GREATER TRINITY WILL RESULT FROM GIFT OF JAMES BUCHANAN DUKE

MILLION DOLLARS TO ENDOWMENT FUND AND OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS

GREATEST GIFT IN HISTORY OF COLLEGE WAS ANNOUNCED LAST FRIDAY

DEVELOPMENT PLANS ASSURED

Increases in Faculty and Material Equipment Made Possible by Gift of $1,025,000

The gift of $1,025,000 made by James B. Duke to Trinity College will mark the beginning of a new era in the progress of the College. President Few has announced that $25,000 of the donation will be added to the fund subscribed for the new gymnasium. Mr. Duke pledges $50,000 towards a $100,000 law building and $50,000 more to the erection of a $100,000 building for the new school of religious training.

A program of eight items has been outlined for the immediate improvement of the College. (1) To increase the productive endowment of the College by not less than $2,000,000. Mr. Duke has given $1,000,000 of this endowment, and $700,000 has already been pledged to ward the other million. (2) To build up an alumni revolving fund of at least $60,000 or $70,000 a year which would represent the income of more than a million dollars. Many former students of Trinity have already made contributions to this fund, and many other contributions are expected within the next year. About $40,000 has been collected up to date on this revolving fund. (3) To build and develop a fully organized and equipped school of religious training. To this project Mr. Duke has pledged $50,000. (4) To complete the memorial gymnasium immediately. (5) To erect a law building at a cost of $100,000. There is a contingent pledge of $25,000 besides the proposed gift of Mr. Duke which will leave only $25,000 to be raised by the graduates of the law school. The campaign for the erection of a law building had its origin among the graduates of the law school, and it is their efforts that plans are already underway for its construction. (6) To build a new science hall. The need for a larger and better equipped science hall has become more self-evident each year. The present hall is unable to satisfactorily accommodate the ever increasing number of students who are taking their work in one of the branches of natural science. (7) To build one more dormitory. The attendance at Trinity College is growing by leaps and bounds every year until the College authorities have realized the pressing need for larger accommodations in both rooming quarters and class rooms. The dormitory, when built, will provide for two hundred or more additional students. (8) To erect a new central heating plant. The present heating plant does not satisfactorily supply heat for all the buildings on the campus. It was installed before Southgate Memorial Hall was built, consequently a larger and more efficient plant is needed to heat all the buildings in a satisfactory manner.

With the cooperation of the alumni of Trinity College the above program will in all probability be in operation or more definite plans made for the construction of additional buildings. Equipped in such a manner, Trinity will be without a peer in North Carolina.

President Few remarked in a recent interview that Trinity might take steps to establish a medical school in connection with the hospital in Durham if the best interests of the medical profession seemed to demand it. He added, however, that under no circumstances would Trinity consider such a move unless they were assured of an adequate income for building an institution.

SYSTEMS OF COLLEGES IN SOUTH BEING STUDIED BY MEN ON STUDENT COUNCIL

Council's Aim is to Establish Customs Instead of Rules and Regulations

The Student Council proposes this revision of the Constitution of the Men's Association, which will be voted on Thursday. That in place of Section 3 the following article shall be adopted:

The Student Council shall have the power, to adopt an appropriate honor system. The honor system shall not be in effect until approved by a vote of three-quarters of the members of the Men's Association.

The following by-laws will also be presented for approval:

1. The Honor System shall assume that every Trinity student is a gentleman and a man of honor, and requires that he shall act accordingly in every college activity. Any violation of this principle in any phase of college life shall be considered a violation of the Honor System.

2. Any member of the student body who knows of a violation of the Honor System and who fails to take measures towards its correction and suppression makes himself also participate in crime.

3. Alleged violation and all reports shall be made to any member of the Council, who shall immediately report the matter to the Executive Committee for consideration and action.

For the past week the Student Council has been meeting practically every day in an effort to give to Trinity students the best form of student government that possibly can be established. The systems of other schools in the South are being carefully studied by the Council and it will present a system embodying the best features of these. The Student Government organization employed at Washington and Lee, and declared to be the best in the South, probably comes nearest to suiting the needs at Trinity than any other single system, but some of the ideas used by Carolina, Davidson and University of Virginia will also be adopted in Trinity's proposed system.

The idea of the Council is to have as few rules and regulations as possible but at the same time to develop a government based on customs that will be handed down from one generation of students to another. If such an idea can be put across, the spirit of the school will be greatly increased, which is one of the main purposes of the Council, and every man will feel that it is a matter of honor rather than duty to make Trinity bigger, better and greater in every phase of student activity.

1923 Chanticleer Will Be Greater of Them All

A new, improved, and better arranged issue will mark the 1923 edition of the Chanticleer. Manager O. A. Robinson has already issued the contracts for the printing, engraving, and photography, and work on the different departments has already begun. H. C. Sprinkle, Editor in Chief, is bending his efforts to improve the Chanticleer in every phase of the work.

An entirely new collection of campus scenes will be used to lend artistic taste to the issue, while every part of the book from cover to cover will be re-arranged and improved. The feature articles will be longer and better written, and the beauty section will be a place for beauty, and beauty only. There will be plenty of features. The artistic work and the cartoons will be under the direction of K. W. Litaker.

The contract for the engraving was given to the Bush-Crabs Co. of Louisville, Ky., while the contract for printing went to the Benson Printing Co. of Nashville, Tenn. The White Studio of New York will do the photography work. This company will photograph the various clubs, county and state, as soon as they become organized.

The 1923 issue will cost approximately five thousand dollars and will contain more than three hundred pages. The cover will be of the very grade cow hide, and will be artistically embossed. The

MATRICULATIONS HAVE ALREADY REACHED 833

The student registration at Trinity College this year exceeds by one hundred and fifty-three the number enrolled at the opening of college last year. The total enrollment to date is 833 as against the highest mark reached last year, 766. At no time during the history of the college has the year's enrollment been approached, and if late entrances are as numerous as they have been in the past, Trinity's student body should number well above 900. Detailed statistics obtainable show 365 new students, 146 women at Southgate and a total of 19 law students.

The additional dormitory space obtained from taking over Trinity Park School furnishes adequate room for the increased number and offers as yet some available room.

A review of past enrollments shows the steady and rapid growth of Trinity. Past registration statistics are as follows: 1917-18, 456; 1918-19, 580; 1919-20, 618; 1920-21, 663; 1921-22, 766; 1922-23, 833 to date.

The senior class this year will be the largest class to graduate from Trinity College, for in all probability nearly one hundred will actually receive their degrees in June.

With the increase in the number of students the College campus now contains more men from outside states than have been at Trinity in the past few years. The usual delegations from South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Florida, and Georgia has swollen, while other states not represented at Trinity lately, such as Massachusetts, now have students in our midst. In addition to this, we have with us men who journeyed from Korea, Japan, and South America to meet classes at Trinity College.

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY IS DOUBTFUL QUANTITY

Same Line-Up Will Probably Be Used. Squad Undergoing Strenuous Practice This Week

After the easy victory of the Trinity eleven on last Saturday afternoon college football fans are looking forward with eager anticipation to the second game on the schedule with Hampden-Sidney to be played on Hanes field. It is probable that very nearly the same line-up will be matched against the Virginians as that which overwhelmed the Quakers. The strength of Hampden-Sidney is not known in spite of the defeats which they suffered at the hands of V. M. I. and V. P. I. The coaches believe that the Virginia team will put up a stronger fight than the Quakers, but how much stronger no one is able to say at present.

Fritz Crute may again appear in football goals at the next game in his old position as full-back. With Fritz in the back-field accompanied by two of the four available half-backs, the Trinity eleven will have nothing to fear from that quarter. Johnson, Brown, and Bos-

A WONDERFUL SEASON IS FORECAST FOR TRINITY'S IMPROVED MUSICAL CLUB

Most of Former Members are Back to Form Nucleus. Wealth of New Material on Hand

The Trinity Musical Club, composed of the orchestra, glee club, and mandolin club, is looking forward to a wonderful season. Manager C. E. Jordan reports that a large number of the "old reliables" are back again this year with most enthusiasm and sympathy than ever. Added to this already unbreakable aggregation of "harmony hounds" will be several new men who are showing much promise and ability. The prospects for an unusually fine musical club are excellent.

"Squirt" Turrentine, ex-president and ex-manager of the club, who has piloted it successfully for two seasons, will again handle the drums in his indelible and masterly way. Then there is Grover DeWitt Ruckley, star trombonist and versatile musician; "Rack" is pulling a mean trombone this year. Some of the other notables are: Dick Spencer, the "cornet-wildcat" for two seasons; "Happy" Sheets, bar bass, and premier bouzouk player; A. L. Ormond, baritone; and Frank Warner, the big boy with the little instrument. Frank, it is remembered, has a habit of beating the most execrably screeching jazz out of his diminutive lyre. B. B. Harrison, president of the organization, is an always dependable second tenor. Robert James, a musician of parts, will lead the mandolin club. Many others who have in the past season appeared on the musical programs of the club will be back again.

Among the promising men from the freshmen class are W. Freeman Treadwell, pianist and Mays, cornetist. West

GUILFORD DEFEATED TO TUNE OF SEVEN TOUCH- DOWNS BY BLUE DEVILS

FINE FORM SHOWN BY TRINITY SQUAD IN INITIAL GAME OF THE SEASON

OPPONENTS NEVER THREATENED

Trinity Team Surpassed Expectations in its Initial Game. Star Was Guilford's Star

Getting off with a fast start, and surpassing all expectations, the Trinity eleven opened up the season Saturday at Hanes Field by defeating Guilford 43 to 0. This is the largest score that Trinity has ever accomplished in an opening game, and the smooth work of the entire team enabled the players to outclass Guilford in every department of the game. Coach Steiner used twenty-two men in the contest.

Straight football was used principally throughout the game, only line bucks and end runs being used to net seven touchdowns. Only once was the team successful in gaining the extra point on the try for a point after a touchdown. Neal receiving a forward pass behind the opponents goal.

Although Guilford was represented by a heavy outfit, never once was Trinity in danger of being scored upon. Only two first downs were registered by Guilford. One of these was the result of a forward pass, and the other as the result of line bucks and a smashing end run by Frasier. Many times Guilford bucked the Trinity line only to be held in their tracks or to be thrown for losses.

Although the game did not develop any outstanding stars on either eleven, the splendid defensive work of Hatcher, Neal and Simpson can not be passed over without worthy mention. Hatcher broke through the opposing line repeatedly and threw the runners for losses. Simpson was always in the play and opened up numerous holes in the line for the backs. The hard tackling of Captain Neal broke up many plays for the opposition.

The whole Trinity backfield exhibited splendid form. The work of Johnson, who circled Guilford's end for the longest gain of the game, was good. Boswell, Brown, and Bullock, demonstrated their ability to buck the line. Boswell received a forward pass and made a beautiful run from the thirty yard line for a touchdown. Brown demonstrated his ability at broken field running.

Trinity scored a touchdown after four minutes of playing. Guilford kicked off and Neal received the ball on the thirty yard line. After three unsuccessful attempts at line plunging, Trinity was forced to punt. Guilford received the ball on the thirty-five yard line. On the first play Trinity recovered a punt and made a steady march down the field for a touchdown. Brown carrying the ball over after a fifteen yard plunge through

At last the angel is here!

The literary societies are howling in glee over the new men they're taking in. Soon all will be howling over the big burdens inflicted on their societies.

Wonder how many freshmen saw their first game here Saturday?

Let your conscience be your guide—but don't let it lead you across the grass.

After all, we'll have some traffic regulations in going to chapel. Really this was one of the first jobs the class of '23 tried to get done when it rose to sophomorehood. Progress is slow under some systems—Trinity had sense enough to get a new one.

Members of the freshman class increase in importance every year. Now our requests the President of the College to escort her from the railroad station to the campus.

Credit for the supervision of the first two issues of the TRINITY CHRONICLE goes to Mike Bradshaw, Managing Editor, who started the publication in the absence of the Editor. Supervision of the first issues of the paper means even more than it does at other times, for the Managing Editor had to get out the paper with only the help of the candidates for associate editor who happened to be present, and without any reportorial staff.—The Editor.

The completion of the Alumni Memorial Gymnasium can be greatly hastened if the students already in college will fall in line and help the cause out. The leadership in this matter lies with the senior class, which has under consideration the matter of paying the first annual contribution toward the alumni revolving fund while yet in college. Should the class of '23 definitely agree to do this at its next meeting, prospects for the finishing of the gymnasium will be decidedly brighter.

To the other classes the question will be, "What can we do?" Why not duplicate the contributions made during the Southgate Memorial Hall Campaign? The gym deserves it, and by so doing everyone helps himself.

STUDENT BODY APPRECIATES DUKE'S CONTRIBUTION

It was with the keenest sense of appreciation that the student body of Trinity College received the announcement that James B. Duke had given over a million dollars to the College. Everyone connected with the College—either as student, alumni, or faculty member—has become enthused over the possibilities that are opened by this great increase in the resources of the institution.

But this generous donation from the most liberal benefactor of the College adds another responsibility to the institution and to the students who attend it. We must all strive to our utmost to get the most good possible out of the College and thus make possible by its benefactors, and thus show them that their money is accomplishing something, and that it could not be better used for some other purpose.

Let the good done for the College and for each individual student be reflected in the good which shall be accomplished in the world by those who have been benefited by Mr. Duke's generosity. Let the College prove itself worthy of the trust which alone could have prompted so great a gift.

Trinity is grateful to Mr. Duke for his most generous gift and for the other donations made in the past by him and the other members of the family which has made the Greater Trinity. THE CHRONICLE on behalf of the entire college community extends to James Buchanan Duke its most sincere thanks.

WHY NOT SUPPORT THE BAND?

Among the units that helped in the victory of Saturday but remained unnoticed and received no cheers from the students were the cheerleaders were the Trinity College band. Nowadays even assistant managers of athletics, scrubs on the various squads, and men who try out for intercollegiate debates but fail to place are noticed in a small way, but it seems that to band had to start out with little or no enthusiasm. Trinity does not have a great band because the men seem to regard it as traditional for the band not to be a great one, and for no other reason.

To get rid of this situation in a hurry it is only necessary to realize two things: that the band should be given credit for its work, and that the students should assume the frame of mind that there is nothing too big for Trinity to accomplish. In the case of giving the band credit, the directors of athletics are willing to give them the extra-hour required in physical training classes for their work with the organization, so that students now have an added incentive to give the band their backing, by having more men to try out for it and then give their recognition for their work. Band in hand with this aspect goes the second factor mentioned above.

The fact that the college as a whole does not evince enough confidence in ability to work for and believe in success in any particular line is a condition which has been brought to the attention of certain students by one of its most devoted alumni. Such a situation hinders the progress of the whole college, because those that do have faith in the ability of the success of any Trinity accomplishment find the atmosphere dampened by a few men who always whisper a cloud, or "if" or an "oh if we could."

Let's wake up and cheer the band and anything else that will put Trinity higher up. Pick up your instruments and help win the next few games by being with the band.

THE BOOK ROOM QUESTION

The question of improving the conditions which Trinity students have to face when they purchase their books and other school supplies has already been raised, and it should be kept alive in the thoughts and arguments of all concerned until it is settled to the satisfaction of the main party concerned—the student who spends his good money for the books required.

Trinity men and women are beginning to realize that there is no necessity of subjecting themselves to the inadequate running hours of the Book Room and are turning their thoughts to some way of overcoming this handicap which has caused many students to visit days, or even weeks before calling for books, or of waiting patiently for their turn at the window.

When a person buys a book he should be paying for the book itself and the efficient service which ordinarily goes with it. This rarely happens at Trinity. At some institutions the students are able to buy their books at little more than cost; at many they are free to buy them anywhere, and other places include second-hand exchanges in their book room facilities. Here at Trinity we have the privilege of signing on the dotted line and wasting our valuable time to get hold of what we ordered.

The best and most feasible solution of the whole Book Room question is to turn it over to the Trinity College Store as soon as possible and obtain some good name for it and keep it open to the students during the usual hours of business in the "Dope Shop." Any benefits derived from the enterprise would then go over to the athletics of the college, and the students would be able to purchase their supplies at any time between 8:30 a.m. and 11 p.m.

Of course the Book Room has been the object of many complaints which are unjust and prejudicial. Many students believe that the faculty agrees to change books to increase the turnover of the establishment and to prevent any second-hand book transactions among the students. This is really not the case.

In this connection, the CHRONICLE wishes to correct the statement made in its last issue to the effect that the College Store was forbidden by the College officials to carry notebooks and other supplies because it would interfere with the business of the Book Room. This refers to the fact that the Store began selling supplies last year but discontinued to do so at the request of the manager of the Book Room. Since then it appears that there is no monopoly in the handling of these articles, and the College Store resumed the sale of ordinary school-room supplies early this week.

Another criticism which is unjustly thrust against the Book Room is that it is a veritable gold mine, selling books at a great profit, when in reality text books are sold at a small percentage of profit which in many cases does not cover the losses incident to the non-payment of bills, the failure of books to be sold, not to mention overhead expenses.

Trinity students deserve better service for their money. For years the situation has been "put up with," but as the college grows it becomes worse and it can be improved by the time we get our books at mid-term, or by next September certainly.

NOTICES

Full athletic tickets must be presented by all students for admission to Hampden-Sydney and following games. Students not presenting tickets will be charged regular admission and no refund can be made. Please cooperate with the athletic management by purchasing tickets this week.

B. W. BARNARD, Graduate Manager.

O. A. Roberson, manager of the Chronicle, requests all members of the Junior and Sophomore classes who wish to become candidates for positions as assistant managers on the publication report to him at once.

Subscriptions to THE CHRONICLE may be handled in the case of the Business Manager, 310 Aycock, and at the office of the Editor-in-Chief, 101 Aycock. All subscriptions are payable by February 1. Thirty issues for $2.00.

The annual meeting of the Trinity College board of trustees and the Alumni council will meet on Saturday, November 4. This meeting was postponed from October 3, which is the customary date for Benefactor's Day at Trinity. This year the opening of school was a week later than usual and so Benefactor's Day was advanced to November 4. The changing of the date will allow the Alumni to learn to use the card catalogue, which is the football team in action against Oglethorpe.

W. F. Bailey, coach of the wrestling team asks all men who wish to try for places on the team to report for the first practice in the Gymnasium, Monday, October 9 at 4 o'clock. All men will wear uniforms and be ready to start work at once.

LIBRARY NOTES

The students in Trinity and especially those who are entering for the first time are cordially invited to make use of the Library as a place for studying and for other literary work. One of the first things a student should do after entering college is to find his way to the Library, to learn to use the card catalogue, what a call number is, an accession number, and familiarize himself with the reference books such as periodical indexes, encyclopedias, year books and the like. Until he does this he will feel more or less helpless in the Library here as we do in libraries at every other place. The members of the Library staff will be glad to help all students to learn to use the Library.

If college students who have not done so already will form the habit of reading the current magazines and newspapers a part of each day, they will be grateful to later for having acquired such splendid training as this will give tackle. The second touchdown came as the result of line plunges through center and off tackles. The third touchdown was the result of an outside kick by Simpson and a well executed forward pass, Smith to Boswell. Trinity was unable to score during the second quarter. In the third quarter Bullock received a punt and ran it back thirty yards. After two first downs in quick succession, Johnson took the ball over for a touchdown. The quarter closed with the ball in Trinity's possession on Guilford's ten yard line.

In the beginning of the fourth quarter Johnson again carried the ball over for another touchdown. Another touchdown soon followed, the ball being carried over by Bullock. The final touchdown came near the end of the quarter. Neal accepted a forward pass and ran for a touchdown.

brooks, also from the freshman class, is an experienced mandolin man, as well as being a singer of note, (no pun intended). Another valuable addition to the club is Olive, who comes to us from the University of South Carolina. Olive has already demonstrated his ability, both vocal and instrumental, when he was a member of the U. S. C. Glee Club.

Prof. Twaddell, who has charge of the Glee Club, is putting forth every effort to make the vocal parts of the future programs successful in every way. Under his skilful training the singers are developing melody which far surpasses any of the "corn field" harmony here-to-for heard about the campus. The orchestra, led by Prof. K. B. Patterson, is meeting with no less success, having a wealth of material—old and new—from which to draw.

The band, under the leadership of Prof. H. L. Blomquist, will be up to its usual good standards. Prof. Blomquist reports a large number of freshmen hopefuls who will be given a chance to prove themselves future Sopras or Creators. The band has always been a part of every football game in seasons past, although much credit and appreciation for its generous support has not been meted out to it.

L. L. Rose, '22, who is a member of the Raleigh High School faculty this year, was here to see the Trinity-Guilford game Saturday.

management will present the issue next spring and hopes to retail each issue for five dollars. The representative of the White Studios has been actively engaged in the work of photographing the upperclassmen, fraternity men and women, and will soon be ready to start the work of taking group pictures. His presence on the campus has brought about the annual reorganization of the various clubs which take a prominent part in the publication of the Year Book.

The college clubs organized last week were: the Rutherford College Club, the Wake County Club, the Greensboro College Club, and the Sandhoppers Club. The names of the officers of these clubs are not available for this issue. The Weaver College Club, the Mountain Boomers Club, the Davidson College Club, the Davenport College Club, and a number of other clubs will reorganize and elect their officers this week. The management of the Chanticleer requests that all clubs contemplating organization call their meetings at once and arrange for their space in the annual.

Those who are directing the 1923 Chanticleer have avoided mistakes made in the past and are receiving cooperation which justifies the prediction that the annual this year will be more complete, accurate, and of a higher caliber than the other seven volumes already issued.

Which Type of Research is of Greatest Value?

A stove burns too much coal. A man familiar with the principles of combustion and heat radiation makes experiments which indicate desirable changes in design. That is research.

You want to make a ruby in a factory, a real ruby, indistinguishable by any test from the natural stone. You begin by analyzing rubies chemically and physically. Then you make rubies just as nature did. Your rubies are the result of research—another type of research.

While melting up your chemicals and experimenting with high temperatures, you begin to wonder how hot the earth must have been millions of years ago, and what were the forces at play that made this planet what it is. Your investigation leads you far from rubies and causes you to formulate theories to explain how the earth, how the whole solar system was created. That would be research of a still different type.

Research of all three types is conducted in the laboratories of the General Electric Company. But it is the third type—pioneering into the unknown—that means most in the long run, even though undertaken with no practical benefit in view.

For example, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are exploring matter with X-rays in order to discover not only how the atoms in different substances are arranged but how the atoms themselves are built up. The more you know about a substance, the more you can do with it. This work may enable scientists to answer more definitely the question: Why is iron magnetic? Then the electrical industry will take a greater step forward than can be made in a century of experimenting with existing electrical apparatus.

You can add wings and stories to an old house. But to build a new house, you must begin with the foundation.

Soccer and Volley Ball to Feature Physical Training

Classes in physical training will begin next week, according to Coach Steiner, and will be regulated under the same requirements made last year. Attendance at classes will be watched closely this year, and each man will be graded according to his work.

Outdoor games which have not been played to any extent at Trinity will be introduced by the gymnasium classes, chief among these being soccer and volleyball ball, which are now international sports. With these games and a weekly change of calisthenics, interest in the work will not be allowed to lag. Men who show up well in track work and cross country running will be given extra coaching to get them ready for the teams.

W. F. Bailey, '25, who will again be director of wrestling, states that the wrestling classes will begin on October 9. Bailey is optimistic over the prospects for a strong wrestling team this fall, and arrangements have been made for the men who take wrestling to receive the extra-hour credit in physical training. In selecting the wrestling team a match will be held in which the champion of the college will be determined.

Much Competition For Membership on Staff

THE TRINITY CHRONICLE for the first time has the services of two members of the Senior class on its editorial staff, and although no plans for the future have been made there is a feeling that the responsibilities of issuing such a publication should not be placed in the hands of one or two men, but that more Seniors should be placed on the staff.

In all other respects this weekly is being issued as formerly and the usual contest to select associate editors and reporters is now on. Three men will be selected later in the year for the position of associate editors from the following members of the Junior class: W. L. Clegg, John B. Harris, A. W. Stamey, and J. D. Seerest. These men were reporters during their sophomore year and have already entered into competition for the final selection of the editor-in-chief by doing proof-reading, writing headlines, etc.

"Come, sir," said the teacher to the boy at the foot of the class, "how do you pronounce 's-t-i-n-g-y'?"

The boy at the foot answered thoughtfully, "It depends on whether the word is applied to a human being or a bee."

—Kind Words.

The following couplet is attributed to Bob Burdette, who was a better minister for being a humorist:

Tell my trustees when I am dead that they need shed no tears;

For I shall then be no more dead than they have been for years.

Biology Club Elected New Associate Members

New associate members were elected at the regular weekly meeting of the Biology Club held in Crowell Science Hall on Monday evening. The men who received the honor are: G. D. W. Rackley, F. A. Bridges, B. D. Orr, J. L. Bailey, G. W. Jackson, R. A. Brown, E. H. Lagerstedt, Charles McCauley, R. E. Chesson, and Mr. Cooper of Durham.

At the meeting next Monday evening at 7:30 Professor Bloomquist will give an illustrated lecture on the Plants of the North Carolina Mountains, Their Relationship and Distribution. Professor Bloomquist spent the summer in the mountains collecting plants, photographing them, and collecting other biographical data for the Trinity College Herbarium. His material is a valuable addition to the present collection.

Cheer Leaders for the Year Selected Friday

The pep meeting held in Craven Memorial Hall on last Friday night in anticipation of the Guilford game, was one of the most spirited ones that has been held for some time. Senior Cheer Leader Sprinkle was in charge of the meeting and started it off with several rousing cheers. J. L. Jackson, president of the Men's Association, brought up the matter of sending telegrams of appreciation to the Dukes who recently contributed so liberally to Trinity College. The messages presented were approved by the students and were transmitted to Mr. J. B. Duke and Mr. B. N. Duke.

It has always been the custom at the first pep meeting to elect two seniors and one junior as cheer leaders for the year. With great enthusiasm H. C. Sprinkle, J. L. Jackson and Howard Foy were accorded this honor of being the men who will contribute so much to the results of the games this year.

Coaches Steiner and Burbage expressed confidence in the team that they had developed and Captain Neal assured the students that every man on the field would be doing his best. Mr. Barnard, graduate manager of athletics, made a few remarks on subjects of interest and Professor Cannon and Dr. Cotton each made a talk to the meeting.

Great interest is manifested among the sophomores in their race to obtain reporters' jobs. The eleven candidates began their work on this issue, and the men selected to retain their positions will be announced in the first issue in November.

An important staff meeting will be held just before the Pep meeting Friday night, and it is essential that all men connected with THE CHRONICLE be present.

B. B. Jones, '16 and Law '20 is now practicing law at Kinston.

Melick W. Blades, ex-'24 and George T. Wood, ex-'24 were on the campus lately. Both are now enrolled at the University of N. C.

Dr. W. B. Lee, dean of Trinity Graduates in South America was again appointed to the editorship of the publication of the Methodist Church South in Brazil. Dr. Lee's home is in the City of S. Paulo, Brazil.

W. L. Clegg of the class of '24 was called home recently on account of the death of his mother, which resulted from an automobile accident, in which his father and small sister received injuries also.

RIME OF THE CONSECUTIVE CLERGY

Reverend Hill, when preaching, wore a gown; for that we would not stand
Reverend Humphrey mad us sore
With sackcloth and a four-in-hand.

Reverend Jones was brought to book
For being too reserved and cold;
Reverend Gilmore got the hook
Because his manners were too bold.

Reverend Sharp's stay as brief:
Our ladies called his wife too dressy.
Reverend Brown soon came to grief;
His wife, our ladies said looked messy.

Reverend Spears we thought a lime
Because he was so slow and lazy;
Reverend Howe spent too much time
In exercise we dubbed him crazy.

Reverend Spalding wouldn't do—
He always wrote out his discourse;
Reverend Flint we by-bayed, too—
His sermons had no end of source.

From all that I can gather now,
Reverend Gibbs before next season
Will have to make his farewell bow—
Provided we can find a reason.
Tryphosa Granger in New York Tribune.

TWO VARIETIES

"Bill of fare, waiter, please," demanded the diner.

The old waiter ambled forward.
"The bill of fare, sir, is ham, eggs, bread and coffee," declared the knight of the napkin.

"Then," replied the diner, "I'll have ham, eggs, bread and coffee."
For the old waiter bowed and shuffled out. But a moment later he put his head through the doorway again.

"Guv'nor," he called, "how d'ye want yer eggs—blind, or lookin' at yer?"—Answers.

tion which would be with the great medical schools of America.

As for the policy to be pursued by Trinity in the future it will be very similar to that followed in the past. President Few has expressed the sentiment of the College recently in an interview when he spoke of the vast possibilities of the College to emphasize the quality of the intellectual work. Quality and not quantity is to be the constant watchword of the College.

R. H. Caudill, ex-'25, who was an assistant instructor of gym last year, has been selected as head of the physical training department of the new West Durham community house.

FIFTY-THREE NEW MEN TAKEN INTO LITERARY SOCIETIES THUS FAR

HESPERIANS SECURED SIXTEEN MEN WHILE THIRTY-SEVEN JOINED COLUMBIA

PROMISING MATERIAL IS FOUND

Good Proportion of New Men Begun
Their Careers in Literary Societies Saturday

Thirty-seven new members were initiated into the Columbia Literary Society on last Saturday evening following a short interesting program. According to custom both the Columbian and the Hesperian Literary Societies declared a brief recess after the conclusion of the evening program in order to allow the new men to choose which of the two societies they wished to join.

The new members were each called on for short speeches after the initiation. All of the initiates expressed appreciation of the fact that they had become members of Columbia, and they also promised to aid in advancing the work of the Society by connecting themselves actively with all branches of society work.

The program that had preceded the initiation consisted of short talks by three alumni of the Columbian Literary Society. Professor B. E. Spence, of the Biblical department, urged all new men at Trinity College to connect themselves with one of the literary societies at the College. In his humorous style he set forth the value of literary society training both in college life and in the years that follow a college course. The new men as well as the old members were delighted to hear his jokes and his personal experiences.

B. W. Barnard, athletic director, set forth in a few words the requirements of a well-rounded man at college, in which he included an active interest in athletics, in scholarship, in campus activities, and in literary society work. Speaking from observation and experience, Mr. Barnard made the remark that an ability to express one's thought clearly to an audience is an essential to success in whatever vocation one may choose.

Norman West, law student, spoke in an expository manner on the merits of Columbia as a literary society. He related briefly some of the past history of Columbia, and he likewise outlined the purpose and policy of the Society in the future. In concluding he asked the new men to consider seriously the advantages offered by the Columbian Literary Society to men who desired to express themselves clearly and forcibly.

J. L. Jackson, president of Columbia, welcomed all new members into the Columbian Literary Society, extending to them the right hand of fellowship. Columbia had waited since 1846 for the men of '26, and finally her patience had been rewarded.

To the old familiar call of "Hesperian! Hesperian! Come over here! Come over here!" all loyal Hesperians gathered in front of East Duke to urge new men to align themselves with one of the best influences on the campus. At 7:45 the members of the society with prospective "material" proceeded to Hesperian Hall where the regular weekly meeting took place. Carol Summers made a very interesting address. The debaters for the evening, Edgar Fisher and R. L. Thigpen on the affirmative, W. R. Brown and L. S. Brady on the negative, argued the question, Resolved: That the Volstead Act should be modified. A unanimous decision was awarded in favor of the negative, possibly due to the fact that the judges were prejudiced; all staunch and stalwart men, they, of Trinity's Y. M. C. A.

At the second half of the meeting sixteen new men were taken in. These went through the grueling experience of being called on for short speeches, to which they all responded wholeheartedly, however.

A. S. Barnes, Jr., '20, and Johnny Duncan, spent a few hours on the campus Sunday afternoon.

J. M. Barrett, '22, was on the park Saturday to see the football game.

"Hip" Martin and "Skin" Ferrell, of Winston-Salem, were here for the football game Saturday.

C. B. Houck, '22, paid his friends on the campus a visit last week.

W. E. Powell, '20, was here for the Trinity-Guilford game Saturday.

J. L. JACKSON MADE SENIOR PRESIDENT

Seniors Unable to Select Secretary
After Electing President and Vice-President

J. L. Jackson was elected president of the Senior Class at its election Saturday. The election was quiet and very little interest was apparently manifested although three others of the leading men of the class were nominated for the office. Jackson has been one of the leading men of the College ever since he entered, and is now President of the Student Government Association.

Tom Neal was elected vice-president by a safe margin. This contest called for even less enthusiasm than did the election for President.

But when nomination were called for secretary one of the fiercest political fights in the history of the class was precipitated. According to tradition this office has invariably been given to one of the women members of the class, but Saturday the first person nominated was a man, W. H. Lander, and strange enough his name was placed in nomination by one of the young ladies, Helen Cantrell. Lander was nominated to bear the colors of the co-eds and the bitter fight was on.

On the first vote, which was taken by a show of hands, it seemed that Lander had been elected, although the exact vote seemed to be in doubt. The presiding officers then called for a recount, and though everyone present voted on a straight sex issue, and though the men were in the majority, the vote was announced 44 to 40 in favor of Miss Cantrell. However, the matter seemed so complicated that the class in order to secure a right settlement of the matter decided to have the vote taken by secret ballot.

This vote resulted in a tie so it will be necessary to have another vote taken Saturday. But owing to Miss Cantrell's statement to the effect that she would not accept the office now even if she were elected, it is supposed that Lander will be chosen secretary without opposition.

Juniors Elected Officers Fisher is Made President

After a hot contest Edgar Fisher was elected President of the Junior class at its meeting Saturday, being chosen by a vote of 65 to 41 given Everett Spikes after one preliminary which eliminated two other candidates. Fisher was treasurer of the class last year.

Everett Spikes was elected vice-president and Margaret Frank emerged victor in the race for the office of secretary, both winning by big majorities over numerous candidates. Six men were nominated for the treasurer's job and Carl Knox finally won out, with Rusty Foy a close second. Fritz Smith, quarterback on the football team for two years was chosen over two other nominees to sit as the class of '24 representative at the Athletic Council meetings. Other offices will be filled on Saturday.

Reid Garrett is Elected President of Sophomores

Reid Garrett was elected president of the class of '25. His election was not hotly contested for he proved to be in favor with the ladies and was supported by both sides of the house. Ray Shute was elected as vice-president in a close race, Frank Warner being a close contestant for this office. Alice Thomas, was selected as secretary and treasurer. Bill Bailey, well known as a wrestler, was given the office of Representative on the Athletic Council. W. R. Brown and E. G. Overton were elected as Representatives on the Public Lecture Committee. B. U. Brooks, Jr., made a good run for one of their positions, securing 3 to 6 votes, but due to some political injustice he was defeated.

Classes Privileges Given Women by Their Council

The Women's Student Government Association held a special meeting Thursday night at which time privileges as to classes were discussed and voted upon.

The following privileges were enthusiastically carried:

Freshman Class—(a) Freshmen are allowed one night engagement per week; the engagement to be in the building unless the freshman gets special permission from the Engagement Committee or unless there is a group going out. (b) Freshmen may go down town two afternoons per week, one afternoon which may be an engagement. (c) Freshmen may go to the library one night per week with the permission of their Proctor. (d) Freshmen may go down town to exercise their privilege of voting at the first meeting held in November.

Sophomore Class—(a) Sophomores may have one night engagement per week and one other night engagement on Sunday night to go to church. (b) Sophomores may have one afternoon engagement per week, and they may go down town two other afternoons per week. (c) Sophomores may go to the library two nights per week.

Junior Class—(a) Juniors may have two night engagements per week. (b) Juniors may go down town three afternoons per week, two of which may be engagements. (c) Juniors may use the library whenever necessary. (d) When restrictions are removed from Seniors, Juniors are given Senior privileges.

Senior Class—(a) Seniors may have three night engagements per week. (b) Seniors may go down town every afternoon per week, three afternoons of which may be engagements. (c) Seniors may use the library whenever necessary. (d) Seniors are accorded every other privilege which has previously been given them.

Usual Holiday for State Fair Probably October 19

Although there has been no definite announcement concerning the State Fair holiday, the custom of former years will probably be carried out. All students who have permission from home will be excused for one day in order to attend the fair. Thursday, October 19 will be the date set for the holiday. This holiday is not listed in the catalogue but is set aside by the authorities in case any students want to go.

Heretofore the Fair has had to depend largely upon Raleigh and immediately adjacent sections of the State but this year the support will be statewide. Entries have already been received from exhibitors from every section of the state and every county will probably be represented in the thousands of visitors who will come to Raleigh Fair Week. The big football game has always made Thursday the "Big Day" of the Fair, but this year Wednesday will be of equal if not greater importance as Wednesday has been set apart as "Military Day" with General John J. Pershing the chief attraction. General Pershing will be greeted by legionnaires and others from every section of the state.

ARCHIVE IS TO BE LARGER THIS YEAR

Monthly Publication Will Contain a Supply of Fiction in Order to Interest All Students

The Trinity Archive, Trinity's literary publication, has already gone to press, and the editor announces that it will be ready to deliver by October 15. The Archive will be larger in size this year and will cover more topics than that of last year. The primary purpose of the magazine this year is to give the students something they like. The Archive will contain a good deal of popular fiction and other articles which will be of general interest to the college. W. W. Turrentine, business manager of the Archive, within the next two weeks will canvass the dormitories for subscriptions. To those who wish to contribute to the next issue of the Archive must have their material in to the editor twenty-five days before the issues goes to press. All copies must be sent to the editor, Mike Bradshaw. The management of the Archive is very optimistic over the prospects for this year, and every indication points to the fact that the Trinity Archive will be one of the South's leading college papers in all respects.

The Intercollegiate Prohibition Association offers to students of all American and Canadian colleges the chance to submit essays on "The World Movement Against Alcoholism" in competition for cash prizes totaling $1,180. Forty such prizes ranging from $300 as a first award to $25.00 will be awarded at the International Students Conference of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association at Toronto, Canada, November 24-29, 1922.

Trinity students may participate in this work by sending in their names to the Intercollegiate Press Association offices at Chicago on or before October 15, 1922. Further details of this competition may be found at the editorial office of this sheet.

S. M. Holton, '21, was on the campus last week.

Trinity-Davidson Game Will Be in Greensboro

It has finally been decided that the game with Davidson, on the 28th of October will be played in Greensboro on the Cone Field. This game which was scheduled to be played in Charlotte had to be moved to some other place because Elon and Erskine had secured the only available field in the city for their game on the 28th. There were two cities bidding for the game, Winston and Greensboro, but due to the activity of the alumni in Greensboro the management decided that the Gate City was the logical place for the game.

The Wake Forest-Guilford game was scheduled for the same date and field but it is probable that they will play on Friday since the football fans are anxious to have it played there and they are planning to make that week a big one in the gridiron circles. The bleachers which have been recently placed on Hanes Field will probably be sent to Cone Field in time to be used for the Wake Forest-Guilford game.

The contest between Trinity and Davidson will be next to the most important one on the schedule, and Trinity students will now be able to see every game except one, for special trains will be run to Greensboro for the event.

S. S. Alderman an alumnus and former member of the faculty, is looking after the affair in Greensboro, and is making plans for a big day. The girls from Greensboro College and the State Normal will be allowed to attend the game, and the student bodies of the two contesting colleges will be there in full force.

New students received a hearty welcome at the first meeting of the Y. W. C. A. held last Wednesday night in the auditorium of Southgate Hall. The work of the Y. W. C. A. was explained in its national and local aspects, especially with reference to the student department and the World Student Movement.

The cabinet members were introduced individually to the association, after which Miss Kennedy, chairman of the advisory board, presented the advisory members as follows:

Membership, Miss Ballard; Social, Mrs. Gross; Publicity, Mrs. Webb; Social Service, Mrs. Gates; World Fellowship, Mrs. Cannon; Program, Mrs. Poppler; Finance, Mrs. Spence.

The feature of the evening was the special musical selections rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Cunningham.

Varsity Tennis Squad to be Selected During Week

Prospects for this year's tennis team are discouraging even to the most optimistic onlooker. Only two men of last year's varsity squad are returning, these two being Captain Walter W. Turrentine and C. E. Summers. The other four men must be selected from new material.

The drawings for opponents in the tournament took place today. Those interested in going out for the team should enter this tournament as it will be the only one of the year. The tournament will start Thursday. Notices will be posted on the bulletin boards in East Duke and the gymnasium, relative to the time each man will play and his opponent. After the six men have been selected out of the tournament the candidates defeated will be given an opportunity to challenge any of these men for his place on the team. All men are urged to get in shape immediately.

There will be some inter-collegiate matches this fall, the most important ones, however, will be played during the spring term.

Due to the exceedingly large number of aspirants for the baseball team each spring the task of selecting the squad is a hard one and to lessen the complexity of the situation, Coach Steiner requested Captain Ormand to take the new competitors out on the field for a few afternoons' practice in order to get some idea of the ability of the new material and at the same time secure such data as will render the preliminaries less laborious.

There were about twenty-five men out for practice last week. Although Captain Ormand is not able to speak with any degree of definiteness regarding any particular men, he states that the prospects are very good. He highly commended the hitting of the new recruits.

The practice began last week, and it was announced to the participants that it would continue through a period of two weeks.

well have already established a reputation for themselves that challenges even that of the fast Reid Garrett.

In the line there will probably be changes made from time to time throughout the game providing no reverses occur. Jimmie Simpson is not going to let anyone out him from the position of All-State center if he knows anything about it. Caldwell, Pennington, Taylor, and Hatcher will stop anything that comes their way, and Neal and Carter expect to repeat their brilliant work at each end.

All defects revealed by the Trinity-Guilford game will be remedied this week during secret practice. The team will be working like a machine when they meet their next opponents. After the game

Carolina and Wake Forest will have something else to worry about.
