PARAGRAPHS

The score with Davidson now stands two to one with Trinity holding the big end. Davidson had more luck than they bargained for, but it's all over now, and this last game might be added to the list for reference next year.

Recent advice from the gym says that the pool is closed for repairs. Well, it doesn't make much difference now since the weather is cold. Nobody wants to take a bath.

The three weeks between Thanksgiving and the holidays are "study weeks" although they are not designated as such in the catalogue. Perhaps it would be a good plan to have a study session officially set apart from football and basketball seasons so that the students would not have too many conflicting activities.

How about this one. A preacher numbered among the Trinity Alumni was summoned to a nearby city last Thursday to officiate at a funeral. Upon learning of the Davidson game he prepared a substitute and hastened on to Durham, arriving at Hanes Field at the beginning of the second quarter.

The saxophone quartet at the game was better than nothing for it was able to pitch the tune of Trinity for the students, but some visitors actually thought that the new band was making its first public appearance.

Who beat Davidson at Greensboro in 1925? Lagerstedt! Who beat Davidson at Charlotte last year? Lagerstedt! Who came near beating them last Thursday? That's a foolish question to ask anyone who saw the game, but per chance some readers were not present, we will answer. It was Lagerstedt.

Benefactor's Day, Armistice Day, and Thanksgiving Day are over. They looked mighty good before they came, but right now it seems like it would be a lot better if these three holidays had been added to the Christmas holidays instead of coming one at a time.

Class football begins this week, and since these performances will be much more thrilling and spectacular than the average inter-collegiate game, The Chronicle, in the Christmas number, plans to open its columns to any student who desires to pick an all-class team. Needless to say we do not require that the team so chosen be selected on the basis of real football ability.

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Football season is over, and with the exception of the games yet to be played in the fall, the season has been a very successful one. The team has suffered losses, and many followers of the Blue Devils have been disappointed, yet Trinity has had one of the most successful seasons in the history of the college.

From the beginning, the schedule was admitted to be a hard one. Early predictions were made that the big games would be lost, but the team went on. Their spirit was admirable, and with almost more defeat in sight, they put up a steady, consistent fight until the last. As a result the percentage of games lost and won is about even, but the success of the season is not in line and it cannot be estimated in terms of points and lost. There is a deeper influence to be considered in summing up the results of the year.

Athletics at Trinity have reached a new plane. This college now heads the list of institutions in North Carolina which demand high standard athletics. The objectionable publicity that was being broadcasted over the state last year has been turned into the most favorable advertisement. The college has adopted a commendable policy in regard to sportsmanship, and the team, itself, has been the main factor in making this change possible. Even in the face of the loss, the men have upheld the honor of the coach that they would fight fairly and cleanly.

So when the results of the season are being summed up for comparison, it will be well to reckon other successes than those of games lost and won. This year has been probably one of the weakest in many years, as far as the physical strength of the team is concerned, but it has been one of the strongest the college has even known if the new reputation of the behavior of Trinity College athletes is considered likewise.

No doubt a winning team is a great advertisement, but yet such publicity attracts only those who are interested primarily in athletic success. The majority of people are only mildly interested in points and won. They judge an institution by the behavior of its students and by the attitude the college as a whole takes toward many conduct.

A winning team may take every game by a good score, and yet it may lose so heavily as far as the reputation of the college goes, that it is dangerous liability. On the other hand, a team that may have an adverse season, but it will never injure the reputation of the college if it represents.

Such has been the case with the Trinity team this year. They have won and lost, and have lost games that hurt, but after all, these men have put Trinity College as a leader for clean athletics and have won state-wide admiration for themselves.

FRESHMAN BADGES

The announcement made in Chapel yesterday that the Freshmen would be allowed to take off their badges after the holidays brings to mind the fact that the season has really been successful. For one it seems as if having had actually ceased. The experience has proved that these outbreaks can be stopped without much trouble and frequent expunctions.

As predicted by the Student Council at the beginning of the year, the plan has gone a long way toward an agreeable adjustment of the freshmen in relation to the upper-classes. The badge system

COLLEGE COLLECTIONS

The Seniors have begun to find how hard they really are, and that the little they've learned, won't take them very far. A month or two and they'll be out trying to find their way alone, and some of them will be surprised to find how long they've grown. At Swarthmore they can assume a lot of pomp and pride, but when they're left on their little own, they'll find the ocean large enough to swallow all of them, nor leave a single trace of all the hopes and dreams they've had, nor one familiar face. They find that time goes with more speed than was wont to do, and that their last few college days are growing very few, and they try to make the most of every "letting day" by feasting, working, looking in some other way. And though they all are eager of the day when they'll be free, the time will come when they'll find they were what they could be if they had learned a little bit and understood not so far-off they had gotten learned how dumb they are. The Phoenix, Swarthmore College.

We have it from the most reliable source that there is an honor system at Roanoke College today. This far we have been really disappointed in our efforts to discover traces of it, and we've been inclined to look upon it as a somewhat mythical creature. The Bracketack, Roanoke College.

formed the necessary deadline that was needed to separate the two groups, and so far the annual having parties which were provided in former years have been entirely lacking.

The freshmen have been set apart, but they have been made to feel that they were a real part of the college. They have been appealed to as freshmen to make good, and the response has been remarkable. For the first time the freshmen class may be counted as an active group in the college life.

The spirit of friendly relations has had its influence upon the upper-classes as well. There is a clear distinction between the two, but the harmony is almost perfect. The upper-classes actually seem proud of the first year class, and the freshmen as a class, are looked upon with more good will and more genuine friendliness than ever before.

The scheme is yet new, but the present indications are that it is the most workable system yet devised to abolish hazing, a problem which, up until this year has been a serious one. Certainly, never before, have the upper-classes and the freshmen been so definitely separated, and at the same time, have lived together so harmoniously.

COLUMBIA PROGRAM ONE OF THE BEST OF SEASON

Federal Aid in Education Debated Hotly—Coed Societies Invited to Come to Open Meeting

The meeting of the Columbia Literary Society Saturday night was voted by many to be one of the best meetings of the year. In the absence of the Vice-president, the President appointed W. A. Mabry to act as vice-president and critic for the evening. Two orations were given, both of which were much above the ordinary. V. C. Mason, the first orator, spoke on, "The call to service" in which he showed that there was a call to college men today to do their bit in the social world just as much as there was a call in 1918 for men to fight for their country. The second orator, J. J. Fariss, delivered a very convincing oration in which he deplored the lack of fine art and literature in the United States in comparison with European nations.

The debate was on the query: "Resolved that Federal aid should be provided to equalize educational opportunities in the various states of the United States". The negative composed of N. P. Elens and R. B. Young lost the decision to W. S. Grant and W. G. Pratt of the affirmative. J. J. Fariss was judged the best orator, W. S. Grant the best speaker on the affirmative, and N. P. Elens the best speaker on the negative.

The speakers for the inter-society debate, as announced by the President, are L. L. Wall, R. L. Jerome, and W. G. Pratt.

A proposition was made that the Literary Society from Southgate should be invited to attend a meeting in the near future, and a committee was appointed to look into the matter.

Band Fund Amounts to Four Hundred Dollars

The proceeds from the band are coming in rapidly since the S. O. K. was sent out to the friends and alumni of the college. So far about 475 dollars have been received besides a valuable instrument which was donated by a philanthropic alumnus.

If students unity at Baylor College, college are forced by a faculty decree to spend a year's honeymoon out side of the college. At Wellesley, they manage things differently. The college gives a course in love and marriage. The "order" and "heartbreak" student Wellesley receives first aid right on the campus. The Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences at the University of Texas is of the opinion that the school cheering may be improved. They "forbidding marriage between students" while they are still undergraduates is "illegal."—The New Student.

Among the other things which have been a decided improvement over last year are our Chapel services. Dr. Egerton has succeeded this year in making these fifteen minute periods at the beginning of each day a source of great help, and has removed them from the old cold and dried method of announcements, responsive readings, hymns and prayer.—The Hampton Sidney Tiger, Hampton Sidney College.

So why knock the cheer leaders? They are doing the best they can; they are putting their hearts into it, and what more can be asked? Instead of knocking them, let's give them suggestions how they would gladly listen. Knocking is something we should discontinue, and this is a fine place to begin.—The Sewanee Purple.

Dr. Bloomquist Talks of His Trip to California

Dr. Bloomquist lectured before the Natural History Club last Monday evening. The lecture was very informal and extremely interesting. Dr. Bloomquist talked on his trip to California two summers ago. He was in party with several other noted scientists who made the trip through the country, saw the wonders of nature at first hand by traveling in cars and camping out. He showed many pictures on slides which he made on the tour. Dr. Bloomquist related many unique experiences which were very entertaining.

"Have you an opening for a bright energetic college student?"

"Yes, and don't slam it after you on your way out."—Ex.

Trinity Finishes Schedule With Standing of Games of 44-6—Jones Proves to Be a Master Coach

Although no one has any ill criticism to make concerning the football season which ended last Thursday when the Trinity Blue Devils lost to the Davidson Wildcats, Ledy Luck has without doubt been against the Trinity eleven this year. In practically every game that the Devils played this season, they registered as many, if not more, first downs than did their opponents, only to come out at the close of the contest with the small end of the score. "If Trinity's team could make more downs than her opponents, then they couldn't she win more games than she did?" an outsider might ask. The answer lies in the fact that while one or two exceptions, the entire Blue Devil squad this year had never before played on a varsity team, they being products which Coach Jones has shaped from a mass of raw material.

State Game
The season began on September 27 when the Blue Devils traveled over to Raleigh and met the State College Wolf Pack on their own field. In this game, playing on a rainsoaked, slick, and for a field against a team rated to win. "A comparatively easy victory," the local grid men did honor to themselves and their supporters even in defeat.

FIVE—CHRONICLE
Comparison of the two teams shows the State team to have averaged thirteen pounds per man more than the Trinity team, and of the seven men who started the game for State all were varsity veterans, five of whom are now beginning their third year of college football and the remaining six their second year. On the other hand, only one of the men starting the game of Trinity had ever before participated in a varsity game, the other six being the products which Coach Jones has shaped from the mass of raw material with which he was presented at the beginning of the year. Regardless of these superior advantages that the Wolfpack had, it was their own error that the Blue Devils' line during the first half of the game, the Trinity eleven fighting viciously, and holding the State men back like a stone wall. At the end of the third quarter, the score still stood 0-0, but in the last half, the Wolfpack crossed Trinity's line twice and when the final whistle was sounded the score stood 14-0.

Gulfport
The first home game of the season was on October 4 with Gulfport. While the Quakers were much stronger than last year, they proved easy to the Blue Devils, and by the beginning of the third quarter Coach Jones was running the third squad on the field. The Methodists began a rushing offensive game in the third quarter, and opened up a forward passing system and a series of line plunges that completely bewildered their opponents. The Trinity team did not play every quarter, while it was only in the last period that the Quakers seemed to show any life, the score ending 33-6 in favor of Trinity.

Carolina Game
It was in the game with the strong University of North Carolina eleven, the team that held Yale, champions of the East, to a close four touchdown margin, that the Trinity eleven really proved its merit. With a show of increasing strength throughout the entire game and playing a wonderful defensive game from the beginning to the end, the Trinity Blue Devils held the famous Fetzner machine to two drop kicks. In spite of the rush of the Tar Heels in the first quarter, the Methodist line held as a wall and the backs consistently stopped the Carolina line plungers with the result that Fetzner team barely used up their 6 to 0 victory. Again and again the Carolina team attempted to carry the ball down the field, but they were held by the great defensive work of the Trinity eleven. The game ended without a touchdown being registered.

Richmond
The next game was with Richmond University at Richmond. Opening up with a brilliant aerial attack and following up with smashing line attacks the Trinity team won a decisive 14 to 0 victory from the Sphinxes. The first Trinity touchdown came in the second quarter on the first play, when Frank sent the ball over, a pass to Kimball. The second score came in the last period after the Blue Devils carried the ball down the field by a smashing line attack, Lagerstedt carrying the ball over.

William and Mary
The fifth game of the season was held at Norfolk with the strong team of William and Mary College. A beautiful diagonal field goal from Caldwell's toe on the thirty five yard line saved the Blue Devils from a humiliating at the hands of the Virginia team. The feature of the game was the brilliant and startling aerial attack of the Virginians which netted them two of their touchdowns, the third being scored on straight football. Final score, 21-3.

Elon
Trinity had little trouble in easily defeating the Elon Christians 54-6. The Blue Devils tried the pass method of gaining ground 27 times in this game, and it was successful in 15 plays, each landing considerable yardage.

Wake Forest
On Armistice Day, youth gave way to experience, and the Blue Devils went down in defeat before the vigorous onslaughts of the championship Demon Deacons from Wake Forest, 32-6. Jones' men put up a good fight, however, and the score by no means shows the comparative strength of the two eleven. The fact that Trinity made 14 first downs to Wake Forest's 12, indicates that the Demon Deacon victory was due in a large extent to the fact that they had an older, heavier, and more experienced team than Trinity, and that the breaks of the game went to Wake Forest.

Wofford
The Wofford Terrors put up a good fight in the game against Trinity on November 15, but they were clearly outplayed by the Blue Devils and Trinity moved out a 12-0 victory. Ed Lagerstedt was the star of this game, and aided by Caldwell and Johnson personally conducted the ball across Wake Forest's goal line on the third and fourth quarters.

Davidson
In the Davidson game Trinity again registered more first downs than did her opponent, and clearly outplayed the Wildcats during the first half, only to weaken in the last quarter and allow the Davidson eleven to rush across the line for two touchdowns, and win Trinity 21 to 13. The results of this game also indicate that an old team can nearly always throw on a new one, no matter how hard the new team fights.

Coach George Buckheit's coaching class started Monday with a good evaluation. This class, which meets twice a week, is an innovation at Trinity and is another step upward in the rapid progress of the college. Coach Buckheit is a competent instructor and doubtless many of the great coaches of the future will pass through his hands here at Trinity.

EVERY MAN ELIGIBLE TO PLAY NEXT YEAR

SEVERAL MEN TO GRADUATE BUT ALL EXPECT TO COME

DAINGEROUS TEAM NEXT YEAR

Lagerstedt and Pickens Are Seniors, But Both Plan to Return—Outlook is Very Optimistic

The Trinity Blue Devils are probably more fortunate than any other football team in the State in respect to the number of men that they will lose by graduation. Lagerstedt, who hails from Brockton, Massachusetts, and who has been mentioned by many sport writers in the state as a member of the all-state team, will graduate in the spring, but he is still eligible to play another year on the Trinity squad. There is some possibility of his return for post graduate work, although he has not definitely decided to do so as yet.

"Big Pick" Pickens, who has played a consistent game at center throughout the whole season, will get his "Big" in June, but he likes the Coach and the game so well that he has fully made up his mind to return next fall. He will be allowed to play two more years, and he is the State champion "Pick" who has present home in Albemarle, N. C.

There was not a single man on the squad this year who is not eligible to play again next year, and when one considers the fact that at the beginning of the season only four men had had as much as two years experience and none as much as three, it can be seen how great a problem Coach Jones had to face when the fall practice began. Out of this raw material, however, Jones has developed a fairly strong team, especially on the defense, and with practically the whole team returning and with the men on the present freshman team to draw from, the Coach should be able to present a possible Championship team next season. He will begin the season at Trinity next fall with practically as complete a team as did Coach Garrity at Wake Forest this year.

The Blue Devils and their number of years on the varsity including this season follows below:

INTER-DORMITORY TEAMS AND FRATERNITY SQUADS TO ORGANIZE A LEAGUE

Prizes to Be Given to Winners—Teams to Be Trained by Physical Education
Department of College

Inside athletics at Trinity will be developed more than ever before the end of the current scholastic year, or at least that is the prediction. Several organizations down town have offered a number of quite worth while medals to the winners of certain athletic contests that will be staged among the students alone. During the basketball season the organizations desire for many contests to be staged; they are offering valuable rewards to champion dormitory teams especially.

All contests are to be staged under the auspices of the Department of Physical Education. Coaches Steiner and Buckheit are working out a system under which the contests can be played. They expect to organize an Inter-dormitory and an Inter-fraternity league. Games will be scheduled in advance and all teams will have opportunity to be well trained beforehand, so that real games can be played. They suggest that dormitory captains be elected in the near future. Fraternity captains must be selected soon also.

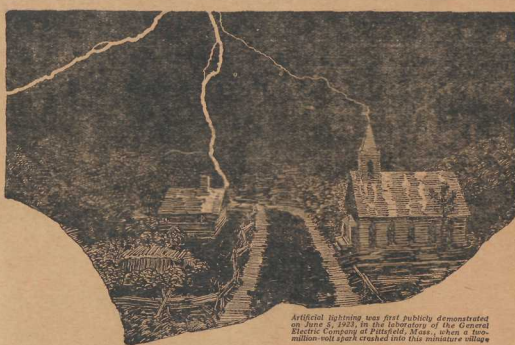

The move by the organizations down town is intended to stimulate athletic interest among the students. They have come to the realization that the best means to accomplish that end is to arouse enthusiasm by local encounters. To make sure that the proper enthusiasm will be aroused they propose to set up rewards that are well worth striving for. They assume that the students will know a good thing when they see it and enter zealously into the contests.

In spite of the fact that the Red Devils were able to chalk up one victory during the season, they were not successful. A glance at the resume of games will show that the Red Devils never failed to give their opponents a splendid fight, and in many cases plainly outclassed them. Some outstanding stars were developed in the Freshman team, who will doubtless have something to do with the determination of the varsity State Championship next year.

The Devils opened up the season with Greensboro High on October 10. Greensboro scored on the first kick off, when Burroughs fell on the ball behind the Trinity goal. Despite the fact that the Devils piled up 12 first downs to Greensboro 2, they were unable to score. The game ended 7-0. McLean and Swift were the outstanding stars.

The Davidson Kittens got off to a fast start on the game October 31, and piled up two touchdowns before the Red Devils were ready to play. In the second quarter the Devils rallied and made a touchdown, and were in preparation for another when a penalty called back. Captain Gray of the Wild Kittens dropped kicked in the same quarter. No scoring in second quarter.

The Oak Ridge game on October 18 was a game of varsity calibre. Both teams

BUCKHEIT WORKING HARD TO GET READY FOR GOOD SEASON IN BASKETBALL

Number of Candidates Report for Practice—Bullock Will Be in Shape for Game After Holidays

Every afternoon from four to six the Gymnasium resounds to the steady thump of the basket balls striking the floor or the backboards. The varsity basketball squad is working hard to produce a team which will be a credit to Trinity.

Couch Buckheit is very non-committal about the prospects this year. He, like Coach Jones, seems to prefer letting his results speak for him. He has a wealth of mediocre material, but very few stars, to pick from. Bullock, the only first string man from last year's team to return, is not out yet, and is not expected to report until after Christmas. However, Graham, Bagz, Moss, Butler, Pyler, Ware, Burkheimer, Rhodes, and several others are showing up very well and it is probable that the team will be picked from among these men. Although the prospects for a championship team are not as bright as they were last year, a great deal is expected from Coach Buckheit and his system, and a successful season for Trinity is predicted.

Red Devils End a Hectic Season by Winning One Game Out of Six

FRESHMEN SHOW STRENGTH BUT HAVE ADVERSE BREAKS

Season Ends Thanksgiving When Newport News School Falls to Freshmen by a Score of 15 to 7

In spite of the fact that the Red Devils were able to chalk up one victory during the season, they were not successful. A glance at the resume of games will show that the Red Devils never failed to give their opponents a splendid fight, and in many cases plainly outclassed them. Some outstanding stars were developed in the Freshman team, who will doubtless have something to do with the determination of the varsity State Championship next year.

The Devils opened up the season with Greensboro High on October 10. Greensboro scored on the first kick off, when Burroughs fell on the ball behind the Trinity goal. Despite the fact that the Devils piled up 12 first downs to Greensboro 2, they were unable to score. The game ended 7-0. McLean and Swift were the outstanding stars.

The Davidson Kittens got off to a fast start on the game October 31, and piled up two touchdowns before the Red Devils were ready to play. In the second quarter the Devils rallied and made a touchdown, and were in preparation for another when a penalty called back. Captain Gray of the Wild Kittens dropped kicked in the same quarter. No scoring in second quarter.

The Oak Ridge game on October 18 was a game of varsity calibre. Both teams played sensational ball, but neither were able to score. The passing work of the Red Devils was almost unanny, especially Swift, Covington and Webb were able to do the impossible in passing. Three times the Devils got to the ten yard line only to be thrown back by the cutoffs. The game ended in a 0-0 tie.

On October 25 the Devils attacked the Demolitionists. This was one of the hardest fought games of the season, and the early lead which the Demolitionists scored was not at all certain at any stage of the game. In the fourth quarter with the score at 7-0 it looked as if the Devils were going to push over another touchdown for a win, but when a Demos intercepted a pass in the final minutes of play and ran for a touchdown, the Devils hopes were shattered. The game ended 13-6.

The State Wolf Cubs came over on November 20 and were able to take the Red Devils measure. It was in this game, however, the Sellers was discovered. State was easily the superior team until the final quarter when Sellers went in as a quarter back, with a series of end runs he was able to play the State cubs off their feet and was pushing on towards a touchdown, when a fumble stopped the advance. The game was played in rain. The score was 12-0.

Thanksgiving day the Red Devils came into their rightful element in the game with the Newport News Apprentice School. Weaver and Sellers were the outstanding stars of this game. The Devils were able to end their season by a 15-7 victory. This seems to be the score that merited in many of the other games, but never a break came the way of the Devils.

A grey curtain suspended from the ceiling was used to good advantage in every scene. In Scene I it formed the walls of the Hotel de Bergerne theatre; in Scene II the walls of Ragueneau's larder; in Scene III the curtain was covered with vines and it formed the walls of a castle; in Scene IV, the battle field scene, a light blue curtain was dropped over the grey curtain and this seemed to add distance to the stage; in the final scene, Act V, the blue curtain was removed and the grey curtain dropped in such a way as to form chintz for the nursery.

In several scenes the entrances were made through the stage, although the scenery effects helped to make them less conspicuous than is usually the case with stage-entrance entrances. The first scene Cyrano is a theatre scene. Because the stage was so small, Mr. Gross used part of the floor of the main auditorium for a side door in the auditorium and the first part of the scene was played in front of the stage. This made the real audience feel that they were a part of the audience in the theatre scene of Cyrano.

Criticizing the Audience
The unsophistication, or perhaps animosity, of the audience was noticeable when Cyrano the Beauvilliers, speaking on the most ironical lines in the play, that if he should tell Roxane of his love she would look at his unhandsome face. The lines were censored perfectly, and with unusual historic accuracy, yet this was snickered as if a rough joke were being "pulled."

HESPERIA SOCIETY HEARS SEVERAL GOOD SPEECHES

Whimant Explains Why He Never Talks—High School Entrance Credits Subjects of Debate

Hesperia Hall was the scene of an exceptionally good and interesting meeting last Saturday night. Although the meeting was helpful and interesting in many ways, it could have been made much better if there had been more pep and humor in the meeting. Many it is kept in mind in the following meetings.

Mr. M. W. Lawrence delivered the oration on the Hesperia Spirit. Some very interesting points were brought out by Mr. Lawrence's speech. Following this, Mr. O. C. Foster gave an oration entitled, "The Dangers of Trifling." This was also a very interesting and helpful oration.

Some unusually good topics were discussed in the impromptu speeches. Mr. L. G. Whimant gave reasons why he never appeared on the society program. Samuel D. Bunday told about the prospects of a good basketball season. An assistant manager, Mr. Bunday was in the position to give the latest dope on the subject. Mr. Hubbard made a good speech in the 1924 Football Season.

The subject of the debate for the evening was, "Resolved, that all high school graduates desiring to enter Trinity College should be required to take entrance examinations." Mr. F. B. Andrews and R. E. Tuttle made interesting talks on the affirmative, while J. B. Midgrett and G. D. Johnson upheld the negative with good arguments.

BOYD AND RAKENY WILL DEBATE STATE NEXT WEEK

Open Forum Plan to Be Used in Debating Technicians on Query Concerning Child Labor Law

While a part of the members of the Student body may be using their time to dream of the coming Christmas holidays, there are at least two men on the staff who are hard at work. These two men are J. P. Boyd and W. B. Rakeny, the men who are to represent Trinity in the Trinity State debate to be held at Raleigh Tuesday evening, December 9. To these men the task of teaching the students of State College the intricacies of the Open Forum plan of debating has been allotted. As to whether they will make good instructors on this particular question is yet to be seen, but the two men have shown themselves to be very efficient in this kind of work in the past that there is no cause for worry on this score.

This debate should be of great interest to the students of both institutions because it marks two great beginnings: the beginning of inter-collegiate debating between the two colleges and the beginning of the Open Forum system of debating at State College.

The query, Resolved, that the Child Labor amendment should become a part of the Law of North Carolina, is a question that has gained a high place in the minds of all the thinking people of our state and the influence that the outcome of this debate may have upon the lives of the Laboring Class can hardly be exaggerated. In some parts of the United States Child Labor laws are absolutely essential but for North Carolina, where the percentage of the people are not working in the industries which will be affected by the passage of such laws is a question.

FRESHMEN WIN FROM APPRENTICE SCHOOL

RED DEVILS TURN IN A VICTORY IN LAST GAME ON THEIR SCHEDULE

SWIFT IS AN OUTSTANDING STAR

Whole Team Plays Well and Defeats Newport News Boys 15-7—Swift Gets Drop-Kick for 40 Yards

The Trinity freshmen football team emerged from their Thanksgiving game with the big end of the score, and in this victory over the Apprentice School of Newport News the Red Devils showed that they were a team worthy to represent Trinity in any contest. Although the first of the season was not a success for the Red Devils as far as winning games was concerned, but this last game was enough to show that Coach Taylor had rounded his group of freshmen into a well working football machine.

The strong Apprentice School team worked hard, but they could push over only one touchdown, while the Red Devils with their determination to win scored two touchdowns and a dropkick, which netted 15 points to the Apprentice School's 7 points. Last season the Apprentice School easily won from the boys' freshmen, but Swift, Harris, and Weaver caused it to be a different story this year.

The whole squad must be especially commended for their exceptionally good spirit, for as is the case in any other game, it could not have been a victory if team play and good sportsmanship had been lacking. A total of twenty-two men were used and this very much made the trip helped to win the game. But Captain Swift must stand perhaps above the rest of his team-mates, for his generosity and the team was such that it could hardly have been beaten, and his forward passing was one of the main thrusts to victory. Besides this, the dropkick, which the Apprentice School made exceptional, he drop-kicked from the 40 yard line for three points, and also kicked another by inches from the 35 yard line. The 40 yard kick is a feat, and he is the longest drop-kick on that field. Weaver's work at full was also extra good both on offensive and defensive, and his consistent line plunges added many yards for his team. It was Weaver who carried the ball over for both touchdowns after forward passes from Swift to Bolick. Bolick and Bolick also played a good game at half, and although Sallars had to be taken out on account of injuries, he made several first downs. Bolick caught the long pass which placed the ball in good position for Weaver to carry the ball across. Webb also did exceptional work at end, and proved a great defensive man during the time he was in the game.

Stevens, Swift, and Bolick were the only players who remained in the game throughout the whole game. The line made the trip and did their part toward winning the game: Webb, Covington, Bragley, Love, Eames, Stevens, Swift, Bolick, Sallars, Weaver, Bennett, Finley, Bradley, Morgan, Westley, Stott, Pack, McLane, Corpening, Fulford, and Hatcher.

UNUSUALLY GOOD PROGRAM GIVEN AT VESPER SERVICE

Craven Features Program with a Talk on Facts that Should Interest All Men at College

The Vesper Service Sunday afternoon was carried out entirely by the College students, and was exceptionally interesting. A. T. Haraway led the devotional service. Miss Maude Hunter very interestingly told the story of Ben Hur, pointing out that there is a great joy in reunion. Miss Hunter said that the greatest joy on earth is the genuine joy of union with Jesus Christ.

Frank Craven gave an inspiring talk which was of peculiar interest to college students. The essence of Craven's speech was: That our parents did not have the opportunities that we have as college students. He said that many of the representatives of their respective homes and that students are judged from the conduct of homes. College prepares men and women to live. The student who gets the most out of college life, who gets the greatest heights in college life, are usually the ones who will get the most, and accordingly the most out of life.

W. R. Brown sang "Face to Face" Brown is one of the Glee Club's best singers, and his solo added much to the programme.

Mac: "If I had known that only married ones were coming. I wouldn't have met this train."

Ann: "There isn't a single girl on this train."—Columbia Record.

STATE TRACK MEET TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY

BEST RUNNERS IN STATE TO COMPETE AT WAKE FOREST

TRINITY TEAM LOOKS GOOD

Maby is Expected to Bring Back Honors—Carolina Will Be Hardest One for Blue Devils

The state cross-country meet, which is to be held at Wake Forest next Saturday, the 6th of December, will be the culmination of track at Trinity until next spring. This state meet promises to be very exciting and close meet, because the four big colleges in the state all have about equal teams. Trinity stands a good chance of winning state honors in cross-country, regardless of what the other teams representing our institution have done this season. The Trinity runners have met and defeated the teams from both Wake Forest and from State College, and the only thing in the way of a clear sweep of state honors is the team from Carolina.

Carolina has met both the teams from Wake Forest and State College, and defeated Wake Forest by about the same score that Trinity did, but the finish of the Carolina State run was broken up by the spectators taking part in any of the meet was in progress at that time, being the reason why the score was not counted. From all appearances Carolina would have won this meet, except for the fact that a State runner was leading when the race was hindered by the crowd. So far, Bailey, of Wake Forest, was not hit, and he is believed, and it is believed, that he will stand an excellent chance of placing first in the state meet, but this is only to be speculated on, for Maby is expected to take part in any of the Trinity-Wake Forest meet. By comparing the runs so far this season, one can see that Maby, Trinity's best runner, was not hit, and he is believed, and it is believed, that he will stand an excellent chance of placing first in the state meet, but this is only to be speculated on, for Maby is expected to take part in any of the Trinity-Wake Forest meet. By comparing the runs so far this season, one can see that Maby, Trinity's best runner, was not hit, and he is believed, and it is believed, that he will stand an excellent chance of placing first in the state meet, but this is only to be speculated on, for Maby is expected to take part in any of the Trinity-Wake Forest meet.

Perhaps all dogs will be upset in this state meet, for it is really an event that the outcome can not be forecasted, but it is expected that the best runner, Maby, will be the one to win. Maby and the other Trinity runners can come along in such a way that the old Blue and White will emerge victorious.

Perhaps something should be said concerning the Trinity runners. Maby seems to be in the very best of form, and will stand the best chance of first place in the most important meet of the season. Redmon is now working hard and it is a good guess to say that he will figure in the scoring, and he is believed, and it is believed, that he will stand an excellent chance of placing first in the state meet, but this is only to be speculated on, for Maby is expected to take part in any of the Trinity-Wake Forest meet. # White's Photographer is Here For Last Time

The photographer from White Studio will be on the campus during the remainder of the week, and according to the business manager of the Chanticleer, those students who do not make an appointment in the last time, will forfeit the right to have their picture in the 1923 Chanticleer, as the photographer will not be at the College again this year. The number of the students that have not had their pictures taken is large and for this reason the students are requested to cooperate with the following members of the Chanticleer Staff by seeing them and making their appointments: Thursday, Friday, E. M. Thompson, L. B. Holwell, J. B. Craven, R. L. Biggerstaff, and H. L. Young.

The old adage about Mohammed and the mountain will be revised if play by Dr. Weaver now under way are realized and the Chanticleer College play, "The Thrill that comes once in a Lifetime" by seeing a real, honest-to-goodness, college game played by real men in the football field some time in November.

The game, probably the first regular football game ever played in Murfreesboro and probably in Hertford County, is tentatively scheduled for Friday, November 1. The Chanticleer, Chanticleer College.

Co-Ed News

Thanksgiving season at Southgate began on Wednesday afternoon when many of the old girls arrived and remained until Sunday night. On Thursday the program for the Trinity cruise was held. After a delicious Thanksgiving dinner all Southgate left for the athletic field to witness the Trinity-Davison game, and in the evening the play, Cyrano de Bergerac was enjoyed immensely.

Saturday afternoon Miss Baldwin entertained the girl's class of 1924 at a tea, a most enjoyable time was had by all.

Saturday evening at nine o'clock all of the girls gathered around the fire in the social room for a marshmallow feed. The remainder of the evening was spent with a mock wedding, much music, and laughter.

Among the holiday guests recorded in Southgate guest book were: Francis John, '24; Laurialburg, N. C.; Alice Craven, Ridgewood, N. C.; Jean Prater, Richmond, Va.; Mary King Ellison, '24, Belhaven, N. C.; Nancy DuShields, Smithfield, Va.; Mary Gladys Lloyd, '24, Greenville, N. C.; Ester Evans, '24, Agnes Judd, '24, and Erma Pitts, '24, Waynesville, N. C.; Lucile Holden, '24, Hilton, N. ## BOXING CLASS

All those who are interested in boxing will be greatly pleased to learn that Bill Bailey, present coach of wrestling, is starting a boxing class in the near future for the purpose of teaching boxing basics. As yet, boxing is not a college sport and therefore it will be privately taught. This course consists of a thorough knowledge in the art of boxing. It is very useful for it teaches one how to protect himself and to protect others, and one is often called on to do this. In short, it teaches the art of defense. For further information and full particulars, see M. I. Pickens, 109 Jarvis.

SENIORS HURL BACK TIMID FROSH EVEN CARE CARRIERS SWEEP THE FRESHMEN BY SCORE OF

6 POINTS

WHISNANT STELLAR PLAYER

First Inter-Class Game Ends Victorious for Seniors—Juniors Plan to Slaughter Sophs.

Hanes Field was the scene of another sanguine struggle on Tuesday afternoon when the impetuous frosh were at last compelling to charge the right honorable seniors. The seniors laid aside their derbies and canes and the freshmen left their insignia appended to their campus jackets, and each came forth clad in football trunks. Although the seniors got their Majesties rolled on the frozen December ground, they proceeded to continue the frosh that 1928 has not yet arrived. The seniors won 6 to 0.

The seniors obviously had the freshmen outclassed, but the final whistle was the best assurance that senior stand-outs would remain standing. Each senior play usually changed the situation considerably. The team on the offensive usually found its efforts spent progressively or retrogressively, sometimes on and off the other. The hall was solemn between the stakes, and the number of first downs made is uncertain.

At some time during the game about every man starred, and at some other time he created the reverse sensation. Every line-man seemed specially fitted for the task of maintaining the opening line and throwing the ball carrier for a loss. For the frosh the work of Stott, Hamilton, and Hatcher was outstanding. Ray, Downey, Candy Ball Smith, and Biddle Craven were well in the senior play. Joe Whisnant was the individual hero in that he made the winning points. In the opening minutes Downey kicked off to the freshmen who failed to return the ball very far. After the freshmen had made futile attempts at gaining, the seniors got possession of the ball on the freshmen's 20 yard line. Their efforts at gaining were also in vain and Craven attempted to kick a field goal. The ball was intercepted, however, and carried 20 yards into the field. Nobody did much during the remainder of the half.

In the third quarter the seniors started a forward passing attack that seemed to unman the frosh. Candy Ball Smith received a long pass over left end and was showing everybody his heels when gravity intervened and made a tackle for the freshmen. On the next play the period was passed over to a scrambling mass near the goal line and heroic Joe grabbed it and fell over the line.

During the fourth quarter the freshmen launched a formidable attack in which Hamilton and Hatcher carried the ball from their 12 yard line to the seniors' 20 yard line on consecutive runs. At that point they were penalized and lost the ball by having a pass intercepted—the attack was repulsed.

Many unusual plays were pulled during the game. One unique one was pulled by the freshmen. With the ball still lying on the ground before their center, the whole team suddenly made a charge through the senior defense.

A former writer to the editor of an agricultural paper, asking for a method of staking his orchard at the pump-lepper plague. In the same mail the editor received a request from an anxious mother about her baby twins who were having a hard time teething.

The editor's stenographer mixed the replies with the result that the freshmen received the following: "Wring Daniel's teeth around their throats. Rub their gums with castor oil and massage their tongues twice a day."

The anxious mother received this startling advice, "Cover with dry straw. Soak thoroughly with coal oil and apply a match; the little pests will soon stop bothering you." Davenport Weekly Record, Davenport College.

CAST BEING SELECTED FOR CHRISTMAS CAROL

PROFESSOR SPENCE HAS DRAMA-
TIZED DICKENS CLASSIC
FOR PRESENTATION

TO BE PRESENTED BEFORE XMAS

Time Will Be Very Appropriate for First Night of Presentation—Scenes Are Short But Very Realistic

The dramatization of Dickens' Christmas Carol is Professor H. E. Spence's latest historic achievement. His previous dramatic works include the writing and staging of a play on the book of Ruth and When Cross Roads Cross Again. Each of these has been successfully produced at Trinity, with Professor Spence coaching the productions of his own drama.

Professor Spence is now endeavoring to select a cast for the Christmas Carol, and he expects to present it to the college community the week before the Christmas holidays begin, an especially appropriate time for the "first night" of his dramatization of that very "Christmas" piece of literature.

The Christmas Carol is loaded with dramatic action and offers splendid opportunities for the play. Professor Spence's play in MS form looks attractive. He seems to have turned Dickens' story into play form without discarding any of the rapid animation, natural conversation, and appeal to the human emotions.

The play is not sentimental, but it is used as such on sentiment, Christmas sentiment. The Christmas spirit itself is pure sentiment, though it is not sentimental. Professor Spence has succeeded in retaining this sentiment in his play, and the writer sees no reason why his play should not prove as popular as the Christmas Carol itself has always been among all people who are capable of feeling the real Christmas spirit.

The play is divided into four acts, with an epilogue and a prologue. Both the prologue and epilogue take place in Scrooge's office. No doubt Professor Spence's visit to England last summer enabled him to work out the settings realistically. The scenes are numerous and short, because of the successful shifting of the scenes in the original Christmas Carol. The play will probably be an hour in length.

RED DEVIL GOAL TOSSEES SETTLE DOWN TO PRACTICE

No Freshman Eligible for Varsity—First Year Class Expects to Have A Strong Team

The Red Devil basketball squad after an auspicious start is losing little time in getting down to earnest preparation for the games of the approaching season. Sharing the spacious basketball floor of the gym with the Blue Devils, the young lads held their initial practice on Monday afternoon. Approximately thirty-five candidates responded to Coach Taylor's first call. Injuries, class football, and various other causes are delaying a large number from participating in the earliest practices. The squad is being recruited each day, however, and indications are that Coach Taylor will have a very large number from which he selects his players.

At this early date little can be ascertained about the strength which the crimson Devils will assume during the season. It is probable, nevertheless, that the Imps will account for themselves in a creditable manner. This is the first season that all freshmen have been prohibited from appearing in the varsity squad, and consequently the team will be composed of the most skilled basketball athletes of the class. The material as a whole looks quite impressive. Among the seniors is a number of former high school and prep school illuminators; others are to report at once. Many other candidates have launched out zealously and will likely show some ability later. The squad will not be cut until it is complete, and the coach has placed his estimate on each man. Very likely the heterogeneous collection of talent will evolve into a formidable aggregation of Imp basketballers.

Manager Orr is working out what is expected to be a full schedule. As yet it is only tentative, but it will perhaps call for spirited contests with various high school, prep school, and other freshmen teams.
