. J. L. Peterson's contribution, "The Wolf," is the story of a man and his dog; the scenes of which are laid in the recent war. R. A. Smith gives in his story, "A Narrative of War Time Paris," a very clear idea of this gay city amid all the throes of war.

There are three poetic productions in this issue, the most notable of which are those of Mr. D. W. Newsom, '99, and E. W. McCullers. Mr. Newsom in his poem entitled "The Winter Wind" shows a very fine descriptive power by giving an exact portrayal of the approach of a hard winter.

Other contributions are a comic narrative by J. G. Leyburn, a tale by Mary Gooch Pitts, The Wayside Wares, and three splendid editorials.

Ministerial Band Held Round Table Discussion

At the meeting of the Ministerial Band last Friday night a round-table discussion was held on the "Effect of the Centenary Movement on the Church." There was a very interesting discussion on the various phases of this work and the effects it was having both on the church and on the work of the church. It was decided that the organization should make a comprehensive study of this movement and endeavor to extend its influence into those fields where the work of the band lay.

Kemp B. Nixon, an attorney of Lincoln and a graduate of the law school, spent Saturday on the campus.

DELEGATES TO STUDENT CONFERENCE SELECTED

FACULTY COMMITTEE DELIBERATED LONG TIME OVER APPOINTMENTS

QUOTA OF SEVEN WILL BE SENT

Numerous Applications Made It Possible to Elect Full Quota of Seven Delegates. Much Expected

The faculty committee in charge of the selection of delegates to the Des Moines Student Volunteer Conference has decided to send a full representation of seven delegates from Trinity College to the Iowa city, December 31 to January 4. The delegates have been chosen, and their names announced by being posted on the bulletin board. They are: Professor H. E. Spence, faculty member; Hiram K. King, Wilmington; J. W. Hathecock, Norwood; R. A. Parham, Oxford; T. C. Kirkman, High Point; Paul Gibbs, Hendersonville; Misses Lota Leigh Draughan, of Whitakers, and Blanche Barringer, of Norwood.

Reports received here from other colleges in the country, and from the headquarters of the committee in charge of the conference seem to indicate a most successful meeting. Some of the biggest men in the realm of education and religion in this country will be in attendance, as well as many missionaries returned home for the special purpose of giving their practical experience to the delegates. Thousands of representatives from various colleges in the United States will be in Des Moines at the time, and it is hoped that the students that are there will return to their respective schools inspired by the work, and prepared to make some of it count in their work in the college.

The last one of these conferences that was held took place in Kansas City, Missouri, in 1913, when Trinity College sent five men as her delegates. It has been customary to hold one conference every student generation, but during the war the practice was discontinued.

Biological Club Held Splendid Papers Monday

The Biological club met last Monday evening in regular weekly meeting. A paper was read by A. S. Barnes, Jr., entitled "Manifested Life of Tissues Outside of the Organism." The paper was very interesting, especially to the members of the society who are preparing to study medicine. L. C. Richmond then read a paper, "Alcoholism," which contained many interesting statistics on the mortality of alcohol users and abstainers. The meeting was then thrown open to a discussion of the two papers, and the authors of the papers answered questions in regard to their statements. The meeting was thoroughly enjoyed by the members present.

Samuel Bobbitt Underwood, A. B. '06, Superintendent of Pitt County Public Schools and Professor of School Administration in the Eastern Carolina Teachers' Training School, was elected president of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly at its recent meeting in Raleigh.

Miss Mary Gorham, '12, of Fayetteville, spent Thanksgiving with Miss Estelle Flowers.

JUNIOR QUINT TOOK CHAMPIONSHIP WITH (Continued from Page one)

this season. It was fast from start to finish, and the score was held down to a low figure by both teams. The first half ended with the score 6 to 2 in favor of the sophomores. The second half started off with fast playing by both teams. The game was unusually free from fouls and every player showed up to good advantage. If any man starred more than the other players it was Bolland for the sophomores, who threw six of the eight goals scored by his team. His playing was consistent throughout.

Although the varsity basketball schedule is not yet ready for publication, three practice games have been scheduled to take place before the holidays. One of these games will be held every Friday night from now until the holidays start, the last game to be held on Thursday instead of Friday as the session closes at noon on the nineteenth. The first of these games will take place in the college gymnasium on Friday, the fifth, when the college team plays the Park School team. The second game is to take place on the twelfth at the same place with the Durham Y. M. C. A. and the third game will be held at the Durham Y. M. C. A. on the eighteenth with the Y team. These games will serve to put the team in shape for the regular schedule, and will give those in attendance a fair estimate of the strength of this year's team.

Professor H. E. Spence delivered an address on "The Coming Crisis" before the Current Topics Club at Rocky Mount last week.

"Bill" Powell, '17, was shaking hands with friends on the park Thursday.

E. D. Smith, '20, spent Thursday on the campus.

The only cigarette above the cheapest brands that has ever won a tremendous, nation-wide popularity is Fatima.

Fatima's sales nearly equal those of all the straight Turkish cigarettes combined; and no other cigarette costing as much as Fatima has one-half of Fatima's annual sales.

The reason may be that Fatima contains more Turkish than any other Turkish blend. This would mean, in other words, that instead of containing too much Turkish as straight Turkish cigarettes do, or too little as in the poorer Turkish blends, Fatima's famous blend contains just enough Turkish---just enough to taste right and just enough to leave a man feeling right even after smoking more than usual.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR BEST OF LITERARY PRODUCTIONS

Sigma Upsilon Offers Prize for Best Production in Poetry, Fiction, and Non-fiction Prose

At a regular meeting of the Fortnightly Club of Sigma Upsilon, held last Wednesday night in the English office in the West Duke Building, plans were drawn up by which a number of prizes will be given for the best literary productions of the current year.

A prize of five dollars is offered for the best production in poetry, in fiction, and in non-fiction prose, written by an undergraduate student of Trinity College. The judges of the selection will be named later by the Club, but it is hoped that there will be many productions from which to select. The Fortnightly Club has always taken the lead in literary affairs in College since its organization, and its action in thus stimulating literary production is highly commendable.

Following a short business session, the regular program was carried out. J. L. Peterson read a paper on "George M. Cohen: the Man and His Writing." The paper was a very interesting account of the life of this popular short story writer, and Mr. Peterson's selection and criticism of bits of conversation were excellent.

Bishop and Mrs. James Cannon, Jr., visited their son, Professor James Cannon, III, last week. Bishop and Mrs. Cannon have just returned from a trip through Mexico where Bishop Cannon presided over several of the Methodist Conferences.

PRELIMINARY DEBATE HELD BY HESPERIA NOVEMBER 28

Team Composed of Thomas, Holton, Herring, and Sprinkle Was Selected

A debating team composed of S. M. Holton, T. P. Thomas, and H. J. Herring, with H. C. Sprinkle as alternate, were selected in the preliminary to the intersociety debate of the Hesperian Literary Society last Wednesday night. The judges were Dr. W. H. Glasson, Professor James Cannon, III, and Professor F. A. G. Cowper.

Nine men entered the preliminary, and of the number five were on the negative side. Three of the men selected, however, were on the affirmative. The question for debate this year is, Resolved, That the principle of the open shop should be adopted in American industries. Hesperia's choice was for the negative of the question, and her team will defend the negative in the final debate December 18. Columbia's preliminary was held Tuesday night, November 25, and the team selected by that society composed of J. T. Carpenter, G. T. Harmon, and J. L. Jackson, who will uphold the affirmative side of the issue.

S. M. Holton was a member of the Hesperian team that carried off the intersociety debating honors last year. Mr. Holton is secretary of the Hesperian society and has been prominent in debating circles since his freshman year.

T. P. Thomas was alternate on the Hesperian team last year. He was president of the society one quarter during his junior year.

PROF. BARNARD READ FINE PAPER TO HISTORICAL SOC.

Professor of Economics Gave Clear Discussion of the League of Nations to Society

In a splendid address before the Historical Society Monday night, Professor B. W. Barnard, of the Department of Economics, told his audience that the opposition to the League of Nations in the United States was based principally upon political reasons. To prove this statement Professor Barnard gave a history of the league of nations idea, discussed the league's history in the consideration by the United States Senate, and then showed that the objections were purely and solely political.

The speaker next discussed the possible fate of the league of nations in the session of Congress, which opened Monday, and what he thought would be the history of the league with or without the United States in it. He expressed the belief that the action by the senate in refusing to accept the league had irreparably weakened its effectiveness and helpfulness, since its success depended largely on the action of the country which had produced its basic principles. All of the other nations have been lukewarm to the idea, was the speaker's declaration, and now that they have seen the attitude of the United States senate they have already become less enthusiastic over the great moral and idealistic scheme fostered by President Wilson.

The discussion of the League of Nations was declared by members of the faculty and by students to have been the clearest and most analytical it had been their pleasure and privilege to hear.

FINAL CONTEST

contest was so close that no one could be absolutely sure as to whom the medal would be awarded.

The declaimers in the final contest were chosen from representatives of thirty-one of the leading high schools of the state, the elimination being made through the three preliminaries held Friday morning, from each of which the four best speakers were selected for the final contest.

The participants in the contest, with their subjects were: John Blair, Winston-Salem high school, "Men Wanted"; Robert Jerome, Trinity Park School, "President's Address to Congress Upon Declaration of War"; Arthur Raper, Jamestown high school, "The Dawn"; Howard M. Hicks, High Point high school, "France Through English Eyes"; Clarence Lynn, East Durham high school, "The Chariot Race"; Clarence Sneed, West Durham high school, "The Spirit of Devotion"; Julius Welch, Waynesville high school, "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death"; Allen Pearson, Baird's School for Boys, Charlotte, "In God We Trust"; Henry Bane, Durham high school, "Sparticus to the Roman Gladiators"; Carl Montgomery, Pleasant Garden high school, "Tribute to England"; William Patterson, Aurelian Springs high school, "Universal Education"; William Head, Rockingham high school, "From Life to Death." The judges in the contest were: Col. Sidney W. Minor, Wm. G. Bramham, and Dr. W. H. Glasson.

The list of the remainder of the declaimers in the preliminary contests, with their respective high schools, is as follows:

Glen Lily, Gatesville high school; Garland Coble, Greensboro high school; Samuel Ginsberg, Raleigh high school; Mamie Johnson, Lillington high school; Edgar Lee Davis, Hamlet high school; William Durham, Siler City high school; Lietner Miller, Pineville high school; W. D. Upchurch, Cary high school; Raymond Hege, Yadkin Collegiate Institute; Prohm Elmore, Dover high school; Herbert Laidlaw, Marion high school; W. W. Winchester, Summerfield high school; John Hobeika, Monroe high school; Harvey Pearman, Bethany high school; Quincy Mumford, Grifton high school; Fairlee Gibbs, Burlington high school; Russell Kislir, Piedmont high school.

The inter-scholastic contest was organized in 1910 by the 9019 for the express purpose of stimulating an interest in the cultivation of the art of public speaking, and of keeping the high schools and colleges of the state in closer touch. It has been continued every year since that time with two exceptions. It was due to the war conditions that it was not held last year.

Regular Program Given by Athenian Society

The Athena Literary Society held its regular meeting October 26 in the Hesperian Society Hall. The program consisted of a very interesting debate. The query being, Resolved, That the Peace Treaty Should Be Ratified Without Amendments or Reservations. The affirmative was supported by Misses Blanche Barringer and Marie Davis, the negative by Misses Lessie Hunt and Elizabeth Walker. The judges' decision was unanimously in favor of the affirmative.

ANOTHER TRINITY STUDENT WINS HONORS FROM EUROPE

Louis I. Jaffe, '11, Decorated by the King of Roumania for Service in Red Cross Work

Reports have been received here stating that Louis I. Jaffe, a former Trinity student, who graduated with the class of 1911, and who is now editor of the Norfolk Virginian Pilot, has been decorated by the King of Roumania as Chevalier de l'Etoile de Roumanie, for service to the state.

Mr. Jaffe, who was one of the editors of the CHRONICLE in its early days, has made a very remarkable record in France. He was discharged from the aviation corps after the signing of the armistice, and was sent as a captain in the Red Cross to do relief work in the Balkan States. The character of his work together with the spirit of the man caused the Roumanian King to reward him for his efforts.

Miss Fronde Kennedy, dean of women, attended a meeting of the executive council of the North Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which met at Salisbury last week.

Rev. M. T. Plyler, '92, has been appointed presiding elder of the Durham District, succeeding Rev. J. C. Wooten, '98, who becomes presiding elder of the Raleigh District after four years on the Durham District.

TRINITY PARK SCHOOL GAVE FINE RECEPTION

WEDNESDAY NIGHT BEFORE TUR-KEY DAY GIVEN OVER FOR EVENT

ALUMNI AND ALUMNAE PRESENT

Interesting Program, Featuring Music and Speaking, and Stunts Was Given. Quartet Made Great Hit

A reception in honor of the alumni and alumnae of the Trinity Park School was given at the Park School Wednesday evening, November 26. The reception was something new in the annals of the Park School history, and the experiment worked well, although there were not so many old students present as was hoped.

Being informed at a late hour that the toastmaster could not serve, M. S. Lewis, professor of mathematics, took the stand and announced himself, not as a toastmaster, but as the one who announces a musical selection on the "Columbia Record." The program was as follows:

In response to toasts:
For the College Alumni—A. H. Gwyn.

For the Business Alumni—Mr. Dolan Harris.

For the Ex-Faculty—Dr. W. W. K. Boyd.

Male Quartet,—"Ye Olde Ragge"—by Messrs Draper, Merritt, Parham, and Farrington.
Response from Student Body—E. E. Snow.

Response from Faculty—Prof. F. S. Aldridge.

Response for all—Dr. W. P. Few.

An episode called "What the Students Think of the T. P. S. and the Faculty."

Refreshments.

Male quartet.

The program as a whole seemed to be enjoyed by the entire audience, but special mention should be made of the part played by J. N. Snow in impersonating Prof. Aldridge in a chapel exercise. Mr. Snow's impersonation was so clever that it kept the audience in an uproar the whole time he was on the stage. Although there were quite a number who had never heard Prof. Aldridge speak until that night, yet they recognized the person imitated. There were very many compliments given to Mr. Snow for this performance.

Another very enjoyable feature of the program was the male quartet selections by Messrs Draper, Merritt, Parham, and Farrington. These men showed perfect ability of mastering "harmony" in a popular "rag." In fact their rendition was enjoyed so well that they were encored many times before they were allowed to leave the hall.

Quite a remarkable thing happened here Friday—all the students who went home Thanksgiving were back ready for work Friday.

The school, even though crowded, will likely have an influx of students after Christmas. Several applications for rooms have already been made and a number more have made application for catalogues and literature.

The community is looking forward with a degree of anticipation to the basketball game to be played with the college team on Friday night. Although the Park School does not hope to win in scores, the game will bring out the "real stuff" of the Park School team.

Weave for the world the flag of man!
