OPENING GAME OF SEASON WILL COME SATURDAY WHEN WOLFPACK AND BLUE DEVILS CLASH AT RALEIGH

BOTH TEAMS ARE COMPOSED OF GREEN MEN AND FEW OLD HEADS

EACH HAS A NEW SYSTEM

Methodist and Technion Both Will Use New Tactics in First Game

Student's Offer To See James Machine in Action—The Old Football Spirit is Getting Under Way

The opening of the local gridiron season, which is eagerly anticipated by the Trinity fans, will come on Saturday, September 27, when the Blue Devils break camp and travel to Raleigh for an affray with the State College Wolf Pack in their last game.

Interest in the opening contest is keener this season than heretofore due to several reasons. In the first place the Trinity team will not be a "green" team, but a majority of the last year men failed to return to college and the barring of first-year men from varsity teams allows the coach only seven freshmen, a few reserves, and a mass of raw material from which to shape a team.

In the second place the system used by both teams is said to be new to the gridiron of this section and they are naturally curious to see the type and brand of football which the two noted teams will employ. James is using the famous system which he used to success fully while coaching at Iowa while Shaw, the Notre Dame star, is using the tactics of Knute Rockne under whom he was successfully educated in the science and practice of playing football.

A final reason for added interest in the game is that the opposing teams are both supposed to be strong and neither has been in action against a weaker team previous to this encounter. A lively scrap is expected since both teams are anxious to get away with their opening game.

To predict the exact line up or a tentative line up of the Blue Devils team would be mere guess work, however, there are a number of men who are standing out in the various departments and who are looking hard to make sure of a regular berth before the team is picked for Saturday's game. Pickens, Grigg, Kimmel, Simons, Nicolaescu, Kully, Thompson, are showing up best in the line, while Bullock, Lagerstedt, Caldwell, Finley, Reitel, Tattle, Paul, several others are to constitute the backfield.

Hard scrimmage is being gone through by the team when the weather permits and at other times regular practice is held in the gymnasium.

Although the rumors are that the odds are being placed on State for this touchdown, but like the Trinity squad, the Technion are suffering from a surplus of green material that will have to be used to fill the vacancies in the opening game. The Blue Devils have the advantage of a thorough spring training under James, while neither of the State coaches were able to come to the South until the fall season began. Both teams have been in training for about the same length of time, and both teams are about the same number of men out for practice.

The line-up for the Technion is a matter of guesswork at present, but there are several strong men who will be sure to start the game next Saturday. Capt. Beatty and Emerson are back in the line, and in the backfield, but after Joe State contest it is probable that a definite choice will be made.

The State team has received a further handicap this week as a result of Emerson Black, one of the regular centers and a probably dependable man for the season, receiving a fractured collarbone in the scrimmage with the scrubs last week.

STUDENTS ARE COMING IN BY THE HUNDREDS

THOUSANDS OF STUDENTS HAVE SWAMPED THE OFFICE THIS WEEK

ABOUT 1200 ARE ENROLLED

Y. M. C. A. Officials and Assistants Are Doing Everything Possible To Get New Men Straightened Out

And they keep coming! Every train from every direction has brought students to Trinity for the last three or four days. And they all seem to be anxious to get to work, even the blue freshmen is vowing to ask when classes begin in earnest.

Only an approximate estimate can be made now as to the total enrollment, but it is probable that there will be 1200 students at Trinity this year. Some 400 of the 1200 students will be Freshmen. Last year there was a total enrollment of about 1000. Year by year in every way Trinity is growing.

Several of the fraternities which have had rooms in the dormitories have moved to their respective houses in order to make more room for the incoming freshmen. Even as it is, however, some rooms contain three students. It will be several days before crowded conditions can be broken out and every one made comfortable.

The new men are being met at the train by members of the Y. M. C. A. who are heading every effort to aid the freshmen in getting started on his college career in the right way. The Y. M. C. A. officials have already begun plans for the freshmen's reception and entertainment long before he makes his appearance on the campus.

FORMER EDITOR OF THE CHRONICLE IS MARRIED

R. D. Ware, 22, Marries Miss Varina Cook of Oklahoma City on Sunday September the Fourteenth

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dwight Ware, whose wedding took place Sunday night, September 14, in Oklahoma City, are now in Morganton for a visit to Mr. Ware's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Ware.

The marriage was solemnized at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. John Ware, and came as a surprise to their many friends. Mrs. Ware was Miss Varina Davis Cook, a daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. Virgil V. Cook, a prominent planter of Batesville, Ark. Since the death of her father, Mrs. Ware has been her home with her aunt.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Forney Hutchinson, pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Church, of Oklahoma City, in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The home was decorated with large white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Ware is a son of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Ware, of Morganton. Mr. Ware was received his B. S. degree at Trinity college, Durham, and his M. A. at the University of North Carolina. He is now a pastor of a Presbyterian church. He has been supplying during the summer as pastor of St. Luke's Methodist church, one of the largest churches in the city of Oklahoma. He has been a member of the Y. M. C. A. since his coming to Trinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Ware will leave about October 1 for England and Scotland where Mr. Ware will study at Oxford and the University of Edinburgh.

L. D. Moore, '23, and R. G. Dayton, '23, have returned to Harvard University to complete their courses in the Graduate School of Business.

BLUE DEVILS WORKING HARD TO GET IN SHAPE FOR OPENING CONTEST

TECHMEN HAVING TROUBLE IN SMOOTHING OUT GREEN TEAM

JONES HAS NO COMMENTS

Men Are Undergoing a Steady Practice and Show a Determination to Begin with a Fight

Twice each day since the opening of the football camp on September the fourth have the Blue Devils reported to Coach Jones and his staff of coaches for the regular practice. Hance Fuld has been a busy player for the last two weeks, and as the opening of college arrives, the team seems to be running it into what may be a formidable machine before the close of the season.

Lagerstedt Fifty men have reported to the training camp, and out of this group there are eight letter men who have seen service on the same field in other years. Four of these letter men will go the backfield. Lagerstedt, one of the most dependable backs in the state, and one who was responsible for many of the long gains last year, is on the field again, and although he has been out of practice for the last few days on account of sickness, he will probably be among those who make the start against State next Saturday in the position of fullback.

Bullock Ed Bullock, the man who ploughed through the Wake Forest line last year has done his uniform for the season. He is now in the backfield, and the indications are that he will begin the season at this position. Bullock is a very valuable man last year, and he is expected to be a valuable man this year.

Caldwell Jack Caldwell, the big man from Monroe who played with the Blue Devils two years ago, has returned to action again. He is now running at halfback. Caldwell made a name for himself when he played in the line before, and if he shows the same spirit in the backfield, undoubtedly he is going to have trouble in getting him stopped.

The Line In the line there are also four letter men back, and upon these four the line will fall until the other positions in the line have been filled with seasoned men. Grigg, Porter, Simons, and Allen (Continued on Page Five)

NEW COACHING STAFF COMPARES WELL WITH BEST IN THE COUNTRY

COACH JONES RETAINS OLD STAFF AND MAKES OTHER NEW CHANGES

BUCKHEIT COMES TO TRINITY

Former Illinois Star Comes to Trinity to Join the Jones Machine—Taylor Takes Freshmen

With the addition of George Buckheit, former Illinois star, Trinity now has a coaching staff that is one of the strongest, if not the strongest, in the South in line that compares favorably with that of any other staff in the country. Headed by Howard Jones, recent mentor at Iowa and generally conceded to be one of the ten greatest coaches of America, and rounded out by Buckheit, Steiner, Burdage, and Taylor, Trinity College has no apologies to make to anyone for its coaching staff.

Trinity follows all over the country are awaiting with keen anticipation the outcome of this new staff. Their expectations, however, are not raised too high for the present year since they realize that Jones and his helpers are laboring under a handicap caused by the fact that this is the first year that the new staff has been "rightly enforced." The much used phrase, "Just wait and see next year," leaves no question as to the high expectations for the ultimate success of Trinity's teams under the new system.

Howard Jones is head coach of football and baseball, and the nominal head of the entire system. He is a graduate of Yale where he was a star gridiron performer, playing end on the team upon which his equally famous brother, Tad, now head coach at Yale, performed at the quarterback position. Jones was at Yale as one of Yale's great baseball stars. He and his brother Tad comprised one of the famous batteries in Yale's baseball history. He gained his greatest fame, however, while in charge of athletics at Iowa University, where for several years his teams won the Big Ten championship.

George Buckheit is the newest addition to the staff. He is an alumnus of the University of Illinois, where he was a star basketball player. He comes to Trinity as head coach of basketball and track, having had considerable experience in both sports both as participant and coach. Although a comparatively young man, he has had experience as a coach that will qualify him for a position on the Trinity staff. Last year he was coach at Knoxville in basketball and track. After Much Agitation Fraternities Are Given Their Private Quarters

In the establishment of fraternities at Trinity a very real and noteworthy step has been made by the college administration. For many years attempts have been made to establish fraternity houses at the college, but all previous attempts have failed with failure.

But with the purchase of an entire block of a residential section joining the campus, the college has made it possible. This year the increased enrollment has overruled the dormitories to a degree of discomfort, but the fraternity house will give some relief to the situation.

The block purchased joins Hance Athletic field, and will eventually become a part of the campus in all probability. Many of the houses have been removed from the block, but the most desirable ones were allowed to stand. These have been renovated and remodeled to suit the needs of the fraternity men.

The fraternities having houses are Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, Chi Tau, and Lambda Chi Alpha. The Chi Tau has an apartment over Mrs. Wain's house, but all of the others have separate houses. Each house has from twenty to twenty-five men.

These houses will be made as comfortable and homelike as possible, thus serving a real need in the college life of the fraternity men. For a while at least the men will take their meals at the cafeteria and the various boarding houses. This also serves to preserve the democracy of the campus, which the administration and most of the students value very highly.

GREEN BADGES TO BE PLACED ON FRESHMEN

INSIGNIA WILL BE A BLUE F SET IN A BACKGROUND OF WHITE

Student Council Adopts Plan by Which it is Hoped Permanently to End Annual Hazing

Freshmen this year will wear badges. Such is the announcement of the Student Council. Although no insignia is planned to proclaim a Freshman to the college community, some device is at times needed to remind the freshmen of his position in that community. It was with this in mind that the Student Council decided that badges should be worn by all freshmen in the class.

The Student Council passed over the more stringent idea of cape in favor of badges. This should be appreciated by the Freshmen class. The spirit with which the freshmen comply with this request will help determine the popularity of the class, and particularly of individuals in the class.

A blue F set in a white background is the badge. They will be handed out early next week.

For several years there has been an agitation among the students for some method of distinguishing the freshmen from the upper-classmen, and since the institution of Student Government at Craven steps have been taken each year, but each plan has been rejected by the faculty. For the first time in the history of the college, the freshmen will wear an insignia as the result of a college regulation.

The plan is a new one, and there is every reason to believe that it is carried out in the right way, that it will practically eliminate the annual hazing parties. This is the purpose of the officers of the Student Council, and it is the duty of every student to do his best to make the first effort in this direction successful.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO HAVE SPECIAL QUARTERS IN WEST DUKE

NEW FEATURES ARE ADDED

Play to be Presented in Fall Instead of Spring—Members to Coach in High Schools

While the other students have been enjoying their vacation days the Taurians have not been idle. The coach, Mrs. Paul R. Gross, has been planning for the plays which she expects to coach in December; the plays committee has been reading the circles of America, and in order that a suitable one may be selected for production; and the other Taurians have been doing whatever tasks have been assigned by the Dramatic Club.

Mrs. Gross states that she expects the Taurian Players to continue their traditional custom of producing only the plays which have been recognized in the leading drama of the circles of America, and the world. The Taurians themselves, however, will select the play they want—the selection being made by vote. But of course a dramatic play is not the only consideration to the plays that the play committee will recommend at the first regular meeting of the year. This committee is expected by Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts.

Nothing definite will be known concerning the work of the Taurians during the coming scholastic year until after their first regular meeting, which will be held in December. One step that they will likely take, however, will be to give their annual play in the fall instead of the spring term. If such a step is taken, the play will probably be given during the second week in December, but as yet no such plan has been mentioned by the club.

A number of the old members of the dramatic organization, who were last year, and as a result the Taurians will take in some new members this fall. The membership is limited to fifty, and great care is used in the selection of the members. Of course all students who are successful in winning a place in the cast of a play automatically become members of the organization, but other members of the organization, who are not in the cast, are taken in by a vote of the club. Students desiring to become members send in written applications and are then examined by a special committee. Historical ability, however, is not the only prerequisite for membership; enthusiasm and sincere interest in the success of dramatic at Trinity are as important as the ability to act.

In an organization like the Taurians, there are many tasks to be done. Those who have no aptitude for acting may be of some use to the organization by working as business managers, stage directors, decorators, prompters, and many other equally important positions.

Most of the meeting, rehearsals, costume displays, etc., will likely be held in the Taurian room, first floor of West Duke Building. The Taurians have set up their room in order, but will do so in time for the rehearsals for the next play. A stage has already been built, and other furnishings will be added as soon as possible.

In addition to their other regular work, the Taurian Players are planning this year to render special services to the high schools throughout the state. The costumes may be rented out this year. Miss Nancy Kirkman will be in charge of the costumes. From time to time Mrs. Gross expects to send out coaches to train the dramatic talent of various communities throughout the state, and the in-formation bureau will be able to render assistance as selecting the plays, and in the meeting plays, offering advice on difficulties that arise, and rendering service in many ways.

EDITORIAL

PARAGRAPHS

Well, the old grind begins again, with the crisis few and far between.

In the beginning let it be understood that the term Ye Old Editor has died from the natural complication of over-use and over-work, and the appearance of such a term this year will be a highly unusual occurrence.

What could be more ideal to rise homelike freshmen who arrived two days before the college opened than a rainy Sunday and nothing to do.

No, the ropes are to be used only for fire escapes, the officials have decided that all other escapes shall be handled by the Night-watchman.

All of the practical jokes must have graduated last year. Three days have passed now, and no one has pulled the old gag about the musically inclined freshman signing up with the Ministerial Band.

The Dope Shop has changed hands again and the Play Pole has been painted out. With these two exceptions it is the same old place. The Dope Shop is open on Sunday night, and the Orpheum will open its doors to the inquisitive Freshman as soon as the necessary concert can be arranged.

The man who boards at the Cafeteria until he can collect enough men to justify his becoming a boarding house representative should be placed on the same level with the man who tries them all for two weeks and then settles down with the first one.

The green badges make their initial appearance this year. The school is a good one, and it will serve as a deadline to separate the Freshman from the upper-classman that will eventually prove a solution to the lasting problem. At all events this is the purpose of the green badge, and the indications are that the plan will be successful.

A GREATER TRINITY

The term A Greater Trinity is familiar to all students and those who have been associated with the college for the past few years. To the official term may have several meanings, but to the average student the term implies simply the idea of better athletic teams, more buildings, and a much larger student body, and while all of these things are included in the scheme for a greater college, they make up only a part of the greater plan. To a certain extent, a greater Trinity has been built, and certainly the average Trinity is much greater than that of ten years ago, not only as far as buildings and athletic teams are concerned, for there are other things being considered. In practically every vocation of life, from the eminent politician to the scientist who spends his time in careful research, Trinity men and women will be found, and their knowledge and their learning is reflecting the honor of the true Greater Trinity. After all, these are the things that count and are the only things upon which a reckoning may be made, and it is well that this college excels in these things as well as in the things that appear on the surface. The Greater Trinity is coming. It is an assured fact, and those who are interested in the college are looking forward with much hopefulness for the future. But if there were to be a greater Trinity, everything should be included in the program of greatness that goes to make up such an institution. This college has been a leader in education since its beginning, and its liberal views and its high standards have placed it among the leading institutions of learning of the South. The college has been growing along, and the indications are that a new era of greatness is about to begin.

So while a new program is about to begin, it would be best for the students to realize that the greatness of the college does not lie altogether in the number of students or in the strength of the athletic teams, but rather it lies in the actual Trinity men and women who are giving themselves to the actual production of something that will benefit mankind and reflect the glory of the college. The real greatness of the college lies here, and while the other things, as athletics and a larger equipment are valuable in their place, the idea of a greater Trinity can be realized only through the cooperation of men and women who are actually producing some service which finally reflects its glory back to the Greater Trinity which is the source from which comes the life of the college. It is the duty of the college to build, and a great student body.

THE CHRONICLE, 1924-25

This issue marks the initial appearance of The Chronicle under the new management for the collegiate year, 1924-25. As yet the new system is still in the state of reorganization. There are changes to be made, appointments to be given, and as soon as possible, several new features will be added. It is hoped that the paper can continue its all-purpose policy, and that this depends largely upon the success of the advertising manager, and at the present time it is impossible to state definitely as to whether the six weeks will continue throughout the year.

In the main the paper this year will follow the plan of the past editors in regard to college news. All news will be reported that is suitable for a college paper, and while the Chronicle is indirectly controlled by the students, especially by the literary societies, it is the purpose of the staff to keep the publication as independent of outside influence as possible. This does not mean that student interests will be neglected, for any assistance and constructive criticism from the various sources about the college will be highly appreciated. In fact, The Chronicle this year aims to serve the interests of the college community, and its independence will be only of that type which will keep it clear from any influence that may have a tendency to lower its journalistic value and restrict its influence as one of the publicity organs of the college.

For the past two or three years there has been an opinion that The Chronicle was producing more or less friction with the officials of the College and that its attitude was too antagonistic in regard to the wishes of those in authority. This opinion has had its evil influence, and some degree it may have been justified, but, to say the least, the existence of such an opinion was not justified, as its effects were entirely untrue. Where the blame lay if such has been the case is not the question. A new year has begun, and the good or bad effects of the old system have been left with that year. The new management expects to take the Chronicle in the right position of the college newspaper and to support those who are worthy of such support and to advocate any policy or policy that are directed toward the good of the college and which come from trustworthy sources.

As to whether the year will bring success or failure as far as these plans are concerned is a question that can be better answered later in the year. The staff is fully aware of its limitations, but its intentions are true and its hopes are just as strong. The success depends largely upon the support of the students, and its failure can be brought about in the same way. The men in control are as human as those who will be subscribers and critics, and their blunders will be as open as would be those of the readers, but these things are expected, and for this reason The Chronicle appeals to the students for their active support and for their cooperation in an effort to make this publication one that will be a part of the college life and one that is trying to do something besides filling up space with useless words.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES

Almost with the beginning of Trinity there sprang up an organization known as a literary society, and within a few years another similar organization had made its appearance, and with the succeeding years both of these institutions have grown and developed. The life of the college and so intertwined themselves about the ideals of Trinity that they come down to the present day with a no less record and a great heritage.

But the literary societies that have functioned at the college for the last few years have not been of the class as those that were in evidence when Trinity was the little Methodist school in the backwoods of Randolph County. For in that time they played a far greater part in the life of the college than they do now. There was a time when the words and hands of the little school of Randolph rang with the oratory of the young speakers who were practicing on the annual oratorical or the literary societies, and the rivalry between the societies was practically unbounded.

The result of this enthusiasm and the literary societies can be easily seen at a glance. All over this State, and in many parts of the nation there are lawyers, preachers, politicians, and many other kind of professions whose first training in the paths of public speaking was received in the society halls of Trinity College.

For the last few years, and especially for the last few years, there has been a deplorable lack of interest in the work of these societies. Only a few of the leaders of the college men have been regular attendants upon the meetings, and while the attendance has been fair in consideration of the enrollment, the fact remains that only a small part of the total enrollment of the college belongs to one of the societies, and the majority of the students rarely give these honor organizations a passing thought. Something should be done to instill a new interest in the students, for if the present condition continues, the literary societies of Trinity are doomed. There is an inalienable experience to be had in the active work of these organizations.

There is a training and a knowledge offered that can be obtained nowhere else. The financial obligations are practically nothing. There is every inducement offered to the man who is willing to take part, and the returns from such an investment will be of enormous value to the participant.

The societies belong to the students, and the fate of these organizations lies in their hands. It will be easy to make them the powerful and instructive institutions that they formerly were if the students will take part. The new college year begins this week, and with it a new era in the literary societies of Trinity College.

CALL FOR REPORTERS

All members of the Sophomore class who have passed English I and who wish to enter the competition for places of The Chronicle please report at the editorial office, Room 303 Jarvis Hall, on Thursday evening at 7:30 for the first official staff meeting of the year.

Each man will be assigned topics and will be allowed to do any work which may be necessary. If a number of men report, it may be necessary to limit the staff, but this will not be done until after the first six weeks, and thus this choice will be made by the editor after a consultation with the managing editor. It is probable that no limits will be placed on the number of the reporting staff, for the work this year will require more men than that of last year.

AN APPOINTMENT

The editor wishes to announce publicly the appointment of J. C. Whitman, '25, of Henrietta, as Managing Editor of The Chronicle for the year 1924-25. Whitman has served two years as reporter and associate editor of this paper, and his two years work has fitted him for the position that he will now have for the coming year. He did splendid work for the former editors and was one of the runners-up for the editorship for this year. According to the new plans of the editorial staff, the Managing Editor will be an active figure in the paper this year, and his position will not be a nominal one. He will probably take the same rank as the editor himself and will have the same authority as the editor.

The coed correspondent has not been appointed yet, but it is hoped that an announcement to this effect will be made in the next issue. The co-ed news for this issue has been contributed by Miss Frank through one of the associate editors, but next week it is hoped that a regular co-ed correspondent will have charge of this department.

Kramer Tobacco Company Takes Lapse on Dope Shop

The Dope Shop has changed hands again. The Sears Tobacco Company which operated the business last year has sold their interest to the Kramer Tobacco Company, of Durham. Neither Hunt nor Thompson will be in charge of the new concern. The entire personnel of the last year's business have been transferred, and a new management will take charge.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION HAS BIG PLANS FOR THE YEAR

Secretary Thigpen Enters the Third Year With Bright Prospects in the Alumni Field

With increased efficiency and growth in every department of the alumni office, Secretary Thigpen, B. E. Thigpen, enters upon his third year in the alumni work with bright prospects for the year. It is hoped that this year may see more fully the realization of that ideal state of affairs in which the students are brought to work in and through the alumni office while in college, thus insuring their interest in later years. In an interview with Mr. Thigpen he stated that by helping and co-operating with the students in their student activities and life here he hoped to get in close enough touch with them to bring about the realization that when a student registers at Trinity it is not for just one to four years but for a life time.

This year the alumni office is better prepared to push this phase of its work than ever before. The new budget which has been drawn up for the future provides for student loan funds for students and other help to the students in general. The office has just been equipped with a year and up to date addressograph equipment, which also is to be used in helping student publications with their mailing lists and such.

The student survey which was conducted last year will again be promoted by the alumni secretary and his forces.

The new service has been brought under the direct supervision of the alumni office, as the alumni are naturally the most interested readers of Trinity news in the newspapers of the state. The Alumni Register is continuing to grow. This publication will again be sent to every alumnus and alumna, and copies will be distributed in every reach of the student body. The yearbook of Trinity, "Trinity," which was produced here last year by Mr. Thigpen is being shown around the state with unusual success. This picture is to be shown at the North Carolina Conference in a few weeks. A heavy schedule of alumni meetings throughout the state has already been mapped out for this fall.

To top the climax there is being installed an entirely new and up to date system of alumni records. This system including a jacket to hold all paper diplomas, pictures, etc., and a triplicate system is up to the latest systems in use in alumni offices in America. By means of this system the office will have available at all times practically all desired information about any former student of Trinity.

WILLIAM T. TOWE GETS APPOINTMENT AS A LAW INSTRUCTOR AT TRINITY

Graduate of Trinity Law School Last Year is Chosen to Fill the Place of Mr. Kniff

William T. Towe, '21, and for the last two years a law student of the College, has been secured by the law school to fill the position of the law faculty that was made vacant last year by the death of Mr. Kniff. Towe did excellent work as a law student, and passed the State Board last spring. During the summer he studied criminal law at The University of Chicago, and it is probable that he will teach criminal law and contracts at Trinity.

Bill has been at Trinity for six years both as an academic and a law student. He has played four years of basketball, and was captain of the team in his Senior year. His appointment as instructor in the law school has received very favorable comment about the college, and his congratulations have not been confined only to his law school acquaintances.

MRS. BOYD'S DEATH BRINGS SORROW TO ENTIRE COLLEGE

Wife of Trinity Professor and Prominent Lady of State Dies Shortly Before the Opening of College

The announcement of the death of Mrs. Paul LeGrand Boyd, wife of Dr. W. K. Boyd, on Wednesday, September 10, brought sorrow to Trinity students throughout the state. Mrs. Boyd intimately connected with Trinity College. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. LeGrand, now dead, of Rockingham. Mrs. Boyd was a graduate of Trinity. She was a granddaughter of the late Rev. Dr. N. H. Wilson for a long time one of the leading members of the Methodist conference, at one time agent for Trinity College and later president of the Board of Trustees. In 1908 she married professor Boyd and since that time has lived here.

As a woman of rare mind and intellectual qualities she was an asset to the College community.

John H. Harris, '24, spent the weekend on the campus. Mr. Harris, a business manager last year and president of Student government, states that he expects to continue his work in the banking business for the next year.

A Few Changes Have Been Made for This Year, But Rules Are
About the Same

Student Citizens:

Trinity College was established with an earnest desire that through it we might become useful and intelligent citizens. So long as it is our privilege to be members of this campus community, we should never make it necessary that we be reminded of this important fact. For the present, we are student citizens, members of a community organized in a system of student self-government, and as such our character and standing will be measured according to our application and deportment. Restricted only by the limitations of a good judgment, it pays to advertise the best qualities and abilities we possess.

It is to be expected that there will be certain customs, a few laws, rules and regulations to be obeyed, but the actual structure of student government at Trinity is based on a form of SELF-DISCIPLINE and idealism known as the "Honor System." This system represents the backbone of student government.

The need for an ideal of academic discipline was first expressed in a famous passage by Thomas Jefferson, a Statesman whose interest in education was plainly to create citizens of intelligent character. The "honor system" is the realization of this ideal. Mr. William Minor Lile, dean of the Law School of the University of Virginia, when questioned as to whether he believed in the "honor system" replied, "Yes, as I do in the Christian religion." Mr. Henry Louis Smith, writing on the "honor system" at Washington and Lee, makes this eloquent statement: "A life-time of practical experience with the 'honor system' convinces me that of all the character building agencies of the American college campus it is by far the most valuable and effective."

Mr. Smith also calls attention to the essential requirements which will keep the honor system from becoming a mere pretense and make it a working reality. In these student communities which have carried on these essentials the honor system has been a positive success; elsewhere it has failed.

"1. 'The whole student-body must be organized to enforce it, and must accept, willingly and courageously, its heavy responsibilities. In matters embraced by the accepted code of the faculty, while reserving its ultimate control, relinquishes its disciplinary function not to the individual student, but to the organized, sympathetic, and willing student-body."

2. "Changes in custom must be overwhelmingly in favor of rigid and impartial enforcement. It is a student loss case for reporting to the honor committee (Council) a first-rate or close associate who has violated the code, the so-called honor-system at that institution is already a corpse."

COACH BUCKHEIT JOINS MENTOR STAFF OF JONES

HEAD COACH FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY COMES HERE

HE WILL COACH BASKETBALL

Basketball and Track—Burbage New Max Will Be Head Coach of to Stay in Office

Coach George Buckheit, a former Illinois star, has been added to the coaching staff of Trinity College. Buckheit comes to the South with an enviable record both as a participant and as a coach. Last year he was head coach of the University of Kentucky in basketball, and it will be of interest to the students to know that his team was a runner-up for the Southern honors at the Atlanta meet last year. Coach Buckheit will be head coach of basketball and track at Trinity, and his experience and success in coaching those two sports make him amply qualified for his position on the Staff of Coach Jones.

Bounding out in a decisive way the personnel of the Trinity College physical training department is the addition of George Buckheit, well known University of Kentucky coach, as head coach in basketball and track and assistant coach of football.

Buckheit brings with him the knowledge of sports and the training of college athletes gained from five years coaching experience. During this time he has turned out teams that have attracted wide attention for their skill and clean playing. In 1923 his Kentucky quint won the southern intercollegiate A. A. tournament series in Atlanta, and the following year won the Kentucky state championship and went through the season on a triumphal tour in the Atlanta territory. This past spring, after winning 12 out of 15 games, Kentucky, coached by Buckheit, and defeating Georgia Tech, Virginia, V. P. I., West Virginia, and Vanderbilt entered the S. I. C. tournament and lost to the crack Carolina team in the first round. This team, however, was holder of the Kentucky championship.

Track is another field in which Buckheit is thoroughly familiar. His Kentucky track teams have won many laurels. In 1920 and 1921 Kentucky stood fourth in the S. I. C. meet, and in the past year entered a team of six men under Buckheit at Montgomery and took of second honors.

The new Trinity coach is a college graduate, having received his B.S. degree at the University of Illinois, where during his senior year was awarded the conference medal for excellence in scholarship. After completing high school in his home town, Beardsville, Ill., he entered Hillside Academy in 1915 and competed in basketball, football, and baseball. In 1917, he entered the University of Illinois, and was one of the Illinois championship eleven during his last year there. He was also a member of the Illinois basketball team and made his letter in track.

Buckheit has been head coach in basketball and track at Kentucky for five years and will take charge of the same branches at Trinity.

The only thing worth worrying about is the worthlessness of worry.

Borrow money from a pessimist every time. He won't expect it back.

If men were vindictive, they would get their revenge rather than bobbed hair fashion by wearing flowing beards.

Hope is a good breakfast but a bad supper.

Coach "Ikey" Taylor, coach of freshman football at Trinity this year, is expected about seventy-five or a hundred good husky men out for his try-outs which will begin soon. Trinity is getting some of the best high school football material in the state this year and is expecting to put out a winning team.

"Ikey" has been a star at Trinity for several years and he has more than once showed his football knowledge. Great confidence is being placed in him to give the freshman the right start in college football, so that later on Coach Howard Jones will have one excellent marginal from which to build Trinity's future team.

All freshmen who wish to try-out for the team and get some good stiff football training report to the gym to manager Underwood for uniforms and instructions. There seems to be a wealth of material in the freshman class judging from the many big husky men who have registered. The coach urges the men to make their appearance on the field as soon as possible in order to get into shape for the games. Every man has a chance to make a position on the team. The team will probably take several trips about the state this year.

RECEPTION OF NEW STUDENTS

In order to help the new students get adjusted to their new environment, and also in order that they may form the proper opinion of the religious organizations on the campus, the Y. M. C. A. is expending every effort possible to make the new students feel at home at Trinity.

Y. M. C. A. representatives meet the incoming students at the train, direct them to the campus and to the various buildings, offer information at the Y. M. C. A. desk located on the first floor of the East Duke building, and render service in various ways.

The Student Government is also working with the Y. M. C. A. Student Government desk is also located in the East Duke building. At this desk all new students join the Student Government organization.

The first few days that the new students get over time, and in the damp, chilly atmosphere, the half deserted dormitories, the impending gloom caused by the inclement weather, and the strangeness of the new environment, who could blame a timid Freshman from getting just a little homesick? Some of them have been more than a little homesick, judging by the length of their faces. Without the timely service of the cheery Y. M. C. A. representatives, it is probable that not a few of them, who have decided to "give up the ghost" and "pull out."

Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. handbook, which The first work of the Y. M. C. A. was to mail every new student a copy of the contains much necessary and practical information for students who are unaccustomed to the campus.

As soon as the excitement of the opening days dies down a little, the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. organizations will give a reception in honor of the new men and women. These yearly receptions always convince the new students of Trinity's hospitality.

OPENING GAME OF SEASON WILL COME SATURDAY

The rain has somewhat hindered the practice for the last week, but the thorough drill in the gym on the technicalities of the game is making a great deal to the confidence of the team. It is probable that a few more light scrimmages will be gone through with, but the intensive work will no doubt be slowed down at the last of the week because of the danger of injuring a valuable man on the eve of the game. The two practices during the day will be discontinued as soon as classes begin, and for the rest of the season all practice will come in the afternoon.

The enthusiasm of the students is beginning to rise, and before Saturday the old football spirit will be running high on the campus. The students are curious, for they are anxious to see just what the new system is going to look like, but at the same time there are evidences of the characteristic spirit that has been at Trinity since the beginning of football, and the crowd that journeys to Raleigh on Saturday will go with the determination to do their part of the fight.

Every mother's son of the Trinity men who can should be at Raleigh ready to give the old team a welcome when they appear on Riddick Field, and not only ready to give them a welcome but stay with them and help fight till the last whistle sounds.

Professor James Cannon, III, of the Biblical Department, spent the summer at North Western University where he received his Th. B. degree, and during the coming year he will continue on leave of absence and will attend the school of Theology at Princeton where he will receive his Th. M. degree.

Professor Cannon will enroll in Princeton about the first of October. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Cannon and his small son James Cannon, IV.

New men will be out as soon as the registration days are over and it is possible that there is more good material that will be eligible in the big state games that may be recruited from the upper classes.

The coaching staff is the best that has ever been collected at Trinity. Coach Jones leads the staff, and under his direction are Stinner, Burbage, and Coach Rookholt of the University of Illinois. "Key" Taylor has returned also, and will take charge of the freshman team. Taylor has been on the campus since the beginning of the training camp and has been studying the system that Coach Jones is now instituting at Trinity.

There is a great deal of room for growth, but there is also room for a few better facts. The Blue Devils have started a new era in football. The first of the season may not be as great as could be, but before the last of the schedule big things are likely to be turned loose. The squad is composed of men who are playing new positions, and it will take a little time to get the team in organized condition, but the better days are on the way, and when the Jones Machine strikes its stride, a cloud of dust will rise that will bid fair to envelop many of the crack football systems in the South.

basketball team was runner-up against Carolina for Southern honors at the Atlanta meet.

Welcome news to Trinityites is the fact that Herman Steiner, former Syracuse star and head mentor at Trinity for two years is again to play a part in Trinity's athletic program. He returns this year as trainer of the football squad and gymnasium director. He is especially fitted for this work in view of his training in medicine and physical culture. Steiner is very popular with Trinity students and his return is a welcome one.

Coach Sam Burbage, who during his stay here has gained great popularity among the faculty and students, begins his third year as combination coach and manager. A good part of his time will be demanded in handling the business end of schedules, equipment, etc. However, much time will still be devoted to coaching duties in football, basketball, and track.

W. L. (Key) Taylor a product of Trinity rounds out the staff as it stands at present. They played for four years as a star performer at guard making several all state teams. He returns to devote his entire time as coach of the freshman team.

It is not known now as to whether or not Bill Bailey, who for two years has coached our championship wrestling squad, will be back. However, it is entirely probable that he will return. Capt. Card continues as Director of the Gymnasium.

STUDENTS ARE URGED PATRONIZE ADVERTISERS

Business Manager of The Chronicle Makes Plea for the Durham Supporters of Paper

In reading this first issue of the Chronicle Trinity students should bear in mind that only in the patronage of our advertisers it is possible for a live, readable college paper to be published during the next nine months.

In each instance the advertiser has shown his friendliness to the college and the student body and Trinity men and women should respond by giving them their patronage. Always bear in mind that whenever a purchase is made by a Trinity student the advertiser is seeing direct results from his advertisement. This will strengthen the bond of friendship existing between advertiser and student and will mean greater success to the college paper.

Advertising solicitors for this students' publication have found the men, and corporations contracting for ads to be square in their dealings. Nearly all are regular advertisers, old friends of the college. Former as well as students returning this fall have found them reliable.

Help the college as well as the advertisers by giving these friends a full share of your patronage. Let them know you need their advertisement in your college paper.

SOUTHCATE PRESENTS A BUSY SCENE WHILE CO-EDS STILL ARRIVE

COLLEGE EXPECTS A RECORD ENROLLMENT OF THE WOMEN STUDENTS

Y. W. C. A. TAKES CHARGE

Special Committees Assist in Receiving Freshmen Girls—Chargé Made at the Fraternity

The old residents of Southgate Hall are busy welcoming the new women students, trying in various ways to make their arrival pleasant. Misses Jessie Hauser, Nancy Kirkman, Annie Blair Anderson, and Adelaide Boyall, officers of the Women's Student Government Association, and Misses Margaret Leibelter, Maude Hunter, Elizabeth Roberts, and Frances Holmes, officers of the Young Women's Christian Association, returned to college a few days before the opening in order to perfect plans for the reception of the new students. Town girls have co-operated with Miss Annie Blair Anders, president of the Junior Big Sisters' Association, in a very splendid way, especially with the use of their cars in meeting new girls at the station. The publicity committees of the three associations prepared a number of attractive posters, welcoming the girls, both old and new, and the social committee served tea in the Social Room for all newcomers. Monday night the girls enjoyed a marshmallow toast. The social committee has planned a number of attractive get-acquainted features.

All members of the college will be interested to hear that the women are to have a full time athletic director, Mrs. Julia R. Groat of East Bridgewater, Massachusetts, the new director, was graduated from Mount Holyoke College in 1920, and was an assistant in Physiology and Hygiene in the Graduate Department of Hygiene and Physical Education, Wellesley College, 1920-22, and received her certificate from this department in 1924. Miss Groat has had also four years' experience as physical director in summer camps.

The women welcome also the new dietitian, Miss Sara Rome, of Hampton, Virginia, and the resident nurse, Miss Kathleen Griffith of Durham. Miss Griffith is a graduate of Salem College, Winston-Salem, and the Johnston-Willis Sanatorium Training School of Richmond, Virginia, and has had several years' experience as private nurse in Durham.

Miss Rowe studied for three years at Randolph-Macon College, then went to Columbia University from which she received her degree in the Department of Dietetics. During the war she served as dietitian in the Cornell School of Aviation. For three years Miss Rowe was dietitian of the Stuart Club of Washington and for several summers of the artists' colony at Byrdcliffe, Woodstock, New York.

With these additions to their numbers and with various interesting plans of improvement before them, the women are looking forward to a happy and successful year.
