Dr. and Mrs. Few Entertain

Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Few entertained at a lovely luncheon at their home on Duke campus Saturday at 12:30. In honor a party of distinguished guests who came to the city to attend the Duke-Corolla game.

Among those who were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Few were Governor and Mrs. J. M. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, Winston-Salem; Senator and Mrs. Josiah Bailey, Raleigh; Lawrence Hallgren, Hollywood and New York; Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Brooks, State college; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Morris, Durham; Mr. and Mrs. Sprunt, Wilmington; Mr. Whitaker, Winston-Salem; Dr. W. C. Darlow, Duke medical school; Dr. and Mrs. Fred Hayes, Duke university; Mrs. Rose-Duggan, Durham; Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of Carolina; and Miss Kate Cochran of Chapel Hill.

Immediately following the luncheon the party motored to the Duke stadium where they occupied the president's box during the game.

Co-eds Entertain at Harvest Festival

The coeds of Duke university entertained with a harvest festival in the Memorial gymnasium on campus last evening from nine till one o'clock. The dance was sponsored by the social standards committee, a branch of women's college government.

Miss Mary Grace Wilson and Dean Arnold received the guests at the inside entrance door and Miss Alice Baldwin and Louise Murphy inside the hallways. Chaperon for the dance were Miss Alice Baldwin, Miss Mary Grace Wilson, Mrs. Clarence Penberth, Mrs. Hope Chamberlain, Mrs. B. N. Duke, Mrs. Hagen Smith, Miss Julia Grant, Miss Beale Baker, Miss Annie Gardner, Mrs. Ramsey, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Mary Corlinton, Mrs. Barnes, Miss Mary Kestler, Miss Louise Smith, Mrs. Vance, Mrs. Green, Dr. and Mrs. Westmeyer, Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Few, and Dr. and Mrs.

Plowers

Decorations for the affair were in keeping with the harvest theme. Gray moss falling gracefully to form a fae ceiling, many colored balloons floating about, corn stalks and pumpkins effectively arranged, made the place a fit setting for the gala event.

Jolly Lettich and his University Chorus led the young men to the ball at eight and approximately five hundred and fifty were in attendance. About twenty couples among the younger set of the faculty were the honor guests.

As a special feature, Miss Janet Griffin, Beth Knowles, Lucy Lee Harris, Carolyn Henry, Frances Weston and Alma Holcomb, all dressed to represent autumn leaves, did a dance in keeping with the festive theme.

Girls dressed in blue overalls and highlanders served order and refreshments. Those who were responsible for the success of the ball had as their chaperons the following: Miss Lenore Meyer, of Warren, Pa., who had general supervision of the entire affair; Miss Jean George, George Washington Hethley of Columbia; Miss Lucille Galloway, deacons; Miss Elizabeth Rose, refreshment; Miss Jean Stewart, chaperone; Miss Mildred Pope, publicity; Miss Eleanor Phillips, entertainment.

The harvest festival was the second school ball to be held by the women of Duke. The first one was held last spring at the George Washington Hethley celebration. Both dances were most successful.

Sigma Chi Honors Pledges at Dance

Friday night, Miss Stoolch chaperoned about twenty couples at the Sigma Chi pledges at Chapel Hill. The dance was a joint affair given by Beta Lambda chapter at Duke and Alpha Tau chapter at Carolina in honor of the pledges of both chapters.

Dance Given by Pi Epsilon Pi

Pi Epsilon Pi entertained their pledges, the Pan-Hellenic council, and a number of notable visitors with a formal dance on last Thursday evening, November 18, in the west campus Union.

The chaperones were Mrs. and Mr. A. C. Lewis, Mrs. Penberth, and Dean Arnold. Much was furnished by the Duke College, and refreshments of punch and cakes were served during the evening.

Sigma Nu Dance Friday Night

Sigma Nu entertained Friday night in the reception hall of the Union.

The Blue Devils furnished the music, and refreshments were served to a group of eighty people.

The hall was attractively decorated with yellow and white daisies arranged against a background of blue, thus bringing into effect the colors of Sigma Nu. Pennants from other southern colleges of which there is a Sigma Nu chapter were hung around the walls.

Among the distinguished guests present were Dora Kynan Sills, Melrose C. Sewell, general secretary; John E. Roberts, general treasurer; Charles Ed. Thomas, secretary; and Reverend Thomas H. White, of Chapel Hill, who was in charge of the installation ceremony.

Sigma Nu Holds Formal Installation Banquet

Saturday night, Sigma Nu fraternally enjoyed a busy weekend with a formal banquet.

This affair called a series of entertainments given in honor of their installation.

About eighty guests attended. Mrs. Charles Edward Thomas presided as toastmaster, and several addresses were given by the officers of the fraternity.

In addition, Dr. W. H. Wannamaker gave the welcoming address. Dr. W. P. Few, president of the University of Carolina, also gave an interesting talk on the following subject: "The Relation of the Fraternity to the University."

Fraternities Entertain With Open Houses

Following the Duke-Corolla football game Saturday, various fraternities entertained with open houses. Many arrived for refreshments and several enjoyed dancing. The weekend was featured by the return of many alumni. Among them who entertained were: Phi Delta Theta, Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Alpha, Lambda Chi Alpha, Pi Epsilon Pi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, and Sigma Tau Alpha.

Alpha Tau Omega Gives Cabaret Dinner Dance

On Saturday evening Alpha Tau Omega fraternally entertained about thirty-five couples at a dinner dance. Alumni and several members of the Carolina chapter attended. After the dinner a card dance was carried out.

Decorations were carried out in blue and gold, the fraternity colors. Courses of music and sweet peas were given in favor of the girls. All of the members of the active chapter were white tea roses and the pledges were red buttonholes.

Mrs. Clarence Penberth was guest of honor and chaperon of the affair.

Kappa Alpha Fraternity takes pleasure in announcing the initiation of Fred Mangus of Rosedale, Va.

Alpha Tau Omega Entertains Alumni at Banquet in Union

Alpha Tau Omega fraternally entertained about twenty-five alumni guests at a dinner in the west campus Union on Wednesday night.

The affair was given for the formation of an alumni chapter were discussed. It was planned to form an association with the members of the Duke and Carolina chapters as a nucleus with hopes of eventually extending the membership throughout the state. Mr. Watts Norton was elected president and business was begun at once.

Delta Tau Delta Entertains Carolina Chapter at Dinner

Delta Tau Delta fraternally entertained about fifty guests at a dinner last Saturday night. The affair was given in return for a similar function given by the Delta Tau Delta chapter of the University of North Carolina after the Duke-Corolla game last year. It is hoped that this will become an annual affair and that it will aid in the formation of more friendly relations between the two schools.

Alpha Tau Omega Holds Initiation

North Carolina XI chapter of Alpha Tau Omega fraternally initiated two boys last Wednesday night. They were Nicholas O. Lacey and Martin Lee, both of Charlotte, N. C.

Miller Gives Legal And Religious Message Sunday

Dean of Law Speaks on Blasphemy and Contempt of Court at Vesper Service

Dean Justin Miller, of the law school, addressed the regular Sunday afternoon vesper service last Sunday, November 22, on the subject, "Blasphemy and Contempt of Court."

Dean Miller spoke of the laws of the commonwealth which deal with blasphemy, making it a capital offense. He brought out the fact that this was an offense punishable by death. Justice in early times but that it has practically disappeared from the various states. On the other hand, it was pointed out, whereas this offense is a very serious one, and persons guilty of it are not even allowed the right to appeal by jury nor are they permitted to appeal from the verdict.

The speaker brought out the fact that, since laws are supposed to operate for the protection of institutions which are held of value, the question arises as to whether the abandonment of laws dealing with blasphemy is due to the institution of the church having no value, or to the fact that this institution needs no support from such artificial means as laws. In like manner, it was said that the use of the laws dealing with contempt of court might be because protection by such artificial means is needed for the institution of court and law.

"Something attempted on its own merits to support by law, whereas something which cannot be sustained by its merits needs this protection," said Dean Miller, pointing out that Christianity has thrived through opposition. All sides and it is not thought to need such support. The speaker urged a re-evaluation of most of our laws. He pointed out that college men, and young people generally, are critical of the thoughts of others. While admitting some merit in this critical attitude, it was shown that things are not valuable because either of age or lack of age.

Dean Miller urged his hearers to judge things entirely on their merit, and to use this basis in revising their beliefs. Parson Bunch was the leader of the meeting. Miss Jean Mangel read the scriptures. Robert Colquhoun of the class of 1931, sang two vocal numbers.

Dr. Frank S. Hickman will speak at the vesper service next Sunday afternoon as the final preparatory speech before the coming of Dr. Frank Hickman. Dr. Hickman will also speak at the regular chapel exercises on Friday and Saturday mornings at 11:00 in York chapel, also in preparation for the series of talks by Dr. Hickman.

TULANE SWAMPS SEWANEES TIGERS

Saturday marked the quietest weekend for Southern Conference teams since the current season got under way in September, only six games being played within the circuit. Tulane trounced Sewanee by a six score to continue her march to the Rose Bowl, while Tennessee, the other undefeated team in the conference, was inactive for the day.

North Carolina and Duke's annual traditional classic at Durham was probably the highlight for the day, as 22,000 fans watched these ancient foes battle through their second consecutive score tie in two years. It was somewhat of a heart-breaker for the Devil followers as Brewer, Duke star fullback, shined right out in the open period for a touchdown, only to have the play called back as a mate was caught holding. At Columbia, South Carolina's tight game, Maryland celebrated home coming day and registered a 15-4 victory over the Washington and Lee Generals. The Old Line counted their markers within striking distance of the Gamecocks' goal, but lacked the power to take it over, as the South Carolinians held for down. The final Wolfpack threat was checked on the two-yard line.

A lightning spout of rain from Alabama threw quite a scare into the camp of the Georgia Bulldogs as the Auburn eleven forced the Georgian to fight up-hill to gain a 12-6 victory. The Georgian, somewhat crippled from their encounter with the Green Bay Blue, late last week, were unable to function at first, and had a mighty hard struggle to gain their triumph. Gleanings Of Interest At Annual Duke-Carolina Game

Evidence of Tense Moments and Dramatic Struggle Are Portrayed on the Field and the Stands During Hard Battle

Once again the Duke football team upon the last had plans of those who are considered to be adept at predicting the outcome of the great classics in football. From the far-away city of football interest, Philadelphia, we read, that Ed Fuback, sports editor of the Public Ledger, predicted a Carolina victory. But we add by way of comment that this prediction, although worthy of that notable's dictation, was not to be considered in face of the unusual enthusiasm evidenced by Duke fans before the game was played. Although the Duke team had made a poor showing against the State team the preceding Saturday, that same showing formed no basis for the outcome of last Saturday's game. Figures never lie, and perhaps by a simple process of analogy the Duke team was beaten several touchdowns, even before they had trod upon the field for that eventful game; but again the reliability of such comparisons was dissipated by the final outcome of the game.

The game last Saturday has now become history, and history which no one will fear to turn back and review. It was a dramatic struggle for the upping teams, but throughout the Duke team showed the way. It was a dramatic picture of dazzling football played before a cheering, exultant, and excited assembly of spectators. The stands speak for themselves in preclaiming the tenacity of the smokers. Cigarette butts and empty bottles collected after the game from the recesses of the seats were sufficient evidence that some form of activity had been used in quelling the anxious fears of those assembled.

The color of the game was heightened by the competition of the bands from both institutions who played at the half. In each case the opposing bands did their "darnedest" to show off to best advantage and to show that if no scores had been tallied at the half, at least they were there to help tally one in the final half. Due to the fact that the stands were so densely crowded we were unable to say truthfully whether or not the game was a success so far as "spirits" were concerned. An attempt was made to cheer up on the group immediately behind, but someone said, "Watch the game" or perhaps they meant well. At any rate the word seemed to pervade in redemptive promises the unusual but invigorating talismans of sweetened meter. Also, for the year and who did not trouble to exist at least one healthy whiff!

EDWARDS MAKES TALK Edison is Subject of Talk by Physics Department Head Last Week

Sigma Pi Sigma, nationally honorary physics fraternity, initiated fifteen new members on Thursday evening, Nov. 19. These elections were held once a year. The initiates were: Robert Ivy Allen, Miss Jeanne Mangert, W. R. Brownell, Dr. P. W. Conant, W. G. Faw, A. M. Gaddis, W. C. Grey, Arthur Koffler, H. E. Leach, Dan H. Moore, William Miller, Paul H. Merriam, J. E. Morgan, K. Z. Morgan, and K. H. Smith.

The purpose of this organization is to extend and promote interest in physics and give to the students of advanced courses of physics an opportunity to meet and discuss current topics and subjects in whose fields they are interested. Immediately following the initiation, Professor C. W. Edwards, head of the physics department, gave a talk on "The Search of Light." His chief theme was "Edison and his Work." Edison is the first scientist to be recognized as one of the world's greatest men and acclaimed as such by the world before his death. Regret has been expressed by all the nation at his passing.

The officers of the fraternity are: Marcus Hobbs, president; Richard W. Smith, vice-president; David W. Carpenter, secretary and treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Clark, assistant secretary. Professor Collins, of the physics department, is vice-president of the national organization and Dr. C. C. Hatley is the retiring president of the national organization.

DEBATE TAKES PLACE AT COLUMBIA MEETING

Columbia Literary Society Holds Regular Meeting Last Night

Several motions were made and voted upon during the weekly meeting of the Columbia Literary society held in room 104, Page auditorium on Tuesday evening.

Paul Scherf, who recited the famous speech that Patrick Henry delivered before the Virginia House of Burgesses, was voted the best speaker of the program.

An interesting debate was held, the subject being "Resolved, a Phi Beta Kappa key is more to be desired than an athletic letter." Davis Williams spoke on the affirmative side, and Herbert Hale defended the negative. The affirmative side was judged the winner.

Supreme Officers of Phi Beta Pi Conduct Initiation Ceremonies

FRESHMEN INITIATED Full Program of Entertainment Arranged For Visitors and Installing Officers

A chapter of Phi Beta Pi, national medical fraternity, was installed in the medical school during this week-end. Dr. Lawson G. Lowry of New York, supreme officer and internationally known psychiatrist, and Dr. E. J. Van Lier, supreme secretary and treasurer, and professor of physiology at the University of West Virginia, were the installing officers.

The formal installation ceremonies were held in the fraternity room of the medical school from 1:30 to 4:30 this afternoon. Dinner was served in the Washington Duke hotel immediately following. Members and guests returned to

On Saturday morning clinics were conducted in the medical school, followed by lectures by Drs. Lowry and Van Lier. The fraternity attended the Carolina-Duke game in the afternoon. At 5 p. m. the new men were initiated. The program closed in the evening with a formal banquet at the Washington Duke.

RESERVES FINISH FOOTBALL SEASON

Teams "X" and "Y" Tie in Championship Game; Title Goes by Toss to "X"

The "All-Americans" ended their gridiron season yesterday with teams "X" and "Y" playing to a 6-6 tie for the championship. It was the second time that these two teams have ended their struggle in a tie, as last week they fought to a scoreless deadlock. At the end of the game yesterday it was agreed to toss a coin to determine the winner, and to whom would get sweater, and "X" won the toss.

Team "X," led by Captain Kelly, scored in the opening minutes of play yesterday, when Kelly went off-tackle for a touchdown. Clark tried a line plunge for the extra point but failed by inches. The remainder of the struggle was a slip-and-tuck affair with neither eleven successful in penetrating the opposing line, until the closing minutes. Kline, "Y" halfback, tossed a pass, which was juggled by several players, but Bradford finally grabbed it and ran 30 yards for the marker. Bradford then attempted a drop kick for the point but it went wide. The remaining three minutes of play found both teams tossing pass after pass, but without avail. Both lines played brilliant ball, and it could hardly be said that any individual feared the line play.

The "All-Americans" began the season with four teams, namely, "X," "Y," "Z," and "W" and played through a schedule to determine the winner. As heretofore stated, "X" and "Y" ended the schedule tied for first place, and last week played five long, hard periods to decide the winner, but yesterday's game was necessary to find the winning eleven, with both teams evenly matched, as their results indicate.

do more and more
smokers say:

"I've changed to Chesterfield"

BECAUSE . . .

THEY'RE MILDER. It's the tobacco! The mildest that money can buy. Ripened and sweetened in the sunshine . . . cured by the farmer . . . then aged for two years in wooden hogsheads.

THEY TASTE BETTER. These tobaccos are put together right. Rich aroma of Turkish and mellow sweetness of Domestic, blended and cross-blended to Chesterfield's own BETTER TASTE.

THEY'RE PURE. Everything that goes into Chesterfield is tested by expert chemists. The purest cigarette paper made, tasteless, odorless. Sanitary manufacture . . . no hands touch your Chesterfields. They're as pure as the water you drink!

THEY SATISFY. You break open a clean, tight-sealed package. You light up a well-filled cigarette. Yes, sir . . . you're going to like this cigarette! And right there is where many a smoker changes to Chesterfield. They Satisfy!
