NEW INSTRUCTORS TO AID STRONG FACULTY

THREE FORMER MEMBERS OF FACULTY LOST AND FIVE NEW ONES ADDED

BARNARD AND HEDRICK RESIGN

Doctors Cotton, Adams, and Professors Lopez, Blomquist, and Patterson Come to Trinity as New Instructors

The permanent loss of three instructors, the temporary loss of one other, and the addition of five new members constitute the principal changes made in the faculty for the coming year. Dr. Wolfe, of the department of Biology, whose death came on the morning of last commencement, and Professor Hedrick, who recently resigned as Professor of Law, and Professor Barnard of the Economics Department are the lost instructors. Dr. William J. H. Cotton, Professor Earl Badman Patterson, Dr. Randolph Greenfield Adams, Professor Hugo L. Blomquist, and Professor Manuel L. Lopez are the new instructors.

Professor Hedrick tendered his resignation at a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees in order that he might devote more time to his growing Law practice in the city of Durham. Professor Barnard resigned his professorship to assume the position as Secretary of the Alumni Association. Professor Hatley is on leave of absence for the year 1920-21.

Dr. William J. H. Cotton comes to Trinity to take the new professorship in Economics and Business Administration. Dr. Cotton received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Pennsylvania and has had many years of successful experience in teaching Economic subjects as applied to business life. He was formerly head of the department of Commerce in the Wilmington, Delaware High School and more recently held an important position in the Germantown (Philadelphia) High School. Dr. Cotton also had experience in factory management, Banking and accountancy. He will have charge this year of the two sections in Economics I and will give courses in Industrial Management, Insurance and Business Statistics.

Professor K. B. Patterson will be the new addition to the teaching force of the department of Mathematics. He is a native of Rowan County, N. C. He received his A. B. degree at Roanoke College, Salem, Virginia in 1914, receiving Ryne Scholarship to Princeton University. In 1915 he received his M. A. degree at Princeton University. He taught ten years at Lenoir College, Hickory, N. C. and studied one year at Johns Hopkins University and two years at University of Pennsylvania, specializing in Mathematics and Astronomy. He has traveled extensively in Europe and America.

Professor Manuel Lopez comes here to take charge of the Spanish Department. Mr. Lopez was born in Granada, Spain in 1889. He came to the United States in 1917 at the age of eighteen years and

PLEASURE SEEKING, TEACHING, AND RESEARCH WORK FOLLOWED

TWO GET THEIR PH. D. DEGREES

Professors Cowper and Cunningham Given Degrees from Wisconsin and Chicago, Dr. Few in Hospital Part of Summer

The summer pursuits of the members of the Trinity faculty cover a wide and varied range. Several taught, others spent the greater part of the summer months engaged in work of different kinds, but most to a certain extent have given some time to rest and pleasure.

President Few spent only a small part of the summer in his office, spending a greater part of the vacation in a hospital in Baltimore.

Only six members did any regular teaching during the summer. Dr. Boyd taught history in the Trinity Summer School and spent the latter part of the summer in the mountains of Western North Carolina. Professor Webb taught in the Trinity Summer School after which he spent a while in Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Laprade also taught history in the Trinity Summer School and spent the greater part of the vacation on the campus, except for a short visit to relatives in Virginia. Professor Wilson taught Chemistry in the Summer School. Professor Lockhart taught Law in the Summer School. Dr. Cunningham on leave of absence last year, received his Ph.D. degree at the University of Wisconsin and taught in the Summer School of Wisconsin. He is now at the head of the department of Biology at this institution.

Dr. Glasson was engaged the most of the summer in doing research work in the Congressional Library at Washington, D. C. Professor Flowers was in his office a greater part of the summer. He attended meetings at Lake Junaluska and Blue Ridge. Dr. Wamaker spent some time in Cambridge, Mass. and later visited relatives in South Carolina. Professor Markham spent a month Virginia Beach, and the remaining SPLENDID WORK DONE BY COLLEGE Y. M. C. A.

REPRESENTATIVES OF Y. M. C. A. MEET INCOMING TRAINS

ANNUAL RECEPTION SEPT. 22

New Men Are Welcomed by Representatives, Bureau of Information Conducted at College

The work of the college Y. M. C. A. will be officially opened this year with the reception given to the new students in the Y. M. C. A. hall Wednesday evening, September 22. The President and other leading officials of the college and the officers of the leading student activities will make short addresses. All students in the College are invited to this reception, which will probably be the largest social event of the year. Music will be furnished by an orchestra and refreshments will be served.

The second meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be in the nature of a musical program, the members of both the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. being invited. Musical selections will be rendered by student of the Southern Conservatory of Music, by artists of the city of Durham, and by students of the College. For the last few years these meetings have been exceptionally well attended and it is hoped by the officials of the "Y" that the same healthy interest will continue this year. This special musical program will be given on the night of September 27.

Last year the Y. M. C. A. launched a missionary campaign and succeeded in getting one thousand dollars subscribed for foreign missions. Of this amount only about one-half was collected owing to the fact that the campaign was started very near the close of school and many of the subscribers left before the collectors could reach them. This year the "Y" will begin this work early in the season and a more creditable record is intended to be made.

According to an old established custom the organization has many of its representatives with the customary badges on meeting the new students at the trains, introducing them to both the old and new students

DEATH OF DR. WOLFE CAME COMMENCEMENT

HEAD OF BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT PASSES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

CAST GLOOM AT COMMENCEMENT

Memorial Services Were Held Just After Graduating Class Had Lowered Flag on Wednesday Evening of Commencement

The death of Dr. James J. Wolfe, which came on the morning of Commencement was indeed a great shock to the college community, in which both students and faculty held him in such great love and esteem. Although friends of the college community were acquainted with the seriousness of his illness and were prepared for the worst, his death came as a sudden shock to these friends as well as to those outside the immediate bounds of the College.

Dr. Wolfe was born at Sandy Run, South Carolina, September 14, 1875 and received his college education at Wofford College and his graduate training at the University of Chicago and at Harvard. He graduated at Harvard as doctor of philosophy in 1904. In the same year he became a member of the faculty at this institution as Professor of Biology, and since that time he had been at the head of that Department.

In a recent editorial in the Alumni Register the writer pays the following tribute to Dr. Wolfe, "In the death of Dr. J. J. Wolfe, of the department of Biology, on June 9, 1920, Trinity College sustained a serious loss in its teaching force and investigative scholarship; lost one who loved to give his time and energy in the pursuit of scientific truth. As a teacher he was inspiring; as a friend he was true; as a scholar he was thorough and as a worker he was indefatigable. We shall not soon see his like again, but the world is richer and Trinity is stronger because he labored here."

The memorial service was held in Craven Memorial Hall on Wednesday evening just after the lowering of the flag by the graduating class. The body was carried into the Hall, surrounded by the most beautiful floral decorations, and the building was filled with members of the college community and many friends from the city of Durham.

After these services the body was taken to the old home of the deceased for burial. Dr. Wannamaker and Professor Hornaday from the faculty accompanied the body.

Mrs. Wolfe has just recently returned from Chicago where she spent the summer. She will be at home in Durham this year.

Nolan Coy Teague will next year be connected with the teaching force of the Durham, N. C. city schools.

Clarence DeWitt has accepted a position with the State Department of Education, Raleigh, N. C.

Norman Martin West '20 has been elected principal of the State High School at Zara, N. C.

Owing to the recent advance in the cost of publishing the Chronicle it is absolutely necessary that subscriptions be paid for in advance. We are mailing a copy of the first issue to you but unless we receive your check within the next few days your name will be dropped from the mailing list.

May we have the pleasure of keeping you informed as to what is being done at Trinity during the coming scholastic year?

Seniors beware of your privileges!

Meet your friends at the new college store.

You know, it would be enlightening to know just how many of our co-eds are going to be interested in voting this fall.

Daniel Boone would have found considerable difficulty in obtaining elbow room under Trinity's present day living conditions. Eh?

TO NEW STUDENTS

In behalf of the college community the Chronicle takes pleasure in reserving this amount of space for the purpose of throwing out a few words of welcome to those students who for the first time make their entrance to a college campus. We are glad that you came to Trinity, and we are proud to feel that we know Trinity, has something unusual to offer you. As you entered the main entrance to the campus, no doubt, you felt thrilled when you noticed the beautiful grounds, the splendid buildings, and you said "What a great place to live." The setting of Trinity College becomes more beautiful with each added touch of the increasing days you remain here. You realize by this time that Trinity offers you everything which can be enjoyed in the way of modern conveniences and improvements. These things have been provided for your comfort; yet if this is all that Trinity has to offer you, it would have been better for you to have staid away. And if you come to Trinity for the sole purpose of enjoying these things, the institution does not want you here. These beautiful grounds, flowered landscapes, are placed here only for ornamental purposes. They are only the stage curtain behind which is the really worthwhile. The real power of Trinity lies in its wonderful educational advantages. Trinity can make a man of you, but she cannot do it alone. Things that are worth while are those things that are worth working for, and "Whatever a man soweth that shall he also reap." If you sow nothing here you will reap nothing here, and you will be compelled to leave in a short time feeling a thousand times worse than you did when you came. So Trinity welcomes you on the assumed basis that you come here for business and not solely for pleasure. Throw your whole soul and body into your work and begin preparations at once for making all-around students.

There are many advantages which Trinity offers to new students that are necessary for the making of a man, and unless one takes advantage of these opportunities the results may be disastrous in after years when the college course is completed. For instance, a great many students spend four years in college without allying themselves with any literary society. Just at this period in the year, members of the Columbian and Hesperian Literary Societies are going to make an effort to persuade you to join their ranks, and if you fail to do so you will make a sad mistake. There is no doubt but that the literary society is one of the most important organizations to be found on the campus. Join them, and join to work. If you are an athlete, go out for football this fall. This is the first year that Trinity has played intercollegiate football for more than a quarter of a century, and one man will have just as much a chance to make the team as another. If you can write, make contributions to the Archive and begin making preparations for the contest on the Chronicle staff in your sophomore year. You owe it to your future life and career to make the best of the opportunities offered you here. Not a single freshman in the class of 1924 should let these opportunities slip by. You come here for the bettering of yourself and your future, and it is with pleasure that we welcome you.

CHANGES MADE IN COURSES OF VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS

Some New Courses Are Added, While Others Are Eliminated

With the addition of new instructors to the Trinity teaching force makes possible the announcement of a revision and enlargement of courses in a few of the departments. A good many courses are offered which will be valuable as training for a business career in the department of Economics.

This year the department of Economics begins its new four year course in Business Administration described on page 86 of the catalogue for 1919-20. For the first time in its history the department will offer a course open to freshmen. Dr. Glasson will have charge of this course. Economics A, intended for men who are going to enter upon the business group of studies. The enrollment in this course will for the present be limited to a single section of well prepared men. Economics I will this year be open to juniors and sophomores who have made a good record in the freshmen year and who desire to take studies preparatory to business life. Dr. Glasson will have charge of the courses in Money and Banking this year. Dr. Cotton's new courses in Industrial Management and Accounting are especially recommended to upper-classmen preparing for business life.

In the department of Romance Languages some slight changes have been made. Dr. Lopez will have charge of the teaching of Spanish. Professors Webb and Cooper will teach French, and Professor Hamaday will devote all of his time to the teaching of German.

French elections for Juniors and Seniors will be made in French 4, 5, and 6. French 6, Literary History of the 18th and 19th centuries, is a continuation of the same course last year to those taking French 6 last year. The course will be given by Professor Cowper. French 4 and 5 will be given by Professor Webb. French 7, Intermediate or third year French for Sophomores will be given by Professor Cowper.

In the department of History the two sections in History I and the course in History 9 will be given by Dr. Adams. Dr. Laprade will teach History 2, 4, and 12. Dr. Boyd will teach History 3 and 13. History 13 is a course for teachers in Durham and Durham County.

A few changes have been made in some of the courses given in the English Department. English 5 will not be offered this year. Dr. Brown will give the courses in English 14 and 3, the hour for English 3 being changed from 10:30 to 9:30. Dr. White will give the course in English 4, and Dr. Graves will teach English 15. A two hour course will be given on Saturday for the benefit of teachers in Durham and Durham County.

A number of new courses have been added this year in the Biblical department, intended especially to appeal to the general student. Professor Cannon has added three courses in Church History and one in Missions. Prof. Spence has added a course in the Literature of the Bible, and another on Masterpieces of Religious Literature. From these and courses already listed in the department are offered this year.

ENORMOUS ENROLLMENT OF NEW STUDENTS THIS YEAR

Largest Enrolment in History of Institution. Over 300 Freshmen
Registered

Enrollment in College this fall has broken all previous records. The large number of new students, and those who are returning after having been out a year or so, added to the number of old students returning, will enlarge the student body to 700 or above, the largest Trinity ever had. The increased enrollment shows a large increase in the number of co-ed students, as well as in the male students. Twice the number of co-eds already enrolled could have been registered had there been sufficient rooming facilities on the campus. Definite figures could not be given out before this issue of the Chronicle went to press, but according to estimates there will be about three hundred freshmen and enough old students who were not in college last year to boost the number of new students close to 400. Definite number of students enrolled can probably be given in next weeks issue of the Chronicle.

completed his freshman year at Ohio Wesleyan University. He went to Chile in 1911 and spent two years in the banking business. In 1913 he returned and graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan University in 1916. He was appointed instructor in Romance Languages at the University of Illinois where he received his M. A. degree in 1918. He remained there as instructor and graduate student until 1920 and comes to Trinity from Illinois.

Dr. Randolph G. Adams comes to Trinity as instructor in History. He has his A. B. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Pennsylvania where he was a scholar and assistant in History. Dr. Adams had military service in France.

Professor Hugo L. Blomquist will be the new assistant in the department of Biology. He comes to Trinity from the University of Chicago, where he was assistant in the department of Botany. Professor Blomquist received his B. S. degree from the University of Chicago in 1916, shortly after which time he entered the army. Later he was assistant instructor in the University of Chicago.

Dr. Bert Cunningham comes back to Trinity after a leave of absence of one year and will be at the head of the department of Biology. Dr. Cunningham received his Ph.D. degree last year at the University of Wisconsin and taught at the summer school at that institution.

As has been the custom in the past there will be several student assistants in the various departments, the names of which will be announced later his senior year. For three years he was named by several critics for the all-American team, two years at end and one year at quarter. Not only did he make a wonderful record in athletics while in school. At his graduation he was awarded the Vernone Damer Memorial prize for the best all-around man chosen by the faculty for scholarship and personality.

Mr. Egan had four years experience coaching. He coached the New York University, football, basketball, and baseball teams for the last two years. His teams won a majority of the contests, defeating such teams as Stevens Institute, Union, Rensselaer, Poly. Tech, Bucknell, Rhode Island State, Trinity (Hartford, Conn) and Columbia, in football, Rutgers' Amherst, Wesleyan, Colgate, Lehigh and Swarthmore in basketball; Union, C. C. N. Y. Wesleyan, Stevens and Swarthmore in baseball. While a Lieutenant in the U. S. Army, he coached the Camp Grant football team, which played the Cleveland Naval Reserve's 7-0 game, the latter team being the first to defeat Glen Warner's great Pittsburg team in four years, this game taking place in 1918. While out west he played with Jim Throp's professional Canton team. He coached all the members of last year's New York University basketball team, which won the national championship at Atlanta, Georgia.

Along with this technical requirements as athletic director and coach, he bears a reputation for the highest sportmanship, and his coming should be a distinct addition to the inter-collegiate sport circles of this State and especially this section of the country.

Ray K. Smather's '19, who has been a graduate student at Emory University and director of athletics, is now living in Asheville where he is engaged in the real-estate business.
