He said that one should not go into the medical profession for money, as there was usually little money in it. He advised the students not to enter the study of medicine unless they had real liking for the work itself. Dr. Davison stated that the yearly income of the average successful physician did not exceed $3,800.

Reports Run Rampant Regarding Reformation

By LEO GARS

This college greenwald has for many years been a place where old, decrepit Dame Rumor has run rampant. For the most part any rumors that have been forthcoming have been very amusing, but some, on the other hand, have been rather nasty and have almost been prophetic of things that were to happen. We find this year that the number of idle reports has increased, and they are worthy of consideration.

When the University of North Carolina abandoned its annual spring vacation, a spark of fear took hold in the breasts of our own constituency. And rumors got to working. The only thing that could be seen was that our rather abbreviated Easter holidays would also be cut. And it was not long before the department and the authorities. The rumors got to working. The only thing that could be seen was that our rather abbreviated Easter holidays would also be cut. And it was not long before the department and the authorities.

A perfect source of rumor is usually discontent. There are several of us here who think that this is now a big-time university that is being run on a small-time scale. They are utterly in disagreement with the conservative policies of the powers that be, who have stressed the fact that they are trying to cut down on any undue rush during this period of transition. This, of course, is to insure the complete assimilation of the student body into the rather rapid changing of the order of things. The rumor which has sprung from this is that President Few will be retired this year and made President-Emeritus of the university. There seems to be, therefore, several logical choices which would meet with the approval of these so-called radicals for succession to Dr. Few's place. Dr. Walter K. Greene, dean of the curriculum, Dr. Justin Miller of the Law school, and Dr. W. C. Davidson of the Medical school are at the present leading the list of possible candidates. The feeling is generally that Dr. Flowers is content to keep his own position.

It is also most logical that President Few will not be retired, since he is, as may readily be seen, in the prime of life, both physically and intellectually.

With a change in governmental authority such as the one outlined above, there must of necessity be a change in the subordinate offices. Our "revolutionists" feel that Dr. Wannamaker is a "square guy", and they are content to see him remain in his office of dean of the university. Since the rumor is said that Dean Herring will go to Columbia to complete his studies, the logical successor to him seems to be Dean D. M. Arnold, now dean of the frosh. Who will be freshman adviser has not yet been determined on the campus. This is a very

Fire Coed Houses Name Presidents For Next Year

During the past week, house presidents were elected in the various dormitories on the Women's college campus. The following are those who were chosen: In Brown house, Jane Miller; in Bassett house, Mary Parkhurst; in Pappas house, Sylvia Henderson; in Alvinghouse, house, Louise Metkeli; in Jarvis house, Ruth Bennett.

The house president of Gile house will be appointed next fall.

WOMEN VOTERS MEET FOR DUKE ORGANIZATION

On Thursday, March 16, at a meeting in the Duke building, a local organization of the National League of Women Voters was established. Miss Mary Keator was the organizer of the group. Mrs. Paul W. Bruton was chosen as the advisor to the organization.

The following officers were elected at this meeting: Mary Stauter, president; Helen Clark, vice-president and chairman of finance; Judith Hodges, secretary; Ruth Bennett, secretary; and Edna Malone, treasurer.

Frosh Get Numerals

The freshman class meeting held last Saturday was a routine affair, with a discussion on class numerals occupying most of the time.

In this connection, Edwin Abbott, class vice-president, stated that the athletic association had agreed to award

UNIVERSITY GROUP CHOOSES SPEAKER

Mrs. L. C. Mcbane Will Speak at American Association of University Women Meeting

Mrs. Lily C. Mcbane, of Spry, N. C., will be the speaker at the next meeting of the American Association of University Women to be held in the Women's college Union at six o'clock, Tuesday, March 28.

Mrs. Mcbane, only woman member of the North Carolina legislature this year, as well as the only woman yet re-elected to that body, will speak on the subject, "Women in Politics." Her wide experience both in this country and abroad has given her unusual opportunity to become acquainted with prominent women. She says service with the Red Cross in a number of countries during the World War, and was presented several courts.

During the dinner which will precede the talk, four members of the Durham association will give three-minute talks on various subjects of interest. The speakers will be Mrs. H. C. Horvath, whose husband is a professor of law at Duke; Miss Anne Gardner, professor of nursing education; Miss Margarette Herz, head of the English department at Durham high school; and Miss Mary Lois Haymond of the department of romance languages at Duke.

numerals, but not sweaters. The class then approved a motion that part payment for these sweaters be taken from the class treasury. About twenty-three numerals will be awarded.

Upon request Dean D. M. Arnold discontinued several rumors concerning automobiles for sophomore and the Easter vacation. He also stated that the freshman grades will be turned over to the office March 27.

Classical Club Is Oldest Departmental Society

Among the clubs and societies connected with the various departments and fields of study in the university, the Classical club is the oldest, with one possible exception, having had a continuous existence and an active membership from the years 1800-1910 until the present. Back of these twenty-three years of uninterrupted life lies another long period of time during which it flourished previous to its temporary suspension.

Since its revival in 1909 the group has met regularly twice a month throughout the college year for the purpose of listening to the reading of papers prepared by individual members. The Classical club is distinctly a student organization, in the sense that the papers read are in almost every instance the work of the students themselves; only on rare occasions does a faculty member contribute a paper or does someone come in from the outside to make an address. This active participation of the students in the work of the club serves to broaden their field of interest and enables them to study particular topics that have a special attraction for them.

It is worthy of note that the Classical club has clung to its original name, in spite of the fact that similar organizations in the other departments are adopting Greek letters as a designation to a steadily increasing extent, and yet to no other organization is a Greek title so fitting and appropriate as to one devoted to classical study.

Credit is due to the students who foster the work of this group, since they are interested enough to devote a large part of their time to the work of making reports on the various fields which are covered during the year.

During the present year the interest shown by the members in the activities of the club has been particularly notable. The meetings have been well attended, the papers presented have been above the average, and the discussion of the papers has been freer and more lively than in the past. The officers of the year are Harold Miller, president, and Ralph Roth, secretary.

Will Run Store

A combined meeting of Sandals, the Social Standards committee, and the editorial staff of the Chronicle was held on Sunday, March 19.

It was announced at this meeting that on Friday, March 24, girls from the above-mentioned organizations are to take charge of the Ellis-Stone department store. Two per cent of all the money spent on this day at Ellis-Stone's by students of Duke University is to be given to help make organization on the campus.

ILLUSION:
A large packing case is exhibited on a raised platform. A young woman climbs into the box. Head, hands and feet protrude, and are held by spectators while the magician takes a crowsaw and saw, with the help of an assistant, saws through the center of the box and apparently through the woman.

EXPLANATION:
This is a simple explanation for this illusion. One method of performing this illusion requires the presence of two girls in the box. One girl crouches in the left half of the box with her head and hands protruding, giving the effect you are illustrating above. The other girl is doubled up behind the right half of the box, with only her feet protruding. Nobody is sawed in half.

It's fun to be fooled — ...it's more fun to KNOW

Cigarette advertising, too, has its tricks. Consider the illusion that "Flavor" can be achieved by some kind of magical hocus-magical. EXPLANATION: Just three factors control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring. The blending of various tobaccos. And the quality of the tobaccos themselves. Quality is by far the most important. Domestic cigarette tobaccos vary in price from 5¢ a pound up to 10¢ a pound. Imported tobaccos vary from 50¢ a pound to $1.15. No wonder, then, that cigarettes differ in taste—since distinctive, pleasing flavor depends so largely upon the blending of the costlier tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Try Camels. Give your taste a chance to sense the subtle difference that lies in costlier tobaccos... a difference that means all the smoking pleasure... in pure, unalloyed satisfaction.

DISTAFF IS TOPIC OF PUBLICATIONS BOARD MEETINGS

Recent Gatherings of Board Also Concerned With Re-adjusting Publications Fees

TO HOLD SPECIAL MEET

Board of Publications Will Elect Student Publications Heads at Special Meeting

The place of the new co-ed publication on the Duke campus, The Distaff, began years before it has been the principal matter considered by the publications board in its last few meetings. The board has taken up the question of reorganizing this new organ. It has appointed a committee for the purpose of finding out the sentiment of students on the East campus regarding the lately organized periodical.

A report of the findings of the committee investigating The Distaff will be given at the next meeting of the board. At this time final action, which has been delayed pending the report of the committee, will probably be taken.

Another problem which has been under discussion, particularly at the last meeting of the publications board, is a readjustment of the funds applied by the publications fees. The matter was brought up in order to bring about a more equitable distribution of the funds given to the Chronicle, Archives, and Chancellor.

A committee, composed of Messrs. C. D. Jordan, C. B. Markham, Gordon Power, Eugene Newton, and John Milder, was formed to look into the matter of readjustment, and to outline some definite plan for a new apportionment of the funds. This group has been studying the situation and will make a report soon.

At its next meeting, the publications board will probably set the date for a special meeting. The purpose of this meeting is to select the editors and business managers of the student publications for the next academic year. Election to these positions is based upon ability and dependable service.

The publications board is composed of five members of the faculty, two students from Trinity college, two students from the Woman's college, and the editors and business managers of each campus publication. The faculty members of the board are appointed by

Electrification Of Railways Is Lecture Topic

Sigma Pi Sigma, national honorary physics fraternity, held its regular semi-monthly meeting recently in room 104 of the physics building.

Mr. Paul H. Merriam, graduate student, was the main speaker on the program. "Electrification of Railways" was the title of his address. Mr. Merriam discussed the different types of motors used in driving railroad trains, automatic switches, and the modern types of brakes and their effectiveness. Mr. Merriam divided his discussion of electric motors into three parts. He first took up the motor itself, then the control of the motor, and concluded by talking on the distribution of power. Under the first point of discussion, the motive power of a motor, the speaker showed that the motor must have a high torque for starting. He pointed out that an electric motor suitable for railroad usage must have a fairly large range of power, and that it must be able to operate under overloads for short lengths of time. Although the motors used depend on the routes, the motors mainly used are of the polyphase A-C type.

The control of the motor must allow for a quick change of speed, said Mr. Merriam. This is accomplished by having an automatic current supply control. The control box for a whole train consists of a small set of circuit breakers. If the motorman should remove his hands from the switch, the control box breaks the circuit, and applies the brakes to the train.

Mr. Merriam pointed out that power is transmitted at a very high voltage. This voltage is then stepped down, either by a transformer on the locomotive or at a substation. Mr. Merriam discussed the electrified route of the Pennsylvania railroad between New York and Philadelphia.

President W. P. Few.

In addition to fixing the date for the special meeting, the board will discuss the part which Duke will play in the next session of the North Carolina college Press association. The three Duke publications are to be entered in the state publications contest which will be held at the meeting of the association in Winston-Salem during the next month.

"HABES CORPUS"

Law Students Lead Quiet Life Back To Nature

Many methods of raising the country of the despicable depreccation have been proposed, but still its pangs are felt throughout the world. Instead of proposing prospective remedies, two Duke university law students, Edward Vinson, of Byron, Ga., and Allen Wilson, of Albemarle, S. C., have taken steps to remedy the trying situation.

The boys live in an automobile trailer which they have stationed in a field of wood about three miles from Durham. The trailer was bought from a Georgia filling station operator for $25. It had originally been used by a house-painting couple, but it was abandoned when the young bride became tired of living in the impoverished home.

The students have christened the trailer "Habeas Corpus." In significance of their intention to live in it and remain in school in spite of the depreccation. They have taken the tires off, and now they have their home stationed on blocks of wood which they found near their place of abode. The trailer has three windows which, they declare, they keep open every night. Inside, they have a double bunk, which is used for both sleeping and sitting, although they seldom stay in their home except at night. There are two compact built-in cabinets, in which they keep their clothes. Besides, they have an alarm clock, pictures of girls, and other necessities.

The boys have slept in the trailer every night since the beginning of school last September, with the exception of two or three. Once they came to their home to retire only to find that a recent cloud-burst had rendered it uninhabitable. They slept in a nearby barn for the night. One night they slept in a dormitory, and, afterwards, they complained that even though all the windows were wide-open, they almost asphyxiated. Although their home is devoid of any luxuries to artificial heat, the boys declare that they have not had any appreciable colds this year.

Even though to some observers the boys are bronzed, the students do not envy any person who has a three-room apartment and all the comforts which may be had, and their determination and perseverance are the characteristics which make the indomitable spirit of youth in which the leadership of tomorrow is entrusted.

NATIONAL CHARTER IS GRANTED TO DUKE POETS

The College Poetry society of America has recently granted a charter to the following members at Duke university: Betty Knight, Dorris Fish, Helen Wyatt, Rivers Ingie, Mildred Stiles, and Dr. Norman L. White.

The Society will work in cooperation with Chi Delta Phi to sponsor an interest in poetry on the campus. New members will be elected this spring.

The College Poetry society has chapters located in a great number of large colleges and universities in the United States. Prominent members of this group are Edna St. Vincent Millay, the late Sara Teasdale, Carl Sandburg, Liliuokalani, Jessie Rittenhouse Porter, Robert Frost, and Eleanor Wylie.

Bank Holidays Disastrous To University Programs

Practically Every Campus Affected by Shortage of Funds Which Causes Sharp Curtailment of Activities by Both Student Organizations and Administrative Offices

"Co-eds reported a heavy cancellation of dates," Theatres suffered heavily, and one owner in Eugene, Ore., was taking student I.O.U.'s in lieu of money. By a queer turn of circumstances, the story about student troubles at Oregon was written by one Pierpont Cash.

The athletic department at Ohio State university had difficulty in scraping up money to take the basketball and track teams on trips. The president of the university announced that the summer session would be curtailed, and all teaching would be done by the resident faculty.

The regular spring vacation of the University of North Carolina was cancelled temporarily, while rumors at State college spoke of a similar move to be adopted there. Student opinion at both schools was against moves to cut out the holiday periods entirely, and steps are being taken to adjust the situation to the mutual satisfaction of the faculty and the students.

Nevertheless, in spite of the gravity of the situation, students the nation over seemed to remain cheerful as long as they kept a few pennies, or, lacking those, were able to borrow from more affluent friends.

More serious was the situation of 630 Michigan students who faced dismissal from the university as tuition notes fell due. Freshmen who had worked several months on entries in a writing contest were notified by the university that the $300 in prize money could not be paid to winners until more other pressing obligations had been met.

The Oregon Evening reported that Oregon students had been caught unexpectedly without cash or cigarettes.

VARSITY FINISHES SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE GAMES

First Stringers Again Secure Fully Fake Second Team in Final Spring Battle

With continued brilliant running by the backs, and a hard charging line, Duke's first eleven defeated the second team, 21-0, in the last game of the winter track maneuvers, last Saturday. The forwards on the first team proceeded to make holes in the opposing wall with a dependable master, and Cox, Cornelius, and Keller, last fall's reserve backs, drove through them to set the pace for the tail carriers.

On the first play of the game a hand pass from center went over the goal line, where it was recovered by the first team to score two points on a safety. A few minutes later the firsts threatened to mark up another six points when Crawford blocked a punt which was recovered by Tom Rogers on the 22-yard line. They carried it to the 23-yard line but lost it on downs.

The starring triumvirate of the game, Cox, Cornelius, and Keller, started a drive in the second period that was stopped at last on the 5-yard line. Not discouraged by this they started another one that was completed when Cox drove it over. Cornelius kicked the extra point.

VETERANS REPORT TO COACH COOMBS

Second Team Wins Practice Game; Further Cut in Squad Unlikely at Present

Nothing of particular interest has developed this week in baseball. Coach Coombs is undecided whether to make another cut in the squad as originally intended or leave it intact. It is expected that he will do the latter.

The early warm weather has been a boon to the players. Last Saturday two make-shift teams played an eight inning game which was easily won by the "Sevens." Johnny Marston pitched four innings for the victors and looked pretty good. Reynolds Mays followed him in the box and was just as effective.

Bill Weaver is about the only veteran who has really got his batting sights adjusted. Maybe basketball has something to do with it—anyway the lucky first baseman looks better than ever this spring. Kersey seems a bit off, but he will undoubtedly be round when the season opens. And speaking of Kersey, he may not be a lead-off man this year; it is rumored that "Pepper" Martin, a Wake Forest transfer, may take Kersey's place on the batting order. Kersey is never known to be a wonderful hitter, but he really cannot get on base and be brought on around.

The remaining candidates for the team reported for duty last Monday. Heading the list were Hendrickson, last season's short stop, and Cornelius, a star sophomore. Both of these lads will be strong contributors for berths on this year's nine. Hildebrand says, "That's all there is at present. We should have a southern championship, but right now all we have is a manager no play unless."

At the half, Phillips, Royster, and Jack Dunlap were shifted into the first driving line, and Ward into the back field. The third quarter developed into a punting duel until late in the period when Cox started a running spree with Kersey leading the touchdown, and the former missed the try for extra point. Next Keller turned in a 51-yard sprint that placed the ball on the 21-yard line. He and Cox drove it to the 10-yard line in two downs, and Cox drove it over the final marker. Cox again failed to pin the extra point.

Duke Track Star Is Honor Student

March 4 was a letter day for Charlie Bradsher, Duke's premier half-miler. Not only did Charlie break the Southern conference record for the 880-yard dash on that day but he was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa. Just to make the day complete he ran the mile under ten minutes that night which was first place.

Bradsher has shown fine initiative both on the track and in the classroom. Having from Peterborough, Va. Charlie had never participated in track activities until he matriculated to Duke. Although not being able to better 2:00 minutes in his freshman year, he has now developed into the best middle distance man in the conference. Bradsher also holds the record of having never missed a day's practice since he started his track work.

Thoughts From the Side Lines

By GEORGE EWERT, JR.

Spring football practice is at last over, much to the relief of most of the members of the team. They really do get plenty of work out there during the spring conditioning grid and there are no games to hinder the monotony. The crop of broken teeth, sprained ankles, nose muscles, and cauliflower ears has been remarkable this year. However, they have developed what seems to be a championship football team. The line is really step over and there are some new backfield men to watch. The punter, passer, and hard tacklers who have learned a lot of smart football in the last few years should be good material for the fall.

The tennis courts are in full swing now that the warm weather has come. These facilities are undoubtedly enjoyed by a large part of the student body.

About this time of the year we usually renew our annual grip for Sunday tennis. It seems a shame that their courts have to be idle for a whole day during this weather when they could be used by so many players. Perhaps tennis players forget their religion, or something. We have never heard of any other valid excuse for keeping them closed.

We see by the papers that Roy Alper, Duke's erstwhile pitcher and basketball player who is now trying out with the New York Giants, was married recently in New York. We wonder who it is that so many of our athletes get married. If the truth were known, a good percentage of the present Duke athletes get married, secretly or otherwise. Perhaps a quiet domestic atmosphere is conducive to better training.

Duke has a great advantage over many of the northern colleges in being this far south. Not in the hot belt, the weather is usually fair and athletes can get most of their practice on the playing fields. Most of the north. (Continued on page eight)

HARD GRINDS FACE TRACK CANDIDATES

Football Men Report as Squad Settles Down to Hard Work For Opening Meet April 1

The first hard practice session of the year began this week for the track team in preparation for their initial outdoor meet of the season Saturday, April 1, against Davidson.

Coach Voyles was led to Davidson one of the strongest track teams in the history of the school. The Blue Devils should repeat their last year's victory over the Wildcats, but strong opposition in several events will be encountered.

Davidson boasts one of the best sprinters in the south in Flegle who has been clocked in the 100-yard dash at 8.8 and who defeated John Brownlee in the dashes at last season's state meet. The Wildcats also have several excellent performers in the pole vault and broad jump.

Agate Duke will be weak in the high jump and high hurdles. Coach Voyles has ten men working at the High Jump. Lewis and Hipley are showing the best form. John Brownlee is being groomed for the high hurdles along with Stonehouse and Dunsmuir.

Chances in the discus and javelin will rest on Crawford and Andrews. Both have just completed spring football and will probably be ready for the meet. Means and Nordstrom in the shot put. Royster in the javelin and discus, and Keller in the javelin are other football men to watch.

Captain Brownlee, Lewis, Palmer, Garris, and Bradsher will be beginning their last outdoor track season at Duke, all being seniors. Turrell, Hertig, and Reichman are the three most promising men from last season's freshman team to begin varsity competition.

NERIDIAN CLUB TO GIVE UNIQUE PAGEANT MAR. 23

A unique pageant will be presented by the Neridian club this year on Thursday, March 23, in the Women's gymnasium, as this organization's annual contribution to campus activities. The pageant concerns a small boy who falls asleep and dreams of a water circus in which there are clowns, acrobats, seals, and other entertaining characters. In addition to the pageant there will also be swimming events—races, both relay and fantastic, and an exhibition of diving. There will be floating figures formed by twenty-five girls.

The pageant is being planned by a committee under Evelyn Schaffie and everyone is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

WERNERS TRIUMPH IN GRASSCUTTER LEAGUE FOOTBALL

Southgate Team Finishes Undeclared Season and Captures First Place

MASONS END UP SECOND

Abbotts Third and Ershlers Fourth in Intercollegiate Football Tournament

The "Grasscutters" football league went into its last week of play with three games scheduled. The "Werners" were unquestionably headed for first place, and the games to be played would unquestionably have led to a tie for second place between the "Masons" and the "Abbotts." In order to finish the league play by Saturday, the coaches decided to do away with the regularly scheduled games and have a play-off game between the "Masons" and the "Abbotts" for second place honors.

This game was played last Friday. The game was an off-day and played behind closed doors. Near the end of the first period the "Masons" started a drive that ended with Beasley marking up another touchdown to his credit. The extra point was made by a drop kick. The second touchdown was scored in the last few seconds of the first half, when the "Masons" unleashed a passing attack that could not be broken up. The try for extra point failed. The second half was scoreless, although in the last minute of play the "Abbotts" made five first downs in what appeared to be a touchdown march. Their last effort to avoid defeat was ended on the six yard line when the game ended.

On Saturday a practice game was played, in which the champions, "Werners" opposed a picked team from the other three squads in the league. The league chances remained undeclared, winning 19-0.

The intramural department will award gold charms to the members of the "Werner" team, and silver charms to the players of the "Masons" aggregation.

Michigan State To Open 1933 Baseball Schedule

Are You Reading?
By FRED HAYES

The teams tournament which is to be played between Carolina and Duke, the one which is to involve the majority of the student body of each school, is to be played from April 1st to April 8th. The Carolina intramural office reports that they have signed up 250 contestants, while the Duke intramural office reports that only 75 men have signed to play. Tennis players, Duke has succeeded in defeating Carolina in practically every thing attempted this year, and we have a good chance to win this sport, but not without man power. Let's make the year a complete one by white-washing Carolina again. Each man entered will play one match and the winning score will be determined by the number of matches won, not on the elimination basis.

Merrimon Cummings, recent winner of the free-throw individual honors, again proved that scholarship and athletics can be happily united when he scored. Other than that contest, the record shows the handball championship from Higgins to the tune of 21-12 and 21-6. Higgins had, in the semi-finals, defeated Ray Lundgren, 22-20 and 21-15. The doubles title was won by the Higgins-McNeil combine when they defeated Welch-Hardin in a close match, 21-17 and 21-18.

On this aforementioned northern excursion, the boys will be really pointing for Princeton. Duke has taken the Tigers over for the past three years, and Coach Coombs is quite proud of that record. Other than that contest, the Carolina series and the Michigan State game are the high lights. The Tar Heels have arranged for three games with the Blue Devils in the eventuality that each team wins one fracas.

The schedule follows:

April 1—Michigan State at Durham.
April 8—Elon at Durham.
April 13—V. F. I. at Durham.
April 14—Guilford at Durham.
April 16—Durham (Piedmont league) at Durham, two games. (El Toro park).

It takes resourcefulness . . .

Time and again, Bell System engineers have demonstrated their pioneering bent in working out unusual telephone construction problems.

For example, they laid a huge conduit under the Harlem River. They dredged a trench in the river bottom, lowered enormous sections of iron pipe, sent down divers to join the sections, engaged the fishline tube in concrete. Through this they ran telephone cables forming one of New York's main lines of communication. Across the Gila River in Arizona they constructed a catenary span 2373 feet long. To bridge oceans, they developed radio telephony. They have built telephone lines over mountains, across deserts, through swamps.

Their resourcefulness in getting through, over or under natural barriers makes possible telephone service that is practically world wide in reach.

DUKE LINKS CHAMPIONS TAKE OVER AT HOPE VALLEY TODAY

GOLF FOURSOME MEETING ROLLINS IN INITIAL MATCH

Captain Peacock and Manager Caldwell are Sole Experienced Golfers From 1932

HAVE UNUSUAL RECORD

Storm and Sullivan Complete Roster Attempting to Maintain Laurels Gained in Other Years

The Hope Valley golf links are the scene today of the opening competition of the Duke championship. The Blue Devils, state champions and second in the conference last year, play the Rollins College crew, with the individual matches starting at 9 o'clock in the morning and the four-some play at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Captain Roger Peacock and Manager John Caldwell form the nucleus of the 1938 drive and putter outfit. It will be remembered that Peacock was state intercollegiate champion last year, and has been a consistent conqueror of Billy Howell, former Washington and Lee golf star. Caldwell led Roger in the conference meet of 1932 at Atlanta. Both of these boys qualified for the national amateur last summer.

With Peacock at No. 1 and Caldwell at No. 2, the other two positions on the team will have to be filled by two rather untried men, Bayard Storm of Charlotte and Jake Sullivan of Anderson, S. C. Although untried in varsity competition, these two boys have, nevertheless, turned in some very good scores in practice on the Hope Valley course.

The Blue Devils were defeated in only one dual meet last year, won the title in the state, and lost out in the conference by one point to North Carolina. This is an enviable record, but this year's crew has all the earmarks of duplicating it, but not bettering the standard of the former representatives of the university.

Nine dual meets are on the board for this year, with arrangements for the Virginia and Richmond meets not yet completed. The date and the place of the state meet have not yet been decided, but the southern conference meet this year will be held over the Sedgefield course in Greensboro.

The schools have most of their early baseball and spring football and track practices underway. This is one of the reasons the Duke plays in many northern colleges early in the season. They take a southern trip so as to get the baseball team into shape in the warmer regions.

This correction on your schedules. This is an enviable record, but this year's crew has all the earmarks of duplicating it, but not bettering the standard of the former representatives of the university.

In giving points for the free-throw contest the following method was used. Each team was given one point for its place from the bottom of the standings to its win. Phi Delta Theta, first in an eight-team standing gets eight points; Lambda Chi Alpha gets seven. The winner gets five additional points, and the runner-up gets three. Individually, each man whose score was part of the team total, in the first five men, gets two points. The other three men get one. This is the way they finished: Phi Delta Theta, 13; Lambda Chi Alpha, 10; Sigma Chi, 6; School of Religion, 4; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 4; Delta Sigma Phi, 3; Kappa Sigma, 2; and Sigma Delta, 1. These points have already been posted.

The Carolina intramural office, as seen in the Durham Herald, has had 66 per cent of their student body taking active part during the intramural year. That means that over 1900 men have, to date, contested Duke, go thus and do likewise.

of the season. In addition to his 51-yard sprint he made several runs that were good for over 10 yards.

Ox did some fine line-backing that brought back memories of "Kid" Brewer. His average for the day was 10 yards a trip.

Cornelius did some hard driving in reverse plays the first half, but carried the ball only once. In the second half after he had been shifted to the Blue eleven.

The first string line showed excellent team work, with the array of excellent backs available for next fall, that season should go down in Duke football history as a most successful one.

The line-up:

First Team (21)	Position	Second Team (2)
Schock	Left Guard	Johnston
Andrews	Right Guard	J. Dunlap

SPORTS HISTORY REVEALS RECORD YEAR FOR DEVILS

Highlight of Fall and Winter Season Is Victory Over Carolina Tar Heels

SIX TITLES GARNERED

Four State and Two Conference Titles; Second Position in Cage Tourney Crown Efforts

The close of fall and winter sports finds Duke already well on her way to the most successful year in sports in her history. Two southern conference championships in track and second place titles in basketball and swimming, and state honors in football and boxing have come to local athletic teams since September.

Although Duke was not in the first few in football standing according to games won and lost, the high caliber of the Blue Devil gridiron was attested by the great stands made against Tennessee and Auburn, the highest rated eleven in the conference.

Victories over Carolina, Wake Forest, and Davidson brought the state championship to Duke. Coach Wade's 1935 team also brought Duke her first victory in the Tar Heels' over forty years.

Also during the fall Duke was represented by one of the best cross country teams in the country. Winning every dual meet on the schedule with the exception of the match against the Army horriers, the Blue Devil runners entered the conference championship race at Chapel Hill as favorites and lived up to expectations by wrestling the crown from the defending Carolina runners.

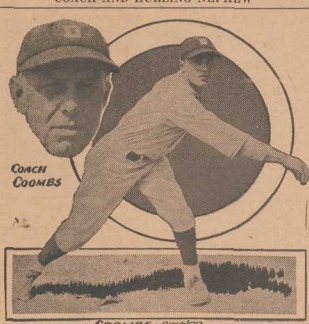

Although not rated very high in the pre-season dope sheet, Coach Eddie Cameron's basketball team made an excellent record, winning fifteen of the sixteen games scheduled and taking second place in the conference tournament held at Raleigh.

Five lettermen returned to school for coed activities, but in the early stages of practice the hopes for a successful season were considerably dimmed by the withdrawal of Roy Albert from school. Throughout the season the team was hampered by injuries, but in spite of these obstacles, the Blue Devil coeds blazed a name that rivaled that of the great Duke team of 1930.

Coach Add Warren's Duke boxers pulled a big upset when they slugged out a 5 to 3 win over Carolina to bring Duke her first state ring title. In the other meet with a state team Duke tied N. C. State, 4-4.

The track season got off to a fine start March 4, when Coach Voyt's men took a decisive victory in the annual southern conference indoor track meet. After winning every dual meet on her schedule, Duke placed second in the conference swimming meet at Charlottesville. A week later the tankmen won their second straight state title by dropping N. C. State for the third time during the season.

COACH AND HURLING NEPHEW

Coach Jack Coombs and Bobbie Coombs, who will end this spring a close and active relationship on the diamond, the current season being Bobbie's last as a member of Duke's pitching staff.

JUNIORS VOTE FOR JOINT FUNCTION WITH SENIORS

A junior-senior dance is being sponsored, but, at present, no definite plans have been made. President Joe Shackerford told the members of the junior class at its meeting last Monday. Class members were unanimous in support of the proposal.

After the regular business of the class was disposed of, a practical open-forprevalled. Dean H. J. Herring asked for submission of topics of general interest. Upon query, Dean Herring asserted that, so far as he knew, the prevalent rumor that there would be no Easter holidays was erroneous. He stated that the question of abolishing the holidays for this year was not even discussed at the meeting of the undergraduate council last Thursday and that the general faculty had not met this month.

More Than One Thousand Ask For Graduate Awards

Figure Nearly Twice That of Two Years Ago; English Department Again Leads For Single Department With 182; Nine Others Have Over One Hundred Candidates

The annual competition for fellowships, scholarships, and graduate assistantships in the graduate school of arts and sciences in Duke university came to an end for the present year on March 15. There was an overwhelming number of applications this year. Scores of applications came in at the last moment by special delivery and air mail. The total number of applications received was 1136. This total compares favorably with the approximately 600 received in 1931, and the 900 applications received in 1932.

Candidates applied from all parts of the United States and from many foreign countries. The graduate school was kept busy acknowledging thousands of recommendations and transcripts which were mailed to the office in support of the various candidates.

182 candidates made applications in the department of English. This was the largest number received by any department. The other departments which received over one hundred applications were: chemistry, biology, economics, history, and physics. Mathematics, French, psychology, education, and sociology were also well represented in the list of applicants.

The applications in all departments have been sent to the departments for recommendation and for recommendations. As soon as possible the departments will forward their recommendations. The awards will be made by the committee on fellowships, scholarships, and assistantships, appointed by President W. F. Few.

PLANS FOR LOAN FUND COMMITTEE NOW COMPLETED

Financial Assistance Given to Students Who Need Help to Continue Their Work

LAW SCHOOL AUXILIARY Proceeds of Benefit Bridge Donated by Auxiliary to Establish Loan Fund

The Duke university law school has been made more complete by the fact that its students may be given financial assistance. The latest form of financial help is the establishment of a loan fund through the receipt of $100 from the law school auxiliary. This sum was given from the benefit bridge recently given to the law school by four students who have made and others will follow as rapidly as conditions permit. The loan fund committee, consisting of Dr. J. S. Bradley, Miss Corning, Judge T. D. Bryson, and Mr. Lull Fulmer, has already outlined definite plans for administering and increasing the fund through study of the methods in use in other law schools has been made. It has been reported that several members of the faculty who have already made personal loans would add such sums to the loan fund as soon as they are repaid.

The law school has already done much to assist its students financially as is evidenced by the several ways in which this policy is supported. During the school year the library employs ten students on a part time basis, the department of law employs ten students in drafting there, and the clinic empowers students for certain portions of its work. During the summer a number of students are employed on a full-time basis. The law school also contributes forty tuition scholarships which assist students to meet their expenses when it would not otherwise be possible. These scholarships are only assigned to the students with very high scholastic records.

SEVEN GIRLS INITIATED AT FORUM CLUB MEET

Seven girls were extended membership in the Forum club at its last meeting on the evening of March 14, in the East campus Union banquet hall. Those initiated were as follows: Dorris Fitch, Chicago, Ill.; Sigrid Pedersen, New York City; Ann Miller, Collegeville, N. J.; Dorothy Forbes, Trenton, N. J.; Evelyn Buchanan, Chelidown, Va.; Marcella Anderson, Durham; and Martha Mack, Wayneville.

A social hour followed the initiation, and refreshments were served. Elections for the coming year will be held at the next meeting on the first Thursday in April.

GRADUATE DEAN

Varied Program Is Planned For Sophomore Men

The sophomore class met in Page auditorium Monday morning, at which time Bill Burke, the class president, outlined the program of the class for the coming year.

Four teams have been selected to enter the intramural outdoor baseball tournament which will be held on campus. A sophomore class tennis tournament will be begun on April 1. All sophomores who do not play varsity tennis will be eligible to enter. Prizes in the form of keys or small loving cups will be given to the winners and runners-up.

At the close of the tennis matches, a golf tournament will be held, the provisions of which will be given at a later date.

A series of debates has been arranged with the Columbia Literary society and the freshman class. The first of these will be with the Literary society on April 3. The subject of the debate will be, "Resolved: that the House of Representatives should have disciplinary powers." The sophomore representatives will uphold the negative side of the question. The following week, a debate on Sunday tennis will be held with the freshman class representatives.

Two more Saturday evening dances are to be given by the class on March 26, and May 13. These dances will probably be run on the same system as the last one, in that twenty-five tickets will be sold at the door to the first holders.

Rose Elected

The Women's Athletic Association met on Monday night, March 26, in the "Y" hall of the East Duke building. Officers for the coming year were elected. The following girls were chosen: president, Bernice Rose; vice-president, Elizabeth Parnell; secretary, Ethel Garrett; treasurer, Elaine Eighon.

CLASS PROJECT IS AT LAST REALIZED

Last Year's Senior Women May Now See Beautified East Campus Library Entrance

Last year, the women of the class of 1932 devoted a number of spring meetings to consideration of permanent gifts that would be suitable to leave to the university. Finally, a decision was reached to have some spot on the campus landscaped, preferably the ground in front of the library. In this way the class thought to leave not only a reminder of its love for the college, but also to make that reminder an addition to the beauty of the campus.

In order to realize this project, an assessment was levied on each class member and a committee chairman appointed to see that the work was carried out before June, 1933.

Dean Alice Baldwin, Dr. L. L. Flowers, and W. A. Tyre were consulted, and from their cooperative interest and advice, a satisfactory plan was evolved. The work was placed in the hands of W. T. Rice, landscape gardener, and quickly completed.

LOOK AHEAD 7 YEARS

That year will see epochal changes in architecture, fashions, literature, love-making—as evidenced in the notable motion picture production "Men Must Fight."

Before seeing this picture, which you believe has a good chance of maturing seven years hence.

In forecasting the future, your crystal ball gazing conjecture is as good as anyone else's, so let us have it right away. "Men Must Fight" is an intelligent and exciting anticipation of what you can expect in the future. The picture has made a deep and thrilling impression on audiences wherever it has been shown.

Try your hand at forecasting that period by mentioning and describing an invention, discovery or improvement which is now nonexistent or in an undeveloped state. Fifty words must be used.

Mail it today to the Business Manager of this paper, who will select judges for the contest. If they agree with you, a pair of Glee Tickets to the Paramount Theatre where "Men Must Fight" opens it's three day run next Monday, will be yours. Write your name and address plainly as the lucky prognosticators will receive their reward by mail. (Adv.)

KRAMER NOW WORKING IN FIELD OF PLANT LIFE

An interesting and promising piece of original research is being done in the field of plant life by Dr. Paul Kramer of the Botany department. The work, now nearing completion, is principally one on the process of the moisture absorption of plants.

incorrectness of a former belief among botanists that moisture is taken principally by means of a "pump-like" process on the part of the root cells.

According to the new findings, it appears that the root cells act, for the most part, merely as tubes, so to speak, through which the soil moisture is drawn when there is an insufficiency of water in the plant leaves.

Latest Information Issued Regarding Rhodes Scholars

Elections, Eligibility, Regulations, Tenure of Scholarship, and Other Needed Information Concerning All Rhodes Applicants Is Given; Dean Davison Issues Application Blanks

Formal announcement has been made concerning the Rhodes scholarship elections for the next school year. The last of announcements which will be given here cancels all previous lists. Dr. Wilbert C. Davison, Duke university scholar at medicine, as secretary of the committee of selection in the state of North Carolina, has application blanks which may be procured from him and should be returned to him before November 15, 1938.

The general regulations which have been made are that a Rhodes scholarship is tenable at the University of Oxford and may be held for three years. Many of the Rhodes students, however, obtain standing which enables them to complete work for a degree in two years. Appointments are made for two years in the first instance, and a Rhodes scholar who wishes to remain for a third year will be expected to present a definite plan of study for that period satisfactory to his college and the Rhodes trustees.

A Rhodes scholar will normally spend his third year at Oxford, but where circumstances warrant it, he will be allowed either to postpone the third year, or to return to Oxford for it after a period of work in his own country, or to spend it in postgraduate work at any approved University of Great Britain, and in special cases at any approved university on the Continent of Europe, or in the United States or the British Overseas Dominions (but not in the country of his origin), on conditions approved by his own college and the Rhodes trustees.

The stipend of a Rhodes scholar is fixed at 400 pounds a year. A Rhodes scholar should be prepared, if possible, to supplement his stipend by at least 50 pounds a year from his own resources.

The tenure of a Rhodes scholarship is dependent upon the maintenance by the scholar of a standard of work and conduct which, in the opinion of the trustees, justifies his scholarship. A Rhodes scholarship is vacated by marriage.

Conditions of Eligibility
A candidate to be eligible must:
(a) Be a male citizen of the United States, with at least five years domicile and unmarriage.

(b) By the 1st of October of the year for which he is elected have passed his nineteenth and have not passed his twenty-fifth birthday. (In 1938 scholars will be elected to enter Oxford in October, 1938. Candidates are eligible who were born on or after October 1, 1908, and before October 1, 1913.)

(c) By the 1st of October of the year for which he is elected (i. e., 1938) have completed at least his sophomore year at some recognized degree-granting university or college of the United States or Great Britain.

Candidates may apply either for the state in which they have their ordinary private domicile, home, or residence, or for any state in which they may have received at least two years of their college education, or applying.

Method of Selection
32 scholarships are assigned annually to the United States of America, and the states of the Union are grouped into eight districts of six states each for the purpose of making these 32 appointments. Each district committee then selects from the 12 candidates so nominated, not more than four men who will represent their state as scholars at Oxford. For the year of 1938, North Carolina is in district III.

Basics of Selection
In that section of the will in which he defined the type of scholar he desired, Mr. Rhodes mentioned four groups of qualities, the first two of which he considered most important, to supplement his stipend by at least 50 pounds a year from his own resources.

POWERFUL TALK GIVEN IN CHAPEL SERVICE SUNDAY

Dr. Hickman Speaks On the Subject, "The Beginning of Wisdom"

MOLITORES SING SOLOS
Special Music Furnished by Popular Recital Artists as Part of Worship

"The fear of Jehovah is the beginning of wisdom," was the message that Dr. Frank S. Hickman, chapel speaker, at the morning service this past Sunday, brought to his congregation. In the final analysis, wisdom is slightly, enlightening love, Dr. Hickman gave as his concluding remarks.

Special music was ably furnished by Edward Molitore and his wife, Miss Camilla Venter, both of whom appeared in a Tuesday evening recital here in the chapel during February. With the choir under the direction of J. Foster Barnes and Organist Lawrence C. Apgar, the musical portion of the worship service was made complete. Pleading over the service was Professor H. E. Myers, instructor in the Department of religion here at Duke.

The speaker of the morning began his explanation of his topic, "The Beginning of Wisdom," by quoting the passage, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of Wisdom." He then stated that this Hebrew conception of wisdom was the gateway of the wisdom literature of the Hebrews, and that it was one of the simpler theories of a type that the people of the East put much faith in.

Going further into a description of this concept of wisdom and its characteristics, Dr. Hickman made a remark to the effect that wisdom includes all that exists, and might be called a search for truth. Its characteristics, he showed, are the following: First, there is a fear of reverence for thinking, the living God. God is at the center of all life, and he is that which, although not demonstrated, must be assumed. Second, wisdom is centered in the affairs of man; nature is unimportant except insofar as it is connected to man.

After this, Dr. Hickman told of a different kind of wisdom, that of the heart, a wisdom deeper than intellect, rooted in human instinct.

With the last comment there was made a searching criticism of the modern world's conception. "We shall be able to save western civilization unless we go beyond the surface," Dr. Hickman stated. It is not that I am opposed to science, but that there is something deeper. "Civilization will crash if we do not," was the speaker's opinion. "Re-define wisdom," was the phrase Dr. Hickman used.

Next the forebear speaker limited the phrase, "fear of Jehovah" to one or two kinds of fear. The first of the two kinds, one that issues from terror or awe, never leads to wisdom. It ends in beliefs similar to the ones in Ecclesiastes, "All is vanity." The other is of a more reasonable type, hopeful, not terrified. Though we feel that we are helpless before the great unknown, only steadfast in trust not masters of our fate, we feel that we may trust God, confident that he is more powerful than the great unknown.

So some may see in the fear of Jehovah only that one characterized by wrath, vengeance, terror and lack of wisdom, or the better kind, one opening up into a feeling of reverence and a belief that through it all we are friends of God.

In conclusion, Dr. Hickman showed clearly that the revelation of wisdom was not finished with the old Hebrew conception. "They did not see the heart of glory that was Jesus Christ," he said. "Wisdom, in its last analysis, is 'eternal' love, the only hope for our warring race," he concluded.

New Fashions For Men

The spring season arrives with innovations of exquisite patterned fabrics for the university students wardrobe. These are predominated by such custom fabrics of English and Scotch loomings as Shepherd, Gun Club, brogen Hosen's. Both checks and checkered plaids for both sports and town wear, while many check stripes are being shown for town and business wear. The checks and plaids are being shown in soft shadings from English looms for sports wear, and in unadorned and clear faded varieties for town wear. The check stripes are being favored in one-half and five-eighth inch widths.

The extreme drape jacket in its custom proportions is the accepted design of the leading universities in the East.

Preference has been accentuated for the rather fancy jacket, but care has been exercised in obtaining the desired fullness necessary for extreme comfort through the shoulders of these garments. These garments are being tailored with the soft front construction, absence of shoulder padding, full sleeve-heads, and full across the shoulder blades, which features are characteristic of the extreme drape jacket. This affords the wearer the utmost in comfort with maximum smartness in symmetry. The soft sleek running from shoulder to waist line on belted back jackets are enjoying an unusual run of popularity in spring wear, introducing the expression of demand for comfort in men's clothes. The double breasted jacket will be seen prominently in both sports and town clothes, as much preference has been shown for this type of garment in the popular check stripes. The designs of double-breasted jackets are in plain backs except in strictly odd sports coats. Color in gentlemen's clothes for university and sports wear tends extremely to contrast in numerous dark shade combinations. The accepted color contrasts from an artistic perspective are: copper brown in jacket with Cambridge gray trousers; gray jacket with light tan or cream trousers; blue jacket with light gray trousers; blue jacket with light tan trousers; and the greenish-gray jacket with gray or light tan trousers. These fabrics are best in flannel-finished worsted, shetlands, and are worn in all the season's patterns.
