CLASS OF '23 WON FIRST HONORS IN BEAUTY CONTESTS

TWO JUNIORS, ONE SOPHOMORE, AND A LONE SENIOR, ARE WINNERS

MARGARET SCANLON WON FIRST

Margaret Scanlon, of Durham; Coma Cole, Durham; Montrose Ballard, High Point; Hunter Holloway, Smithfield, Va., Won

Margaret Scanlon, of Durham, daughter of Dr. D. H. Scanlon, of Durham, has been selected by the students of Trinity College as the most beautiful co-ed within the rubble wall. The contest, which came to a close at twelve o'clock Saturday night found Miss Scanlon leading her opponents by 1,000 votes, using the closing hours of the contest the manager's room was filled and overflowing with anxious supporters of fair candidates. There was plenty of money on hand, too. The standing of each candidate rose and fell continually, and the supporters poured forth their money profusely to keep their respective candidates in the lead. Toward the end, the struggle waxed hotter and hotter and the interest was at its height. Anxious students crowded into the hall of the little room, and others stood under the windows to catch the returns issued from the room. Never before in the history of the College has any contest aroused as much interest on the campus as the beauty contest.

Miss Scanlon received 24,000 votes. Coma Cole followed closely with 23,000 votes. Montrose Ballard and Hunter Holloway took third and fourth place respectively. Miss Ballard getting 22,000 votes and Miss Holloway 12,000. These, taking the first four places, have the distinction of being considered the prettiest girls in Trinity College.

This contest was initiated by the management of the Chanticleer and the idea is in keeping with a policy general among the leading co-educational institutions in the country, and has proven a very successful means whereby delicate students are adjusted with equity. Each student, by paying for his copy in advance or paying for space in the book, was entitled to 500 votes for each five dollars paid in. Many students, as is evidenced by the contest, took advantage of this offer and made the contest a live one.

The purpose of the contest has been twofold. First, that of selecting the most adoring adorables to adorn the beauty section of the Annual.

Second, that of expediting the managerial duties of the publishers of the Chanticleer.

Student Sing is Given at Meeting of Y. M. C. A.

Something new in the way of Y. M. C. A. programs was given last Wednesday evening when Director Twaddell of the Gliee Club conducted a student or community sing. A wide and varied selection of old and new popular songs had been printed for the occasion and these were distributed to the large number of students present, and they joined lustily in an extended chorus of harmony.

The innovation proved to be very popular in its appeal, and the announcements made by President Dulin after the singing was over made provision for a repetition of the program later in the year.

Mr. George Irvin At Y. M. C. A. Tonight

Mr. George Irvin, head of the Religious Department of the International Y. M. C. A. will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting this evening at 6:45. Mr. Irvin is a big man and Trinity students should be at large numbers.

Mr. Irvin spends a week each year in North Carolina. This year he is dividing his time between Raleigh and Durham.

Minnie Brady, '19, is taking secretarial work at Columbia University, New York City.

TENTATIVE SCHEDULE BASKETBALL IS MADE

Tour Through South Will Be Taken By Ball Tossers As a Part of 20-Game Program

The Trinity basketball team will this year take a jaunt through Georgia, Florida, and Alabama instead of through Virginia as in previous years. The tentative schedule now being arranged by Student Manager W. S. Borland shows games with Georgia Tech, University of Georgia at Oglethorpe, University of Alabama and Florida and with other important institutions of the South. Twenty-two games will be played, most of them away from home.

The schedule, which is still in a formative state, shows several games in Raleigh, one pending with Davidson to be played in Charlotte, and seven to be played at home.

The tentative schedule shows the following games: January 18, Elon at Raleigh; January 21, State at Raleigh; January 31, Wake Forest at Wake Forest; February 4, Carolina at Chapel Hill; February 6, Elon at Raleigh; February 9, Guilford at Durham; February 13, Davidson at Charlotte (pending); February 14, University of Georgia at Oglethorpe or Athens; February 15, Georgia Tech at Atlanta; February 16, open; February 17, Auburn at Auburn; February 18, University of Alabama at University of Alabama; February 20, Stetson University at De Land, Fla.; February 21, University of Florida at Gainesville; February 27, Elon at Raleigh; March 1, State at Durham; March 4, Wake Forest at home; March 8, Carolina at home.

Manager Borland is attempting to secure home games for the following dates: January 11, 14, 25 and 28.

FOOTBALL SQUAD IN TRIM FOR GUILFORD

Practice Work Has Continued During Week in Spite of Very Unfavorable Weather

Despite the admitted reversal of last Saturday in the game with Elon, the Trinity eleven is still looking forward to the Aristonite day game with Wake Forest with hopes of victory. On next Saturday, the Guilford Quakers were their wayward Durham, and in this, the only remaining game before the Wake Forest contest, Trinity supporters expect to see that pep and punch demonstrated which was so lacking in the last battle.

While Trinity was being held scoreless, Wake Forest was sending in the scrubs against Guilford last Saturday, although only four touchdowns were scored during the entire game. His word indicate that if Trinity fans have any basis for their hope of winning the Wake Forest game, the Trinity team should humble the Quakers rather decisively. Of course, everybody knows that Coach Baldwin's men are going to play nothing more than straight football just as they did last Saturday and that the most of the Trinity strength will be reserved as much as possible for November 11; hence Trinity men will not lose hope if no great score is piled up.

For the first time this season, the team is having an opportunity to work with a wet ball in the practice of this week. The scrimmage of Monday afternoon was conducted in a downpour of rain part of the time, and on a very wet and muddy field all of the time, but candidates for the team say that Coach Baldwin had then continue their regular practice.

The personnel of the team is not expected to undergo any change before the Guilford game, although the problem of halfbacks has not yet been definitely solved. Stanford, who went into the Elon game for a while at left half, is suffering from a sprain knee, and Charlie Smith, who also got a trial in that position still has a bad neck. In the line, Hatcher will be missed again at right tackle on account of temporary ineptitude, and Dick Leach, who he will undoubtedly be in the game, has never fully recovered from the strain of the Emory and Henry trip.

WOMEN REPRESENTING AMERICAN COLLEGES SPOKE IN SOUTHGATE

MISS COMSTOCK AND MISS McVEACH OF SMITH AND SWEET BRIAR HERE

WORK IN INTEREST A. A. U. W.

Prominent Figures from Women's Colleges Spoke Yesterday. Informal Reception Tended

Miss Emily MacVeagh, president of Sweet Briar College, Virginia, and Miss Comstock, Dean of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., spent Tuesday afternoon in Durham, as guests of the Durham branch of the American Association of University Women. Miss Comstock and Miss MacVeagh have been visiting a number of Southern colleges—Agnes Scott in Georgia, Converse in South Carolina, Randolph Macon, and Sweet Briar in Virginia. They came to Durham by automobile from Raleigh at the invitation of the local branch of the A. A. U. W. Miss Comstock left on the evening train for Washington and Miss MacVeagh went from here to Chapel Hill.

At five o'clock in the auditorium of the Southgate Building, Dean Comstock addressed the members of the local A. A. U. W., the alumnae of Trinity College, and the women students of the college. Dean Kennedy of Trinity in introducing Miss MacVeagh expressed the pleasure of the alumnae and the college community at the visit. Miss MacVeagh is herself an officer of the national organization of the A. A. U. W., and the former president of the Southern Association of College Women, which was merged with the Association of Collegiate Alumnae to form the national organization last spring. She congratulated Trinity women on the completion of the new building, which means so much to them and is also a forward step in the education of women. After urging every graduate of Trinity to become a member of the A. A. U. W., Miss MacVeagh introduced Miss Comstock.

Miss Comstock, who is president of the national organization of the A. A. U. W., made a very interesting address, telling the history of the organization and some of its purposes. One of the most vital projects of the organization at present is establishing a committee to look into the educational policies throughout the country. This committee will have representatives of educational work from all fields. An educational secretary, who is thoroughly familiar with educational work throughout the country and who is an authority on education will be employed by the organization. The national A. A. U. W. also eager to play a part in the work of the International Federation of University Women. Miss Comstock gave a very interesting description of the first conference of this international federation which was held in London. The second biennial conference of the federation will be held in Paris and the American Association will send delegates. The third project of the organization is its clubhouse in Washington. The speaker gave the history of this and explained what it meant to the members of the Association. In closing Miss Comstock stated that only thirteen thousand women in the United States are members of the Association. "America has two hundred thousand university women now and the number is increasing every June. There are more college and university women in this country than in all the other countries of the world put together, and the organization should have at least fifty thousand members."

Immediately preceding the address a reception was held in the parlors of Southgate Building in honor of the visitors. Other guests from out of town were: Mrs. H. W. Chase, and Mrs. M. H. Stacey of the University of North Carolina, and Miss Tweed, also of Chapel Meredith College, Raleigh.

Henrietta Strauss of Henderson spent the week-end here with friends.

LISTLESS GRIDIRON AFFAIR WITH ELON SATURDAY RESULTED IN SCORELESS TIE

INTER-CLASS QUINT TOURNEY HAS BEGUN

Seniors Won Over Freshmen, 16-11 and Sophomores Humble Juniors by Score of 33-14

The Seniors won over the Freshman, 16 to 11, and the Sophomores from the Juniors, 33 to 14, last night in basketball games which herald the approach of the king of indoor sports. The games were the first of a series of twelve, two each night, to be followed by a game to determine to which class belongs the championship of the college. The next game will come on Thursday night when the Seniors will meet the Sophomores and the Juniors the Freshmen.

FRESHMAN-SENIOR GAME

The story of this game is practically told in the scores. Both teams had a habit of lurching up on the floor and getting in each other's way. In the second half, however, the Freshman held the Seniors scoreless from the floor, but three points were made on fouls.

The revival of the Freshmen in this half was carried in by Moore, the sub, substituted at center for Wilson. He received good support from Rich and King. For the Seniors Scott led the scoring with 7 and was all the go. Borland did some pretty foul shooting, caging the ball three times in succession.

The line-up with points scored by each player:

HALLOWEEN STUNTS AT SOUTHGATE HALL

Festive Day of Ghosts and Goblins Celebrated By Women Saturday Night

As the hands of the clock stood at eight on Saturday evening, a procession of sheeted figures trooped slowly out of the front door of Southgate Hall and filed to the side entrance, making the way to a goblin rendezvous in the auditorium. As the leaders of the procession set their feet on the side steps, a mysterious explosion was heard, these explosions continued until everyone had gathered in the auditorium. A veritable witches' brew had been brewed here. Festoons of black and orange paper autumn leaves, witches' ears, and the dim blue flames in every corner made the room a fit place for such a gathering. In the center was the witches' cauldron, presided over by three bags. After circling the cauldron three times to the accompaniment of the wail of the wind, the ghostly figures seated themselves in a circle around it, and listened to the ghostly tales of the witches. The devil, dressed in a flaming costume and carrying a pitchfork, then appeared on the scene and gave the names of those who had already entered his abode. Following the devil's visit, the witches distributed fortunes from the bottom of the cauldron. In the basement under the stage a witches den was situated, and in a nearby closet Bluebeard's wife presented a ghostly spectacle to all who cared to see her. All those who walked down the cellar steps backward, bearing a lighted candle and a mirror, saw in the mirror the face of their future husband.

After an hour the ghosts unmasked, bobbed for apples, danced the Virginia reel and enjoyed much real Halloween fun. Refreshments of apples, doughnuts, and assorted nuts were served from paper bags ornamented with black cats and from small wagons covered with black and orange paper. Late in the evening the party broke up, everyone extending a vote of thanks to Helen Cantrell and her committee who planned this enjoyable evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Few and children, and Mrs. Thomas were special guests at the party.

TEAM LACKED PUNCH NECESSARY FOR TRIUMPH

Feeling of Over-Confidence and Failure to Press the Cause of Victory Keeps Trinity from Winning Game Rightly Hoped. Elon Fought Well

Suffering a complete reversal of form for the first time this season, the Trinity football team was held to a scoreless tie by Elon on Hanes Field last Saturday afternoon. Among the things complained to make the game unpleasant for Trinity supporters were the obvious lack of punch on the part of their players, the surprising strength and scrapping ability of the Elons eleven, and a very dry and dusty playing field.

The ardent cheering of a goodly number of enthusiastic Elonites who accompanied the visitors was doubtless responsible in part for the constant pep and fight exhibited by the Elon team throughout the entire contest. In addition to an alert and scrapping line, Elon had some effective offensive plays which made the latter part of the game more interesting, a backfield shift, for instance, and most effective of all, a clever and puzzling aerial attack.

The Trinity players by no means outclassed; far from it, but they were outclassed, for from it, from a case of over-confidence, and were evidently, taken somewhat aback by the spirited resistance of their opponents. Reid Garrett with his speedy off-tackle was most dependable in ground gaining while Barrett and Crute were effective at times. Tom Neal was on the job at his end position, and while he was too closely guarded to receive his usual number of forward passes, there was never a punt which he did not cover, oftentimes doubling the man in his tracks. Jimmy Simpson got his portion of hard, clean tackles, as is his custom, and Taylor played a steady game at guard. In fact, the fault cannot be laid to any particular individual; everybody seemed simply to take it for granted that the game would be won eventually, and that without any extended effort on his part.

The forward passes, upon which Trinity has been in the habit of relying to a great extent, were miserably unsuccessful, and upon two occasions failed when success would have meant touchdowns. Once in the second quarter, and again in the third quarter, when the blue line was within a few feet of its objective, forward passes were resorted to in vain. Only once did the Elon team really threaten to score, and then, when after re-

Dr. Cotton Lectured to Ministerial Band

Dr. W. J. H. Cotton spoke to the Ministerial Band on last Friday night on "A Preacher's Need of Practical Business Knowledge," and he related for illustration some of his own experiences with ministers of the gospel who were entirely lacking in this knowledge. "If the congregation wants to see Charlie Chaplin, they will go to a moving picture show. A preacher should be dignified as the Keweenaw, he should preach a sermon and not waste his time in telling jokes and acting the part of a fool to amuse his congregation," said Dr. Cotton. He said that a minister who attempted to discharge his duty as a leader in the church was greatly handicapped if he lacked the fundamental business principles. "A preacher should have foresight and should make plans for the church in a business like manner. If his church is carried on in this form, the business men will take more interest in his work and they will lend him their valuable support."

Charles Kermit Sherrill of last year's freshman class is this year attending Davidson College. His health is now much improved. He was a visitor on the campus recently.

What do you say, Seniors, in basketball? Let's blaze the way to triumph for '22.

The co-ed's athletic field very evidently has not yet been felt. It certainly is a great ornament!

The photographer from White's studio said we had a beautiful campus. Yes, he saw it through the lens, so all who did not win in the contest may consider themselves consoled.

It has been said that the announced results of the Beauty Contest are conditional. Many have wondered just what this term "conditional" means. Some of the winners have declared that their beauty is not a condition with them. But the term means: If all the predated checks handed in are made good, the scores hold. Keep a check on your checker's check, girls.

The turning over of the name proposition to the Athletic Council was a pretty neat way of shifting responsibility. Why cannot students think themselves and act in accordance with their thinking rather than merely conclude and evade and leave the thinking business to someone else? Here's hoping a name does come forth.

That's a great and deserving recognition that is coming to the Band in sending it to Raleigh for the Wake Forest game. Georgia Tech sent its band all the way to the Polo Grounds last Saturday for the Tech-Penn. State game. And how those Yankees did get an earful of "Dixie." "Trinity" will certainly fill Wake County with harmony, too!

THEY THAT SEE THE LIGHT SHALL NOT WALK IN DARKNESS

The rainy season, some three or four months behind time, has at last come among us. It is very wet rain, too, that has been falling on the almost parched earth for these few days, that cold, disagreeable kind which soaks clear through. It is by no means pleasant to be in it; and yet, some forty men, clad in regular uniform are out there working hard in drilling for the football contests remaining on the schedule for the 1921 season. To come out continually and without missing in this weather is nothing wonderful; it is mean, very mean. These men are doing it, then, in spite of any personal wishes and in disregard of personal comfort. They fight thus because they must fight before an opponent when the College ideal is uppermost.

Disregarding any thing that may or may not have characterized the play of the eleven in the other games of the season, the squad is now out there at work, at work in the most unfavorable weather conditions, and it is nothing short of disloyalty, nothing short of littleness to harp continually on the fir not training in the scalp of the foe every time he is met. Certainly it is bad to be defeated; but the situation is not irritated by a failure to be able to take defeat. Trinity has not yet learned how to be beaten. A cry of protest, a storm of criticism, a volley of epithets, the products of disgust, always follow a contest that is in the least disappointing to the must-be-pleased students who look on. When the team has the ball headed for a touchdown, Trinity men whoop and yell vociferously; when the opponent has the ball headed for Trinity's goal line, an occasional faint cry, by no means penetrating, certainly not encouraging, and absolutely insufficient, comes wandering alone from the crowd of students, fellows of those on the field. If ever a situation is disgusting that time is then, right then, Yes, a team does not always do its utmost, and there are times when it is falling short of its responsibilities, but for one on the inside, one of the family, so to speak, leaves the team unsupported then it is that the burden of responsibility becomes shifted. Cheer leaders elected to their responsibility and pledged the support of those who elected them, call in vain for words if encouragement, words that will instill new life into the team and that will carry fear into the ranks of the opposition. Do they come? Positively, they do not. Then something bad is wrong. The stigma of defeat is piercing and the lesson is greatly impressive to the team. It has the ideal of the school in mind and promises by its very presence on the field to expend its utmost in casting aside all personal consideration and fighting for Trinity. The duty of the players is plain, but until the great mass of Trinity men and women come out there and stay behind the team constantly from whistle to whistle, then it is that the ideal of the school suffers. Something radically different must characterize the attitude of the students from now on; no more should a handful of visitors out-yell Trinity. Something must be done and done at once. The co-eds have an opportunity to challenge the men to a performance of duty. Come out next time with the fight that will stick and not the kind that calls in defeat for a second; there is no second! Stay behind the team when the score is ours by 1000 points, and when the score is against us by overwhelming odds; the same thing applies to individual plays (not personal) in progress of the game. TRINITY IS CALLED UPON TO LEARN HOW TO LOSE!

CULTURE IS BROAD IN ITS APPEAL

On the last page of the Chronicle this week an announcement is carried that should interest every student of the College. The Kiwanis Club of Durham, an organization interested in promoting the best welfare of the community has arranged for a splendid program of musical entertainments for the city. Leading musical artists will appear here during the winter months, artists who have achieved world-wide distinction and popularity. The first of these is Charles Hackett, perhaps the leading American Tenor, and he will appear here in concert at the Academy of Music on the evening of November 17. Those who will come later during the winter months are: Sophie Breslau contralto and Rose Pon-

Those of the students who heard some of the concerts which have been given in other years expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the entertainment given and voiced great disappointment in the fact that such a small number of Trinity men and women availed themselves of the opportunity to hear the artists that were brought here.

This year the program is better, greater artists having been booked than those for any other season heretofore. The Managing Committee of the Kiwanis Club has made a special inducement to College students whereby a ticket good for any seat in the house (provided another ticket holder has not first secured that seat) at any of the concerts may be had for a very small figure, a figure much reduced from that charged other people in Durham. The student purchases a season ticket at this very moderate figure, and when the box office for the advanced sale of tickets is opened in the City, he takes this season ticket there and exchanges it for a ticket that will admit him to the seat he selects. By this arrangement, there is a considerable saving for the cost of tickets for the individual numbers.

The Chronicle hopes sincerely that a large number of Trinity students will take advantage of this privilege. One of the principal qualities of an educational institution today is to give opportunities for culture, and musical culture is by no means small among them. As leaders of thought in a community, the college men and women in that community should be able to lead in the elevation of culture and in education. The Kiwanis Club is actuated purely by patriotic motives in doing this and has made the inducement to Trinity students principally because taking advantage of it will redound to the benefit of the individual. It is hoped that a large number will attend the concerts.

Prof. Flowers to Speak at "Y" Next Wednesday

Professor H. L. Flowers will address the students of the College in the Y. M. C. A. Hall next Wednesday evening, November 9, at seven o'clock. Professor Flowers will speak on this subject "Making the Most of One's College Life."

Rev. Z. E. Barnhardt, '06, now pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church in Winston Salem, is in Durham for a series of revival meetings at Trinity Methodist Church. Mr. Barnhardt has made several visits to the College, and on Tuesday morning led the devotional exercises at the regular chapel assembly.

Mary Gooch Pitts, '20, spent the week-end on the campus.

Why Is Iron Magnetic?

A horse-shoe magnet attracts a steel needle. But why? We don't know exactly. We do know that electricity and magnetism are related.

In dynamos and motors we apply electro-magnetic effects. All our power-stations, lighting systems, electric traction and motor drives, even the ignition systems of our automobiles, depend upon these magnetic effects which we use and do not understand.

Perhaps if we understood them we could utilize them much more efficiently. Perhaps we could discover combinations of metals more magnetic than iron.

The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company investigate magnetism by trying to find out more about electrons and their arrangement in atoms.

X-rays have shown that each iron atom consists of electrons grouped around a central nucleus—like planets around an infinitesimal sun. X-rays enable us to some extent to see into the atom and may at last reveal to us what makes for magnetism.

This is research in pure science, and nothing else. Only thus can real progress be made.

Studies of this kind are constantly resulting in minor improvements. But some day a discovery may be made which will enable a metallurgist to work out the formula for a magnetic alloy which has not yet been cast, but which will surely have the properties required. Such a result would be an achievement with tremendous possibilities. It would improve all electric generators, motors, and magnetic devices.

In the meantime the continual improvement in electrical machinery proceeds, in lesser steps. These summed up, constitute the phenomenal progress experienced in the electrical art during the past twenty-five years.

covering a fumble punt, they carried the ball by a series of end runs and forward passes to the ten yard line, it was held there for downs. Twice did Jimmy Simpson rise into the air and break up dangerous passes, which might have resulted in touchdowns.

Immediately after the first kick-off, it became evident that the game was to be a tight one. Elon received and, unable to make ten yards first down, was forced to punt. Trinity, in turn, was held almost without gain, and thus the game went for almost half of the first quarter with neither team making a first down. Then Trinity took began to rise as the ball was steadily carried into Elon territory during the closing minutes of the period. When the whistle blew, Trinity was within four yards of Elon's goal on the fourth down.

The second quarter opened with an attempted pass to Huckabee over the goal line, but the pass was incomplete, and the ball went over to Elon on the 20-yard line. The remainder of the half was fought out for the most part on Elon ground, but without spectacular playing on either side and with Trinity prevented from coming in scoring distance at one time by a fumble and at other times by intercepted passes.

The second half of the game was not so clearly in favor of Trinity, although another opportunity to score was registered. Elon's brilliant backs, never for great distance but almost always successful, came into play, and at times looked as if they might turn the tide. Barrett, who had been replaced by Charley Smith early in the first half returned to his place at left halfback, and in spite of a bad leg, did some good work.

ball with the emphasis on line plunges seems to be the schedule in the practice scrimmages thus far this week. The Coach expects to develop an impregnable defense, especially against forward passes.

The game with Guilford last year was the first intercollegiate gridiron contest in which Trinity had taken part for over twenty-five years, and was won by the score of 21 to 6. The Quakers are reported to have a stronger team than that of last year, and are certain to put up a scrapping exhibition. The game against them last year was won by a score larger than any since made by the blue eleven.

Manager Barnard On Extensive Visits

B. W. Barnard, Graduate manager of Athletic and Alumni Secretary, has recently completed a trip to High Point, Spartanburg, South Carolina, Columbia, South Carolina, and Davidson College. Mr. Barnard attended the annual North Carolina Methodist Conference recently in High Point. His main purpose for going to High Point, however, was in the interest of the Alumni banquet which took place there during the conference. His purpose for making trips to the other towns was in the interest of next year's football schedule.

The Sophomore-Junior game was an improvement over the Senior Freshmen affair, but still too much "hard-boiled." The teams showed some fast work occasionally, but the Juniors were unable to make the best of their opportunities. Although plainly out-classed, the Juniors held on and fought until the blowing of the whistle. The strong men for the Sophomores were Weaver, last year elected as captain of the Emory and Henry five for this season, Ormond, who was a member of the varsity squad last year, and Leeper, who received varsity coaching last year. Shankle found the basket for the greatest number of points for the Juniors. Brooks played a good game at right guard.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarette aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

MANY COUNTY CLUBS ALREADY ORGANIZED

White's Photographer Has Been Engaged in Taking Group Pictures.
for the Annual

The counties of the State represented at Trinity have reorganized clubs and many of them have elected their officers. Their group pictures have been taken by the photographer from White's studio for the Chronicle. With it is no possible to find out just who the officers of the various county clubs are the following clubs have completed their organization: Chatham, Gaston, Guilford, Mecklenburg, Person, Pitt, Roberson, Stanley, Union, Wake, Davidson and Wilson. Among other clubs that have been organized and had pictures taken are, the Virginia Club, South Carolina Club, Durham High School Club, Trinity Park Club, Weaver College Club, Rutherford College Club, and the Davenport College Club.

Each club had a good representation of students. The average group consisted of about twenty-five men and women. There seemed to be an increase of interest taken in these clubs over last year.

Manager B. W. Barnard Was Married Today

Graduate Manager B. W. Barnard left Saturday night for Asheville where he was married today at high noon to Mrs. Jesse Valentine. His wedding was a quiet but beautiful home affair and Mr. and Mrs. Barnard left immediately for a trip to Washington and New York. They will return to Durham Thursday of next week.

During his two years work as graduate manager and alumni secretary Mr. Barnard has put forward the work of athletics at Trinity in a way that has reflected great credit to the school, and has revolutionized the connection of the Alumni with the College. Trinity men and women everywhere, especially locally, will extend heartiest congratulations and good wishes to the efficient officer of the Association and Mrs. Barnard. The students of the College, however, are somewhat sorry that the event was so shrouded in secrecy that a bon voyage could not be extended Mr. Barnard.

Press Association Met at N. C. C. W.

The third-annual session of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association convened last Friday afternoon at the North Carolina College for Women in Greensboro. The Association which was organized one year ago has come to hold a place very highly regarded by the students of the college publications in this State, and at the conference in Greensboro, Meredith applied for admission and was recognized.

The outstanding feature of the session was an able address by Dr. E. C. Lindeman of the faculty of the College on the "Place of the College Newspaper." Dr. Lindeman in his student days was the editor of a college daily, one of the most prominent in the country, and later was on the staff of a leading daily in Detroit, Michigan. His address was exceedingly interesting and helpful as a practical and ideal discussion of the college newspaper.

The transaction if routine business of the organization was the consideration of the session Saturday morning after Mr. Lenoir Chambers had spoken very interestingly on the "Inside of a Typical North Carolina Newspaper." Besides his talk, Professor L. B. Hurley of the College spoke on the "Field of the College Magazine." The session accepted the invitation of Wake Forest to meet there in April over the invitations from Queens and Elon.

A splendid banquet was given Saturday evening by the staff of the Carolinian, the weekly publication of the College. The same officers were re-elected for the next year. Trinity was represented by R. D. Ware.

CROSS IS HEAVIEST MAN IN CLASS OF 1925

Thorough Physical and Medical Examinations Are Made of Men in Freshman Class

N. F. Cross, of the class of '25, gets the blue ribbon for being the heaviest man in College. He weighs 238 pounds, much more than twice as much as the lightest man, who weighs only 96 pounds. W. S. Barnes is the tallest man in the freshman class and the second tallest in College. Barnes is 6 feet, 3 1/2 inches tall. W. C. Wilson, who stands 5 feet, 1 1/2 inches tall in his stocking feet, is the shortest man in the class. J. F. Grigg has all his classmates beat when it comes to holding air. His lung capacity is 400 cubic inches, but R. I. Smith has him beat in chest expansion. Smith's chest expansion is 4.4 inches, and his rib expansion is 4.8 inches.

Cap Card has given out the information about the physical qualities of these men after a complete physical and medical examination of the men of the class of '25. The examination this year is in conformity with the custom which Trinity College has begun of giving the men students a thorough physical examination when they enter College.

The oldest man in the freshmen class is 28 years old. The average age of the members of the class is 18 years and 7 months. The average weight is 135 1/2 pounds; the average height, 5 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

The physical statistics of the students of Trinity Park School follow:

Average age: 18 years, 2 months. Average weight: 131 1/2 pounds. Average height: 5 feet, 7 3/4 inches. H. M. O'Brien has the distinction of being the tallest and also the heaviest man. He weighs 196 pounds and is 6 feet, 2 1/2 inches tall. D. D. Ellington has the best chest expansion, 4.4 inches. R. G. Tench has the largest lung capacity 340 cubic inches.

Columbia Discussed Student Government

The theme for discussion at the Columbia Literary Society on last Saturday night was the much discussed question of student government. All general declamations and orations were eliminated on account of the large amount of business to be settled by the society.

B. I. Satterfield delivered an oration on the subject, "America's Part in The World Peace," in which he emphasized the fact that America, on account of her immense resources, held the destiny of the world in her hand. He stated that two theories had been exploded since the war, namely, "National Occlusion," and "Nationalism." "Internationalism" is the hope of the world, and this can only be achieved through the public schools," said Satterfield.

The query, Resolved, "That the male students of Trinity College should adopt student government," was ably discussed and many points of interest were brought to light. The negative team, consisting of Robert Withrow and E. G. Overton, was defeated by Clyde Lindsey and I. F. Grigg, who composed the affirmative team. I. F. Grigg and E. G. Overton were selected by the judges as the best speakers on their respective sides.

H. D. Richardson, '21, an old Columbian, was called on for a few remarks to the new men whom he urged to realize the value of a literary society in developing powers of thought and expression. M. S. Rose expressed his gratification at again being aligned with the Columbian Literary Society after several years absence.

West, Satterfield, and Jackson were appointed on a committee to arrange the details of the inter-society debate that is soon to take place. The president also appointed W. Q. Grigg and K. L. Elmore on a committee to confer with him in regard to the annual Columbian reception.

Varied Program Was Given by Athenians

The Athena Literary Society held its regular meeting Monday afternoon.

The program consisted of a sketch of the life and works of O. Henry, by Rosamond Clark, a piano solo by Agnes Judd, and a very interesting debate, Resolved:

"That the Government of England is more democratic than that of the United States." The affirmative was supported by Lillian Ramsey and Aura Holton, while Jessie Pomy and Herminia Haynes represented the negative. The decision of the Judges was in favor of the negative.
