TRINITY TO CLASH WITH WOFFORD TOMORROW

LAST GAME OF SEASON WILL BE PLAYED IN CELEBRATION OF ANNUAL TURKEY DAY

LARGE CROWD IS EXPECTED TO SEE BATTLE ON HANES FIELD

Seats Being Reserved for Alumni. A Fierce Battle is Expected to Be Waged Between the Two Institutions

With Thursday's game against Wofford, Trinity's first football season in a quarter of a century will come to an end. It is hoped that it may be a season without defeat, and on the outcome of the Wofford contest will hinge the story of an entirely successful and victorious season. For the first time in a quarter of a century Trinity will have a major athletic sport to take the chief place in the celebration of the holiday. The big day of all college football will be made a little larger by Trinity's again entering the intercollegiate football field.

For the first time in many years a vast throng will crowd Trinity campus to witness a Thanksgiving game. An extraordinarily large crowd is expected, because of the fact that there will be no game at Chapel Hill this year. The nearest contest will be the State College-Wake Forest game in Raleigh. But with Raleigh and the rest of Wake County and the eastern part of the state to draw from, the Raleigh contest will leave enough from this section of the state to assure a large attendance here. A large number of alumni are expected, and seats will be reserved for them.

There is no reason to expect anything other than victory over the South Carolinians. They have had a rather disastrous season, losing most of their games. Their game Saturday with State College was their worst defeat, a score of 90-7 being piled up against them. The first string State College men played in the first and third periods, while substitutes were used in the second and fourth. The only score for the Wofford team came in the final period, when a single touchdown was made against the State College third string men. Wofford's team was somewhat crippled in this contest, but it will probably be in good shape by Thursday. The team will camp somewhere in the near vicinity until Thanksgiving day, and with nothing to think of but the Trinity game, they may be expected to go through some stiff training.

Meanwhile Coach Egan is not neglecting preparations for the contest. Many members of the squad saw the game in Raleigh Saturday, and with the twelve-day rest since the Elon game, the team will be in fine shape for the game.

Nash LeGrand, Law '15, has located at Hamlet, N. C., for the practice of law with Lemuel Hardy Gibbins, '04.

NOTICE!

Visiting Alumni

Tickets for the Trinity-Wofford game are on sale at the office of the Graduate Manager until two o'clock Thursday afternoon. The price of the tickets will be $1.25 each. Tickets admitting friends of students to reserved seat section may be had by calling at office of Graduate Manager. There will be a limited number of reservations so come early and ask for only what you expect to use. Students may be admitted to this section by showing athletic tickets.

9019 WILL HOLD ANNUAL CONTEST FRIDAY NIGHT

PRELIMINARIES TO BE HELD ON FRIDAY AS HAS BEEN THE CUSTOM IN PAST

REPRESENTATIVES FROM FIFTY HIGH SCHOOLS WILL BE HERE

Representatives Will Be Given Free Passes to Football Game, and Other Forms of Entertainment Will Be Given

At a joint meeting held Monday afternoon of a committee representing the "9019," and a similar committee from the Faculty, final arrangements were made for the annual "9019" Declaration Contest, to be held this year Friday of this week, November 26th. As a result of a vigorous publicity campaign, which has been waged during the past six weeks, about fifty representatives from high schools throughout the State will be visitors on the campus and participants in this contest. Each year, since the plan of having these contests at Trinity was initiated in 1910, interest in the movement has greatly increased until now the event plays a prominent part in advancing the interest of the College and in promoting and developing public speaking in the high schools throughout the State.

As in former years, the declaimers will be entertained while on the campus during their stay here. Through the courtesy of Mr. B. W. Barnard, Graduate Manager of Athletics, all contestants who arrive in time for the clash between Wofford and Trinity on the football field, will be given free passes to the game. Passes may be secured from H. E. Fisher, chairman of the committee having the contest in charge. It is also planned, as heretofore, to conduct the visitors through one of the large tobacco factories in the city. On Friday evening immediately after the final contest there will be held an informal feed, somewhat similar to that of last year, to which all participants, all students in college who at any time participated in a

OCTOBER QUARTERLY IS INTERESTING NUMBER

OCTOBER ISSUE COMPLETES THE NINETEENTH YEAR OF SUCCESSFUL PUBLICATION

WIDE RANGE OF WRITERS AND SUBJECTS FEATURE ISSUE

"Revaluation and Taxation in North Carolina" by Francis Nash Very Timely Article. Dr. Morse on "Race Problem"

With the present number of the South Atlantic Quarterly, which has just issued from the press, nineteen years of eminently successful publication are brought to a close. 1902 was a particularly notable year in the literary tradition of Trinity College, for in January of that year the "9019" issued the first number of this quarterly magazine, whose purpose was to afford a better opportunity in the South for discussion of literary, historical, economic, and social question.

The October Quarterly well represented the policy of the editors in appealing to a wide variety of interests. North Carolina finance, the race question, essays critical of literature, education of women, the Parisian theatre, and book reviews indicate its balance of contents. Only poetry is lacking.

The initial article of the current Quarterly, "Revaluation and Taxation in North Carolina," by Francis Nash, Assistant Attorney General of the State, is undoubtedly the best summary yet published of the reforms recently adopted. Those who are making or wish to make inquiry into readjustment in state finances will find here a definite presentation of the latest stage of financial revision in the Old North State and a clear-visioned indication of the financial problems which loom up before her.

Dr. Joseph Morse, Professor of Physiology and Education at the University of South Carolina, Lecturer, author, and contributor to various educational and literary publications, contributes an encouraging report as to the success of at least one well-organized movement to cope with that ever timely question—the race problem. Dr. Morse tells us interestingly and sincerely of the foundation and development of the University Commission on Southern Race Questions, which was organized at Nashville, Tenn., May 24, 1912, for the precise purpose of approaching the study of the race problem in the right spirit, of substituting reason for passion, careful induction from research and observation for opinion and the "will to believe." In the activities of this Commission Dr. Morse has played an important part. The Commission has centered its interest and efforts upon collegiate undergraduates, of the South to whom have been issued four open letters dealing with various aspects of the question, letters which have been carried by the Associated Press

QUESTION SELECTED FOR INTERSOCIETY DEBATE

COLUMBIANS CHOOSE TO DEFEND NEGATIVE SIDE OF QUERY AS STATED

NUMBER OF INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATES BEING INCREASED

Forensic Encounter to be Held With Richmond University. Date for Annual Debate with Swarthmore Fixed

According to announcements made by the Debate Council, the program for intercollegiate debates this year will in number surpass any heretofore held by Trinity College, a dual debate with Richmond University, one with Emory University, and the usual debate with Swarthmore having already been scheduled. Definite arrangements as to the time and the query for these debates have not yet been determined, but present indications point to their taking place in the early spring.

The question to be discussed in the annual inter-society debate, which will be held in Craven Memorial Hall on the evening of December 21, will be same one that will be debated by Trinity against Swarthmore. This query, "Resolved, That employees should share in the management of corporate industry," will be supported by Hesperia, Columbia, who this year had the privilege of electing sides, having chosen to defend the negative. The Debate Council announced that the date for the preliminary to select the representatives against Swarthmore will be January 18.

In expanding the program of debates the Debate Council feels that the extraordinary record for success in forensic encounters justifies Trinity in enlarging this sphere of college activity. It is hoped and expected that a number of men who have not yet participated in an inter-collegiate debate will begin to work on the questions that will be announced very soon. The debates with Richmond University

RECITAL GIVEN BY GLEE CLUB WAS BIG SUCCESS

FORTY-FIVE SELECTIONS GIVEN DURING RECITAL MONDAY EVENING

CLUB GAVE BEST PERFORMANCE IN HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

Combination of Laughing Saxophone, Drums and Traps Offers Plenty Jazz Music. Orchestra Makes Hit

Exhibiting what was considered an unusually splendid recital, the Trinity Glee Club, Orchestra, and Mandolin Club won the favor and deep appreciation of a good-sized audience in the Craven Memorial Hall last Monday evening. The printed program contained seventeen well-arranged numbers, but, due to the audience's demand for still more, forty-five were given with continued applause.

Mr. Howerton's Glee Club rendered the best performance in the history of the college, and it was appreciated by the audience to such an extent as to call for frequent encores.

Special mention must be made of the 12-piece orchestra which straightway won its way into the hearts of those present. The orchestra, which is under the direction of Mr. Patterson and James Leyburn, rendered such numbers as to suit the taste of every individual present. Several highly classical numbers were of such a nature as to hold the audience spell-bound until the last chord was struck. Then came the noted and beloved, dear old "jazz" exhibitions. The notorious, renowned "jazzkings," "Puffy" Wilson—Saxophone, and Walter Turrentine—Drums and a hundred Traps, undoubtedly gained as much popularity and appreciation by the modern "jazz" lover as did any other single appearance during the recital.

As has always been the case in the past, the quartette, which was composed by "Red" Parham, L. M. Draper, "Kirby" Farrington, and Woodley Merritt, brought down the entire house and was forced to reappear four times.

The mandolin club did not fall short of the peoples' full manifestation of appreciation. Featuring "Puffy" Wilson with his laughing saxophone, the mandolin club accompanied him through a very humorous selection which gained quite a bit of applause.

L. M. Draper's reading of "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," the baritone solo by Edgar M. Howerton, and the piano solo by James Leyburn were outstanding features of the evening.

Last year the three musical clubs gained a wide popularity throughout the state, and were pronounced by several of the state's leading newspapers to be the best in the state. This year's club excels those of last year's, and when they leave on their fall tour next Friday

All out for the Wofford game.

And the song birds made a hit Monday night.

And the Glee Club leaves this week for a twelve days' tour. Don't you wish you could sing, blow or fiddle.

"Two drinks and the world is mine?" No, one more game and a clean slate is ours.

It has been said, "good luck at the first and bad at the last." Yes, this may be true, but thank goodness we have passed the middle unharmed.

November 24: Last possible date on which to begin thinking of an excuse for a week-end trip home Thanksgiving.

The Chronicle takes pleasure in welcoming the Trinity Prep, of the Trinity Park School, and hopes that the new publication may meet with the greatest success.

DECLAMATION CONTEST

The Declaration Contest Friday night marks an event which for the last ten years has had a notable influence and success. This contest, established here in 1910 by the local scholarship organization, the "9019," was the first of the kind to be started in this State. When organized, it was designated to serve two purposes. The first and primary function was to develop and encourage the art of public speaking in the various high schools throughout the country. In this work the "9019" has, no doubt, accreted itself with having made an effort to perform its share in helping to promote this branch of intellectual endeavor in the past ten years. The second motive of the contest is to bring about a closer relation between Trinity College and the different high schools of the state and in other states. The colleges of the country always look to the high schools for material, and it is necessary that colleges keep in close touch with these schools if they expect to arouse interest. For this reason the college community should have at heart the spirit of the contest and should support it by hearing the speakers Friday night.

It is not necessary to remind the college students of their duties as hosts to the guests of the College. Let's make these young men feel at home, and make them feel that they would like to make Trinity their home for four years in the future.

The Chronicle extends the cordial welcome of the College to the young speakers, and remember there can be only one medal given. After all the experience is what really counts. We wish you well.

HOW ABOUT IT?

Tomorrow Trinity meets Wofford on the Hanes Athletic Field. This is the final clash of the season, and should the Trinity eleven be victorious, we will have a clean slate to show for the first football season in twenty-six years. Wofford has a good team; no one doubts this. This season she has bucked against strong elevens, and although the majority of the games have been lost, it was not due altogether to the weakness of the Wofford team. The fact that the State College piled up a score of 90-7 on the Methodists is no proof that they were a weak aggregation. It is possible and highly probable that a good number of Wofford's first string men did not play in that game.

Trinity is going to have to put up a real fight to defeat Wofford. What are you going to do about it? The team cannot win alone. It must have support and it must have more support than it has had during the past games of the season. What do you think of its record during the past season? All these questions can be answered by the moral support which you give the team tomorrow. The time has come when every Trinity man must put into motion every possible force which tends toward the backing of the team. Every man must fight as hard as the team fights tomorrow. No Trinity man should leave the campus Thursday unless it is a case of absolute necessity. Stick around, go to the game and let others know that you are there. Show the Trinity spirit.

We write this only to remind you that now is the time for you to help in making this a most glorious football season, and to earnestly urge your hearty co-operation and support so that the members of the team who have made sacrifices during the past season can be assured that Trinity is proud of their record.

Last Friday evening B. W. Barnard, the Alumni Secretary, was at Oxford for the purpose of organizing the Granville County Alumni Association. The officers elected were: T. G. Stem, president; Miss Elizabeth Floyd, vice-president, and R. L. Bradsher, Jr., secretary-treasurer.

DAVIS MAKES AN INTERESTING TALK TO CLASSICAL CLUB

Tells of Attempt of Tieschendorf to Recover Lost Bible. Talk Was Interesting

H. L. Davis made an interesting talk on the Sinaïse manuscript of the Bible at the regular meeting of the Classical Club Thursday night. Mr. Davis took up in the first part of his address a short account of the life of Consantine Tischendorf, the discoverer of the manuscript.

In his talk on the discovery of the manuscript, Davis told of the two unsuccessful trips which Tischendorf made in pursuit of the coveted copy of the Bible, how he found a few pages of the manuscript in an old waste paper basket which was soon to be destroyed, and of his despair when he was forced to return from both trips unrewarded. Tischendorf made a third trip in 1859 as the personal representative of the Czar Alexander II of Russia, who as head of the Greek Church, had a great influence on the monks of the monastery and caused them to treat Tischendorf with great respect. On this trip, Tischendorf found the long sought after copy and, after much difficulty, had it brought to the National Museum at Saint Petersburg.

Davis gave a description of the original manuscript which was printed on sheets of vellum and bound in red cloth. The writing was arranged in four columns on the page and contained very little punctuation. The words were connected and this fact has served to identify the antiquity of the work.

After the talk of Mr. Davis, Professor Peppeler illustrated several of the scenes on the screen, and showed the member of the club a photographic copy of one of the pages of the manuscript.

ELIZABETH WALKER READS PAEPER TO PARTHENON CLUB

At the meeting of the Parthenon Club held Wednesday afternoon, November, 11th, Miss Elizabeth Walker read a paper on the Iliad. This paper contained a condensed story of the Iliad together with some comments made by Miss Walker, and others quoted by her from historians and other commentators. Especially interesting were the quotations from J. A. Symonds' "Study of the Greek Poets." These comments concerned the centralization of the Iliad on the character of Achilles rather than on some great event as was the case in earlier epic narratives.

Miss Walker mentioned the effective use Homer made of background and how successfully he stuck to his plot; also how he foreshadowed the culmination of this plot by means of prophesy. Dr. Peppeler supplemented the paper with pictures of the excavation of Troy.

To the field of literary review the Quarterly contributes a paper of real merit, "Attila in History and Heroic Story," by Elizabeth Nitche of Goucher College. This article is to-day the only summary of that vast body of literature, prose and poetry, which has been written relating to Attilia; the Hun. In this line of history, legend and saga stretching from the time of Priscus, his contemporary, to the present year, there are many versions: Scandinavian, High German, Low German, Icelandic, Faroe, and Danish. From each of these the writer has reconstructed the story of Attila.

The interest which this college has shown in the development of courses and library facilities pertaining to Latin America gives more than timely interest to an ar-

Ideal law for compulsory education enforced. And curiously enough it has been economic pressure, rather than a desire for culture, which has been the compelling motive for higher education for women. The obvious result is that women of the upper class, who are surrounded by a "triple wall of caste, sex, and religion," are still content with a training of music and manners, while middle class girls are making and taking opportunities to get the best possible useful education. In Latin America, in contrast to the United States, women have invaded the vocational departments where they study to be teachers, physicians, pharmacists, or dentists. Costa Rica, where we are astonished to learn, has been acknowledged as the leader in education.

A second social study is "Some Theatrical Programs in Paris," wherein Aaron Schaffer, of Baltimore, treats with piquancy and understanding the contrasting and over-abundant programs of such long established Parisian theatres as the Opera, the Comedie-Francaise, and the Odeon. But, if Mr. Schaffer may be accepted as a dramatic critic, certainly one premise is necessary to the validity and justice of his deduction as to Parisians and the French. Surely this essay must have been written before the Great War, and it were better to have said so. That "the Parisian is extremely artistic; all soul, and extremely physical, all body," that he is emotional—we will agree. It is possible that to some he is marred by his superficiality. But to say that these characteristics are unfortunate, that, if they were not for them," the French nation would occupy to-day the position of hegemony which was theirs during the days of the Grand ouargue" is to talk in the strain of a decade ago and to ignore the

FRESHMEN ARE DEFEATED BY SENIORS ON MONDAY

The Seniors redeemed their waning reputation in class events Monday afternoon, taking the victory from the Freshmen in a fast basketball match by the score of 23 to 21.

Over confidence caused the Freshmen to lose. Feeling confident that the game was his, the captain opened the play with his second team men on the floor. Before the team work of the Seniors taught him his mistake, the upper classmen had piled up such a score that the first string men sent in for the Freshmen at the opening of the second quarter were unable to overcome the Senior tallies. With the new men in for the Freshmen in the second half, the game developed tense situations. At one point the score was tied and remained so for several minutes.

For the Seniors Burch at did the most scoring. Ashe, A. E., and Geddie played a strong game. Leaper and Gaston got in some good work for the Freshmen.

The Freshmen overran the Juniors on Friday afternoon in the third game of the interclass basketball series, defeating them by the score of 36 to 16. The game started with a rush; and, before the two teams had played five minutes, the score stood 12 to 4 in favor of the Freshmen. In the remainder of the first half, the Freshmen team was able to raise its score to 22 while the Juniors succeeded in making two foul goals more lifting their score to 8. The Juniors were able to hold the Freshmen a little better in the second half of the game, but the Freshmen were still able to outplay the Juniors, scoring six field goals and two foul goals to the four field goals scored by the Juniors. The score was 36 to 16 in favor of the Freshmen when the timekeeper blew his whistle for the end of the game.

Leaper, the Freshman center, led the scoring with seven field goals and four foul goals to his credit. Borland, for the Juniors, and Ormond, for the Freshmen, come next with four field goals apiece. Aiken and Scott, for the Juniors, and Spikes and Bisette, for the Freshmen, scored two field goals each.

The line-up was as follows:

Juniors: forwards, Borland and Hix; center, Newton; guards, Aiken and Scott.

Freshmen: forwards, Ormond and Spikes; center, Leaper; guards, Adams and Bisette. Substitute, Barnhardt for Adams.

On last Wednesday afternoon, the Juniors defeated the Seniors in the second game of interclass basketball to be played this year by a score of 14 to 9. The game fell far short of being as exciting as the game played between the Sophomores and Freshmen on Monday; although both teams played hard; and the score was always rather close.

The game was characterized by a great deal of fouling on the part of both teams and in some instances by a lack of team play. The score stood 9 to 6 in favor of the Juniors at the end of the first half. The Seniors played hard in the second half, but they were unable to score more than 3 points while the Juniors further increased their lead by scoring 5 points.

For the Seniors Grigg shot 3 field goals. Ashe, Brady, and Burch shot one foul goal apiece. Borland pocketed three field goals for the Juniors, and Scott got two. Scott, Hix, and Newton scored one foul goal apiece.

The line-up is as follows:

Seniors: forwards, A. Ashe and Grigg; center, Burch; guards, Geddie and Brady.

Juniors: forwards, Borland and Hix; center, Newton; guards, Aiken and Scott.

The Sophomore basketball team lost its second game of the interclass series on Tuesday afternoon when it was defeated by the Junior team by the score of 24 to 12. The victory of the Juniors seemed to be due to effective guarding on their part and the inability of the Sophomores to find the basket, especially in the second half of the game.

The loss of the game yesterday eliminates the Sophomores from the contest for the class championship. The Junior quint will meet the Senior team, and the winner of the game will play the Freshmen for the class basketball championship of 1920.

The Sophomore team did most of its scoring in the first half, but at the end of the half the score stood 12 to 10 against them. The lead was slight; and at the beginning of the second half, it was anybody's game. The second half told the tale; the Juniors held their

Scott lead the scoring for the Juniors with five field goals to his credit. Sprinkle scored 8 of the 12 points made by the Sophomores by getting four field goals. Newton shot three field goals and two foul goals for the Juniors.

Shorty drops in on New York!

Here WE are, PETE!

New York.
Wednesday

Camped once more in the plumb centre of our old stamping grounds—rubbing elbows with the roaring racket and running flush into more electric displays, blazing posters and swashing signs that sound the joys of Camel cigarettes than you'd ever believe could be jammed into one town! When I hit Broadway this p.m. I figured "Camel City" had been transplanted right up here!

It seems like all New Yorkers have adopted Camels as their own personal brand! And, Pete, since this is the original speed town, it's only what you expect when you see 'em carry a package of Camels in each ear pocket! If their right hand is busy they dig out their left hand deck—they just won't lose time getting a Camel lighted! That's the quit, old throwed!

And, Peter, the New Yorker has his own A-1 pet reason why he's so keen for Camels! For instance, Doc Marshall will bet his car on Camels for quality against any cigarette in the world! Bill James says to me: "Shorty, there never was mild, mellow body like Camels!" And, as for Dan Boggs—he spills it that Camels are the only cigarette free from any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or cigarette odor! Frank Frazer will tell you its Camels wonderful Turkish & Domestic Blend! And, ALL of them are right!

And, Pete, old proof-of-the-pudding—you tell 'em that Missouri hasn't anything on little old New York when it comes to that "show me" stuff on cigarettes—or anything else!

Sincerely

Shorty.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY HELD REGULAR MEETING TUESDAY

Grigg Read Paper on "Tax Reform in North Carolina" Before Members of Society

Claude Grigg spoke on "Tax Reform in North Carolina" before the regular meeting of the Historical Society which was held in the Economics room Tuesday, Nov. 23. Grigg's paper was followed by an open house discussion of the question.

He summarized the faults of the former system as they were set forth by Dr. Pierson, of Wake Forest. He then traced the effects toward tax reforms made during recent years. He next called attention to the purposes of the Revaluation Act of 1919. This act was passed for a two-fold purpose, to find the exact valuation of real property and to levy the tax fairly and indiscriminately according to the revised figures.

The speaker then called attention to the results of the Revaluation Act which have been manifested so far. Property has been listed at its true value, and a great deal of land has been listed which was not on the tax books before. The increase in value of real property according to the latest available figures, for this year, has been $1,500,000 over that of last year. He pointed out the difference in value of property per acre in adjoining counties and declared the Revaluation Act will remedy this fault. He outlined the new tax laws and outlined the Revaluation Act.

GUILFORD AND HANOVER COUNTY CLUBS ORGANIZED

Two more county clubs have been organized up to the time of this week's issue, Guilford and New Hanover. These two make six county clubs organized so far.

The Guilford County Club organized Tuesday and has seventeen members. J. L. Peterson was elected president. T. C. Kirkman is vice-president and Montrose Bald secretary and treasurer. The purpose of the club is to promote the interests of Trinity in Guilford and to try to bring new students to Trinity from their home county.

The New Hanover County Club organized Tuesday with twelve members. T. A. Morse was elected president, A. B. Hall vice-president, Marion Summerhill secretary, and Robert James treasurer. The purpose of the club is to bring the students here in closer touch with each other and to try to bring more students from New Hanover to Trinity in the future.

The following clubs have organized and elected officers so far, besides the two above; Robertson, Gattton, Mecklenburg, and Pitt. Many others will probably organize during the next week or two.

BIOLOGICAL EXHIBIT BEING SHOWN IN SCIENCE BUILDING

Yes, something new has arisen from within the walls of the old science building which should be of interest as well as value to every normal individual on the campus. It can be found without much exertion on the part of each member of the college community by simply exploring the second floor of the science hall, namely, the Biological department. You run no risk of your life as all specimens that are poisonous are enclosed in glass cages.

Yes, come over to the Biological department at any and all hours of the day and find out something concerning the plant life as well as the animal life that surrounds you. The exhibit is situated in the hall of the second floor of the science hall, and no permission is required to see the specimens that are placed in the exhibit.

Come one, come all, and get acquainted with the workings of nature. Exhibit changed weekly.

ORIGINAL POETRY READ AT SIGMA UPSILON MEETING

Members of Fortnightly Club Hear Interesting Poems Read at Meeting

Original poetry by M. E. Newsom, N. I. White, and J. H. Small held the chief place upon the program of the Fortnightly Club of the Sigma Upsilon at the regular meeting Friday night. An open discussion on literary subjects was held when the regular program was completed.

Mr. Newsom's selections were divided into five classes according to subject matter: humorous poems, spring songs, war songs, love poems, and Christmas poems. Notable among his selections was a tribute to "Friend Robin."

Practically all of Mr. Small's poetry might be classified as war poetry; although he read one or two selections which might be classified as love poems. His best selection, "A Flight at Dawn," was founded upon the fact that an aviator can see the sun rise from the sky and then come down and see it rise again upon the ground.

Dr. White's poems were divided into three classes occasional personal, and love. All of his poems were good, but "The Will o' the Wisp," and "The Lay of Progress" were perhaps the best.

Upon the completion of the regular program, light refreshments were served, and the members present engaged in an open discussion of the evening's program and other matters of literary interest.

which is to take in the western part of the state and part of Virginia, it is certain that they will make a tremendous success and will be enjoyed to even a greater extent than were they last year.

The following is a list of the clubs and the men composing them:

Glee Club: J. E. Blades, H. A. McNeely, R. A. Parham, G. D. W. Rackley; L. M. Draper, M. H. Head, J. C. Spach, B. B. Harrison, E. A. Ivey, W. C. Merritt, R. W. Spencer, W. W. Turrentine, J. W. Ross, R. K. Farrington, G. D. Harmon, J. F. Scarborough, W. N. Vaughan, H. E. Sheetz, Ormand, Lazenby.

Orchestra: K. B. Patterson, H. L. Blomquist, R. W. Spencer, G. D. W. Rackley, E. A. Ivey, J. F. Scarborough, E. G. Sherrill, Puffy Wilson, A. Rosenstein, J. M. Gladstone, James Leyburn, W. W. Turrentine.

Mandolin Club: W. C. Merritt, E. G. Sherrill, J. W. Ross, M. W. Blades, J. C. Spach, Robert James.

Immediately following the recital was the delightful reception given the Clubs by the girls. A very enjoyable affair was this reception, and when the time was drawing near for the sad departure of both sexes, Miss Kennedy found that merely cutting on and off the lights was not sufficient means for disposing of the stronger sex, and consequently, long after quite a bit of "chatting" had gone on, and, after the delicious ice cream and cakes were served, the stiff-bosomed nightgales remained until they were chagrined to stay any longer. Apparently the reception given by the girls in the frau-shack was enjoyed as much as the recital.

S. J. Nicholson spent the weekend at his home in Littleton.

HERPERIA

A lively and interesting program was carried out at the regular meeting of the Hesperian Literary Society last Saturday evening. According to a custom of the society, several men were called on to make short extemporaneous talks on given subjects. J. E. Blades gave a very amusing and enlightening discussion on "Who I am." Head spoke on "What I Expect to Do on the Glee Club Trip." W. J. Bundy explained in his learned and experienced manner "How It Feels to be Shipped and Taken Back Again." D. S. Harper gave his views on "Playing Golf with Dr. Cotton."

An oration entitled "A Full Life" was delivered by S. M. Holton who demonstrated the strength and character of Theodore Roosevelt. The orator pointed out the various obstacles that Roosevelt had to overcome, and emphasized as a man and as a president.

The query for debate was "Resolved, That the President of the United States should be elected by popular vote." C. S. Bunn and G. V. Allen, in arguing for the affirmative, pointed out the unfairness of the present system by which a man is elected when his opponent has the majority of the popular votes. By a two-to-one vote of the judges E. B. Fisher and J. D. Johnson were successful in showing that the proposed change would be an undesirable and unnecessary limitation of states' rights.

The question which Hesperia presented for the inter-society debate was announced to be "Resolved, That employees should share in the management of corporate industries."

COLUMBIA

At the regular meeting of Columbia, George Wynne, ex-'21, made an enthusiastic speech, stating the pleasure he had in being able to witness the steady progress which Columbia is making. C. C. Parker made an oration on the subject of "Matrimony" and G. W. Ferrell spoke on "Our Nation's Future."

G. W. Ferrell, M. F. Teeter, and R. D. Ware representing the negative side of the question "Resolved, That the members of the present Senior class should not be required to report for physical exercise at a stipulated time" were successful over D. F. Ferrell, R. L. Jerome, and C. H. Smith, who represented the affirmative side. D. W. Kanoy appeared in general debate, supporting the affirmative viewpoint.

Several extemporaneous speeches were then heard and minor business matters were transacted.

MINISTERIAL BAND HOLDS ITS REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING

On last Friday evening the Ministerial Band held its weekly meeting and heard some very interesting and helpful talks from among the members. In the absence of the President, who was attending the North Carolina Conference, G. G. Adams, vice-president of the Band, took the chair. After the opening devotions he spoke for a few minutes on some things of interest to the Band. H. P. Powell then made a practical and profitable talk, expressing the views of a ministerial student in the freshman year at college.

Park School Notes

Prof. Aldridge has this week been out of school attending the North Carolina Conference at Rocky Mount. In his absence Prof. McKay has been acting as headmaster. On Sunday morning Prof. McKay went to Rocky Mount to spend Sunday and Monday. They both returned Monday afternoon and report a very good meeting of the Conference. Many of the boys are glad to see Prof. Aldridge because he brings them a message from their fathers at the conference. Many of the preachers' sons are anxious to know where their fathers were sent for the ensuing year.

Athletics on the campus have been on a lull for the past week, with the winning of the Oxford game Friday 13th, the football team was disbanded since there were no more games definitely scheduled. Games were pending with Rocky Mount and Winston-Salem, but both of these failed to develop into a scheduled game.

Summarizing football for the first year, the Park School started out about October 1 with a bunch of green recruits and an inexperienced coach. On October 29, the team defeated Oxford on their grounds 7 to 0. It was the first game in the history of the school and was characterized by extreme nervousness. The next game was with Durham High School the following Saturday, and the score was in favor of Park School. The nervousness of the Oxford game was not to be seen in this one and the boys fought like old veterans. The contest was won by an aerial attack on the part of the Park School. Out of twenty trials at forward passes, seventeen were made good. Many of them led up to touchdowns. The third game was with Oxford on our own gridiron. After many rushes on the part of both teams, the score finally stood Park School 27 to Oxford 14. The game was characterized by long end runs. Captain Owen of the Park School made one 72-yard end run for a touchdown. All in all the whole community is very much satisfied with the first year's attempt at football.

Coach Lewis will make a call for the basketball men immediately after Thanksgiving and intensive training will continue until Christmas. It is thought that the new material can be put into a working team by that time. There is only one man back this year who was on the squad last year. Roane, center, showed up well the last of the season. Stotsbury, one of the substitutes will likely show up well this year.

About fifty of the Park School boys attended the Glee Club recital last Monday night and were greatly pleased with it.

The girls of the Park School met last week and organized into a Literary Society. It is impossible at present to give out information as to the organization, its name, and officers. There are fifteen members and they are advised by Headmaster Aldridge.

Mike Bradshaw, '23, was pledged to the A. T. O. fraternity Monday evening.

John Bunyan Adeock, ex-'22, is studying denistry at Atlanta Southern College, Atlanta, Ga.

Jesse Herbert Lanning for sometime past pastor of Caraway Memorial Church, Greensboro, N. C., has entered the Divinity School at Yale University.
