SOPHOMORE-FROSH AFFAIR WAS SETTLED SATISFACTORILY TO ALL

PUBLIC MEETINGS OF THE COUNCIL ARE DESIRED BY MANY OF THE STUDENTS

MEN SUMMONED BEFORE COUNCIL

Seventeen Sophomores Were Suspended Until Christmas But Decision Was Later Reversed

Seventeen members of the sophomore class have signed a statement pledging their support to the Student Government system at Trinity College, and thereby one episode of the history of the first year of the operation of the Men's Association has been settled. At first the Student Council expected to suspend these men for a short period, but the fact that such suspension coming in connection with the Christmas holidays might be a source of too much joy to the sophomores, the Council held up this sentence, and unless new developments manifest themselves, the case is settled.

These sophomores were summoned before the Student Council, not only for participation in the parade of last Wednesday night, but for their part in the framing of objectionable clauses in a petition to the Council, which stated that if the measures proposed by the '25 men were not adopted, they would take charge of affairs.

The whole affair shows no resistance to authority, no real intention to do wrong, and the CHRONICLE has secured the facts and is publishing them here for their new value.

It all started over the insurrection of someone, whether a freshman or not, who painted the murals of the class of '26 over the lynx and '25 which had been placed by the sophomores in its customary place. On Saturday, December 9, when the first class football games were played, the upper-classes surveyed with chagrin the work of somebody who had the audacity to paint the murals of the class of '26 over the sophomore painting.

The painting of the '26 might have been done by freshmen, or by others, but it remained as a veritable taunt to the sophomores—it was the last straw. As a result, the members of the sophomore class held a large, though unofficial meeting that night.

The meeting was unofficial insofar as it was not called by the class president. Certain resolutions to go to the Student Council were drawn up at this meeting. In the meantime the sophomore class restored the mural '25 to its place on the athletic field wall.

At the next meeting of the sophomores, held last Wednesday night, it was decided that the Student Council would do all it could, with the exception of adopting freshmen caps, as requested by the '25 men. The meeting was nearly over when someone suggested that the old tin can bearing the number '26 stop

Summers Elected President of Hesperia for Next Term

C. E. Summers was elected to serve as president of Hesperia for the coming term, during the election of officers in Hesperia Hall Saturday night. A representative audience turned out to take part in the election and keen interest was evident. Several of the officers were hotly contested and the vote was closer than usual.

The following men were elected to serve during the coming term: C. E. Summers, president; J. E. Bridgers Jr., vice-president; M. Bradshaw Jr., chairman of executive committee; W. L. Clegg, secretary; L. S. Brady, critic; W. G. Bradshaw, marshal.

DRAMATIC CLUB OFFERED BEAUTY AND JACOBIN TO AN EXCLUSIVE AUDIENCE

Men Made Their Debut on Last Friday Night in Booth Tarkington's Popular Comedy

The Women's Dramatic Club presented Booth Tarkington's Beauty and the Jacobin before a select audience in the Hesperia Society Hall Friday night. For the first time in the history of the College men appeared in the cast, and though they showed their inexperience, it was hardly necessary to restrict the attendance in order to conceal the crudity of their acting. While the male characters were undoubtedly far inferior to the feminine because of the experience and training which the latter have had during the past two years, they did show some glimmer of hope and should, after a few more years of apprenticeship, be able to qualify as full-fledged members of the Dramatic Club.

Tarkington's play is built around the events of the French Revolution. The members of the nobility Eloise Danville, and Annie and Louise de Laysane, are attempting to escape from France, and the only scene is laid in a house in the seaport town from which they are attempting to embark. They are discovered by a Jacobin, Valsein, who, however, allows them to go free, with Louise disguised as a woman. There is quite a good deal of entertaining comedy brought into the play, and the whole thing is spiced with Tarkington's inimitable wit.

Hunter Holloway as Eloise Danville portrayed the part of a charming and beautiful French lady in a highly creditable manner. Her acting was undoubtedly the best she has yet attained during her connection with Trinity College dramatics.

Hermia Haynes as Annie de Laysane the sister of Louise did well and showed quite a bit of talent despite the fact that at times her acting was somewhat strained.

M. S. Rose as Valsein, the Jacobin, had the leading male part and played it as though he was a veteran actor instead of a beginner, who has been admitted into the Dramatic Club on probation. The observer who had no knowledge of the history of dramatics at Trinity would have thought that his acting was the equal of the two feminine characters, despite the fact that they had two years of glorious triumphs behind them.

John Bridgers in the part of Louis showed up creditably. His part was rather difficult, but he overcame the difficulties and gave a good interpretation of a French noble, in love with a beautiful lady, fleeing from the attacks of revolutionists.

M. T. Hips played the part of Donserville the fool, in a foolish manner and made quite a hit with the audience. He contributed most of the low comedy to the play, and though the audience was composed largely of critics, his humor took quite well.

"Bo" Robinson did great work in the mute part of a Lieutenant. His acting was almost up to the high standard set last spring by the far famed Houck in Shakespeare's comedy, The Taming of the Shrew.

THE CROWELL SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY HEARD LECTURE BY CAROLINA PROFESSOR

Interesting Address Delivered Last Thursday Night on Friction in the Liquids

Dr. Patterson, Dean of Applied Sciences, of the University of North Carolina gave a lecture on the Aspirating Action of Fluid Currents, here on Thursday night. This lecture was the third of a series of lectures given under the auspices of the Trinity Crowell Science Club. Dr. Patterson's name had been mentioned to the students as a physics authority, and his lecture given last Thursday night probably raised him much higher in the estimation of all present.

The lecture was given on a difficult subject, but the explanation was made so clear and simple that no one could fail to appreciate what was being said. The experiments that were carried out during the lecture were intensely interesting and proved beyond a doubt the truth of the statements made. So interesting was the entire lecture that when the hour was ended, those present showed their appreciation for the worth of such a lecture by giving Dr. Patterson a ringing applause.

More than six experiments were made during the hour to show the uses of fluid friction. Flowers were frozen in liquid air to show the peculiar effect of liquid air on any substance of a higher temperature. Smokey chimneys and the curving of a baseball were explained by the theory of fluid friction. The reason that the wind often blows off the opposite side of a tin roof and the reason that an airplane is able to fly was proved by the same method.

In addition to the members of the club and the students in the Physics courses, many students and faculty members heard Dr. Patterson's talk.

College Closed Today to Prevent Spreading of Flu

The closing of college at one o'clock Monday was announced in chapel this morning. The prevention of a threatened influenza epidemic was the cause of the holidays starting two days earlier. The re-opening of college after the holidays will be as scheduled, Wednesday, January third. This gives a Christmas recess of sixteen days.

The influenza situation at Trinity is not bad, but the closing of school was merely to prevent a re-occurrence of past epidemics.

President Few spent last week in New York on important business for the college.

FRESHMEN WON FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP IN FINAL CLASH OF CLASS SERIES

Juniors, Champions of Last Year, Could Not Withstand Attacks of Freshmen

In a rather one-sided contest the freshmen defeated the juniors on the gridiron last Wednesday by the score of 26 to 6 and won the class championship. The game was featured by many long and runs and forward passes; in fact the freshman team was almost the varsity scrub team, men who had been in Trinity games. The game opened with Weaver kicking off for the juniors. Shipp received for the freshmen and ran the ball back to his twenty yard line. The first three plays netted a first down, and it looked as if the first year men would make a touchdown within the first five minutes of play. However, on the next play, which was scheduled for an end run, Shipp fumbled the ball and was tackled on his twenty yard line. The next three plays were as equally disastrous. The freshmen, unable to make a gain, were forced to kick. Stacey Weaver and Judd, the two junior ends broke up the punt, but the ball was recovered by the freshmen. The quarter ended without any scoring.

In the second quarter the freshmen punted on the first play. A junior back fumbled the kick; whereupon "Pats" Ashby grabbed up the ball and waddled forty yards for a touchdown. No more scoring was made by either side, the half ending with the freshmen in possession of the ball.

The second half began with Shipp kicking off for the freshmen. The juniors ran the ball back to the forty yard line, and with a succession of line bucks, end runs, and forward passes carried the ball to the five yard line. Tyler then carried the ball over for a touchdown. The juniors failed in try for point. The freshmen elected to kick fielded his try and went over tackle for a touchdown. Winters then kicked goal. The freshmen again kicked off to the juniors. The juniors failed time after time on attempted line plunges and again had to resort to lateral tactics. Winters intercepted the first pass and dodged his way thirty yards for a touchdown. He again kicked goal. Freshmen 20, Juniors 6.

The freshmen scored another touchdown in the fourth quarter due to the work of Shipp, W. Weaver, and Winters in tearing off long gains through the line and around the ends. Shipp skirted end for twenty yards on three occasions. Three first downs were made in succession, which brought the ball to the juniors' twenty yard line. Shipp then carried the ball over on an end run. The remainder of the game was series of punts, line bucks and forward passes.

The junior team was strong on the defense but was unable to get its offensive going. The freshmen had a powerful line and a driving backfield. Shipp, Winters, C. Weaver, and Ashby starred for the freshmen, while Newell, Stacey Weaver, and Judd occupied the limelight for the juniors.

ORDER OF TOMBS GAVE BANQUET IN HONOR OF DURHAM BLUE TORNADO

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM WAS COMPLIMENTED ON ITS SUCCESS

GIVEN AT GOODY SHOP FRIDAY

Dean Wannamaker Was Toastmaster of Occasion and Co-operation Was Keynote of Speeches

With cooperation between the two leading educational institutions of Durham as the keynote, the order of Tombs of Trinity entertained the members of the Durham High School football team at a sumptuous banquet at the Goody Shop Friday night. This is the beginning of what is hoped to be a closer spirit of helpfulness and interest between the two schools and is in keeping with the purposes of the Tombs, whose sole purpose is to foster better things for the city.

Dr. Wannamaker was the toastmaster of the occasion. The Dean declared that Durham, on account of its educational facilities, was rapidly becoming one of the best educated cities in the South, and that he had always had a deep interest in Durham High School and the growth of the city that it was doing.

George Allen, president of the Tombs, in a speech of welcome brought out the fact that while there had always been a certain amount of cooperation between the faculties of the two institutions, that there was a need of this between the students.

Principal C. E. Phillips of the High School faculty said that while the Durham High School did not win the championship of the state, he was truly proud of them, for they had always gone on the field with the best of credentials, and that every inch of ground that they had gained they had gained like men. He expressed his appreciation of all that the freshmen had done for his school, and incidentally stated that he had recently recommended to the Board of Education that Trinity be allowed to use the splendid high school basketball court during the coming season.

Principal Neel complimented Durham on its team and explained the purpose of the Tombs. "Don't think you are good. Just know you have a duty and do it," declared this football man in closing.

Bun Hackney, next year's captain of the High School team, in a few words expressed his appreciation to Trinity for her help.

Couch Steiner declared that Durham High had one of the best high school teams that he had ever seen, and their cleanness in the game, due to a large extent to their coach, Judge Watkins, was highly commendable. Gene Brooks, a former Durham High student, explained just what he thought of Trinity as a school and urged that Durham send more of her men to it.

Couch Burdage concluded the speech-making with discussion on the basketball season, and the affair broke up with rousing cheers from the two groups.

No Features in Meeting of Columbians Saturday Night

The meeting of the Columbian Literary Society on last Saturday night was not up to the usual standards.

The query for discussion, was, Resolved That Congress Should Enact Legislation Providing for the Enforcement of the Decision of the Labor Board. L. B. Hollowell appeared on the affirmative alone, and won the decision of the judges. A. B. Gibson and J. E. Kennedy upheld the negative.

Owen Reece spoke for a short time on the subject, How We Are Going to Beat Hesperia Monday Night. If Reece's predictions are true there will be a number of long faced Hesperians on the park Tuesday morning.

TOMBS BANQUET MARKS BEGINNING OF CO-OPERATION

The policy inaugurated by the Order of Tombs to promote better relationship between Trinity College and the Durham High School is to be commended and should receive the support of the entire Trinity student body.

The banquet given the Durham High School football squad by the Tombmen last Friday night is a manifestation in a small, but concrete way, of the fact that the leading men in Trinity College are manifesting an interest in the present affairs and future possibilities of the local High School students, and this interest should be continued and allowed to permeate the whole college community.

Many opportunities for consideration of the value of cooperation between the two institutions are now being afforded, and as has been said, the time is coming when Trinity College is becoming a part of the Durham educational system.

The community of interests, not only between Durham High students and Trinity students, but between our college and the citizens of the city of Durham should be furthered by both, and a feeling of mutual cooperation and assistance engendered.

CONCERNING SPIRITUAL PROGRESS

As the year approaches its final boundary and under the soft grey canopy it prepares to discontinue the march in material life, passing into history and vague memories, let us pause for a moment and make a retrospect of its fullness. Indeed as we look back and note the tiny things it has brought to Trinity in the way of progress, we experience a feeling of deep gratitude mingled with that of pride and elation. Never before as in the past year has the Trinity spirit been raised to such a high pitch.

In the way of material progress the impetus has been great. The plant has been enlarged, the endowment fund increased by a million dollars, a new gymnasium started, definite plans endorsed by which a new religious education building and law building will be erected, student government and the honor system installed, and many other things which contributed to the ever increasing needs of the college have taken form. Probably the most noteworthy thing of the year was the renewed interest taken by the alumni. As an expression of their interest they have pledged their income on a million dollars to be used as a revolving fund. Then too, our athletic teams have won fame on the field and court. Surely we are elated over the wonderful material progress made in the past year, but has our spiritual progress kept pace?

This question is appropriately presented to us at this time of the year in order that we may take stock of our spiritual progress. The eventful year would be indeed unsuccessful to us if it did not contribute to the development of the great unseen, yet so surely potent, realities in us. We can not well overlook this phase of our college life, for we are in college to develop the higher endowments of our minds. Therefore in looking back, we experience a feeling of regret mingled with that of sorrow—regret because we note the wide differences in the things we should have done and the things we have actually done, and sorrow because the same chances and opportunities will never be presented to us again in the same form.

But opportunity knocks more than once at our doors. With this fact in view and a rich experience behind us, let us take a broader aspect of life and renew our tasks with increased vigor. Let us develop our spiritual endowments to the highest possible plane; and, as we approach the end of the year, may our aspirations be guided by the noblest impulses and our hopes, like those of the spheropets of Judea, by the Star of Bethlehem.

A. W. S.

NOTICE

The sudden closing down of college explains the fact that this issue had to be cut down to four pages.

SOPHOMORE-FROSH

the goal post on the athletic field was a thing that looked bad.

The plan was proceeded with, and had it not ended due to an interruption, it might have been carried out as planned. The freshmen, generally, fell in with the plan, and soon a large crowd of students, the freshmen outnumbering the sophomores about three to one, was on its way to Hanes Field when the president of the Student Council appeared on the scene.

Having taken the names of many sophomores, President Jackson assumed control, and after enquiring the meaning of "all this," he told the freshmen to go to their rooms, assuring them that no harm would be done to them. The sophomores were dismissed with the admonition to desist from further activities. Be it said to the credit of the freshman class that several of their number went down to the field and removed the can mentioned above.

Whether Jackson did too much, or not, is not relevant to the case, but his actions show that Student Government at Trinity is a reality. In the face of the unpopularity that was to follow, Jackson did not fail to do his work.

Following this affair, seventeen members of the sophomore class were called up before the Council. At the regular meeting of the class on Saturday, December 16, it was decided that an explanation be drawn up and presented to the Student Council. It was definitely decided that the meetings of December 9 and 13 were official, insofar as a majority of the sophomore class was present and the members were under the impression that these meetings were authorized. The nature of the explanation was to show the college that the sophomore class is not opposed to the Student Council.

The Student Council deliberated for a considerable number of hours in deciding the question.

Despite the fact that considerable opposition has been manifested to the general proceedings, the students better acquainted with the situation feel that this is just the first real period of development of the student government system, and that from it improvements may result. The sentiment among the students will doubtless demand that future meetings of the Council be public.

BASKET-BALL TEAM LOST TO THE FORT BRAGG TEAM IN ITS INITIAL CONTEST

Trinity Tossers Defeated by Slight Margin in Early Season Game Score Was 28 to 26

The first basketball game of the season resulted in a defeat for the local quint. The game was played with the Camp Bragg team Saturday night at Fayetteville, and the score was 28 to 26 in favor of the officers. The Trinity eleven was minus the service of its regular forward, Spikes. The game was exceedingly hard fought throughout and was quite rough at times. Captain Simpson did the best playing for Trinity; while Balmer, a former All-American player shone for Camp Bragg. The Trinity line-up was as follows: Simpson and Graham, forwards; Deal, center; and Brooks and Ritch, guards.
