JOE CARLTON OF WINSTON-SALEM WINNER IN DECLAMATION CONTEST

WINSTON-SALEM STUDENT WON
COVETED 9019 MEDAL
LAST NIGHT

MANY SCHOOLS REPRESENTED

Thirty-five Schools Sent Students to take Part in Contest Held by 9019

Joe Carlton, representing the Winston-Salem High School, was voted the best declaimer in the final contest of the fourth annual Inter-collegiate declamation contest held in Craven Memorial hall under the auspices of the 9019 local scholarship society. The subject of the winner's declamation was "On the Unveiling of the Confederate Monument at Stone Mountain." After the decision of the judges Mr. Carlton was awarded the handsome gold medal offered each year to the best declaimer by the 9019 society.

Thirty-five contestants representing high schools in all parts of the State registered at the 9019 bureau Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. They were divided into three groups Tuesday morning after they had drawn lots for places, and at nine o'clock the preliminaries began. From two of the smaller groups of eleven contestants each, students were chosen for the finals Tuesday evening, and four were chosen from the large group in the Y. M. C. A. hall. The final contest was held at 8:15 p. m. The ten speakers who were chosen by the judges to enter the finals, the subjects of their declamations, and the schools they represented were as follows: President Harding's Lincoln Memorial Address, Everett Westphalen, Raleigh; Only Memories, But What Memories! C. H. Hinton, Charlotte; The Black Horse and His Rider, Ernest Melarity, Durham; Tribute to Woodrow Wilson, Grayson Riggs, Durham; How to Use Your Mistakes, Ralph New, Spartanburg; to the Gladiators, C. E. Wilder, Durham; The Grave of Napoleon, Walter Calhoun, Durham; On Unveiling the Confederate Monument, continued on Page Three.

WAKE FOREST LOSES IN A RAINY TEST TO THE BLUE
DEVIL RUNNERS ON FRIDAY

Although the Contest was Slowed by a Steady Downpour of Rain the Race was Exciting

Drenched by a steady downpour of rain and running in a sea of mud, the Wake Forest team followed the example of the batsmen and netmen and handed Wake Forest the third defeat of the week at the hands of a Trinity team by a score of 43-34 to 53-14. Both teams were slowed up by the condition of the field, but, nevertheless, each event was hotly contested.

The Wake Forest men took eight first places, but in addition to the five first places captured by the Methodists they took ten second and seven third places. They were thus able to take the contest. Flannigan, Daniels, and Bailey each contributed ten of the 53-14 points of the Baptists, while Lagerstad was high scorer for the Methodists with eight points.

100-yard dash—Flannigan, (Wake Forest), 11 seconds.

400-yard dash—Bailey, (Wake Forest), 4:04-12.

440-yard dash—Tully, (Wake Forest), 57 seconds.

Shot put—Hatcher, (Trinity), 33-5-4.

High jump—Beverly, (Trinity), 5 feet, 6 inches.

200-yard dash—Daniels, (Wake Forest), 28-4.

Two-mile run—Bailey, (Trinity), 19-11.

Discus—Lagerstad, (Trinity), 102-5-12.

Half mile run—Bailey, (Wake Forest), 2-12.

Pole vault—Searings, (Trinity), 9 feet.

200-yard dash—Flannigan, (Wake Forest), 23-4.

Javelin—Moore, (Wake Forest), 148-0.

Condition of Joe Ruff is Improving Watkins Reports

Encouraging news was contained in a message received by Rev. G. T. Watkins, of Trinity avenue, from Basil M. Watkins regarding the condition of Joe H. Ruff, who is in a serious condition in Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore. The message was received Monday afternoon and stated that Mr. Ruff had shown slight improvement and that he had a chance to recover.

FRESHMEN TEAMS ARE MAKING GOOD RECORD

REGULAR COACHES HAVE CHARGE OF THE FRESH TEAMS
THIS YEAR

NOT TO PLAY ON THE VARSITY
Freshmen Teams Will Be Better Next Year, for All Fresh Will Be on These Teams

Since the semi-organization of freshman athletic teams last year when varsity and freshmen played as the freshmen teams, decided progress has been made in this department of college athletics. Regular coaches were provided for the present year and under the tutelage of these men the freshmen have made a creditable showing in comparison with other first year teams.

Tom Neal had charge of the football team this year, and though the freshmen won only one out of five games played the showing which they made was good when one considers that the most promising material of the class was used on the varsity team, and four or more freshmen were awarded the coveted "F" for participation in the varsity games.

The freshmen had a good basketball team this year. In spite of the fact that Ware and Kinnah who were the best candidates from the class were used on the varsity, the freshmen won the majority of their games, and lost the state championship only by a very close margin. Material was developed on this team which will doubtless aid the openings in the varsity for next year.

The baseball season has just opened, and Coach Neal has been hard pushed to find a well-balanced team among the many candidates that have reported for practice. The pitching staff is weak and the outfield is yet unsettled, however the team has broken even in the games played winning two and losing two.

The teams will doubtless be much better next year for the one year rule still keeps freshmen from playing on the varsity teams.

TRINITY LAW SCHOOL RANKS AMONG THE FIRST OF SOUTH

Record of Trinity Law Graduates on State Examination Surpasses Any School of the State

The advantage offered at Trinity to anyone who expects to study law cannot be equaled in the South. According to the recent rating of law schools by the national authorities, Trinity has the only "A" grade law school in the southern states, and is one of the fifteen law schools of that grade in the entire nation. One can readily realize the proper appreciation offered by the Trinity Law School.

The dean of the School is one of the leading authorities on legal affairs in the country. Dr. Samuel P. Monahan, II, is the author of several volumes on the subject and has been cited by many other law schools. The other members of the faculty are Messrs. Bess and Lockhart, who are not only teachers in the school but are two of the most successful attorneys of North Carolina.

The degree of LL.B. is offered for three years of work in the curriculum of the school. Two years work one to pass the state board.

If elected, he will be the first President of the Council.

N. C. Academy of Science to Meet at Trinity Soon

The annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science will be held at Trinity College, May 2 and 3. Prof. Bert Cunningham, of the Department of Biology, is secretary of this organization. An exceptional program will be presented, and scientists and those who are interested in science from all over the state will congregate here for the 23rd annual meeting.

It is said the young declaimers could not distinguish between the professors and some of the seniors on the campus because of the dignity of the latter.

Nineteen High Schools Have Made Entries to Championship Contest

The coming High School Championship Track meet which is to be held under the auspices of the Athletic Association on May 10 should be of interest to every high school student in the state. To some extent it should be of interest because they will have representatives who will be competing for the prize offered to the winner and to others it should be interesting because they should be interested in having their school represented in this meet next year.

To date nineteen schools have entered teams to compete in this tentative contest. Those making entries are: Farmville, Raleigh, Durham, West Durham and Palling Creek. Tentative acceptance, Winston-Salem, Lenoir, Marshfield, Clay, Wilson, Lexington, Bahama, Lewis Grove, Montpelier, McLeansville, Thomasville Baptist churches, Bonaville Baptist, Scotland, New Bern, Goldsboro, Bluff Square, Wilmington, Smithfield, Columbus, Hillsboro, Meigs, and Haw River. Entertainment is to be furnished by the school. Two years work one to pass the state board.

N. C. Glee Club Contest TO BE AT TRINITY IN JUNE

New Undertaking of Colleges of State
Promises to Be the Biggest Event of the Year

On the night of May 1, 1924 the first inter-collegiate Glee Club Contest for North Carolina colleges will be inaugurated. This undertaking is a new thing in N. C. Collegiate circles, but interest has been manifested by the various colleges of the state, and it is certain that at least three colleges will be represented and in the future this will perhaps be one of the big events of the collegiate year.

The contest is being sponsored by the first civic clubs of Durham and will be staged in Craven Memorial Hall at Trinity College at 8:00 P. M. Judges will be selected to choose the winning club, and with the honor and prizes which are offered to the victors a most delightful program will be in store for those who attend the concert.

A smile may be contagious, but no one should be afraid to become exposed to the habit.

Yellow Jacket Took Well With Students

CHINESE PLAY WAS PRESENTED
BY TAURIAN PLAYERS
APRIL 4

Dramatic Club Was Organized Three Years Ago by Women of the College

The organization now known as the Taurian Players was organized at Trinity three years ago by the girls of the college and was first known as the Trinity Dramatic Club. The girls soon discovered, however, that they needed the men in their organization, and in 1922 men were admitted to the organization. The men soon proved their worth. They were given a chance to do this in the two plays that the club presented during the school year of 1922-23, during which they played "The Juncos" and "If I Were King" were staged. The acting of the men in these plays convinced the girls forever that they need their good football judgment by admitting the men to the association. Both of these plays were highly successful, though the honor for the season of the club was due as much to the coaching of Mr. Paul B. Gross as to the work of the members of the Dramatic Club.

When 1924 rolled around, and the Dramatic Club decided to stage "The Yellow Jacket"—a very popular Chinese play which is very difficult to present on the American stage, the members of the club decided that they needed more protection men, and also a name that would be more appropriate for an organization that has already made a reputation for itself.

So it was decided that Taurians should be the name of the club, and now the Taurian Players are known not only in Durham but in various sections of the States as well.

The presentation of the Yellow Jacket was extraordinary for an amateur company of players, and was pronounced a success even by those on the campus who had spoken so sarcastically about amateur staging of such a difficult play as the Yellow Jacket.

The Taurians hope to widen the scope of their work by the bureau of information and assistance that has recently been organized for the benefit of high school students throughout the state that are interested in dramatic work.

The play to be presented next year has not been selected yet, and will not until next fall, but it now seems evident that the play is selected will be carried to various cities of the state. This will put the Taurian Club on the same footing of student interest as the Glee Club, the athletic teams, the Debate teams, and other student groups that tour the state and South each year.

The Chasid Club held one of the most successful and interesting meetings of the year on Tuesday evening, C. C. Jennings told the story of Miss Suckler's "The Cornard of Thomphay."

ORATORICAL CONTEST TO BEGIN AT TRINITY NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

COLLEGE WILL BE HOST TO N. C. PEACE SOCIETY
SPEAKERS

ALLEN TO REPRESENT TRINITY

Practically Every College in the State Will Send Men to Compete for the Many Prizes

The annual inter-collegiate peace oratorical contest will be held next Friday evening in Craven Memorial Hall at 8:15. Trinity is this year host to the speakers of this annual classic meet between the orators of the colleges of North Carolina. Mr. G. V. Allen of the senior class is to represent Trinity.

This is an annual event held under the auspices of the North Carolina Peace Society. The contest next Friday evening will be the eleventh of these events. Two substantial cash prizes are offered to the winning speakers of the occasion. The contestant chosen as the winner of the first place is awarded a prize of $75, while the winner of second honors receives $50.

As a rule all the largest colleges of North Carolina send representatives and it is expected although not known that this will be the case this year. Representatives that are expected to compete for the two prizes next Friday evening are from the following institutions: University of North Carolina, Wake Forest, Davidson, Guilford, Elon, North Carolina State, Lenoir, Atlantic Christian College, and probably many of the junior colleges. Professor F. S. Blair of Guilford College, who has been the secretary of the North Carolina Peace Society since its organization in 1915, will select the contestants at 4 P. M. after dinner in the economics room of East Duke Building.

George Allen of the senior class has been selected to represent Trinity in the classic meet. Trinity speakers have won first place on two occasions in the past and on three other occasions have won second honors.

A great amount of interest is being manifested throughout the state in collegiate circles in this contest this year as on all previous occasions. A large audience is expected to greet the speakers next Friday evening in Craven Memorial Hall. The speakers are to be the guests of the Hesperia and the Columbia Literary Societies while on the campus.

TRINITY SUMMER SCHOOL EXPECTED TO HAVE THE BEST YEAR OF HISTORY

Students May Pass 12 Semester Hours of Work During Two Terms of the Summer School

The Trinity College Summer School is expected to have the largest enrollment this year than ever before. Between three and four hundred applications for enrollment have already been received.

This school is held for three purposes: to offer college students who are behind in their work, or who wish to take courses in addition to the regular work, an opportunity to take these courses; second, to offer desired courses to teachers; and third, to ascertain the high school graduate who intends to enter college in the fall to college life and college studies.

The Summer School will open June 10. The first term of the school will close July 21. The second term will begin July 21 and will close August 30. Recitations will be held six days in the week each Monday except July 14 being a holiday.

College credits are given as follows: A series of five hours a week for six weeks counts for two semester-hours of credit in Trinity College. No student is given credit for more than six semester-hours of work or allowed to take more than fifteen hours of work a week without the consent of the Director and of the instructor in whose department the student expects to do his major work. Thirty-five instructors offer courses in the school this year. Professor Holland Hinton is the Director of the Summer School.

First Freshman: "Have you seen the new football coach?"

Second: "Now, how many players can ride in at once?"

First: "Dunno, haven't seen it either."

The College "dunkies" swelled their chests last night when one of the contestants spoke on "How to Use Your Mistake."

It used to be that the mention of a woman's neck was taboo in good society. Now it is the favorite topic of conversation among the younger set.

In addition to their scholastic skills the members of the 9019 society have achieved quite a reputation lately for art in making beds for the delinquents.

It will be quite a revelation to some of the students on the campus to read in this issue of the Chronicle that Trinity College has a library.

'73 is a wide gap between high school and college, but most of the delinquents who came here have a good enough line to get over it on.

The baseball situation among the colleges in this State reminds us of our favorite boarding house dish, that is scrambled eggs.

About the only difference we noticed between the lads who came here to the claim and the motley crew that carried here last Fall for the first time is that the former looked intelligent.

HIGH SCHOOLS AND TRINITY

Trinity has just been the host to some forty odd young men from about the same number of high schools in this State. These men came to Trinity upon the invitation of the 9019 scholarship society to participate in an annual inter-collegiate declamation contest in competition for a medal offered by the society to the best high school declaimer.

The duty of the host has been both beneficial and pleasant. We find that occasional contact with students of pre-tertiary institutions of learning brings us back to earth again and reminds us that from such as these we came. Such a reminder is good for us. Sometimes it produces our inflated conceits. Again it impresses us with a keen sense of indebtedness to the College which has nurtured us for the last several years.

Then, too, we realize that the high school student gains immeasurably from this association with college students and the taste of campus life. As a consequence he becomes more determined to pursue his education through the high school and the college. If he has already decided to go to college when he enters the contest, he is more able to determine what institution he wishes to enter after he has completed his high school work because of his visit to one of the colleges. It is because of this interest in the welfare of State high school students and the desire of College officials and student leaders that Trinity is enlarging its program for bringing the best talent in more intimate relation with the College. In addition to the annual 9019 declamation contest Trinity will be the sponsor of a large number of young athletes from the high schools of the State at a track meet here in May. Next year local athletic officials are planning to stage a state high school basketball tournament on the floor of the Memorial Gymnasium somewhat on the order of the Southern tournament which was held in the Southern colleges.

These are just a few of the indications that Trinity is interested vitally in the high school student, because he is the end-product of the next few years. Trinity wants the best students to enroll here every year, and so she is trying to interest the best high school students even before they finish high school.

THE PIONEERS

As we have devoted this edition of the Chronicle to the high schools of the State, it is well to pause a moment and give credit to the originators of this idea of bringing the high schools in closer relationship with the colleges—the 9019 society.

Forty years ago the 9019 society, wishing to contribute to the growth of the College, instituted the annual declamation contest as a means of drawing the desirable type of students to Trinity. This manner of college advertising was something new in this State at the time. It was the first time that a college had been known to other colleges of North Carolina. But the credit for its beginning goes to the scholarship society.

Every year a close observer is able to distinguish a dozen or so of the high school contestants of the preceding year in the freshman class. Still others come over as they finish high school. And thus the annual declamation contest serves as a study feeder of the most promising high school students in the State to the College. And Trinity reaps the benefit.

Athletic officials have come to realize the value of this contact with the high school as a dependable source of attracting worthy students to the College. That they are following out this same idea is seen in the plans for a high school track meet and a basketball tournament. This is all commendable. But one should not forget to recognize the 9019 scholarship society as the forerunner of this more expansive program of a Greater Trinity.

TRINITY AND PROGRESS

Trinity has long been recognized the country over as one of the most progressive educational institutions of the South if not of the country. Its growth has been phenomenal. From a insignificant log-cabin secondary school it has grown in the course of a half century or less to one of the leading national colleges of the South.

Long ago Trinity achieved a national reputation by reason of her courage in remaining steadfast, even in the face of danger, to a principle upon which our government was founded—liberty of thought and speech. Since that memorable victory she has maintained this principle and the ideals which the early presidents of the College set for her.

But that is history. And we are interested primarily in current events and the things that just happened. Here, too, Trinity ranks with the highest. Though no definite plans can be released as yet concerning the plans of College officials for the development of Trinity, it suffices to say that a mammoth building program is underway. Every phase of the College is to be expanded as never before. With the aid of Coach Howard Jones Trinity athletics has been raised to a level seldom reached by southern colleges. Likewise in the departments of religious training, in the science department, in the business administration group, and in numerous other departments of the curriculum developments are being made.

The enrollment of the College has doubled within the last four years, and every year promises an even greater number of applicants for admission. With the release of the building program Trinity will be the better prepared than ever to offer high school graduates the best opportunities for most any field of study into which they wish to enter.

FORENSIC TEAMS HAVE MADE A GREAT RECORD

DEBATING CONSIDERED ONE OF FOREMOST ACTIVITIES OF COLLEGE

OPEN FORUM PLAN IS ADOPTED

Trinity Teams Have Won a Large Majority of the Inter-Collegiate Contests That Have Been Entered

Trinity has one of the most outstanding records in debating of any college, as the success offered for development along the lines of public speaking and argumentation can hardly be surpassed. Debating is considered as one of the leading activities and those who represent the College in intercollegiate contests are awarded letters just as much as are the athletes who advance the interests of the institution upon the field.

Debating is of course centered around the two literary societies. A debate is a part of every weekly program. In this manner chance is given for the debating of students in formal ability from the very beginning. If a young man has never had the opportunity for training in this line his preparation, he must start at the very beginning in his society and by the help to try to attain it he may become an accomplished debater before his four years are over. This is that other some of the best speakers in the upper classes are men who in their freshman year did not have the rudimentary principles of public speaking.

Those who are more advanced have an equal opportunity for further training and development. Anywhere from three to five intercollegiate contests are arranged every spring. Professor Holland Holton holds the regular position in the faculty as Coach of Debating. A plan at Trinity's debating record is enough a guarantee of the superior training offered at Trinity. Trinity has won a large majority of all the intercollegiate contests that she has entered. This year there were only three intercollegiate debates. The first was with Swarthmore College of Pennsylvania, and Trinity's first debate held as the open forum plan as the work. Under this plan there was no technical decision. The second was with Davidson, where Trinity won a 2-1 victory. The other is to be held on May 6 in Atlanta with Emory University.

DEPARTMENT OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION IS GOOD

In Accordance to Demands Trinity Has Built Up a Splendid School of All Business Students

In keeping step with the wishes and demands of the time, Trinity has built up one of the strongest departments in the college administration to be found in the State. The faculty in this department is especially strong being composed of Drs. Glason, Cotton, Mason and Mr. Carpenter.

Under the Department of Economics and Political Science a special course of study is offered which though leading to an A. B. degree deals largely with subjects which are of interest to the student who is looking forward to a business career after graduating from college. During the Junior and senior years in college one has an opportunity to take specialized study in such subjects as money and banking, public corporation, investments, transportation, accounting, etc. This department is growing rapidly, and has met thus far with marked success.

Student Government Association Ending Third Year of Existence

The Men's Student Government Association of Trinity is now finishing up the second year of its existence at Trinity. After many years of student government propaganda in the college year 1912 the students of Trinity voted in favor of a student government association and its organization was sanctioned by the authorities. In the spring of 1922 the first officers of the Men's Association of Trinity College were elected and inaugurated.

ANNIVERSARY OF NOTED SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY FITTINGLY CELEBRATED

DR. A. D. F. HAMLIN OF COLUMBIA DELIVERED ADDRESS ON WEDNESDAY

FIVE STUDENTS ARE ADMITTED

Three Prominent Alumni Are Initiated Members of This Distinguished Work in Ten Years

The 150th anniversary of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, the National scholarship fraternity which is known practically all over the world, was celebrated at Trinity Wednesday evening, April 10, by the annual Phi Beta Kappa address delivered in Craven Memorial Hall by Dr. A. D. F. Hamlin, father of Dr. M. L. Hamlin of the Trinity faculty, delivered the lecture, under the subject "Gardens of the Old World."

Dr. Hamlin is a national figure, as is known as the dean of architecture of this country, and he is now professor of the history of architecture at Columbia University. Besides his teaching Dr. Hamlin has done other noteworthy work, especially in connection with a number of books and many articles on architecture and landscape designing. In which he is especially interested.

Dr. Hamlin's lecture Wednesday evening dealt with, especially, the gardens of Europe. The lecture was illustrated by stereoscopic views, and the lecturer's intimate and personal knowledge of the gardens he showed and lectured about made his lecture of double interest to his audience.

Although very instructive, his lecture seemed to have as its primary purpose the showing of the cultural aspect of his subject. The Italian gardens, with their terraces and lawns, the French gardens with their broad and beautiful boulevards, the English gardens with their forest backgrounds and their domestic life, the quiet and picturesque gardens of Japan, the gardens of the ancient times in all their voluptuousness, these and many others were discussed and illustrated.

Last winter Dr. Hamlin delivered of lectures on American art and architecture at the Ecole des Hautes Sciences located in Paris.

The Phi Beta Kappa banquet was held, last before Dr. Hamlin's lecture, at Southgate, while the initiation of the new candidates for the fraternity began at 2:30 in the afternoon in the East Duke building.

At the lecture in the evening Professor Holland Holton introduced the speaker in his introductory speech gave some of the history of the Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity. It was organized in 1776 at William and Mary College, at Williamsburg, Va. It is the oldest of the Greek letter fraternities, and is, in fact, the progenitor of the entire college fraternity system.

It is a scholarship fraternity, and college students are taken in solely on the basis of their grades. Alumni are taken in on the basis of their achievements in education, science, or literature, their standing in the profession in some fields within ten years after their graduation from college.

The students who were initiated into the order Wednesday were: John T. Lanning, Nora Chaffin, Lillian Blanche Johnson, G. C. Ervin, and Robert H. Jones. The alumni were: Dr. N. L. White, of the Department of English at Trinity; Prof. Quinton Holton, of the Department of History in Durham High School; and Harlan P. Taylor, who is in charge of the Technical and Research Laboratory of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries, of New York City.

Too bad an inter-fraternity banquet cannot be staged every night with the faculty invited. Some of us learned that the faculty were not such a bad sort of men after all. With time we may form a very high opinion of said faculty.

Don't stay out later than dawn, fair co-ed, for that isn't conventional.

Trinity Loses Hardest Battle of the Season to Carolina in First of Games Between Two Rivals

Coach Howard Jones

SANDERSON AND BRYSON HAVE BATTLE ROYAL ON THE MOUND

METHODISTS THREATEN NINTH

With Two Men On and No One Down in the Ninth It Looked as if Would Be Tie

Before an immense crowd Carolina defeated Trinity in the first game of the season before these two rivals by a score of 1 to 0. The game was one of the fastest ever witnessed on the home ground, and it was a beautiful picture that unfolded before the eyes of the spectators. Both pitchers were in superb form, Sanders allowing only three hits and Bryson being touched for only four by the Methodists. Carolina registered the only two errors of the game, and the spectators were kept in suspense by the old game of three up and three down from one inning to another.

The winning run, and incidentally the only score of the game, came in the fourth inning when Coffey singled, Morris walked, and Bryson was thrown out at third when he attempted to outrun the fast combination of Johnson-Smith. Dooler singled to center field, and Morris, who had been out at first, was back for the only score of the game. The next two Carolina men struck out, and Sanders' balls were all mystery to the batters for the rest of the contest, as were hits being rung up by the Peter machine. In the last of the ninth Trinity threatened to tie the score. Turner singled, and Dooler walked, but after being pounded in the dumps by one of Bryson's wild ones, Rybler flew out to left field, and Johnson drove one down to short and forced Rybler out at second. Chappell, the last man up, hit to second, and the game ended.

The feature of the game was the wonderful pitching of Bryson, who, although Sanders allowed fewer hits and struck out four more men than Bryson, the breaks went the other way, and Carolina clinched one of the most exciting games ever seen on Hanes Field. Below is given the box score of the game.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL TRAINING MUCH IMPROVED

Interest Stimulated Among Students in Athletic and Physical Education

During the time Coach Herman Steiner has been connected with the department of physical training at Trinity College there has been a decided improvement in the physical training program of the college. While James Rybler, who was Steiner's assistant, was in charge, Steiner came to Trinity in the fall of 1921 plans were made to interest every student in some form of athletics. Included in these plans were plans for inter-annual, inter-class, and inter-fraternity contests. During the span of these three years inter-class contests have been carried on in three of the major sports and inter-annual and inter-fraternity contests have been carried on in basketball.

Aside from promoting athletics among the students Mr. Steiner has also improved the physical education of the students to a large degree. Classes have been formed in the physical education department to train students to become physical education instructors after finishing college.

The Tau Kappa Alpha, a national debaters fraternity with the purpose of the promotion of inter-collegiate forensic contests, has also established a chapter at Trinity. This fraternity is open to all students who have taken part in one or more inter-collegiate debates.

NEW GYMNASIUM STANDS AS MODEL OF ITS KIND

BEAUTIFUL BUILDING ERECTED IN MEMORIAM OF TRINITY MEN KILLED IN FRANCE

SWIMMING POOL IS WONDERFUL

All Students Are Required to Take Some Form of Physical Exercise Under the Trained Officials

Trinity's new Memorial Gymnasium is one of the largest and best in the entire South. There are now in North Carolina that can be seen compared with it is a large building made of red brick that stands overlooking the athletic field as a beautiful and fitting monument to the Trinity men who made the supreme sacrifice in the recent war. The cost of erection was borne by the alumni of Trinity. It is one of the most costly gymnasiums anywhere collegiate circles.

On the inside of the building is well equipped for all the work of the students in sports or regular gymnasium classes. The main floor contains the gym equipment and the largest basketball court in the state. There are two other courts running across the main one, thus making it possible for two games to be played at the same time. Provision is made for volleyball games and any other form of indoor sport. Upstairs on the second floor is a large gallery enclosing entirely the main floor and rooms for wrestling and boxing. The basement of the gymnasium is taken up with lockers, supply rooms, coaches' offices, dressing rooms, and shower baths. The equipment for physical development of Trinity students is unsurpassed.

The feature attraction of the gymnasium is its new swimming pool which was constructed at the cost of more than $20,000. This pool is one of the largest in this section of the country. Equipment and provision are made for all forms of water contests and intercollegiate meets. This part of the building is tiled all around and is one of the most really beautiful things at Trinity. A regular swimming instructor is employed and students have the privilege of its use at regular hours each day.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS OPEN TO COLLEGE STUDENTS

Four Organizations on the Park Give Adequate Opportunity for Work in the Field

Religious organizations play an important part in the activities at Trinity. These organizations include the Ministerial Band, the Student Volunteer Band, and the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. The Ministerial Band, as the name implies, is composed of young college men who definitely intend to become ministers of the Gospel after leaving college, or who are already serving as part-time preachers while in college. The Student Volunteer Band is an organization of young men and women who expect to do some form of Christian work in foreign lands after leaving college and who have voluntarily offered their services to the cause of carrying the teachings of Christ into all parts of the world. All students are given the privilege of joining the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. These associations meet once each week during the college year, hear interesting and instructive talks by well-known speakers, carry on important activities about the college campus, and do much to promote interest in things of a religious nature.

The National Literary Fraternity, Sigma Upsilon, has a chapter at Trinity College under the name of the Fortnightly Club. Members are elected from the Junior and Senior classes who have previously manifested some literary taste and ability and who are especially interested in literature. The meetings of the Fortnightly Club are held every first and third Thursday night of the month.

LIBRARY CONTAINS OVER ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND VOLUMES

Nearly Five Thousand Volumes Have Been Added to the Collection Since Beginning of Term

The Trinity College Library Building is a beautiful structure of red pressed brick, trimmed with granite, and has a capacity of more than one hundred thousand volumes and about 40,000 pamphlets, nearly one half of the pamphlets having been accumulated. It is estimated that during the present year over 25,000 volumes have circulated among the student body, this circulation being the largest that has ever been known at the College.

The Library is spending practically $150,000 this year for books, magazines, and bindings. This year has been one of the highest in the history of the library for receiving books, nearly 5,000 volumes having been already added to the library since last September. The Trinity Library is a very busy place and is serving as an important factor in the development of the younger generation into useful citizenship.

DURHAM BLUE WIN FROM BLUE DEVILS ON MONDAY

Although Outrigger and Outfitted the Bulls Came Out on the Big End of Score

After getting off to a poor start, Pierson of the Durham Bulls managed to hold the slugging Blue Devils in check during the remainder of his stay on the mound. He was succeeded by Hackney who was even more successful against the collegians. Dempster pitched a masterful game against the predebutants with the exception of three innings in which the Bulls scored their runs aided by errors of omission and commission by Dempster's mates.

Although outrigger and for the most part outfitted by the Methodists the Bulls came out on the big end of a 3-2 score in the Easter contest in which these two teams furnished the opposition. The Bulls were unable to connect safely with Dempster's offerings until the fifth inning. In this inning, however, they scored four runs. They scored two runs in the seventh and their final two in the eighth inning.

The Blue Devils fell on Pierson like a ton of bricks in the first inning and aided by a walk and two hit batsmen three hits netted them three runs. Three men were left stranded on the sacks at the end of this inning. The Trinity team filled the bases with only one run in the second but at this point Pierson hit his stride and worked himself out of a hole. During his mound work and the ability to hit when his counsel marked up all of the Bulls' runs in the latter stages of the game.

Just because a fellow shows his temper is no sign that he is made of true blue metal.

LITERARY SOCIETIES ARE GREAT FORCE AT TRINITY

The Total Enrollment of the Three Societies is About Three Hundred Members

For three quarters of a century the Columbian and Hesperian Literary societies have played a vital part in the life of Trinity College. The Columbian was organized in 1846, and the Hesperian a short while afterwards in 1851. From a historical standpoint the two societies have experienced practically all the adventures and good fortunes of the College. During the first days of the College, the dark period during the civil war, the period of reconstruction, and the present days of prosperity they stand as a force leading its intelligence to the betterment of the community. However, as intimated it is not only in history that the societies find their place in the life of the College.

At the present time there are about three hundred society members. The membership is almost equally divided with Columbian having about twenty members in the majority. From this large membership it is evident that there is quite a bit of constructive work as a result. Among one of the most outstanding achievements the Literary societies in 1920 made plans for the publication of the Chronicle, which they are doing at the present.

TRINITY TRACK TEAM LOOKS LIKE A WINNER THIS YEAR

Has Shown Up Well in Meets With Wake Forest and Hampden-Sydney

The Trinity College track team bids fair to have the best team this year that has represented the college on the outdoor paths in several seasons. The team has gotten off to an auspicious start having won the first two meets of the year with Hampden-Sydney and Wake Forest and having shown up very well in the inter-collegiate meet which was held before the regular season began.

The Trinity team is this year strong in the field events in which it has heretofore been weakly weak. Only by delicately defeating Wake Forest in the pole vault and discs was Trinity able to win the meet. Up until the last three events the meet was anybody's meet. Trinity came through and won all three places in the pole vault and discs and placed in the javelin throw for a ten point win. Trinity showed up very well against Hampden-Sydney in the field events. Hatcher, Jones, Lagerstadt, and Hookabee have starred for Trinity in the field events.

Mahy has stood out as almost unbeatable this year in the two mile, while Belmont and Whitlow have shown excellent form in the mile run. Bedford is the 440 run, Lagerstadt, in the 220 low hurdles, and Beverly, in the high jump have been consistent point-winners.

Co-Ed News

The phase of collegiate life which is being most highly developed among the women now is athletics. Until five years ago athletics for them was virtually nonexistent; during the winter of 1919-20, however, the young women were given a gym instructor, and since that time a specified amount of gymnastic training has been made a prerequisite for a diploma. Miss Eva Christenbury supervises the athletic work of the women, and under her instruction, a girl is required to take two hours of gym each week. One hour of another sport, however, may be substituted for the regular training. Perhaps the most popular form of sport is basketball. Class teams have been organized, and a great deal of interest was manifested in the recent championship series. As the freshmen were victors in the decisive game, they were challenged by the Delta Phi Rho Alpha team to defend their title, and were defeated in a splendidly fought game played in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Tennis is a type of exercise frequently indulged in, and there is a wealth of good material among the girls. Ecclesiastical tennis courts have been provided for the use of the young women, and with the advent of spring, they are seldom deserted.

Trinity is probably the only college in the state which can boast of having a well organized Riding Club. Riding masters are appointed who have charge of groups which ride hereabout twice monthly.

With the opening of the new swimming pool, swimming and diving have become favorite diversions, and many mammals are receiving the opportunity to demonstrate their ability.

The May Day Festival is for the young women the most important annual event of the scholastic year, as on this day they pay homage to the girl whom they consider the embodiment of what a Trinity Woman should be. It is always a riot of color and beauty, and is participated in by almost every girl in college.

In beauty and brilliance, the third celebration, which will be held in May, will undoubtedly surpass its predecessors. At five o'clock, instead of the groups of gay girls and couples, May will be welcomed in, and Elizabeth Kramer will be crowned Queen of the May, Eva Jennett performing the rite. The attendants will include Mary Olsen Lloyd, Jessie Hayes, Elizabeth Hoke, Ann Bathelet, Elizabeth Aldridge, Lucy Taylor, Mabel Woot, Mary Eakridge, Kitty Stubbis, Ida Morgan, Elizabeth Shumaker, and Lillian Thompson. The traditional May Pole Dance, interpretative and solo dances will feature the entertainment for the evening. The dark green background of the woodland stage will form a most effective setting for the picturesque ceremony. After the departure of the gay troops, the tea garden in front of East Duke Building will be open.

The opening event of the May Day Revels, however, will be the carnival in the annual Oration on the preceding evening. Here there will be a superabundance of gaily decorated balloons, colored lights, confetti, baubles, hot dogs, and all other things characteristic of revelry. There are to be enough side shows to satisfy fifty seven varieties of tastes.

MUSICAL CLUBS OF TRINITY TAKE LONG TRIP ANNUALLY

Organization Established to Promote Interest of Students in All Musical Activities

The Trinity College Musical Club, including a glee club, a mandolin club, a saxophone quartet, an orchestra, and a band was established to promote the musical interests among the students of the College. Each year immediately following the opening of College, the call is issued by the manager for candidates. Then begins the long and laborious practice during which the personnel of the club is decided by a process of elimination. The selection having been made, work is begun in earnest to prepare for the annual fall and spring tours. It requires considerable time and practice to learn and memorize the long pieces, but those who work diligently receive a reward in the form of an extended trip throughout the State.

The boys are in high spirits when a trip is on hand. Going and returning from a trip there is much frolicking and it is indeed a pleasure for college boys to liberate a few days of freedom away from their studies. When the Musical Organizations give a concert in a city it is sponsored by the Trinity Alumni Association of that city or by the Methodist churches of the community, and these organizations also entertain the members of the clubs. For this reason Trinity College is also joined by the trip of the student appearing with the clubs, and the people entertaining the performers have an opportunity to learn about the College, and its activities.

SCIENTIFIC STUDY AT TRINITY TO INCREASE

SCIENCE STUDENTS ARE URGED TO SPECIALIZE IN ONE OF THE COURSES

MODERN EQUIPMENT AVAILABLE

Physics and Engineering Departments Have a Special Building in Which to Do Practical Research

In this day of specialization men who come to college with those narrow courses in which they may specialize. Specialization is possible carried to a further degree of perfection in the leading sciences of the day than in any other work. Trinity is not lacking in the training facilities for those students who wish to specialize in one of the sciences. The science department at Trinity College is divided up into four great groups. These groups are: Chemistry, Physics, Biology, and Engineering. Each department has its own management and is controlled according to the modern plans of scientific work.

The Chemistry Department occupies two entire floors in the Crowell Science Hall. The Chemistry Department is offering courses in research and higher study in chemistry as well as giving a sturdy foundation in the fundamentals underlying chemical processes. The Department strives to show the student the practical application of his work. In this connection many of the industrial plants near the College are visited and studied from the point of view of the student. Every year adds to the equipment and scope of work in the department.

The Physics Department and Engineering Department occupy a building to themselves. Many special courses in light, optics, steam and electric engineering, mechanics, civil engineering, etc., are to be found in these two departments. These departments are also giving the practical side of their work and take inspection tours to many industrial plants.

The Biology Department occupies the whole ground floor of the Crowell Science Hall. An addition to this department has been recently built with the result that there is more laboratory room to store specimens where they may be easily seen. Research work is also fostered by this department. Every opportunity is given the diligent, interested student for more advanced work in Biology and Zoology. In this department excellent courses in botany, zoology and geology are to be found.

The whole scientific department at Trinity is growing. Scientific study has developed a great deal at Trinity in the last few years and will continue to grow as time goes on. Trinity is looking forward to a great medical school and a greater development in all her scientific departments. Thus it is evident that Trinity is not behind the times in her desire to produce great men, and especially does she desire to train men who seek to specialize in the scientific world.

TRINITY STUDENTS EARN PART OF THEIR EXPENSES

Boarding, Houses, Dressing Clubs, and the Like Offer Possibilities to College Students

Although college expenses have greatly increased during the last few years the number of students who work part or all of their way through college seems to be increasing rather than decreasing. At least this is true at Trinity. The explanation for this is probably that as the college grows larger, the opportunities for students to earn money while in college become more numerous.

For instance, there is the college barber shop, which employs three regular barbers. Students are also employed in the cafeteria, the Dope Shop—there are two stores on the campus, one on the first floor of the West Duke Building, and another located at the Park School section of the campus, the various pressing clubs on the campus and a number down town, and some student help is employed by the college in the library, the college office, etc.

Several students are earning part of their expenses by delivering newspapers on the campus, and some have routes down town for the Durham Herald. Some the students board wherever they choose, there are a large number of boarding houses located near the campus to serve the college students. Practically all of these boarding houses have student representatives, and usually student waiters are employed.

There is no question about a million student finding ways of making money at Trinity, but students must be on the campus in order to secure positions. When a man needs money he wants it immediately, and he usually wants to see what he is employing, that students who will enter the class of 28 may feel fairly sure that they may earn at least part of their expenses at Trinity, and the longer they stay in college, the easier it will become to secure such remunerative positions.
