TOMBS INITIATION FRIGHTENS FROSH FROM ALL CRES

Mysterious Order Initiates 29 Men Have on Monday Night

SHINE AT GAME FRIDAY

Freshmen Made Varied Exits as Sounds of Paddles Began Activities

Twenty-nine prospective Tombs had the dust and mists beat out of their blankets Tuesday night as the old members initiated them into the organization.

Hearts of the freshmen ached last Friday as it occurred to them that the Tombs initiation had started when there appeared on the campus a number of black-face students clad in bright-colored pajamas, one leg of which was rolled halfway up, and the other one bearing an extension of lace. Each carried an alarm clock.

The same afternoon at the Duke-Wake Forest football game, they marched into the stands in a body, and due to the direction of one of the old men, addressed to the cheering section.

Tuesday night activities were resumed and the campus was lit with the scene of a rag beating contest. Both camps were included in the places of activities. After the initiation had gotten their, an advance was made on the freshmen. Several of that class will not forget Tombs night for some time to come.

INTOXICATION AND SPEEDING SCORED BY WANNAMAKER

Dean Warns Students Concerning New Traffic Regulations at Intersections

TWO MISHAPS THIS YEAR

Durham Police Will Patrol Intersections on Campus Road With Power to Arrest

At the regular Thursday morning assembly in Page auditorium, Dean Wannamaker addressed the undergraduate group on the subject of drinking and speeding.

Dr. Wannamaker stated that the university has reached such proportions that it is impossible to eliminate drinking entirely. He went on to say that while he disapproved of any drinking of alcoholic beverages whatever, every college man should be able to decide for himself regarding the advisability of drinking. Dr. Wannamaker declared, however, that any man who was reported to be an habitual drinker would not be allowed to keep a car on the campus. He pointed out that even a small amount of liquor might seriously affect one's judgment in driving. Dean Wannamaker also stressed the matter of speeding. He declared that there has been altogether too much speeding on the road between the two campuses. Although this is a private road, Dean Wannamaker said that it will be patrolled by policemen at the several intersections. He further stated that there have already been two accidents on this road and urged that we do not have a recurrence of last year's injuries and loss of life due to automobile accidents. In conclusion, the students were warned that anyone driving faster than twenty miles an hour at the intersections would be liable to prosecution in case of accident.

ORDER OF DEMOLAY TO FORM A LOCAL CHAPTER

All students who are or have been members of the Order of De Molay, and who would like to have an active organization on the campus, either as a regular chapter or as a De Molay club, are invited to attend an organization meeting in room 62, Page auditorium, on Monday, November 2, at 7 o'clock. The meeting will be short and should interest all De Molays very much.

Duke History Professor Spends Summer In Italy

E. W. Nelson is Sent on Historical Research to Rome and Florence by American Council of Learned Societies

During the past few months, Dr. E. W. Nelson, professor of European history at Duke, has been in Italy, where he has been engaged in historical research work. Appointed last year as a research fellow in humanities by the American council of learned societies, which is supported by the Rockefeller foundation, the Duke professor was assigned to the Italian field last January.

Together with his wife and two children, Dr. Nelson set sail and landed in Genoa at the close of January. From last city he proceeded immediately to Rome where he spent much of his time in the Vatican library. It is interesting to note that, properly speaking, this library is not in the city of Rome, but in Vatican City. Due to the failure of Mussolini to recognize the power of the pope over civil authority, the religious magistracy has enclosed himself in the Vatican square, and claims that territory as a separate city under his personal rule.

The Nelsons remained in Rome until May. They were there during the bombing of St. Peter's, although Mrs. Nelson spent a short time in Sicily, which she considers one of the most beautiful of the places visited. The professor later spent his many trips to the Vatican library with journeys to the two nearby monasteries, both of which are Benedictine. The first of these is the Abbey of Monte Cassino. This institution was the first to be established by St. Benedict, and enjoyed the celebration of its fourteenth anniversary in 1928. The latter monastery is Subiaco. Here, it is to be regretted, the valuable old manuscripts carefully guarded by monks through the middle ages have long been confiscated by the state.

The Durham party made several extensive visits to various points of interest throughout Italy. In the north, all were afforded an opportunity of climbing the Apennines. In South Italy they traveled through the Tullian country, so-called for the queer house structure erected by the natives.

Dr. Nelson finds it difficult to speak of Italian social and political questions. The governmental censorship is at present very severe, he stated. The Duke professor believes that Mussolini is at present popular with all but the lower class of Italians. The fascist economic policies are said to be sound.

Mussolini is spending much money on archaeological projects. Two of the old Emperor's Colosseum's galleries have been recently raised from a lake which had been completely drained in the process. This tremendous cost has been undergone as a part of the great educational scheme, through which the Italian people hope to make it possible for the average native of the country to understand and appreciate Roman history.

TALK ON SCHOOL SPIRIT GIVEN AT JUNIOR MEET

The junior class held its regular weekly assembly in Page auditorium on Monday, October 19.

The meeting was opened by Charles Short, president, who stressed the importance of prompt payment of dues to the treasury.

As there was no further business, the meeting was turned over to Dean Herine, who gave an interesting talk on school spirit and its importance to the team. He stated that the team needed more support than it was getting, and that not only the team but the whole student body should feel it when they won or lost a game.

Regular Duke Players' Meeting Is Postponed

The Duke Players will not meet at the scheduled time Thursday evening. This meeting has been postponed one week due to the holding of a dress rehearsal of Shaw's "Arms and the Man," which is to be presented on Friday evening.

The next meeting will be held in the Little Theatre, in West Duke building, Thursday evening, Nov. 5, at 7:30—all members and all persons interested are urged to be present.

HIGH ADDRESSES STUDENT BODY AT SATURDAY MEET

American Policy of Avoiding Definite Opinions on Controversial Topics Is Attacked

TALK IS WELL RECEIVED

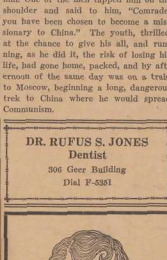

First Freshman Class Meeting in Turned Over to New York Speaker

Mr. Stanley High of New York city, addressing the chapel assembly Saturday morning, October 24, which was combined with the freshman class meeting held in Page auditorium, said that one of the chief troubles with us in America today is that we lack conviction in our beliefs, and that "this lack of conviction in America is matched by definite convictions in opposite beliefs all around us in the world."

It was pointed out that many young people continually run away from posing any opinion on controversial questions. "One reason for this running away from an opinion is the fear of being narrow-minded," said Mr. High. "The ideal of many undergraduates seems to be the attainment of peace." The speaker pointed out that they have this policy in everything, clothes, speech, beliefs, and all else, and that the result is that they are continually walking in the middle of the road. "The middle of the road is no place at all to be in certain times," he said, "and it is eternally worthwhile to be so-sided in our opinions on great moral issues. The idea of tolerance is carried far so that we are afraid to make up our minds on anything."

Mr. High, who has traveled extensively in journalistic and youth work, told a story of a young Russian communist who rode on a train from Stockholm to Moscow, beginning a long dangerous trek to China where he would spread Communism.

BREWER FEATURES AS DUKE TROUNCES BAPTIST INVADERS

Duke Captain Now Leading Southern Conference Scorers
GETS FOUR TOUCHDOWNS

Devils Present Best Offensive of Season to Bury Deacons Under One-Sided Score
The Blue Devils showed great superiority over Wake Forest last Friday as they hung up their first win in the state by a 28 to 0 score. Captain Brewer, Duke's ball-toting champ, gave the most spectacular performance of his career as he, alone, accounted for twenty-six points. The remaining counter was added by virtue of a blocked kick which resulted in a safety.

In making four touchdowns against the Deacons, the Duke gained a total of 100 yards in 31 times with the "T." To climax his scoring, Brewer added 12 more points with accurately aimed free-kicks after touchdowns. As a result of this spree, Brewer went to the front of Southern Conference scorers with 80 points to his credit.

Duke counted his first touchdown line after the echo of the opening whistle had faded away. Brewer brought the kick-off back to the 34 yard line, and on the next play elected left end for sixteen yards and a first down. Taking the ball on a cut back through tackle, the Duke captain then ran fifty yards through the entire Wake Forest team to score standing up.

Near the end of the first quarter, the Blue Devils launched another drive. Taking Shinn's punt on the Duke 47 yard line, Lacey alternated with Brewer to place the ball down to the Deacons' 20 as the period ended. Brewer, on four "ries, went over for the second touchdown.

The Blue Devils had difficulty in warding off the only Deacon threat of the game, but Lacey punted out of danger when Hutton had recovered a fumble down on the 10 yard strike. Wake Forest reached the danger zone through the aerial route. Beginning another drive, (Continued on Page Six)

Talking It Over By JOE SKINNER

How come teams have time to get lined up between touchdowns is a miracle. Every week we hear of some school getting moved under by a terrific score. Yes, William and Mary had time last week to score fifteen touchdowns against the Wolfecreators, and all in one game at that.

Maybe it is time that we get a little more cooperation to enable us to get to the football games not played at Duke? A notice recently appeared in the Crusader-Whisperer, stating that classes would be suspended on Saturday so that students could make the journey to Birmingham for the Tide-Sewanee football game. Recently we had a chance to get a special excursion train for the South Carolina game, but the whole idea was squashed by someone, and not even students who could afford extra were able to get the advantage of the reduced rates. Yet we are content to watch other schools get good opportunities and let our own play. Why not at least get cheap fares, even if we can't get excused from our classes?

The plan that went into effect last week here at Duke was one of the best forward steps that have been made in intercollegiate relations in a long time. If they just keep up that idea of letting the students from the visiting school get (Continued on Page Six)

BOXERS AND MAT MEN MAY GO NUTS THIS WINTER BUT SCULPTURE IS STILL TENTATIVE

Boxing Team May Go North This Winter But Sculpture Is Still Tentative
Although prospects for boxing and wrestling are fair, Coach Adair Warren is disappointed with the number of men that are reporting for the two sports.

The fundamentals of the sports are being drilled into the candidates and no advanced work has been given as yet. Anyone that reports for the teams will have a fair chance of making it, as trial bouts will be held before each match. Coach Warren urges anyone that is not in some other form of athletics to report for boxing and wrestling.

The schedules are not complete up to date. Coach Warren is communicating with Pennsylvania, Princeton, Navy, and Penn State for boxing matches, and with Navy, Carolina, and Oklahoma A. and M. for wrestling engagements. A northern trip for the boxing team is being arranged.

The major portion of the boxing sessions have been devoted to developing the left hand. Coach Warren believes that the right hand will come naturally. (Continued on Page Six)

WAITE DEVELOPING VARSITY MATERIAL

Coach's "All-American" Squad is Possible Source For Future Teams

The name of the late-lamented Knute Rockne has always been associated with championship football teams, and because of this hallowing the true worth of the great athletic maestro has been misconstrued. It is true that Rockne, as is natural for a coach, strove to produce winning teams, but his main object was to build up the physical strength and the manhood of the men of Notre Dame. Consequently, he inaugurated his famous system of intramural athletics, the football side in particular. From his fraternity, dormitory, and class teams he procured future varsity material. It is hardly any shame to say the work and the system of a great man, and Knute Rockne was great! Here at Duke an attempt is being made to build up a future great gridiron aggregation that will rank with the foremost in the country. The plan, thus far, is working quite admirably, because these boys who are playing with Coach Waite's "All- (Continued on page six)

Florida Uses Extra Point to Defeat Auburn; Alabama, Kentucky, and W. and L. Win

Georgia, Tulane, and Tennessee continued their march toward the Southern Conference title Saturday by turning in most impressive victories over major conference foes, and thus remaining undefeated for the season. In the headline attraction of the day in the South, Georgia, led by the spectacular Captain Smith, triumphed in a 6-0 win over the Commodores of Vanderbilt. Smith, the star fullback, proved himself a hero of the day as he took a big hand in all the scoring of the game. It was in the second period that this "Catfish," as he is known, made a most spectacular leaping catch of a pass over the goal line for the only touchdown of the tilt. A minute later he booted the extra point and in the third period rushed the Commodores' quarterback, forcing him behind the end zone for the safety, which explained his name's other two points. Tennessee's highly touted eleven found things mighty tough at Chapel Hill as they ducked out a 7-0 victory over the Tar Heels. The strong forward wall of the Heels was a continuous threat to the "ols, and the 15,600 spectators, who (Continued on Page Six)

New Contract Is Opened With Game At Knoxville

Two Year Plan Vols Have Powerful Offensive Which May Crush Devils

GAME WILL BE CLOSE Duke Played in Good Form Saturday While Vols Showed Up Poorly

Duke's Blue Devils will journey out to Knoxville to battle the Tennessee Volunteers this week-end in what may result in a great contest for Tennessee football fame.

The mighty Vols have maintained a perfect defense so far this season, and as a result, not a single opponent has crossed the double-striped line of Meares, McVey, Feathers, Wynn, and Company. This backfield trio along with Hickman and Derrberry on the line have been instrumental in repelling the three attacks of such first-rate teams as Alabama, North Carolina, and Mississippi. However, the N. C. Tar Heels threw quite a scare into the Volunteer ranks last Saturday before they were downed 7-0 in a great battle. Gene McVey, Tennessee's slinking all-American fullback ace, was spotted by the Tar Heel forwards and failed to flash his usual brilliant brand of football. He was nailed time after time by the Heel line-men, and his defensive work was far below par. However, Duke will have to step fast to restrain this touring back if he opens up in the coming tilt. On the whole, Tennessee did not appear as effective as did the Georgia eleven against the Tar Heels two weeks ago.

The Blue Devils exhibited decidedly better form to run roughshod over the Wake Forest Deacons last Friday. Led by Captain Brewer, the Devils revealed unexpected strength in all departments of the game except their aerial attack. Although weak in this phase of the game, they made up for their deficiency by (Continued on Page Six) of Communism," said Mr. High. He pointed out that this group of people never would effectively except where some injustice has paved the way for it, and that it is useless to try to curb Communism by jailing the Communists. "The best way to curb the growth of this loyalty is by removing the cause for converts to its cause." It was shown that this will have to be one of the major factors in the future of the world because those people talk on the most fundamental question of all "When do we eat?" The speaker said that while this philosophy is fallacious and disastrous, they are winning converts by talking on this fundamental need, and by being the prophets of the "under-dog," showing how possessing people suffer by having too much while non-possessing people suffer for want.

"Christianity not only emancipates the mind and makes new ideas, but it makes new men," said Mr. High.
 The audience, the largest to attend a vesper service thus far, was shown how Mahatma Gandhi had become a figure powerful enough to shake the foundations of the greatest empire the western world has ever known, despite his frail physique and despite a jail sentence, because he had become the incarnation of his ideal.

 be the acid test for last year's title winner.

The tempo, while they had no intercollegiate fray, were not idle during the past ten days, and the one week's absence from the field of combat has kindled no higher spirit.

Mentor Caldwell has had his proteges scrumming daily against the varsity squad, who have had no rest since their towards improving the quality of the fresh attack.

Continuing their development are Williams, Campbell, halfback; Quigley, halfback; Dunlap, center; McAnally, quarters; and Purkiss, guard. Brumfield excels in open field play, passing, and in the retreating punts. The chief blocker in the backfield is Cunningham, who moves his 175 pounds with lightning speed. Caldwell has confidence in McAnally, field general and accurate passer. Purkiss is big and fast and has shown promise in the two games already played. Williams is the man mountain of the line! He balances on the scales at 240 pounds, dominating in all around man.

INTERCLASS MEET DRAWS ATTENTION

 the winning half mile relay team, and to the fraternity scoring the most points medals will be given for all first and second places and a bronze plaque will be put up in the gymnasium for the winning class.

From the large field of candidates the freshmen appear as heavy favorites to win the meet. The first year men, lacking (or unskilled, as the case may be) have a wealth of material in most of the events and, in addition to this they will have the advantage of handicaps. The ruling is that all non-varsity and freshmen competitors be given zone and prominent candidates for the Imps are the cross country runners, Erickson, Richardson, Berry, and Jester, who will compete in the track events, and Maddox, Williams and others are proficient with the weights. Williams is supposed to be unusually good with the shot put, holding unofficially the national interscholastic record. So, all things taken into consideration, the freshmen probably need these handicaps less than any other class. The sophomores also have a fairly strong squad, but they have not shown as much interest as the Imps.

A large crowd of students is expected to be on hand to witness the meet since there is no football game either here or at Chapel Hill for that matter. The numerous trophies have naturally boosted the interest of the students, and the idea of the handicaps has helped in drawing out a large field of participants. Then, too, fraternity spirit has always preceded in arousing a good bit of high-spirited rivalry among the fellows. The relays in particular should be thrilling, so come out Saturday and see what there is to see.

The freshmen and the varsity squads have been practicing together up to now in order to give the freshmen a little experience. The squads will be split at a later date. The freshmen are doing fair work with about six boxers and six wrestlers reporting.

 is on their athletic tickets, plus a small sum, we should be satisfied. That is one thing the depression may have brought us, with the help of Wallace Wade.

We are glad to see that Chuck Collins is standing firm on the plan to keep Branch from his varsity team now that he has broken his training. The student body of Carolina and a great number of the alumni put up a big racket when Branch was refused a reinstatement on the squad, but Chuck has not given in and he is perfectly right. This loss certainly hurt the Tar Heels in their last two games, but no team is so dependent any one or two men that they have to cater to them like kings. If they break rules, they should be penalized just as any other ordinary player.

 the Blue Devils had gotten as far as the 18 yard line when the half ended.

Soon after the third period opened Duke possessed the ball on the Deacons' 18, but when efforts to pierce the Wake line had failed, Lance passed over the goal and the ball was brought out to the 20 yard stripe. Bryan broke through to knock Shinn's kick and the impetus sent the piggins over into the end zone for a safety.

This ended the scoring for the quarter but when the teams changed fields, the Blue Devils had the ball down on the three yard line through the advances of Brewer and Lance. On the first play in the last period Brewer went to the one inch line and the ball was lost on Duke's 21, and the Devils began another advance, but lost the ball again when Lance passed over the goal.

Brewer hung up his third touchdown after receiving a pass from Lance in midfield. This time he ran 40 yards for the score. He counted the extra point from placement. Later in the first period Crawford knocked the ball out of a Deacon pants' hand and Don Hyatt grabbed it as it fell on the Wake Forest eight yard line. Brewer carried it over on the first attempt and kicked the extra point to end the scoring.

In other conference struggles on Saturday's card Kentucky and V. P. I. engaged in a 20-4 battle for the Wildcats of Kentucky. Maryland and V. M. I. participated in a free-scoring affair, with the Maryland eleven victorious 41-20. Washington and Lee knocked over Virginia 18-0 as the Virginians are yet to defeat a Deafard enemy on the gridiron. Alabama straggled to victory over Sewanee by a 25-0 score in the other conference tilt on the card.

Let's talk Straight from the Shoulder

WHAT you want in a cigarette is taste. You want mildness... smoothness... and satisfying pleasure when you smoke.

All right then... get this straight.

CHESTERFIELD pays top prices... yes, and a premium for the ripest, mellowest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows.

The curing and conditioning is done by specialists... men carefully trained in handling these fine tobaccos.

IN BLENDING, also, Chesterfields are different... Instead of merely mixing good tobaccos together... we cross-blend them. It's like making a new and better-tasting kind of tobacco. That's how we get that Chesterfield flavor. Milder... and a more pleasing aroma.

Cigarette paper! Only the purest that's made is good enough for Chesterfield.

PICK UP a package. Note its clean appearance... free from heavy inks. Its moisture-proof, too. And three big factories at Richmond, Durham and San Francisco—operating under the strictest sanitary standards—rush them fresh to you.

Good... they've got to be good. Because they're made that way. And most important of all... you can taste this goodness in the cigarette. You can tell it in the smoke.

Light up, Mister! Try Chesterfield. Let the cigarette do its own talking. You'll get the whole thrilling story, in just two words... "They Satisfy!"

"Yes Sir—Mild yet they Satisfy"
