

Student Ball Success As Over One Thousand Attend

Enthusiasm Reigns for Four Hours as Male and Female Revelers Are Entertained by Two Orchestras; Features and Pop Meeting

The student government dance held last Thursday evening in the women's gymnasium proved the largest number of revelers to appear at a Duke dance on the college campus. Over one thousand dancers filled the large floor to its capacity for three and a half hours, and were entertained by dancing, interspersed by musical features and an enthusiastic pep meeting.

The ball was given by the men's student government association, which is now under the leadership of the new president, Mr. J. H. Thompson. The revelry which was begun at nine o'clock at a high pitch within thirty minutes. Although the dress for the occasion was informal, the sponsors are to be congratulated on the general conformity to good social taste.

Two orchestras, playing alternately at opposite ends of the floor, kept the dancing going perpetually, and in their efforts to appear at their best, presented some of the best music ever offered by collegiate orchestras. Both groups are novelty features which were heavily applauded by their listeners. The University Club orchestra, directed by "Veddy" Lettwich, presented their feature in the evening, when their impressionistic portrayal of a drunken scene rendered effective by good music, produced mingled applause and embarrassment. In an equally high standard, Bill Lassiter's Blue Devils contributed a musical interpretation of "School Days," with the personnel of the orchestra dressed for the part.

Besides these features, each orchestra contributed their arrangements of the two Duke songs during the course of the evening. Each group also played one "no break" dance number before and after intermission.

This intermission came at 11:30. The crowd was at its loudest when Head Cheerleader Fisher conducted an enthusiastic pep meeting to pave the way for the game two days later. This enthusiasm was sustained throughout the first dancing period which was concluded all too soon, a few minutes after the stipulated closing hour of one.

STATE Y. M. C. A. CABINET MEETS IN RALEIGH SOON

Group Composed of Y. Presidents and Faculty Advisers Will Hold Fall Session Saturday

The North Carolina Y. M. C. A. cabinet, composed of Y. presidents and faculty advisers with student secretaries as ex officio members, for all the colleges of the state will meet in Raleigh, Saturday, October 17, for their fall meeting.

The purpose of the N. C. Student Cabinet is to promote Christian fellowship, exchange experience and to render mutual assistance among the member associations in carrying out the work of the Y. M. C. A. This organization, though still in its infancy, having been organized about a year and a half ago, has already been of great benefit to those who comprise it, and its value is growing steadily.

Mr. William Pringle, president of the Duke Y. is president of the State Cabinet and Mr. Henry Brock, president of the State College Y. is secretary. The meeting will be held at Pabst's cabaret in Raleigh, where discussion of various problems of local Y. M. C. A.'s and a general exchange of ideas will take place.

FISHER RIDING ACADEMY TO ISSUE FREE TICKETS

One member from every social fraternity and sorority on the campus will soon receive a free ticket for one horseback ride at the Fisher Riding Academy.

A large number of faculty and students are riding today from the academy. Recipients of the tickets are reminded that at present there are 22 horses in the Fisher stable located behind the power plant on the west campus.

Duke Players to Meet Tomorrow Evening

On next Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, there will be a regular meeting of the Duke Players in the Little Theatre on the east campus. Manager Galtin requests that all persons who have been selling tickets make a report to him at this time.

STUDENT ILLS ARE NOW VERY SLIGHT

Only Two Serious Cases Are Now Being Treated; Accidents Are at Minimum

According to reports from both the men's and women's infirmaries, the general health conditions of the student body are very good.

Sickness has been confined largely to such minor disturbances as acute colds, tonsillitis, and diarrhea. Only two cases of a more serious nature have been reported. Connor Hawkins, of the school of religion conducted pneumonia, while Mr. Morgan, of the law school, was forced to have his appendix removed. Both, however, have completely recovered.

Rhineworm of the feet is quite prevalent on both campuses and efforts are being made to prevent the increase of this widespread but mild skin disease. Cases of scabies, or itches, Dr. Speed, the university physician, has called attention to report immediately to the infirmaries. There is a nurse on duty both day and night in the infirmaries on the east and west campuses.

Students who wish to consult with Dr. Speed should report at the women's infirmary at nine a. m. and at the men's infirmary at ten a. m. or five p. m. daily. Special appointments with Dr. Speed or any other doctor may be made through the nurses.

WADE CONGRATULATED BY CAROLINA PRESIDENT

President Frank P. Graham, of the University of North Carolina, was among the first to congratulate Coach Wallace Wade upon Duke's victory over the Villanova football team last Saturday. Immediately following the game, Coach Wade was in receipt of the following telegram:

"Coach Wallace Wade: Duke University. I congratulate you and Captain Brewer upon the excellent game today. "FRANK P. GRAHAM."

GIRLS Do Not Smoke Pipes

THE GIRLS haven't left us many of our masculine rights. They of our airplanes, drive our cars, smoke our cigarettes—but they don't smoke our pipes! They've left us this one manly right, anyway.

A man almost had to smoke a pipe nowadays. A pleasant necessity. For a pipe filled with good tobacco is just about the best smoke a man could want. And if you're troubled about selecting a tobacco, remember that Edgeworth is the popular favorite in 42 out of 54 colleges. It comes how seems to fit the college man's taste. Edgeworth is not especially for pipes, it burns slowly, it gives a cool smoke. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or, for a special sample packet, write to Larus & Ben Co., 100 S. 2nd St., Richmond, Va.

LAW PROF STATES THAT LOWER LAW NEEDS UPHOLDING

Malcolm McDermott Shows Necessity For Common Law As Vital to Complex Society

TALK GIVEN AT VESPERS

Duke Law Professor Speaks to Large Audience Under the Auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

"The main issue of today is the upholding of the common or lower law," said Professor Malcolm McDermott, of the Duke law school faculty, in speaking at the Sunday vesper service last Sunday evening in York Chapel.

"Our legal system, our laws, our conventions of society have come down to us as the best product of years and ages gone by and I must not now throw them lightly aside. They are placed there to equalize the lives of individuals, and not to restrict them, and to cast them away would be to return to the age of living wherein every man is allowed to do as he pleases in his own way. We do not return to such an age," said the noted professor.

Professor McDermott showed that the higher law is the law of God, which is within our hearts and governs from within, while the lower law undertakes to govern man from without. The plan of God was then, and is today, for an ideal state wherein there is a theocracy, and God is shown that man has never been able to live under such a situation in the past and without the aid of the speaker. "We will never reach this ideal state of living under the higher law by creating socialistic laws," he said.

The rise of the Jewish nation was traced by the speaker from Abraham, who started out in answer to the call of God to an unknown land to establish a family, which grew until it developed into groups, or tribes. Mr. McDermott showed how these tribes went into Egypt, lived there, under great hardships, until a leader was found to take them back to their old home. "These people," he said, "generally had everything in their favor. They had Divine Messings which seemed to bring success in all of their pursuits."

The results were shown to have been anything but satisfactory, as the people lived, during the period of the Judges, a very dissipated life. These Judges, the speaker pointed out, were not judges in our present day sense, but really leaders of the people, often arising merely to lead them against some of their enemies.

COLUMBIA ELECTS TWO MEN TO DEBATE COUNCIL

At the fourth meeting of the Columbia Literary society, held Tuesday evening in Page auditorium, two men were elected to membership.

Arthur Koffler, who was on the inter-collegiate debating team and Lawson B. Knott were both elected to serve on the debate council.

Mr. Newhart, Mr. Bunch, and Mr. Pearson, the judges, voted Mr. Carrière's tally, "The Problems of the Age," the best of the prepared speeches. Mr. Carrière outlined the principal international problems.

Mr. Woods delivered the best impromptu talk. He explained humorously the proper method of cracking a Ford, three of the best ways to locate any of Henry's troubles.

FRESHMAN CLASS PLANS ACTIVITIES

Suppers to Be Held Every Thursday Evening; Theater Also Planned

The freshman class held its regular weekly assembly in Page auditorium at 11:40 a. m. Saturday, October 10.

After several announcements by Dean Arnold the meeting was called to order by Marion Davis, the recently elected president. In a brief speech of gratitude he expressed his pleasure at holding the office and pledged himself to the advancement of the class of '35.

Plans for social activities were discussed by A. E. Burgess, vice-president. It was announced that freshmen suppers will be held every Thursday evening at which time some speaker will address the class.

An announcement concerning the formation of hiking clubs to explore the Duke forest and other property was received with interest. It is planned to conduct hikes each afternoon to these beautiful spots, and a good attendance is expected.

A committee composed of men from each state represented in Duke university was announced. The function of this group will be to assist the officers in the promotion of freshman activities.

WILDCATS STOPPED BY POWERFUL DUKE LINE

DUKE FAVORED TO DEFEAT DAVIDSON IN BIG FIVE GAME

Davidson Has Defeated Washington and Lee and Elon But Has Lost Two

CATS MAY SURPRISE DUKE

They May Surprise Devils as They Did Carolina in Game Last Year

With eight letter men back as a nucleus and a host of raw material to choose from, Coach Younger and T. J. Simpson hope to turn out a fast, scrappy little Davidson eleven this season. Thus far the Wildcats have fared a strange reversal of form, defeating Elon and Washington and Lee, but losing to N. C. State and N. P. L. The team has at times displayed a powerful offensive drive, while again it has lagged woefully.

The variety combination is being run by Don King this season, with Paterson, Peabody, Gardner, and McQueen alternating in the backfield. This outfit averages 170 pounds at best, while the line tips the scales at about 175 to the man. Coach Tilton has his greatest worries on the wings. Captain Baker has been shifted to a back to help patch up this deficiency. The line stars appear to be Mathis, McConnell, and Kuykendall.

However weak the Wildcats seem to be seen throughout the season, they will undoubtedly polish off some big foe as is their custom. Last year they furnished their usual surprise by derring the Tar Heels 7-0. In the last half of the N. C. State game two weeks ago they came out as an inspired team, and very nearly surmounted State's early advantage in one of their traditional superman spurs.

INTERCLASS MEET TO BE HELD SOON

Medals, Cups, and a Plaque to Be Presented to Winners of Fourteen Events

Track men will be interested to know that an interclass meet will be held on October 31st, and not on the 24th as previously announced, so that athletes may attend the Carolina-Tennesse game.

The entire undergraduate body is eligible to compete, and all those who are interested are urged to request to report to Manager Dudley at once and meet their training.

This meet promises to be quite unique here, as there will be a full program of events with the exception of the mile and two mile races. In their place, two half mile relays will be run off between men and women. Medals will be given to the first and second men in each event, and cups will be added to the winning relay teams. In addition, the winning class will have an engraved bronze plaque in the gymnasium. As if this were not enough, Coach Tuttle announces that cups may be given to the fraternity which gathers the most points, and the second ranking fraternity may

Talking It Over

JOE SKINNER

Every year we have a hallaboo at Davidson about the school spirit which we ought to have and which doesn't seem to appear until the season is half over. The cheerleaders plead with the student body for support and if it scumbe the freshmen who are the first to comply. This year, the cheerleaders, namely, brothers Dutton and Dutton, Cole, Seib, Tice, and Guinan have been working hard to perfect a system of signals, under the direction of Bud Friar, head cheerleader. These men have shown much improvement in form, and should be commended, however, they could still learn their parts a little better. Last Saturday the students displayed quite some improvement in their cheering, as if in answer to the prayers of these cheerleaders, but the upperclassmen seem to think that they are too good to cheer the frosh. How about a little oomp from now on, fellows; let's show these frosh who can yell the best.

It certainly does us good to see some of the southern teams take their northern trip to the intercollegiate games. Last week, Auburn, who hasn't shown so well in conference circles during the last few years, did Wisconsin. Vandy beat Georgia, and Georgia beat Yale. Georgia has beaten Yale three times in a row now and is the only team in the South to have ever done this. Quite a feather in the south's cap, isn't it?

Our freshmen are getting plenty of practice trying out the different styles of football. Each week they take the play of the team coming against the varsity on the following Saturday and give the big team some real opposition. Taking advantage of this training with different systems, the frosh use each week they against their own opponents — they used the Hoke system last week and the Davidson staff this week.

The infallible Athletics are infallible now and it is a good thing for baseball. When one team wins too much it takes the spice out of the game. Let's hope neither the A's nor the Cards are the Series next year.

WILDCAT RUNNERS RACE BLUE DEVILS

Freshmen and Varsity Cross-Country Teams Travel to Davidson For First Test

Last Friday both the varsity and freshmen cross-country squads made their final time trials to decide just who will race against Davidson this Saturday. The varsity ran a four and a quarter mile trial, they coming home first in the excellent time of 21 minutes and 37 seconds. The freshmen also made a creditable showing over the two and a half mile course. Richman won by a foot over Erikson, with a time for that distance of 13 minutes and 22 seconds. The varsity has been improving steadily in the past three weeks. Bray, Bradsher, Lewis, Miles, Nichols, Hiles, Marston, and Garvin have shown remarkable progress in their work. Some three weeks ago the best varsity time for a mile and a half race was 7 minutes and 44 seconds, or about five minutes per mile. Now this same group is running four miles at just as fast a pace.

FLORIDA-CAROLINA IS TIE

Game Eliminates "Gators From First Rank; Carolina Makes Good Showing

Things were indeed quiet along the Southern Conference front Saturday as far as gridiron action was concerned, there being only one major game on the program for the day. The program found some of the heavy favorites pitted against each other, as each contender appeared in action against minor foes, but not in intercollegiate fray.

The headline for the day was the University of North Carolina-Florida game, played under a brooding sun at Gainesville, Fla., with a scoreless draw. The Florida "Gators" were the pre-season "dark horses" in the race, but Saturday's outcome with the Tar Heels may eliminate them from the race, considering that U. N. C. was put out last week by Vanderbilt.

Chuck Collins, Carolina coach, opened the Florida game with a little strategy by starting his "second stringers" and these lads went well toward holding the Floridians. Neither team threatened seriously in the opening half, but as play was resumed in the second half the Tar Heels advanced the pigskin to the one-foot line, only to see their heavier opponents hold them for down. This was indeed heartbreaking for the Tar Heels, but they came right back in the closing period to have the oral on the five yard strip as the final whistle sounded. The Floridians offered no scoring threats during the whole encounter.

At Charlotte, one lone tally told the difference between the Clemson Tigers, from the Palmetto state, and the N. C. State Wolfpack, from Raleigh. The Tigers were the victors with the lone marker, and outdistanced their opponents in every department of the game. Though they lacked the material that their opponents offered, the Wolfpack put up a stubborn fight to ward off defeat until the last period. The South Carolinians opened a drive late in the third stanza and carried on in the fourth to put their advantage in the final period for (Continued on Page Six)

TWENTY-FIVE REPORT FOR FALL BASKETBALL

Practicing three nights a week, the 1931-32 basketball squad, under the guidance of Coach Eddie Cameron, is gradually being grounded into shape for the approaching season.

Last year's state champions will be handicapped greatly by the loss of two stars in the form of Joe Croson, all-southern pivot man, and George Rogers, high scoring forward. Rogers was graduated in June, while Croson was back but not eligible for another year of basketball.

From a squad numbering twenty-five men, which includes Carter, Colley, Coombs, and Shaw of last year's varsity, in addition to a group of sophomores up from the 1931 freshmen outfit, Coach Cameron hopes to build up a quite formidable club to fulfill the hardest schedule ever made for the cage sport.

BOXING PRACTICE WELL UNDER WAY

Wrestling and Boxing Prospects Appear Mediocre For the Coming Season

Although the season in boxing and wrestling does not open until January, Coach Add Warren is rapidly compiling his group of forty candidates into shape. The experienced men are being drilled in the floor jujitsu while the green candidates are learning the fundamentals of the sports.

The boxer have been having workouts consisting of bag punching, sparring, and conditioning exercises. Light workouts for the wrestlers have been given with no actual trial matches held as yet.

Prospects for the coming season are neither bright nor gloomy. In boxing, Captain Bullock, Brewer, Hyatt, and West are the veterans who are expected to bear the brunt of the work for the varsity, together with a few of last year's freshmen. Brewer and Hyatt will report as soon as the football season is over.

Captain Gamble, Mullens, and Adkins are the only veterans for this season's wrestling squad. Lack of experience men in the lighter divisions is worrying Coach Warren, but he is hopeful of developing a strong team from the many candidates who are reporting.

Three of the four boxing matches will be staged in the local gym. The location for the Carolina meet is not known as (Continued on page six)

BLUE IMPES DOWN STATE FRESHMEN TO START SEASON

Show Flashy Running and Good Headwork to Get Safe Win

The N. C. State freshmen were well prepared to halt the sweep of the Duke Blue Imps last Friday night, but they had not planned on meeting a human streak of lightning. The bolt came in the form of Marion Brumback, left half-back, who snubbed over Hilditch field as if he owned it. When Brumback and his mates ceased warfare, a neat 21-0 victory was packed away as the first donation to the Imps' 1931 drive to retain the State championship which they staged last year.

The score, however, belies the real struggle that the two teams fought under the Kleigs before a howling crowd of two thousand persons, mostly "State backers. The Tackles pounded out 10 first downs to Duke's one and when the game ended, State had the ball within two yards of the goal.

Blue Devils Show Result of Long Preparation Against Villanova System

Conceded as the pre-game favorites to go down in defeat before the onslaught of a powerful Villanova eleven, the Blue Devils displayed fine football Saturday to smother their Northern invaders under an 18-0 score. The Duke aggression presented an outfit that functioned with clock-like precision to show a great reversal in form from their two encounters within the Conference.

Villanova, heralded as one of the strongest clubs in all the East this year, was forced to suffer lamelation time and time again as the Blue Devils thwarted their every scoring threat and then had time left to count three touchdowns for themselves.

The entire Duke front wall rose to the occasion, proving impenetrable to the offensive threats of the star Villanova backs who bounded off as if they struck molar-balls. Playing one of the greatest games of his fine career was Emory Adkins, Duke pivot man, who should be well on his way to a berth on this year's all-southern selection. Adkins, on several occasions, broke through the Villanova defense to tackle an opposing back before he could make the scrimmage line, while his play on the defense deserves the same praise. Special attention should also go to Harton, Friedman, Crawford, and Rogers, who contributed largely to Duke's tower of strength in the front line.

However, as usually is the case, the majority of praise goes to Captain Kid Brewer, Duke's driving fullback. Boring through holes (and sometimes when there wasn't any) in the Villanova line, (Continued on Page Six)

DUKE TEAM CLICKS

AGAINST INVADERS

The Blue Devil star amassed a total of 30 yards in 25 plays that he carried the ball, to count two of the three touch-downs made during the afternoon. There was no stopping him. Often he appeared to have been stopped at the line of scrimmage, but after an instant he was seen emerging from a mass to carry through for an additional five yards or so.

For Villanova, Casey was the outstanding man. He caused the Blue Devils 25 yards in 25 plays that he carried the ball, to count two of the three touch-downs made during the afternoon. There was no stopping him. Often he appeared to have been stopped at the line of scrimmage, but after an instant he was seen emerging from a mass to carry through for an additional five yards or so.

Duke's first touchdown came early in the game after 10 minutes of play in the first quarter. After an exchange of punts, Adkins dumped Golden to the ground so hard that he lost his grip on the ball, and Harton recovered for Duke on the visitors' 24 yard line. Brewer, who was the first ball, Duke took possession on Villanova's 24 yard line. Brewer shot forward for seven yards, and then Mason hurled a pass to Brownlee, who scored the second Devil touchdown standing up. Mullen missed the placement.

Another Wildcat fumble, with the alert Adkins recovering for Duke, was the beginning of the drive for the third touchdown. Brewer took the ball three times for 6-7 yard gains, and Mann passed again to Brownlee who was downed on the 11 yard strike. Brewer went through center for four and then five yards. A penalty brought the pigskin to the one yard line, from which Brewer dove over for the final score a second later. Try for extra point was missed and the score was Duke 18; Villanova 6.

The whole game in itself exhibited the total superiority of the Blue Devils over the Wildcats. Most of the action throughout the contest took place in Villanova territory, with the visiting team playing defensive ball and often having to punt out of danger.

The whole game in itself exhibited the total superiority of the Blue Devils over the Wildcats. Most of the action throughout the contest took place in Villanova territory, with the visiting team playing defensive ball and often having to punt out of danger.

WILDCAT RUNNERS

BACK BLUE DEVILS

Division, however, will offer plenty of opposition on Saturday. Although little is known of their strength, this track team will remember that the Wildcats finished second in the State meet this spring and have always had fine cinder track runners. Moreover, the course at Davidson is only three miles, and the present year's obstacle, for the Blue Devils have been trained over a course varying from four to five miles. Coach Tuttle believes his boys will come close and ending.

The freshmen have one of the best squads that Duke has ever had in representative of the track. The team is exceptionally well-balanced and fast. The first eight men to finish Friday were within a quarter mile of each other. Brownlee and Erikson both ran very pretty races, but Heritage, Juter, Henry, Nilschke, Wentworth and Crist were not far behind. Crist, the eighth man, covered the course in 14:12, which is really fast for a freshman runner.

The Blue Devils should score an easy victory at Davidson if they run as well in competition as they have in their trials. Naturally the course will be strange which will make it difficult for inexperienced barriers, but they have the ability and should come through.

state Junior championship tournament last year.

In addition to the fresh tournament, the physical education department has added a course in tennis to its program this year. A large number of first-year men and also sophomores are taking the course and are fast learning the fundamentals of this really difficult game. As yet, no Tidwell, Richards, Vines, or Koushka have been found, but if the boys keep on taking ball as they have thus far, there is no doubt but what the tennis supremacy of our near by neighbors and rivals in Big Five circles will be dented. It is only logical that Bryan Grant and Wilmer Hines cannot stay in college forever.

Freshmen and varsity candidates have already turned out for the initial practice, reporting to Coach Gregory last Thursday. The turnout was, on the whole, quite gratifying to the goalmaster. Myers, Rogers, and others are missing because of graduation, but Gaster and Peake are back and together with Welch and Newwood from last year's team, should form a nucleus for a good outfit this year. Practice is not very intense, because the fall season is a long way off yet, and there is always the danger of slateness, but the thorough grounding in net fundamentals is constantly being stressed by the coach.

In his program of intramural sports, "Jerry" Gerard, director of the intramural sports program, has given tennis a prominent place. The arrangement of teams, from dorms, fraternities, etc., will be the same as heretofore. It is to be hoped that the same spirit that was shown last year in the touch-football and basketball competitions will manifest itself again when the time comes for the various organizations to face each other on the fields, courts, and diamonds.

The benefits and fun derived previously by securing the success of intramural sports on the campus, especially in tennis. The future of this game of championship, national figure, and Davis Cup is practically assured at Duke, because of the fine spirit shown by the Devil "racquetters." The building-up process, meaning the intramural teams and the physical education classes in tennis, should prove to be a very efficient machine in training not only good tennis players. It is hoped that tennis when it comes to thrills and excitement, will not be pushed too far in the background by football and other sports. The next game is drawing the spectators, in proportion, almost as much as the other sports, as the attendance at recent amateur and professional tournaments proves.

receive some special trophy to put in its chapter room.

In order to equalize the ability of the men, those who have not had much track experience will be given handicaps varying with their respective merit. This system will be used in all the events with the exception of the relays.

Too much stress cannot be placed on the importance of immediate practice. Races and fraternities should ferret out their twenty men at once in order to get their relays organized as soon as possible. This meet promises to be one of the best ever held here and certainly deserves the attention of the undergraduate department. About forty men have been training faithfully, but anyone who starts conditioning now will have a full two weeks to get in shape.

the only score of the game.

Tennessee, one of the Conference favorites, ran true to form Saturday at home against Mississippi U. with a 36-0 score. Gene McElvey, Tennessee's all-around star who was named first for American last year, had a great afternoon. McElvey counted two tallies with 21 and 42 yards to the goal line and passed to make for two other markers. The Vols continued their spree in the final period by counting twice more with sub-100 yard touchdowns.

In other Conference games on the day, Sewanee converted a field goal against Virginia for the only score of the fray. Kentucky was at home to the Washington and Lee Generals and the Wildcats routed the DePauw Generals by a 44-0 score. The other game on the card found the Crimson Tide of Alabama turning in a victory over Mississippi A. and M. by the lopsided score of 33-0. Duke, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt were in action in interconference games, with C. Tech dropping their to 10-0. Duke, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt were in action in interconference games, with C. BLUE IMP'S DOWN

STATE FRESHMEN

Brumback, of Nashville, Tenn., began his capers in the closing seconds of the first quarter when he ran 80 yards before being brought down, two feet from the double line. On the third stab, Brumback scored on a line play; Cornelius placed-kicked for the extra point. The second Duke tally was made in the third quarter on a 23 yard pass, Brumback to McAnish, Rec. of State, also scored in this quarter, going over on an all back threat. The final touchdown was the result of an 83 yard run by Brumback as he returned a State punt in the fourth quarter.

Every man in the Imp's line-up displayed a willingness to give his best, which is exactly what the coaching staff is looking for. While the usual first game flaws were evident, the team as a whole did satisfactory work. The Rockne system was used in last week's fray because the Frosh had used it in practice against the Varsity to prepare them for the Villanova game.

Couch Caldwell takes his Imps on their second game of the year on Friday to Oak Ridge where they meet the Cadets of that school. Oak Ridge was crushed, 12-0, by N. C. State frosh earlier in the season and this indicates that Duke should be the winner.
