INTERCHANGE OF CULTURE AMONG NATIONS PLEDGED

Dr. George Kartze Speaks to Political Science Group on Our German Contacts

"Cultural Relations Between Germany and the United States" was the subject of a lecture delivered Friday morning by Dr. George Kartze, of the staff of the Prussian ministry of education; and associate director of the institute for foreign studies at the University of Berlin.

The address, which was made in Dr. R. H. Haskin's class in government, emphasized the desirability of an international exchange of intelligence and character, in particular between the United States and Germany.

It is important that mutual understanding exist among the people of various nations, declared the speaker. He added that this can be effected better on the basis of an interchange of culture, since such a relation cannot always come from the material basis.

The German government, declared Dr. Kartze, is in favor of the exchange of students between this country and Germany. In Berlin itself is being exerted in aiding foreign students who enter the university there, especially in acquainting them with the new environment and academic routine.

Dr. Kartze was accompanied by Duke by Gustav Oberlander, founder of the Oberlander trust, a part of the Carl Schurz memorial foundation.

The two visitors were guests at a faculty luncheon, following Dr. Kartze's lecture before the student group. Dr. Kartze, in addition to his extensive educational career in Germany, has spent some little time at American institutions of learning, having taught at Yale, Columbia university, and Dickinson College. He has also given courses at the University of Toronto.

QUADRANGLE PRESENTS DEEP SEA FISHING FILM Underwater photography, as daring as the most thrilling fiction, shows "TIGER SHARK" a picture not to be missed by picture patrons who seek get their fill of studio fiction. Edward G. Robinson, in the leading role, plays the part of captain of a Pacific boat engaged in tuna fishing. Notwithstanding the superb acting of Robinson, Richard Arlen and Zita Johnson, the actors with the real thrill are the great groups of man-eating sharks. By underwater photography their ferocity is brought right up onto the screen.

"TIGER SHARK" is featured on the program of Quadrangle Pictures for Saturday, March 11; the last show before the Fifth Birthday Party. After News, a melody master reel, a two-reel comedy, "Sherlock's Home," and a money Tunes cartoon complete the program.

PHI BETA SPEAKER

Sir Francis Wylie, who gave an interesting account of Cecil Rhodes' life Monday for Phi Beta Kappa address.

Mr. Crenshaw, a member of the Classical club, presented a paper on Ape and his manifestations in different religions at the meeting of the Classical club recently.

Mr. Crenshaw opened his paper with a description of the Helene literature, the attributes and qualities of the gods of Greece. A discussion of the origin and spread of the Apolline cult, the names of the god, and his shrines followed. Apollo was the son of Zeus and Leto, and through the jealousy of Hera, was cast to earth and there he was educated. Many myths, such as the slaying of the python, grew up about the youth of Apollo, which is hidden in mystery.

Apollo was for the Greeks the incarnation of radiance and beauty, a god of war, of music, and a hero. He was especially honored as a seer, his shrine at Delphi being of great antiquity and held in great esteem by the Greeks.

Delphi was the center of the cult which exerted much influence, politically as well as morally in Greece. His worship, too, was one of the chief stimuli of music among the ancients.

BAR ASSOCIATION TO HOLD MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT

Many Speeches to Feature Fifth Courtroom Session of Duke Law Body

The fifth meeting of the Duke Bar association will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in the courtroom of the Law School building. A special invitation to attend the meeting is extended by the Bar association to all undergraduate students interested in the study of law. The meeting will open with a welcome from Dean Justin Miller of the Law school, and C. S. Murphy, president of the second year law class. A response will be given by Lawson Knott, student of the senior class. The speaker of the evening will be Leslie Craven, valedictorian of the class entering law school from 1913 to 1912. Mr. Craven will speak from the viewpoint of a practicing attorney, indicating what he regards as essential in law school preparation for practice before the bar.

Following Mr. Craven's talk, the second session of the Bar association will report upon "Ethical Practice of the Law" and an open forum discussion of the subject will be held after the reading of the report. This question is providing considerable controversy among practicing attorneys, and from advance indications it appears that an active discussion will be held by members of the Bar association. The members of the section are: G. Malouin Shaw, chairman; T. E. Carpenter, Jr., C. H. Carlson, J. M. Cotton, R. Z. Dabson, J. S. W. Hartwell, Helen V. Nicholas, J. M. Whitson, and S. Allen Wilson.

Following the meeting there will be an informal reception at which refreshments will be served.

OPEN FORUM DISCUSSION ON "World Politics and Peace" to be held by John Nelson Sayre, secretary of the fellowship of recognition, will be held at 9:30 tomorrow afternoon, in the school of religion building. All interested are invited to attend.

Duke Alumnus Is Chosen For Rooseveltian Cabinet

D. C. Roper was Graduated When Trinity College Was in Randolph County; Has Two Sons Who Are Duke Alumni
Here: On University Board of Trustees

Daniel C. Roper, of South Carolina, who was appointed secretary of commerce in the Roosevelt cabinet, is a member of the Duke university board of trustees and is chairman of the committee on the graduate school of arts and sciences.

Mr. Roper was graduated from Trinity college by the class of 1888. At that time Trinity was situated in Randolph county. Many men of the Duke alumni have memories of his college days. His classmates recall that he was a wizard at figures and organization.

Two of his sons, James H. Roper and Richard F. Roper, are Duke alumni. The latter was graduated in 1928, while his father was serving as president of the general alumni association of the university. In the following year Mr. Roper was elected to membership on the board of trustees. He had spoken to student groups on many occasions. He addressed the student assembly last year.

Because of his governmental connections, Mr. Roper has been in Washington since 1932. He is known in the

Law School News

Dean Justin Miller, in charge of the Duke law school, spoke last night at Chapel Hill on the effect of the depression on the government. He delivered his address in the library building before the Rural Social Economics club.

Dean Miller is having a luncheon for the Duke Bar association, section on constitutional amendments, Thursday, March 8, at one o'clock in the West Campus Union.

down, for it is not capable of a reasonable defense.

"There is no failure in history comparable with the failure of capitalism," said Mr. Thomas. "No system in world history has had the power to remove the threat of poverty as did capitalism. He then attributed the widespread poverty in our land of potential plenty to the breakdown in our system of distribution. Expressing wonderment at the patience of the great mass of workers, he said, "They have probably inhaled too deeply of capitalism." Skillful propaganda by the middle class, the speaker declared, had vitiated the movement to form a spirit of solidarity among the wage earners. "The workers have more great prizes in the lottery of life than in any other country in the world, and consequently many have been more interested in rising out of their class than in helping it, and those who failed to rise were too broken in the struggle to be of great assistance in helping their fellow workers."

MATHEMATICIANS HEAR HENDERSON IN NON-SHAW TALK

G. B. S. Satellite Speaks to Pi Mu Epsilon Frat on Modern Science

ADDITIONAL TALKS MADE
Duke Faculty Members Address Hearing Society in First of Dinner Meets

Dr. Archibald Henderson heard of the mathematics department at the University of North Carolina, addressed the members and guests of Pi Mu Epsilon, national mathematics fraternity, last Wednesday night.

Dr. Henderson spoke on the subject, "Science and the Modern Era." This noted professor is widely known as the biographer of George Bernard Shaw, and as an intimate friend of Albert Einstein.

The meeting was in the form of a dinner and was the first of a proposed series of annual events of a similar character. The guests were welcomed by Miss Geraldine Fletcher, president of the fraternity. Dr. W. W. Rankin, head of the Duke mathematics department, was toastmaster at the dinner.

Short talks were made by Professor E. R. C. Miles, who spoke on the subject, "What Is a Mathematician?" and by W. G. McCawick, who spoke on, "The Value of the Mathematical Fraternity." Dean Wannamaker also made a short talk to the group.

A toast to the mathematics teacher was made by William Karpinsky. In response W. W. Elliott gave a toast to the mathematics student.

A one dollar prize was offered for the best definition of mathematics. This was won by Professor J. W. Sealey, whose definition was as follows:

"Integrate, differentiate, transmute and equate, Rationalize, systematize, Create and relate, A question, an answer, A problem, a quit, That old, tried, mathematics!"

Made for the occasion was furnished by Dr. and Mrs. Greenwood and Mrs. H. E. Myers. About sixty-four guests were present.

Guests of honor included: Professors Lashley, E. T. Brown, both of Chapel Hill; Dr. W. H. Wannamaker and Mrs. Wannamaker; Miss Alice Baldwin; Professors W. H. Hall, and H. C. Bird, of the engineering department.

Pi Mu Epsilon established the chapter on the Duke campus this year. Its members are chosen by election on excellence in mathematics. The fraternity was founded at Syracuse university.

The Granger pouch
keeps the tobacco fresh

"MAYBE it's back to Nature. Maybe it's something else. I don't know just what it is, but somehow or other I've just got to slip out in the woods and sit down on a log. I always take the old pipe along. Thinking somehow seems easier when you are smoking a pipe. I can fill up my pipe with Granger, and somehow just seem to see things clearer than at any other time.

"Don't know what it is about Granger, but it must be made for pipes—real pipe tobacco.

"Somehow, there's a flavor and aroma about Granger I never found in any other tobacco. When I pack my old pipe tight and good with these big Granger flakes, it's about the coolest smoke I ever enjoyed. It makes me downright pipe hungry every time I look at the package."

Some years ago I made a painstaking, scientific study to find out, if we could, the kind of tobacco best suited for pipes.

Down in the Blue Grass regions of Kentucky, we found a tobacco called White Burley. There is a grade of this tobacco between the kind used for chewing and the varieties suitable for cigarettes that is best suited for pipes. This tobacco is used in Granger.

This tobacco is prepared by a method worked out many years ago by Mr. J. N.

Wellman. It gives Granger a fragrance and mellowness that pipe smokers like, and makes it burn to a clean, dry ash. Granger never gums a pipe.

Granger has not been on sale very long, but it has come to be popular, and there is this much about it: We have yet to know of a man who started smoking it, who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.

SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIP

Swimmers Place Second In Conference Meet

Virginia Beats Devil Fish By Five Points Last Week

ANOTHER TITLE TO TRACK TEAM

FINAL SCORE 40-35
Diving and Medley Relay Loss
Championship For Duke
Swimming Team

CARTER HIGH POINT MAN
Wins 440 and Places Second in 220 to Lead Blue Devils; Three Records Broken

The Duke team suffered their first loss of the season at Charlottesville last Saturday night, when Virginia captured the Southern conference swimming championship. Stated as favorite, the Devilfish were noosed out in the last events by the Cavaliers.

The Blue Devils held the lead in the meet until the diving took place. In this event several of the Duke entries placed. Then Virginia gained the first winning point in the medley relay. Tom Lowe, who swam the free style on this relay, had just won the 100 yard free style about five minutes before and had the misfortune to be rather seashell; that he was in no condition to put forth his best speed. Virginia won this event and Duke had to take a second. The final score was Virginia, 40; Duke, 35; W. and L. 21; N. C. State, 12; and Maryland, 8.

R. P. Gray, Jr., was individual high scorer of the tournament, winning the 30 yard free style and the diving, and was a member of the Virginia relay team that took second place in the 400 yard relay. Second highest scorer was sent to McDowell, of W. and L., who won the 220 yard free style, was second in the 440, and was a member of W. and L.'s winning relay team. Carter was high point man for Duke, winning the 400 and placing second in the 220.

The whole tournament was a thrilling one to the spectators; nearly every finish was one that took keen interest to pick the winner. The 400 yard relay was a race in which no team had a clear lead until the very finish. The distance—ent, the 440 yard free style, was perhaps the most exciting race of the finals, in this Carter of Duke, and McDowell of W. and L., raced side by side the whole distance. At the finish, Carter battled furiously to touch the finish rope a scant inch ahead of McDowell.

MacAnally furnished an upset in the 200 yard breast stroke, when he defeated his teammate, Tennant, who had beaten him in every previous meet. Captain MacAnally won this event in faster time.

Thoughts From the Sky Lines

By GEORGE KERR, JR.

Duke is evidently headed for the most successful year it has ever had in its athletic way. Last Saturday's victory in the Southern conference indoor games was the second such title for the runners this year. Earlier in the fall, the cross-country team won the same title in football both varsity and freshman teams won state championships. The boxing team also captured a state title this fall. Both varsity and freshman basketball squads were first in the state championship race. The swimming team came out second at the conference meet and seems slated to win the state championship next week after next. Base ball prospects are excellent and the outdoor track team should repeat next month, judging from their showing last week. The tennis team and golf squads have steadily improved each year and should be among the best ever turned out here. We are also betting on the football team next fall for the conference championship.

We hear that Doc Baker, Duke athletic medical director, is to leave this spring to continue his studies at John Hopkins. Lots of luck to you.

A fair sized crowd was present last Saturday to see the varsity football practice game. These are held every Saturday afternoon and spectators are invited to attend.

The boys seem to be shaping up well. Several new backfield men have developed. Hendrickson did very well last week at the quarterback position. The line is playing well as usual; there won't be much ground gained through them next fall.

We just heard about the supreme example of cunning. When the editor had lined up for the two mile race last Saturday in the Tin Can, the Duke man could not be found anywhere. Later he

EAST TEAM STILL LEADS FOOTBALL LEAGUE CONTEST

"Werners" of Southgate Still Holding First Place as Tournament Is Half Completed

SOUTH IS NOW SECOND
Thomas Receives Pass in First Quarter For Only Score of Game; Good Defensive Playing

"South" defeated "North" in the "Crusader League" football was held on the varsity practice field last Saturday. Abbott's charges crossed the goal by a pass from Pfeiffer to Thomas in the first quarter, and then presented an airtight defense against "North's" persistent passes to maintain their lead in the last half. Before the encounter, the squads were tied for the early position of the "League" but by winning, "South" now occupies second position.

With each game preventing much gain in that direction, both teams limited most of their offensive drives to the air. "South" heaved less passes than "North," but they were more effective. The only great gain through the air was made, when, in midfield, Pfeiffer crossed a pass to Thomas, who made over 30 yards dash down the sideline across the goal line for the only scoring of the day. Thomas was given the honor of attempting the placekick, but failed when the opposing line battered down the ball before it rose above their hands.

"North" couldn't connect with its passes or gain by line plunging, and excepting the lone touchdown, most of the battle was fought in the vicinity of the 50 yard line.

The second game of the day had to be forfeited when Mason's "West" couldn't produce a complete team against Werners' "East."

Slight irregularities were present in Saturday's game, with the coaches, Eyster and Abbott, standing behind their respective teams dictating commands like General Grant and Lee. As his "East" was not to play, "Top" Werners referred the encounter.

Coch Wals, organizer of the league, announced that only scholastically eligible men would be permitted to play in the following series, which will last three more weeks.

The league standings:

Team	Wins	Losses	Ties
Werners (East)	0	3	0
Abbott (South)	1	1	1
Mason (West)	2	1	0
Ershler (North)	2	0	1

VARSIITY DEFEATS SECOND TEAM 26-0 IN PRACTICE GAME

Hendrickson Stars For First Stringers; Varsity Line Is Exceptionally Strong

Spectators in the Duke stadium last Saturday were treated to a practice football game that offered no entertainment. The contest was staged between the first and second teams.

Hendrickson, who has been playing at blocking back position, took over last year's strong squad, and the coach's championship outfit of last spring, this year's ball club could be another of Jack Combs' first class teams.

Take a look at the barbers: 1922 club, most and the smallest of the little left hander who rivalled Bobby; and to help these boys out there is Welter and May, both from the frosh team, along with Harbinder, Schantz, Menden, and Brackbill. This probably comprises one of the best pitching staffs in the east, for all have had plenty of experience coupled with general ability on the mound.

On the receiving end there is Peckham and Voorhees from last year, and Smith and Wagner from the freshmen.

Peckham and Voorhees are letter men whose batting averages are nothing to rave over but who have always held up the defensive part in good fashion.

Nick Perreux and Wente are putting up a grand fight for the first base assignment. Captain Art Kersey has been good at second base and is one of the best in the state. The little Yankee has played every inning of every game since his first year.

Shortstop and third base are big problems. Sammy Bell's arm will be out of its sling in two weeks (this from good advice) and is one of the leading candidates along with Horne Henrich, last year's shortstop, and Michaels, a frosh star. These three men between them will probably settle the two positions among themselves.

And to keep the daisies company in the outer garden there is Mitchell, last year's right fielder, and Popper Martin, a transfer from Wake Forest, who looks plenty good and is eligible, in center field. The left field assignment is wide open with both Thompson brothers (illegible last season because the dean's office said "Tom" was out of school), Sawyer, Marcoux, and Cornelius.

These men and a flock of others have been doing the deep knee-bend, push-up and what-not for the past two weeks and moved outside for their first real practice today. The battery boys got their first batting shots last Monday. These two pitchers who boast more about their batting averages than they do about the hits they allow (can you guess)

Lettermen and Capable Sophomores Scrapping For Positions: First Game With Elon

With eight excellent pitchers, a capable group of batters left from last year's strong squad, and the coach's championship outfit of last spring, this year's ball club could be another of Jack Combs' first class teams.

Guess What!

By PAUL HAZEN

Eureka, or at last it has begun! We refer to the free-throw contest. The boys of S.A.E. were the first and did fairly well, they were followed by the Kappa Sigma who did about the same. The best that the S.A.E. clump could get was 34 out of a possible 50. The rest of the contestants were ranging from 15 to 20, so you other three chaps who have entered, can with a little luck and practice do some big things. There is one thing about this which we must caution you. The faculty have the gym from 5:00 o'clock on, so that any free throwing that is to be done must be done between 5:00 and 5:30. We feel that it would be well to reiterate that should a team not show up on the afternoon allotted them the old default rule will be the order of the day. Enough said, Yes?

Volley ballers take notice! All arrangements of volley ball teams should take action on or before tonight. Today save the close of the entries. This item is not new, as it has been posted on the bulletin board in the intramural office for one week. The personnel of a team will consist of six men and competition will start on the day following the closing of entries, namely Thursday, the 9th of March.

The intramural swimming meet will be held on Saturday, March 10th, and the entries will close on Wednesday, March 10th. The intramural manager, Lou Gatz, has made it very plain that hereafter the date set for the closing

BEAT FAVORITE

Virginia, Favored to Win, Gets Second Place With 35 Points as Duke Gets Five Firsts

TRACK OUTLOOK IS GOOD

Duke Slated to Win Outdoor Meet to Be Held Here This Spring; Devils Break Four Records

Placed first in five events, Coach Carl Vortles' Duke track team won the fourth annual Southern conference indoor games held in the Tin Can at Chapel Hill Saturday. The Blue Devils amassed 42 points to lead the favored Virginia team which took second honors with 34. North Carolina, the defending champion, was a poor third with 23, markers.

The victory brought Duke her second conference championship of the school year. In the fall the cross country team won the district title in a meet also held at Chapel Hill.

Fourteen records fell in the course of the evening. Over 350 scholars, freshmen, and varsity athletes contested before a crowd of 200.

First place in the broad jump, 440 yard dash, mile relay, 70 yard low hurdle, and 800 yard run gave Duke a substantial margin of victory.

Eight conference records were smashed. Duke being responsible for the lowering of four marks. In the high jump Turner, of V. P. L., leaped to a new height of six feet. The old mark was held by David of Georgia.

Wilmey, Maryland speed demon, nosed out Farrell and Brownlee, of Duke, to set a new mark of 64 seconds for the 60 yard dash. Al Reichman, Blue Devil quarrier mile, lowered the 440 yard dash mark to 34.1 seconds.

John Brownlee gave an outstanding performance by smashing the 70 yard low hurdle record by one-fifth second. Brownlee topped the barriers for the distance in 7.8 seconds.

In the high hurdles, Finkelshten of W. and L., won in the record time of 8.9 seconds.

—and the telephone

Keenly aware of the problems of business, large and small, Bell System commercial men are constantly devising special telephone plans to custom-fit service to the user's needs.

For example, a plan they worked out for a coat distributor helped him to contact 50% more dealers. A manufacturer, using a telephone selling plan, sold 700 dozen pairs of hosiery through one Long Distance call. A great meat packer handles complex sales and distribution problems efficiently with the aid of planned Long Distance and private wire service.

Systematic telephone plans are helping many users to build business—cut costs—handle collections—unify nationwide organizations—increase profits. And Bell System men are seeking still other ways to make the telephone more useful.
