CO-ORDINATE DRAMATICS IS PURPOSE OF MEETING CALLED TOMORROW NIGHT

MEN OF COLLEGE ARE NOW TO HELP SUPPLY THE LONG FELT NEED

ORGANIZATION TO BE FORMED IN OPEN MEETING OF MEN STUDENTS

7:30 P. M. IN ECONOMICS ROOM

As a Result of Consultation With Officers of Women's Club,
Students, and Faculty

A meeting of all the men of the College interested in the formation of a Trinity Dramatic Club will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 P. M. in the Economics Room.

That a co-ordinate Trinity Dramatic Club is now nothing short of a necessity has been recognized, at least since the recent production of Monsieur Beaucaire by the Women's Dramatic Club. If that organization, working under its obvious handicaps, could produce such a finished and artistic performance, quite naturally a club containing both men and women will be able to arrive at even higher standards of excellence. The possibilities for dramatic success at Trinity are in fact greater than at any other college in the State, for at no other is there such a prolific source of talent of both men and women. The result will be that modern plays can be produced as well as those of earlier composition, which usually alone constitute the repertoire of collegiate theatricals.

The meeting called for tomorrow evening is the result of conferences with officers of the Women's Dramatic Club and with several interested members of the faculty and leaders among the student body. The Co-eds are unanimous in their desire for a co-ordinate club, and it is at their suggestion that a meeting is called of men alone who can determine without prejudice if they are willing to join forces in the effort to create what must eventually result in a new and important feature of college activities. Many years cannot elapse, in fact, before oratory becomes a part of the college curriculum.

Among the local organizations heartily championing the venture are the Tau Kappa Alpha debating Fraternity and the Sigma Upsilon literary fraternity. The call tomorrow night is for any man who is willing to lend his moral support to the movement. Those who attend need not expect necessarily to try out for future plays, and of course previous training is not requisite. Sponsors will be more than welcomed, for it is important that the organization be inaugurated with enthusiasm, though no production will be staged this year.

When a tentative organization has been effected, the women of the college will be invited to co-operate, and they will then submit the result of the work they have done in becoming organized. It is thought probable that none of this need be discarded. In fact, the constitution of the Women's Dramatic Club has been carefully inspected, and may, if desired, be adopted in toto by the combined Trinity Dramatic Club.

This meeting is a challenge to the men of the campus. Assuredly they will respond to their own pride and show their appreciation of what the women have accomplished by entering wholeheartedly into the movement.

CORNERSTONE OF ALUMNI MEMORIAL GYMNASIUM TO BE LAID ON JUNE SIXTH

Will Surpass Any College Gymnasium in the State in Capacity and Accommodations

The laying of the cornerstone of the Alumni Memorial Gymnasium will take place on June 6, the day of commencement set apart as alumni day, according to announcement made by Alumni Secretary B. W. Barnard. The plans for the building, practically complete, are now undergoing final changes by the architect. They provide for a three-story red brick building 90 by 130 feet exclusive of a swimming pool extension in the rear 56 by 85 feet in dimensions. Accommodations for basket ball, boxing, wrestling, handball, and indoor track, as well as swimming are provided. Space for 2,000 spectators at basketball games is provided, 1,300 of whom may be seated.

The building, to be erected in honor of the 22 Trinity men who gave their lives in the World War, will surpass any college gymnasium in the State in size and capacity for spectators. The recent donations by Angier B. Duke '05 and Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle '07 amounting to $25,000 helped to make possible the immediate consummation of the plan of several years' standing. The progress of the building will be sufficient for the laying of the cornerstone by June 6, and it will be completed by fall.

There will be rooms for the offices of the athletic management, for the coaches, committee meetings, and the like, and provisions will be made for the serving of banquets in the gymnasium. The building will be the center of future alumni gatherings.

TRINITY WAS DEFEATED IN ONE-SIDED TRACK CONTEST BY FAST N. C. STATE TEAM

Shankle Tied State Record in High Jump, and Garrett Won the Four-Forty

Trinity's second track meet of the season resulted in a defeat at the hands of the strong State College team, in Raleigh last Saturday, when the Tech aggregation piled up 94 points to the 42 made by Coach Steiner's men. Despite the fact that State College was playing Wake Forest at the same time, and although the weather was better suited for football, there was an enthusiastic crowd attending the opening meet held on the new track constructed on the State College athletic field.

Shankle and Garrett made the only first places for Trinity while State won twelve out of fourteen first places. Shankle defeated Sunny Homewood in the high jump, and tied the State record with his jump of 5 feet, 8 inches. At the Indoor Track Meet in Durham Home-wood and Shankle tied for this same event, but it was credited to State on the loss of a coin. Reid Garrett showed that he could consistently take first place in the 440-yard dash by winning it in 56 seconds.

For the winners, Morris won a total of 10 points by winning both the 100 and the 220-yard dashes, in the time of 10:15 and 23:15 seconds respectively. Blakney, captain of the track squad, won the two mile race in 10 minutes, 26 seconds, keeping his record for three years unbroken. In the one-mile race State won all three places, Elliott leading with a time of 4 minutes, 54 seconds with Corliss, and Scott taking second and third places.

The strength shown by the State College team against the Trinity squad has led many followers of track athletics to predict that State College will stand a

FUTURE OFFICERS OF Y. M. C. A. INSTALLED IN MIDWEEK MEETING

HARRISON, STOTT, KING, HIPPS,
NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS,

PROF. FLOWERS MADE ADDRESS

Plans for Next Year Discussed and Committees Appointed by the New President

An inspiring address by Professor R. L. Flowers, good music, and an atmosphere of delicious music, conspired to make the evening a delightful one for all those who attended the annual installation of Y. M. C. A. officers at the regular weekly meeting of that organization last Wednesday evening, when B. Harrison, President; J. D. Stott, Vice-President; C. H. King, Secretary; and M. T. Hipps, Treasurer, took over from their predecessors.

Leroy Dulin, the retiring President of the Association, conducted the opening of the meeting, and after pointing out the ways in which the students could help the officers of the Y. M. C. A. make it a success, introduced his successor, B. Harrison.

Recognizing his office as a place of honor as well as of responsibility, Harrison briefly outlined his plans for the next year's work in the organization. He then introduced each of the other officers, who had a few words to say.

Professor Flowers in a short but enthusiastic talk pointed out that the characteristic work of the Y. M. C. A. was religious, and urged that the "Light be made a little brighter than ever before."

Harrison announced the committee for the following year as follows:

Reception: C. E. Jordan, Chairman; C. H. Smith; M. Bradshaw Jr.; W. Q. Grigg; J. B. Harris; W. C. Rich.

Membership: W. H. King, Chairman; J. D. Seerest; W. H. Smith; W. H. Lander; C. E. Summers; J. J. Stamey.

Devotional: J. J. Stott, Chairman; T. I. Wilson; L. V. Harris; Professor James Cannon III; and Dr. W. L. Cranford.

Program: H. C. Sprinkle Jr.; J. E. Bridgers, Jr.; Professor R. L. Flowers; Professor H. E. Spence.

Finance: M. T. Hipps, Chairman; Henry Belk; C. G. Knox; W. L. Clegg; J. L. Jackson.

Music: W. W. Turrentine, Chairman; W. A. Kale; R. W. Spencer; G. D. W. Backley; R. H. Jones; Professor K. B. Patterson; Professor H. L. Bloomquist.

The College Orchestra, assisted by various other members of the Glee Club furnished music during the meeting, and during the social hour following when punch was served.

It has been announced that the next meeting will be a musical program, and that the one following will be a continuation of the vocational addresses delivered by some lawyer. Another of the meetings this spring will be devoted to the discussion of the Blue Ridge Conference for the summer.

The following financial statement of the Y. M. C. A. for the year April 15, 1921-April 15, 1922 has been given out by Leroy Dulin, the retiring President, and J. E. Bridgers, the retiring Treasurer:

Wallace, Visiting Centerfielder, Also Brought Forth Applause by Wonderful Catch

Trinity lost a hard-fought game of ball to V. P. I. last Saturday by a score of 3 to 1. Sanderson on the mound for the locals outpitched Harvey, the Virginian southpaw, but the better support afforded by the Tech fielders gave the opponents the large end of the score.

In the first inning, Trinity scored the only earned run of the game on Charlie Smith's single, Dempster's sacrifice, and a double by Neal. In the third inning an error, a base on balls, a sacrifice, and a double scored two runs for the visitors, and in the fourth inning, they scored another run on a base on balls, an error, and a single.

The V. P. I. men played one of the best defensive games seen on the local field this season, playing errorless ball throughout. Wallace in centerfield for the visitors played a fine game in the field, making one sensational catch, and he also got two of the five hits made by his team.

J. D. Johnson made an unassisted double play when he leapt high into the air for a hot liner which apparently was a sure hit, and then raced for the initial sack and put out the runner who had started for second. Neal and F. Smith both secured two hits for Trinity, one of Neal's going to two bases.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA RECEIVED FOUR NEW MEN ON THURSDAY

"Peanut Butter Hit Me Harder" for Satterfield, Brady, Grigg, and Fisher

The Trinity Chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, the national fraternity fostering the forensic art, initiated B. I. Satterfield, L. S. Brady, W. Q. Grigg, and E. B. Fisher into the mysteries of its membership last Thursday evening, beginning with the usual lively and laughable horse-play at six o'clock and ending with a banquet at the Goshop Store later in the evening.

The initiates were given a warm reception and some valuable experience as well. Satterfield, for instance learned the secret of collecting nickles from passers-by who owed him nothing. Brady and Grigg should be able to get jobs with any police department in the country for their efficiency in directing traffic. Fisher, the bashful little fellow, learned how to obtain automobile rides with ladies who had not met before. The second intersociety debate of the year was staged in the forum in front of Southgate building where Satterfield and Grigg for Columbia met Brady and Fisher for Hesperia on the subject, "Resolved, that face powder is more dangerous than gunpowder." Following the adjournment, which was of the cat and dog variety, a beautifully artistic May pole dance was rendered. The grace and comely beauty of Fisher who was the unrequited Queen of May, won for him round after round of applause.

Among the professors or more present at the banquet, Professor Holton, Cannon, and Flowers, as well as Doctors Wadnamaker, Glasson, Cotton, and Adams joined with the undergraduate members of the fraternity in the discussion of such matters of importance as the financing of intercollegiate debates, and the organization and support of a dramatic club among the men students of the college.

SLUGGING METHODIST NINE VICTORIOUS IN FIRST GAME ON TRIP

RICHMOND LOST 8-6 WHEN THREE SPIDER PITCHERS WERE KNOCKED OUT

SIMPSON ALLOWED BUT 4 HITS

Trinity Overcame Six Run Lead When
Spikes, Ormond, and C. Smith
Hit Three Apiece

The heavy hitting Methodists drove three Spider moundsmen to the showers, and overcoming a six run lead, won the first game on their northern journey from Richmond University in Richmond Monday afternoon by the score of 8-6. While Simpson allowed only four hits, his team-mates poked out eleven, three of which were doubles. Errors counted in the scoring of both teams.

The Spiders started scoring in the opening inning and chalked up two counters on three errors and a single. They scored another in the second frame on a walk, a sacrifice, and a clean double. Johnson's second error, a wild pitch, another sacrifice, and a hit in the third let in the three final tallies for Richmond. The excellent base running of the Spiders availed them nothing during the remainder of the game, for Simpson had them at his mercy, and in the final four frames faced only twelve men.

The Methodists did not score until the fourth, J. D. Johnson and Neal received walks, and Ormond followed with a single, the first of his three hits out of four times up. A fielder's choice followed by a wild pitch let in two runs. Trinity scored again in the fifth frame on an error, a walk, and a single. A single and two doubles scored two more in the sixth, and Reams replaced Johnson in the box for Richmond. Spikes, Charlie Smith, and Ormond each had three hits, saw to it that there was more scoring until the ninth inning, aided by further errors on the part of the Spiders.

EDITORIAL

NOTICE

This edition of The Chronicle was issued by H. C. Sprinkle Jr., one of the associate editors. He has written the editorials, done all the technical work, including the writing of the heads, the make-up of the paper, and executed all the other tasks which fall in the regular line of the work of the editor.

PARAGRAPHS

Keep on keeping off the grass.

And refrain from disturbing the slumbers of the goldfish.

It's about time to do that work you intended to do during the Easter holidays.

The Faculty will compete with the matinee idols for the entertainment of freshmen next fall.

Knocking out three homers and a like number of pitchers is not so worse for one afternoon, eh?

"The Passing of English II," a theme that has worried the unitary sophomores heretofore, is now in a different sense a fit subject for the campus poets.

"Lives of great men all remind us." Yea, verily! Watch them and wonder, freshmen; look and learn, sophomores; behold and be heedful, Juniors. But little time is left; they graduate in June.

Are you a member of the Celestial Burners of the Midnight Oil or the Nightly Order of Tallow Smelters? If so, you should join with the Young Men's Social Club in serving the recently buried movement for all night lights.

"Danger! Stop! Sound Horn!" The all-wise and ever-mindful authorities recently placed this warning just west of the defunct peanut dispenser on the main thoroughfare between the Dope Shop and Southgate, presumably for the benefit of those thoughtless youths lured by the Trail of the Lonesome Pine.

WORTHY OF EMULATION

There are freshmen and freshmen, more than three hundred of them, in fact, at Trinity; some good, some bad, and some supinely indifferent. There is, however, at least one freshman who has caught the spirit. We know, because we saw him stop on his way to a ball game and go two miles out of his way to run a needful errand for a Senior who was in a hurry to catch a train for a recent debating engagement. He did it unhesitatingly, without fear of punishment, without hope of reward but because it was an opportunity to help in time of need. We did not know the freshman's name but his attitude is worthy of emulation.

A SUGGESTION

For what she has been, for what she is, and for what she has to offer in the future, Trinity should receive the serious consideration of every young man and young woman in the State who expects to obtain a college education. In addition to what is already being done by the students, alumni, and administration to put the College before them, it is suggested that the Chronicle be sent free of charge to every high school in the State. The expense of printing the extra copies would be small, and it is certain that the management of the paper would be willing to do the work for the college at cost. All other college weeklies of the class in which the Chronicle falls go to the high schools in this way, and today there are several high school principles who subscribe to the Trinity Chronicle at the regular price while they receive the weeklies from the other leading colleges of the State without cost.

ITS OWN FAULT, BOYS

For several years there has been much talk about Student Government and the need for it at Trinity. Certain it is that the constant recurrence of distasteful events year after year have pointed out a need for something. The student body is not organized, and therefore has no way of expressing itself. The student body bears no responsibility, and consequently is irresponsible. The student body has no hand in the control of affairs vitally concerning student life, and the tendency is to look with suspicion upon those who do. The natural result of such a state of affairs is an outbreak of lawlessness two or three times every year. The saving element in the student body, the better judgment of the individual, is not utilized under our present system. We must remember, however, that it is the fault of the students that Student Government is not in operation on the Trinity campus today. The plan carefully worked out last year could be ratified in two weeks time if only it were properly handled. Conditions existing on the Trinity campus for the past few years constitute a challenge to every man who has the spirit of Trinity within him and in the mind of Trinity that challenge must be accepted.

Junior Ring Committee Gave Contract to C. H. Elliott Co.

The ring committee of the Junior Class, after receiving authority from the class to sign contracts, made an agreement with the Chas. H. Elliott Company, of Philadelphia to submit sample rings to be adopted as the ring for the class of 1923. No ring will be officially adopted until the die itself has been approved, and thus the class will take no chances in being dissatisfied with the finished product.

One of the features of the 1923 ring is the fact that the official seal of the college will be correctly reproduced for the first time on any class ring in many years. It is hoped that future classes will not alter the seal design, in order that the Trinity ring may become distinctive and of recognition.

At the regular meeting of the Chemistry Club last Friday night, J. W. Prince delivered an interesting paper on "The Relation of Chemistry to Medicine." He pointed out to what a great extent medicine is dependent on chemistry.

The program was unusually good notwithstanding the fact that Ellison, who was to have appeared with Prince, absented himself from the meeting of the Club. It was unanimously voted by the Club that he be censured for neglect of duty.

DISPOSITION OF FUNDS FOR EUROPEAN RELIEF REPORTED

H. K. King Tells How Funds Raised by Trinity Students in Being Used in Europe

To the Student Body,
Trinity College,
Durham, N. C.

Dear Fellow-Students:

I think it is about time I was reporting to you on the money you sent over last year to me to be used for you in the European field. Concerning my letter last fall, telling you of the pitiful conditions at the Russian refugee camp Baranowicz, and intimating that I would use some of this money there, let me say that we, as a Mission, found a place in our budget to help out substantially on that need.

Your funds are now being used $50. per month on a work in Warsaw, which I am sure you will approve of. It was your idea and mine that this money should be used primarily for orphans. We have opened a home for the rescue of some of the little tots who come thru alive from this camp at Baranowicz, and I am putting your money—"our" Trinity money—into this home. But a word about the work, in detail.

Deaths at Baranowicz steadily mounted during the winter until they reached an average of one hundred daily. Most of those who died, in their struggle against famine and cold to get out of Russia, were grown folks. The children, due to a natural vitality that was often exhausted in their parents, survived more regularly than did the grown-ups. Also relatives or friends often bring through children whose parents were killed in Russia. The Polish government collects all these orphans from the transport trains and houses them together in barracks, until better provisions can be made for them. Many of them are all but dead—literally—when they arrive. Various orphanages get and care for certain ones. Some are cared for by other organizations. But many are left, and seldom does any one want to take the sick ones, the emaciated ones—indeed Poland is not too able to care for such. Mr. Woodard, Superintendent of the Mission (in Poland), decided to send around and pick out some of the worst cases, and try to save them. We put these children in a little recuperation home we have fitted up—four rooms, near our Central Building—nurse them back to health, then send them out to our Orphanage at Kierseyow (10 miles from Warsaw). It would do your heart good to drop in on these tots and see them romping and playing a few weeks after they were taken from the barracks sick and starving. Now, YOUR MONEY is going into this work, $50. a month. Don't you want to keep it up? If you do, let me hear from you. I'll try to get a photo of these tots and enclose. In the meantime, I must close hurriedly.

With most cordial wishes to every one of you, I remain

Sincerely yours,
H. K. KING.

Trinity Profs. Members Modern Language Association

The Modern Language Association of America, which is composed of about 1600 of the distinguished teachers of modern language and literature together with accredited libraries, recently issued a list of the colleges having seven or more members, and Trinity, with Dr. W. H. Wannamaker, Dr. F. A. G. Cowper, Dr. P. C. Brown, Dr. N. L. White, Dr. A. H. Gilbert, Professor M. Lopez, and the Trinity College Library, appeared on the list.

The Association issues publications of literary merit, and hereafter they will be kept in the Trinity Library. Among the publications last year appeared Dr. N. L. White's "Shelley's Swell-Foot the Tyrant in Relation to Contemporary Political Satires." Dr. Cowper was also among the contributors last year, and Dr. Gilbert will contribute an article this year. Dr. Gilbert also contributed a paper on "Milton and Galileo" in a recent issue of Studies in Philology.

Professor R. L. Flowers left last night for Hot Springs, Arkansas, where he will attend a meeting of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. He will also attend the general conference, being a delegate from the North Carolina Conference. From there, he will go to Oklahoma City to attend a meeting of the Trinity Alumni Association of that city.

VALUABLE NUMBER OF THE SOUTH ATLANTIC QUARTERLY RELEASED

STANDARD IS HELD BY LITERARY EXCELLENCE AND ABLE TREATMENT

A VARIETY OF SUBJECT MATTER

Dr. T. S. Graves, Hon. D. C. Roper, and Others Appear on the List of Contributors

An absorbingly interesting variety of subject matter ably treated is contained in the number of the South Atlantic Quarterly which has just been released from the press. A review of the perplexing intricacies of federal income taxation, informative facts connected with the staging of death scenes in the drama, consideration of distinctive traits of the representative American, the attitude of the great English lexicographer on spiritualism, a treatment of angles of the historic embargo policy of the early states, and a study of the slavery issue as it appeared in American literature, all of these go to make the current issue of the Quarterly valuable for literary reading and for studied research. The high standard of literary excellence is maintained even in articles wherein this is difficult.

Hon. Daniel C. Roper, an alumnus of Trinity and former United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue, writes on the "Administrative Problems in United States Internal Taxation." He indicates defects in the now cumbersome plan of taxing private incomes. A good phase of the scheme of which the framers of the law are not worthy is that it gives recognition to valuable services of accountants, men of a profession whose importance steadily grows. The fact that there have to be professional and expert men is a hindrance to the idea. The present income tax plan, one would conclude after reading Mr. Roper's article, fundamentally violates Adam Smith's canon that proper taxation must depend on its simplicity. Taking up other ideas of public finance, the author believes that a part of the war burden should be borne by future generations, but that each citizen should pay some degree of income tax. He frankly pleads for a revision of the present law and for the elimination of tax-exempt securities.

Dr. T. S. Graves, formerly a member of the Trinity faculty but now of the English Department at the University of North Carolina, writes a delightfully interesting article on the manner of staging scenes in drama where the death of the actor or actors takes place. Numerous instances of a slip in the acting of the scenes and the humorous reaction of the audience toward them are presented. A purely serious affair is regarded as high comedy in many cases due of course to the difficulty in staging realistically an actual demise. The treatment goes at length into details scattered over the entire history of staging plays.

Men who have recently written "close-ups" of American public men will find an interesting parallel in the "close-up" of Andrew Jackson given by Frank J. Klingberg of the University of California. A true American whose rustic and rugged qualities so accurately typified the early pioneer; a man, who, because he was so much akin in character to many of his fellows, achieved great popularity and commanding leadership, is shown just as he was. Some of the methods he used in unpretentiously gaining the admiration of so many of the Americans who, lived in his day if not of the more critical who abound today, are entertainingly offered in this article. Detailed accounts garnered from reliable sources would evince the fact that even the presidents in those days prided themselves on the quality of their "private stock."

To those who have the mistaken idea that the occult is the property only of our day and its "advanced learning," there is abundant refutation in the article "Doctor Johnson and the Occult" written by Joseph M. Beatty, Jr., of Goucher College. Indeed this great master of words and this ponderous philosopher together with many of his contemporaries sought a conclusion for the matter of spiritualism. Ever a seeker of knowledge Dr. Johnson gave thought and inquiry to the vexing problems of ghosts as they disturbed the thinking of certain original thinkers in his day. The excuse that he gave (for spiritualism was contrary to his wonted belief) was that he sought a rational basis for a belief in immortality.

That the states of the infant republic had vexing problems of commercial policy is clear when one reads Louis Martin Sears, Purdue University, study of "The Middle States and the Embargo of 1808." The strength of the republic lay in those days with the Middle Atlantic states rather than with those further north. From Virginia to the Pennsylvania, the most influence regarding it was felt. Interesting aspects of political parties and their relation to the program are brought to light as well as the matter of the presidential elections of that year.

The concluding part of a two part study of "Pro-Slavery Propaganda in American Fiction in the Fifties" is made by Jeannette Reed Tandy of Columbia University. One in search of short story material might find it in the fiction discussed here. Where the early writers treated it in the length for novels, today one might produce what might be term a "historical short story." The reception accorded this kind of writing would be interesting to a study of the psychological reaction to literature of this sort. The purpose-novel really has played a part in American life and those inclined to berate fiction will find the facts and the references cited in this article.

Debate Council Discussed The Financing of Debates

Professor R. L. Flowers, Chairman of the Debate Council met with committees appointed from the Hesperian and Columbian Literary Societies Monday afternoon for the purpose of formulating plans for the financing of the intercollegiate debates for this year and next. It has been pointed out that steps should be taken to relieve the literary societies of part of the burden which they have hitherto born alone, and at this meeting suggestions were made toward that end. While no definite plan has been announced as yet, it is the purpose of the committee to work out a more satisfactory method of securing the needed funds for Trinity's extending forensic program.

The committee was composed of Professor Flowers, J. M. Barrett, H. C. Sprinkle, E. B. Fisher, C. G. Knox, from Hesperia; and K. L. Elmore, J. L. Jackson, B. I. Satterfield, and W. Q. Grigg, from Columbia. Professor Flowers assured the representatives from the societies that the administration was squarely behind them, and pledged their support in every possible way.

John Campbell Boggs, '17, who has been teaching at Blackstone, Va. is now Headmaster of Castle Heights Military school, Lebanon, Tenn.

Foy Morris, ex-'16, is Register of Deeds for Carteret County and is now living at Beaufort, N. C.

Intra-Mural Tennis Meet Scheduled by the Council

A tennis tournament has been arranged by the Intra-Mural Council by which each section in the organization is to select its own team from among the members of the section in the same manner that the basket-ball teams were chosen and match it against the team of the opposing section according to the schedule. Each section is to elect two men to compose one team of doubles and designate one of the two players to act as the representative for the singles. The doubles will be played first and then the singles. The same schedule will be followed in both cases. The section winning the doubles in one league will be matched against the winner of the doubles in the opposing league. The league winning the doubles will be accredited with sixty points, and the winner of the singles will be accredited with forty points. The games are to be played at the convenience of the contestants, providing all games have been played by the 13 of May. All games not played by that time will eliminate the contestants concerned. Any points for dispute will be settled by the Intra-Mural Athletic Council.

County Commencement Was Held on Campus Friday

The annual county commencement of the public schools of Durham County was held on the Trinity campus last Friday, around 9:30 in the morning when the first activity began until the conclusion of the track meet on Hanes Field late in the afternoon, the campus was thronged with school children, teachers, and parents from all parts of the County.

In addition to the track meet which was seen by West Durham, spelling, recitation, story telling, and dramatization contests were held earlier in the day. Craven Memorial Hall, the Y. M. C. A. and Hanes Field were the centers of activity. Professor Holland Holton had charge of the affairs in Craven Memorial Hall, Superintendent J. F. Carr, of the county schools, directed ceremonies in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Prizes and Medals won in the various contests were delivered by Mr. D. L. Faushee, of the county board of education, in Craven Hall, and by Mr. D. H. Stallings, of the county board of commissioners, in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Professor R. L. Flowers, and Dr. W. H. Wannamaker welcomed the visitors to the college.

The faculty and students of the College were given part of the credit for the great success of the commencement exercises by Superintendent Carr. Trinity students acted as officials in the track meet, which concluded the program, with a victory for West Durham by the score of 35 points. Lowe's Grove was second with a score of 23 points. Bahama made 18 points and third place.

OPEN FORUM

To the Editor:

It has been both humorously and seriously said that "It Pays to Advertise," and his modern maxim will in years to come be listed among the proverbs and maxims of our greatest thinkers. Although few men on our faculty like to admit it, the time has come when institutions of higher learning must advertise to get men. Long ago the faculties and trustees of colleges realized that athletics were essential to a college. Trinity's athletics are in fine shape but Trinity's advertising system is rotten.

Merchants who advertise know that the primary purpose in advertising is to keep themselves before the eyes of the people, and they do not expect a rush to their stores on the morning after their advertisements appear, neither do college officials expect a rush to the doors of their institutions because they insert advertisements in the state papers. What Trinity needs in the way of advertisement is news service and the right kind of it.

Of course, we sometimes feel it below us to imitate the institution on the Hill but pick up any daily or weekly paper in the State and what do you see. Carolina has either won a lovely ball game or Captain Johnson has returned to the Hill after spending the mid-season in the hospital, and there are usually four or five other articles of minor interest scattered from the front to back page. We are prone to say that such stuff does no good, but do you realize that the high school student who eagerly glances through the paper for news of the colleges of the State has a desire to go to the place which always seems to be doing something? Things of just as great importance happen here every day but they do not find their way to the papers, and when anything of importance does happen it is usually published in an inconspicuous place.

The remark is often heard on the campus that there is not a paper in the State that will give Trinity a fair write-up. But who is to blame for this? Any paper will publish news articles that are sent to them, but they cannot send a reporter here to hunt news. We must send it to them, and why not establish an extension bureau under the direction of a faculty member for this purpose? If we send in good news articles they will be published, and Trinity will get the proper advertisement.

But when we get publicity we want the right kind and that which will exert the right influence. Trinity students "hobo" the least of any college students in the State but strange to say we have a good reputation over the world at large of being rather efficient in that line. Trinity has a good varsity base ball club but she also seems to have a better club made up of negligible men who have played four years and who are extensively advertised in every baseball story. According to the popular idea that has been broadcasted over the State in flaring headlines and in strangely conspicuous places, Trinity's athletes are practically all men who barely pass their work, yet the fact of the matter is that our athletes are among the best students in College.

The question boils itself down to this: Do Trinity students want good baseball stories, lectures, and contests of all kinds which truly represent Trinity, published in our daily papers, or do we want the fact that some athlete has had the misfortune to flunk a course, or a hobo, or possum story put before the eyes of the public. These supposedly funny stories are all right in their place but for the sake of a future Trinity let us have something else.

—J. B. H.

Trinity Team Fell Before the Durham Y Club, 10-6

In a slow game marked by timely hitting and timely errors Trinity lost to the Durham Y. nine Friday afternoon by the score of ten to six. The game, which was played in East Durham, proved to be a lively affair up until the sixth inning when Spikes poked out a homer with the bases loaded. In the eighth inning the Trinity defense went to smash, and the Y. boys crossed home plate seven times.

Johnson started on the mound for Trinity but soon gave way to Deal, who fared no better. Mason, pitching for the Y. nine allowed twelve hits which were kept well scattered with the exception of one inning. Both teams played ragged ball, each making seven errors.

TRINITY REPRESENTATIVE THIRD IN PEACE CONTEST

First Money Won by Wake Forest Man in Annual Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest

N. M. West representing Trinity, won third prize in the State Intercollegiate Peace Oratorical Contest held in Burlington last Friday evening, when representatives from six of the leading colleges of the State met in the annual display of eloquence and oratory.

First prize, of $75 was awarded by the judges to J. S. Thomas, representing Wake Forest College, who spoke on "Racial Aspects of the Peace Problem." Second prize of $50 was won by B. O. Smith, of Elon, whose subject was "World Harmony." West's subject was "National Seclusion against International Co-operation."

The other speakers were B. C. Brown, of Carolina; W. A. Gamble, of Davidson; and Thomas English, of Guilford, all of whom were awarded minor prizes by Burlington citizens. Professor F. S. Blair, of Guilford College, the State manager of the contest was present and presided.

Tennis Team Meets Davidson and Guilford this Weekend

The varsity tennis team meets the crack Davidson team here today, and will tackle Guilford on the home courts Saturday. The squad composed of Powell, Tabor, Lefter, Summers, Turrentine, Marr, and several other hopefuls, have been hard at work in preparation for these meets, and also for the State Intercollegiate Meet which is to be held here on May 6. It is expected that the same team that played in the fall tournaments will be used again this spring, although Marr may have a chance to show his wares. Coach N. I. White states that the team is in better shape than in the fall, and prospects are good for a successful outcome of the spring meets.

The Biological Club Heard Discussion on Chiropractic

"Chiropractors and Their Work" was the subject discussed before the Biological Club Monday evening by M. L. Stadium and H. L. Primackoff. In their papers on this subject the two students gave a generalization of the work being carried on by chiropractors, the methods employed, the type of men who generally work in the profession, and the possibilities of the science. Somewhat critical in regard to the present status of chiropractic, they pointed out that the science really offers wonderful possibilities.

Lively discussion followed the papers, and various members of the club especially Professors Cunningham and Bloomquist, threw interesting light on the subject.

The Library has been recently enriched by donations from the Economics I and II classes. The students of these two classes pooled their resources and contributed many volumes to the reference shelf. The Economics I class contributed two volumes of Ripley's Railroads: Rates and Regulations, one copy of Ripley's Railroads: Finance and Organization, and one copy of Talbot's Millions From Waste. This class also contributed a monthly magazine, Industry Illustrated.

The following books were given by the Economics I class: Bartholomew's Economic Atlas, Bartholomew's Atlas of Economic Geography, Annin's Ocean Shipping, Smith's Industrial and Commercial Geography, Mead's Helping Men To Own Farms, Tausig's Inventors and Money-makers, Folger and Thompson's Apple Industry, Huntington and Cushing's Human Geography, Kirkland's British Shipping, Dixon's Railroads and Government, Kidd's Foreign Trade, and seven copies of Hammond's Business Atlas of Economic Geography.

Mr. Seborn Perry, of the Economics I class, personally donated six copies of Hedrick's The Age of Big Business.

Lucy Taylor, '23, and W. L. Taylor '23, were called to their home at Storvall shortly before Easter by news of the serious illness of their mother, Mrs. W. L. Taylor. News of Mrs. Taylor's death, which occurred Thursday, 20th, was received here last week.

Professor R. L. Flowers will leave tomorrow for Hot Springs, Arkansas, to attend the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

Columbia Discussed Student Government Saturday Night

Speaking on "Current History and The College Man" in Columbia Saturday evening R. D. Ware made the statement that the average college man is ignorant of international or even national affairs, and he further added that unless the student did become more familiar with current problems, and fit himself to distinguish between the truth and newspaper propaganda, the world would not accept him as an educated man.

B. I. Satterfield indicated the strength of public opinion in determining the destiny of nations, and graphically showed that public opinion will be able to hasten or to prevent, as it is educated, the peace of the world.

The query for debate was, "Resolved: that student government should be adopted at Trinity College." Simon Rose and J. L. Jackson failed to uphold the affirmative side of the query against L. L. Wall and M. Q. Tuttle. Simon Rose was adjudged to be the best speaker on the affirmative side, while L. L. Wall was declared the best speaker of the negative team.

Hesperia Heard Debate on Cancelling the War Debts

One of the most interesting debates of the year characterized the regular meeting of the Hesperian Literary Society last Saturday evening. The query was: Resolved, that the United States should cancel the war debts. The affirmative was upheld by M. W. Lawrence and M. R. Chambers who, in a very forceful manner, pointed out that this country did not enter the war until late and that it was our just share of the war to cancel the debts. W. J. Bundy and G. S. Powell, who spoke on the negative side of the question, argued that the recent war was primarily a European war and that we as a nation had done our duty and that it would be establishing an undesirable precedent for this country to cancel the war debts. The decision of the judges was in favor of the negative.

Much interest and humor was added to the program when H. C. Sprinkle responded to the request of the house to speak on both sides of the debate. Sprinkle first spoke on the affirmative using all his allotted time, then he started on the negative side of the question.

W. L. Clegg delivered an oration on "Can War Be Prevented," in which he very forcefully pointed out that not only great men of this day and time believed that war could be prevented, but also that great leaders of that past seemed to realized the uselessness of war and gave utterances to that effect.

Several extempore speeches were made. S. S. Farabow spoke on Dramatics for Male Students at Trinity College: B. O. Aiken on Seven Students: L. S. Brady on Eight Reasons Why Car Fare Should be Reduced. While Miss G. G. G. gave his opinion on "Is it Fair to Disturb Gold fish at Midnight."

Harrison Read a Paper on Pinero to Sigma Upsilon

Six Arthur Wing Pinero, the noted English writer of problem plays, was discussed at the meeting of the Fort-nightly Club of Sigma Upsilon by B. B. Harrison last Friday night.

Arthur Wing Pinero, although born in 1855 is still an active playwright, and is one of his best known plays of the last few years is his "Big Game"—a satire on the various methods of getting social notoriety. Some of his plays have been produced on the screen in recent months.

The problem plays constituted the biggest number of Arthur Wing Pinero's early productions. Among these the "Profligate" and the "Second Mrs. Tanqueray" made him famous. Sweet Lavender," a play based on the difference between the rich and poor classes in England was the most popular play produced in America.

Professor R. L. Flowers spoke to the Ministerial Band at its regular meeting Friday evening, April 21. He gave the Band some interesting and instructive light upon what would probably be discussed at the next General Conference which meets in Hot Springs, Arkansas in the near future. He also told some interesting things about the M. E. Church of today.

W. L. Clegg, Chairman of the program committee, announces that Dr. Scanlon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, will speak to the Band on next Friday evening.

SIDE SPLITTING STUNT WAS GIVEN BY SOPHOMORE GIRLS

Second Year Shakers Reproduced an Old District School in Honor of Seniors

The third of the series of stunts to be given by the Women's Student Government Association was presented in the Southgate Auditorium, Saturday evening by the girls of the Sophomore class. The Sophomores "took off" the closing exercises of Bear Creek district "skule," Esther Evans was the "school-marm." Mamie Johnson, as the Reverend Ephesians, made the closing address and presented certificates to the boys and girls. The principal feature of the stunt, however, was the exercises by the pupils themselves. Speeches, songs, and musical "performances" by small boys in overalls and small girls with pigtail kept the audience laughing. Recitations by Viola Seltz and Susie Turner, a small boy's dramatization of "I Wish I was a Little Rock" as given by Catherine Cox, and a musical number by Agnes Judd, who performed on the harp, were especially funny. Among the visitors to the school were Mrs. Ephesians, wife of Rev. Ephesians, impersonated by Inez Newsome; and Mrs. Millia Brickhouse, who sang a solo during the exercises, impersonated by Mattie Lou Russell.

The Sophomores gave their stunt in honor of their sister class, the class of '22. The exercises were concluded with the singing of a song dedicated to the Seniors, and also the Sophomore class song. The Sophomores were assisted by Jessie Penny and Lydia Bishop from the Senior class, who sold tickets, and also by Blanche Baringer and Lota Leigh Draughon, who acted as ushers.

Lola Coffey, co-'24, of High Point, spent the week-end with friends at South-gate. Elizabeth Aldridge was hostess at a handkerchief shower Friday afternoon, in honor of Mary White Cranford, '18, whose marriage to Mr. W. J. Clardy will take place in May. The contest for the afternoon was drawing a "house of dreams" for the bride-to-be. Each guest was given a paper, pencil and ruler and told to draw a plan for the bride's house. Refreshments consisting of a salad course with iced tea and sandwiches were served. On each plate was a small "house" filled with rice. The guest of honor was told to pull a mysterious string suspended from the chandelier. The pulling of the string revealed a "house" filled with handkerchiefs. Among Miss Aldridge's guests were Blanche Baringer, Jeannette Strauss, Alice Thomas, Lillian Frost, Erma Pitts, Inez Newsome, Lucy Waller, Elizabeth Newsome, Flora Bray, Agnes Doub, Ella Whitte and Sallie Reynolds.

The Durham Branch of the American Association of University Women entertained in the parlors of the Southgate Building, Saturday afternoon, in honor of the women of the class of '22. The main drawing room and adjacent parlors were very attractively decorated with spring flowers. The receiving line in the main drawing room included the officers and officers-elect of the Association—Miss Fronde Kenely, Mrs. Paul Gross, Miss Lucile M. Bullard, Eva E. Malone, Ruby Markham, Susie Michaels, Maud Bass and Ethel Pridgen. In a unique contest based on the names of colleges which are members of the A. A. U. W., Jessie Penny of the Senior class won the prize. Refreshments of chicken salad, sandwiches and coffee were served. An attractively decorated "fortune" cake was cut by the girls of the Senior class and a Kewpie doll in cap and gown was presented to each Senior.

Caldwell: "I don't understand how poets get enough exercise to live." Weems: "Oh, they do their spring training running up and down the columns of the dictionary."

Anti-tobacco bugs must go on the theory that cigarette lighters will not work.

Gin: "Do you consider that the prohibitionists have made many abstainers?"

Fizz: "No, the bootleggers have made more."

Amble: "Has Frances any education along musical lines?"

Frank: "I should say so! Name any record and she can tell you what's on the other side."

FUN! FUN! FUN!

"RIGHT FORMATION"

A football game was over and at the parlor game

A maid and long haired youth were lingering rather late.

They talked of goals and touch-downs but found it rather tame

Until Cupid put his nose guard on and butted in the game

Quoth he, "It's mighty funny if I don't arrange a match."

So he lined the couple up and made them toe the scratch.

The youth was growing nervous 'neath the weight of new found bliss, And he kind of thought the scrimmage ought to end up with a kiss.

He charged upon the center, he tackled left and right;

And the way they held that chap for downs, was simply out of sight.

"You're penalized for holding Jim, likewise for off side play."

With set teeth he tried another; this time succeeded fine,

For he scored an easy touchdown on the crimson two-inch line.

And as they sat there by the grate communing soul to soul,

The parlor door swung open—and father kicked the goal — Concord Argos.

Ruby: "Men are all liars."

Mother: "Oh, don't say that, dear. That is too broad a generalization."

Ruby: "Well, I suppose there are some honest, plain spoken fellows who are not, but all the really nice men are."

Smith: "So you want to marry my daughter? Have you any steady occupation?"

Jones: "Yes, sir."

Smith: "What is it?"

Jones: "Searching for a job."

Bobby was saying his prayers in a very low voice.

Mother: "I can't hear you, dear."

Bobby: "I wasn't talking to you."

By the way, we wonder why Doug Cal-houn did not give his cake to one girl.

Prof: "Something should be done around this school. I have seen a number of students drunk at the dances."

Arnold: "How can you tell a drunk person at a dance?"

Richard Vorstegan's "Upon My Lap My Sovereign Sits" surprises us. We did not know that queens acted like that. —Exchange.

Phil: "Why is it you like bobbed hair so well?"

Trig: "Cause you can claim one on your coat came out of your own head."

Little Ethel (excitedly): "O, mother, come quick! There's a strange man in the parlor kissing the maid."

(Interval devoted lapse of time.)

"April Fool! It's only papa!"

Facts About Wool in Clothing

By Pritchard, Bright Co.

The raw material from which woolen and worsted fabrics are made comes from various kinds of sheep and goats. Among other animals furnishing wool, the alpaca which is a species of llama, and the camel are the most important.

Wool from different breeds of sheep varies widely in quality. There are many varieties of sheep and new ones are added frequently by inter-breeding. Sheep that are raised for mutton do not yield the best quality of wool.

The quality and value of the wool are very much affected by climate, food, soil, breeding and cleanliness. In cool climates the wool grows more thickly while a moist climate seems to make the fibre longer and more crimp. The sheep which is not shielded from bad weather will produce a wool whose fibre is coarse, while insufficient feeding tends to leave the wool thin and dry. Sheep must be carefully guarded against disease as the wool from unhealthy sheep is very poor.

"Pulled wool," or wool removed from the pets of animals slaughtered by chemicals does not spin as readily as that in the fleece, and it is consequently made into medium and low grade materials.

The clothier who is conversant with wool in all its phases and understands the possibilities of deception is the man to supply your clothing needs.
