Women's College Assembly Heart Discussion on Composers of Romantic Period

Mrs. J. Foster Barnes, in continuing her weekly lectures on the history of music, last week discussed several of the great musicians of the romantic period who also related some interesting facts about Jertie, the greatest singing actress of this century, who sang here last evening.

The speaker said that in France romanticism was carried more to the extreme than in Germany, and that to the French court many outstanding musical artists of other countries were attracted. Among these were Liszt, the dazzling Hungarian, and Chopin, the Polish poet of the piano. Famous also during the period in France were Berlioz, the great French writer of instrumental music, and Paganini, the violinist who laid the foundation of all modern violin technique.

all students receiving this aid, thus making them beneficiaries to the extent of their college fees plus the amount given to them through Federal aid.

Due to the existence of student loan funds and numerous other student aid agencies on the Duke campus, the plan will probably not be put in force here. It is felt that these funds and agencies can adequately care for the situation, which will give an opportunity for other less fortunate institutions or institutions to participate in the plan.

Wins

Last week there was little to choose between a group of quietists that have shown some real basketball. Right now the Sigma Chi's, K. A.'s, Bums, Sigma Nu, and Houses P and M are sitting tight on the top without a setback. This week's games have shown flash and spirit with some of the best shooting seen in intramural games during this season.

The Delta Sigma came through with their first win by trouncing the School of Religion 18-8. Southeast took a wild scoring game from House N. Right now the Sigma Chi put the odds under the Sigma Delta, while Sigma Nu put on a fancy shooting exhibition. The Lambda Chi over 27 to 15, in which Rogers and Wenta showed that they had something besides football under their belts.

Dorm P took a heartbreaker from Dorm O 17 to 14 in reman at the top with House M. The fast-stopping Bums were too much for the Kappa Sigma, winning 21 to 11, and they look more and more so though they would remain on the top. It was a case of too much Canipe and Koussis.

Perhaps the greatest rivalry of any game shown so far was when the undefeated Sigma Chi's and the Psi Delta met. Kown and Brown, of Sigma Chi, were hot and the Psi Delta went down 23 to 11 in spite of the long distance shooting of Bauller.

Due to fraternity rushing season on intramural game will be played until February 18.

BOILER TESTS MADE IN UNIVERSITY PLANT

Junior and Senior Engineers Survey
Operating Conditions in West
Campus Heating Plant

A 24-hour boiler test was conducted yesterday in the West campus heating plant by the senior and junior mechanical engineers and the junior electrical engineers, under the supervision of Professor Ralph S. Wilbur and Mr. R. T. Mathews through the cooperation of Mr. Welch, chief engineer of the heating plant.

The seniors supervised the tests which obtained data on the operating conditions of the West campus heating plant. One boiler was run at 180 per cent of the rated capacity while the other boiler carried the excess load. Readings were taken every half hour except early in the morning when the peak load was reached when readings were taken every 15 minutes.

An accurate record was kept of the amount of coal and water used, the gas analyzers were made, and the ash content of the coal was determined. The log of the boiler tests was plotted for the entire period, from which the senior engineers will write a complete report on the heating plant.

White to Speak Thursday

Mrs. N. I. White, wife of Dr. N. I. White, authority on the Romantic poets, and an eminent scholar in her own right, will speak on "Recent Trends in Modern Fiction" at an informal meeting to be held in the Booklover's room of the modern college library at 6:45 Thursday evening.

Mrs. White, whose course on modern fiction and drama is one of the most popular given at Duke, is an eminent authority on the group of authors that form the present generation of fiction writers. Her acquaintance with this subject is both wide and extensive, and the result of many years of thought and research.

ENGINEERING GROUPS CONDUCT DISCUSSIONS

Scholar Speaks Before Electrical Society; Mechanical and Civil Organizations Active

Regular meetings of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, and Duke Society of Mechanical Engineers were held last week.

The electrical engineers had as guest speaker, Professor S. M. Schaefer, head of the electrical engineering department. Professor Schaefer gave a very interesting and well planned talk on his experiences in the submarine service of the United States Navy during the World War. A discussion was held after the talk.

The A. S. C. E. had as guest speaker Professor W. G. Gille of N. C. State, who took as his subject "Building Codes."

The D. M. S. E. welcomes the speaker to their meetings in Ashbury building on the first and third Thursdays of the month at 7:30.

Students' interesting in electrical, civil, and mechanical engineering are requested to become acquainted with their respective societies. All the meetings are open to the public.

The Old Inn, which was built and equipped in 1902, was remodeled and completely renovated during the summer of 1934. It was then put into use as a dormitory and is now known as Epi. worth.

Klieg Eyes

THREE OF A KIND—ACES

Beginning Thursday, February 15, the Carolina Theater is showing a series of three entertainment acts, "Queen Christina," "I Am Suzanne," and "Henry the Eighth." This three-of-a-kind ought to insure a full house at the local drama palace.

HENRY THE EIGHTH—Carolina.—Thursday and Wednesday, Feb. 20-21. The greatest historical picture of the era, remodeled without any reservations for the following reasons: Because: Charles Laughton, as the obese and amorous Henry, turns in the most sparkling characterization of the cinema year.

Because: Alexander Korda, England's most distinguished director, has mounted the piece with great historical accuracy and exquisite beauty.

Because Charles Laughton has created a living portrait of a monarch and a man.

Because: "Henry the Eighth," an intellectual and artistic accomplishment, is the type of motion picture that college people should applaud and support.

I AM SUZANNE—Carolina—Sunday and Monday, Feb. 18-19. The third and finest of Lillian Harvey's American pictures, featuring the famous Pandoree Fricol Marquette.

An ingenious and artistic production recommended for the following reasons: Because: Lillian Harvey again proves herself one of the outstanding actresses on the American screen.

Because: It achieves something very rarely seen on the silver screen, a certain quality of subtle mood.

Because: The scene in which Lillian Harvey is pined on trial by the Marquette court is perhaps the most poignant and charming bit of wholesomeness ever caught in a motion picture.

Because: Its romance is completely unsophisticated, its cast fits completely into the mood of the narrative, its humor is as clean as a brand's tooth.

QUEEN CHRISTINA—Carolina.—Thursday to Saturday, Feb. 15-17. The great Grete Garbo returning to the American screen after an absence of some time, in an historical drama of her native Sweden. A costume drama, the scene opens in the 17th century, with Gustavus Adolphus, the great Swedish king, dying on the field of battle in the Thirty Years' War.

His child (Grete Garbo), comes to the throne as Queen Christina, under the guidance of the Chancellor (Lewis Stone). Dressed as a young man she sides out for a day's freedom and meets a young man (John Gilbert).

Under the careful direction of Rouben Mamoulian, perhaps the greatest of Russian directors, this 17th century scene comes to vivid life. Not too accurate in historical detail, "Queen Christina" is nevertheless a fine bit of intellectual drama.

A fine combination of drama, history, and romance. The fact that the Queen Christina of Grete Garbo (glamorous-beautiful-feminine-romantic) does not completely jibe with the Queen Christina of history (dull-placid-masculine-uninteresting) may be an important historical point but has little effect on the excellence of the motion picture.

THREE OF A KIND—JACKS—Begin-ning Thursday, February 15, the Paramount Theater will also begin the showing of three entertaining cinema bits.

MANSACRE—Paramount—Thursday to Saturday, Feb. 15-17. The drama and tragedy of the American Indian of today, depleted as restricted to his western reservation and under the thumb of the unscrupulous Indian agent! A fierce and biting satire on the white-man's-burden philosophy! Richard Barthelmess, the Indian of today, in a strong and rapid-paced drama of action and revenge!

THIS SIDE OF HEAVEN—Paramount—Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 19-20. Down-to-earth entertainment featuring the unusual activity in one day of the life of an ordinary American family.

Marion Turner (Lined Barrymore), as the father accused of embezzlement, Francine Turner (Ray Blanton), as the mother whose novel has just been accepted by Hollywood. Jane Turner (Mac Clarke), as the school teacher daughter violently in love. Seth Turner (Tom Brown), as the dull-pail son. Peggy Turner (Mary Carlisle), as the almost-idiot, getting-off-to-college daughter of the family. A swell little picture full of real entertainment value.

SECOND RUNS—DEUCES VANITIES OF 1934—Rialto—Wednes-day and Thursday, Feb. 14-15. A 25-people stage show featuring the Rhapody in Gold. So you think the fa-dance was hot—wait until you see this! Or, so they tell me! In addition—"King for a Night"—featuring that well known crotch-bay of the screen, Chester Morris. Another prizefighter tale with a new twist. In addition—Heles Tevete-re, and Allen White.

I'M NO ANGEL—Rialto—Monday to Wednesday, Feb. 14-15. Come up and see me sometime, big boy! It's a suggestion you ought to consider!

WARRIORS HUSBAND—Quadrangle—Wednesday, Feb. 14. All about what happened away back when the ladies took over running the world. A swell picture, one of the best of 1933! Worth while!

STAGE MOTHER—Quadrangle—Sa-nday, Feb. 17. Another one of those stage plays featuring Alice Brady, than whom there is no better player of such parts.

CAROLINA-KING OF THE HILLS DUKE'S CAGE TEAM

DUKE CAGE TEAM WINS THREE TILTS IN OLD DOMINION

Defeat W. and L. V. M. L. and V. P. L. by Decisive Margins on Successive Nights

DROP WAKE FOREST, 37-21

Scoring Evenly Divided in Rather Raged Game at Raleigh Last Saturday

Lost by all-Southern Jim Thompson, who missed 16 points in the past four games, the Blue Devils swamped their Virginia basketball squads on their recent trip and returned to their home state to defeat Wake Forest 37 to 21.

Opening the Virginia invasion last Saturday at Lynchburg, Duke successfully downed Washington and Lee 41 to 27. On the following night, meeting V. M. L. at Lexington, the Blue Devils encountered harder opposition, mostly in the form of Donny Cade, forward, who ran wild with 10 points. Donny scored 13 of his markers in the last half in a role similar to overrunning Duke's last.

V. P. L. was played next and was annihilated by Duke, 45 to 15. The fact that the V. P. L. squad could get no more than four points apiece because of clever guarding by Herb Thompson and Phil Weaver, while Jim Thompson reached his high mark in scoring, with 17 points. Kunkle won second honors with 10 points, while Mack scored 9.

With wrestling occupying the home court the Blue Devils returned home to encounter Wake Forest at the Raleigh gymnasium, where they won handily 37 to 21.

SWIMMERS WIN THRILLING MEET WITH CAVALIERS

Victory in Medley Relay Gives Duke Win Over Defending Champions

DROP RICHMOND Y. M. C. A.

Coach Person's Men Get 35 to 31 in Close Meet on Friday Night

In a thrilling meet held in the University of Virginia's pool on Saturday afternoon, the Duke swimmers defeated the masters from the Old Dominion state with the score of 42-46. The winner of this close meet was not determined until the final event, the 400-yard relay, was completed.

Going into the final race, the Blue Devils were trailing the Cavaliers by several points. After the first lap of this event, the hopes for Duke's first swimming victory over the Cavaliers looked dark indeed, for Virginia's great back stroker, Daulton, gained a big lead over Stillman. Then in the most thrilling finish ever seen in the Virginia pool, Daulton and Krombach, swimming in championship style, closed up this distance and won the race with two yards to spare. During this event, the large crowd witnessing the event practically went wild with excitement.

Although winning the relay did the score, it also gave a victory to the Blue Devils, for, according to swimming regulations, in case of a final tie score, the team winning the relay also wins the meet. The Devilfish also won the 400-yard relay in the handy time of 4 minutes, 4 seconds.

The Blue Devils cagers have won fifteen of their eighteen games during the 1933-34 season, thus far, an average of .833.

Duke Forfeits Three Matches Losing Meet to State Boxers

Duke Earns Even Break on Matches Engaged But Lack of Heavyweights Gives Visitors Win; Oniko Holes Billisoly to Draw

Handicapped by the forfeiting of three matches, the Duke boxing team broke even with N. C. State in bouts engaged, but lost 5 to 3 in its final summary.

The meet, which took place here on Friday, was attended by a large crowd of fans, both local and State supporters. Duke was unable to enter men in the 155-pound, 165-pound, and unlimited classes, whereas N. C. State had to forfeit in the 145-pound division. In the latter, Charlie Garner of State, was unable to continue his rivalry with Captain Leroy Sides because of influenza.

However, the four matches that were fought provided plenty of action. Oniko Holes of Duke and Billisoly of the Wolfpack battled to a draw in the 110-pound class. The Duke boxer picked up some points in the first round but could not hold his lead for the second and third.

One of the best bouts of the evening from the viewpoint of action was that between Joe Seola, Duke's 125-pounder, and Alton Neal. Paying little attention to boxing tactics, both men engaged in a shugging bee with Seola coming out on top to get the decision. Slugging was also evident in the 135-pound match, but this time, the Blue Devils were not so fortunate. Leonard Packard of State managed to duck out more than he received from Rip Scott to gain the decision, although both with Seola coming in the final round. In the last match of the evening, Joe Jester, Duke's 175-pounder, and Jim Fletcher of State fought to a draw in a closely matched scrap.

BLUE IMPs DOWN DARLINGTON, 19-14

The Duke Blue Imps staged a fine rally in the closing minutes of the game here last Saturday afternoon to win over Darlington State of Route, 19 to 14.

The Imps were off to a flying start and had established a 9 to 3 lead at half-time. In face of this the Darlington boys put on a spur and checked the yearlings at 13-11 with five minutes to play. Field goals by Herb Cline and Karl Haskamp broke the tie and put the game on ice for the freshmen.

The Duke first team failed to give an acceptable account of themselves while they were on the four out consequently Coach Hirschel Caldwell sent his second string into the game.

The players played good ball and showed their ability to cope with the Georgian on even terms. The visitors did most of their scoring on long shots, as their short shots were off. They also presented a beautiful defense.

Haskamp was high scorer of the game with eight points. Miller, Darlington center, led the visitors with six markers.

WHITE PHANTOMS LEAD STATE FIVES INTO FINAL WEEK

Carolina Boasts Fine Record to Top State and Conference Races

DUKE IN SECOND PLACE

Devils Make Final Bid For Title Against Davidson and Tar Heels This Week

Three contests on the Big Five basketball state this week will bring to a close the court campaign and crown the 1934 champions of the state league. Carolina's decisive triumph over State last week placed the White Phantoms at the top of the loop.

Providing Duke and Carolina swing through their semi-final contests early this week, the closing battle of the season Friday night between the Tar Heels and the Blue Devils will determine the 1934 leaders.

Duke was favored to thrash Davidson's Wildcats, who have been without victory in their six league appearances, and Carolina last night was expected to slay another defeat on Davidson.

Carolina has won five games and one defeat, while the Blue Devils have recorded four victories and one defeat.

Far ahead in the southern conference pre-tournament race, the White Phantoms have one more contest on their state before ending their season. They will engage the South Carolina quietest week. The Gamecocks, on paper, are still pacing the loop having scored a triumph in their lone conference battle several weeks ago. But Carolina's great record of ten victories against one defeat places them in the favored position as league leaders.

Maryland's victory over Virginia kept the Old Line in third place slightly ahead of the Blue Devils who climbed into fourth place as a result of their successful three game invasion of the old Dominion. Washington and Lee's Generals retained their hold on sixth place behind the State quintet which slipped down into fifth position.

DUKE WRESTLERS DEFEAT DAVIDSON

Duke's grappling Devils defeated the wrestling team of Davidson college by a score of 10-1. The meet, held in the Duke gym Saturday night, was the first home tilt for the Blue Devils.

Captain Thornton Tressler, Duke 135-pounder, displayed some scientific wrestling when he pinned Griffith in four minutes and 15 seconds. This was one of the two feature matches of the evening. Bill Apple, Blue Devil 165-pounder, attempted several half-hold heaves and almost pinned his opponent but won by a seven-minute time advantage.

The 125-pound match between Killeen of Duke and Thompson of Davidson was interesting. It was a closely fought battle, but the Blue Devil grappler came through with a time advantage of one minute and 25 seconds.

Chandler of Duke, by a powerful armlock, gained a fall over Taylor in four minutes. The Wildcat's only fall was registered by Quartermen who pinned West in a little over five minutes of fighting. Blackwelder, representing Davidson in the unlimited class, showed Duke ability when he got an eight minutes time decision over McGriff.

League Leading Tar Heels Engage Duke Here Friday

Game Will Have Important Bearing on Conference and State Cage Standings

CLOSE GAME IN OFFING

First Game Won by Carolina But Home Floor Will Be to Duke's Advantage

With their chances for the Big Five title at stake Coach Eddie Cameron's Duke Blue Devils meet the conference leading White Phantoms of Carolina in a return game to be played in the Duke gym Friday night at 8:15 o'clock.

When the two teams met at Chapel Hill several weeks ago, the Tar Heels gave the Blue Devils their second defeat at the hands of a state opponent in two years. Although the game was close throughout, the Duke five seemed to be off form in their shooting and at a disadvantage by playing on the long floor of the Tilt Co.

Coach By Shephard's lads have been improving with every game and last Saturday limited State a 45 to 24 rebuke, the worst reverse suffered by the Red Terrors this season. Alken and Weather have been leading a fast offense which will prove difficult for the Blue Devils to stop.

Although the Duke team made an impressive record on its recent trip through Virginia, the showing made against Wake Forest at Raleigh last Saturday was rather ragged. Coach Cameron is dissatisfied with the local passing game and will seek improvement in this part of the offense.

The chances for a Duke victory will rest on Jim Thompson's shoulders. Thompson, who will play his last game against the Tar Heels, starred in the first game by getting 11 points. Jim McCachers will be out to step the spectacular shooting of the Duke star, but it is not probable the Tar Heel sophomore can hold "Jerry" down.

Phil Weaver and Herb Thompson will also go on the court for the last time against the Tar Heels in a regularly scheduled game. There is a possibility that the two teams may be paired in the conference tournament, however.

USED FOR WOMEN VOTERS

(Continued from page one) held in Washington. Representatives from the east campus were Miss Walker and Eleanor Tompkins. In the absence of Miss Tompkins, Augusta Walker gave the only report of the convention as one of wide scope and of noted speakers. She discussed a plan of interest to present sophomores if the plan goes into effect, those who are interested in politics and government will be given an opportunity to visit in Washington two months of their junior year.

Helen Wyatt, chairman of the Social Standards, asked the students to refrain from dancing in the main lobby after dinner. Miss Wyatt also requested the women not to dance in the Union nor to play bridge in the parlors on Sunday. President Walker asked the women to be more careful about smoking, elsewhere than in their own rooms, and to cooperate in keeping Monday night as a closed night. Closed night includes the restriction of going downtown and of meeting dates in the library.

SCRIBE VIEWS CURRENT OP

SEASON ON FRESHMAN THANK

(Continued from page one) will fold up after this is all over. Think of the chaos! If John finds out that they didn't get as so, or even after laughing with him in the Ark, he will begin to wonder if Mary has not lost that old spark, that verve, that zest! And the next thing you know, John will walk out on Mary, because he will not deem it up to his dignity to stick with a girl who cannot even influence a supposed green young man with hair charrs. He has hasten to explain that this year's freshman, in a majority of cases, know more of the score than the old-timers.

On the other hand, think for a moment how green young man with hair charrs. He has hasten to explain that this year's freshman, in a majority of cases, know more of the score than the old-timers.

I feel sorry in a measure for the ruckers. Out of a clear, blue sky they have become deluged, very verily inundated by a flood of superlatives, who up to the eventful day of rushing had to ignore the young men. What a feeling it is to be slugged on the back, insulted, placed, and offered the fat of the land by total strangers, comparatively speaking! I can hardly blame the boys for being careful of Greeks bearing gifts, and I'm not punning.

Straining at the leash for the whole first semester, the fraternities have done hesitative promptly in making plans for this period. Dances, open houses, luncheons, dinners, and even breakfasts have become features of the average day of the rushed fresh. I hear, and I don't believe it, that some of the boys are even waking the new-found objects of their affection up in the morning, taking her in the heat, closing the windows, and if we had them, drawing their bath.

That's the situation! Guys who would not seductively move two inches out of their way to do someone a favor have suddenly become paragons. I think, however, that it will all work out for the best. The fresh are smart enough to look beneath the surface, to plumb the depths and to find the characters of the boys who are rushing. Ladies are conspicuously absent; everything is hot-hot-hot. Mud is flying thick and fast, and the fraternity brothers who was in before you got there, and whom you wouldn't let your sister date, has suddenly become the greatest guy in the world. See you next week when everything is normal once more. Overall!

ANDERSON SPEAKS TO ASSEMBLY ON LANIER

Dr. Charles Anderson, of the English department, spoke before the Woman's college assembly Thursday, February 15, on the life of Sidney Lanier. Mrs. Connor, of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, introduced the speaker as relative of the well-known southern poet.

By some critics Lanier is regarded as a poet of inferior rank, while others place him next to Poe as the most significant poet of the South. In the short lecture Dr. Anderson presented a picture of this young man, sensitive, and talented. Lanier was born February 8, 1842, at Macon, Georgia. On January 3, 1887, he entered Oglethorpe university where, in his senior year, he came under the influence of Dr. James Woodrow, who quickened his intellectual curiosity.

Lanier left school to enter the Civil War to which he was at first very much opposed. He described these days later in his autobiographical novel, "Tiger Lilies." After the war, Lanier, broken in health and spirit, returned home. Dissatisfied by his parents from the study of music and forced to give up his plans for continuing German at Heidelberg, Lanier first went into his father's law business and then turned all of his attention to writing.

In 1869 he delivered the commencement address before a southern college for young women, and spoke on the evils of woman suffrage. Lanier also voiced on several occasions definite ideas on the economic reconstruction of the South.

SENTIMENTALITY TO RULE AS VALENTINE'S DAY APPROACHES

(Continued from page one) sentimental folk of this generation go to extremes. Either they are entirely sincere, or disgustingly sweet. Can it be that we are 98 per cent temper and 2 per cent mental? Far be it from me to try to answer that momentous query.

I should not mind seriously if the question of Valentine's were considered in much the same light as the question of Christmas spirit. As I have said before, not that it makes much difference, we are too prone to tack the Valentine spirit away for use another day.

At the stroke of twelve o'clock midnight on New Year's Day, we all take up once more the cudgel and the knife, and we go about once more cutting throats, figuratively of course, and beating heads.

in, also figuratively of course. That is the way it is with Christmas spirit. The Valentine spirit is different.

All through the year, guys like Cantor send out this sickeningly sweet manner, or disgustingly sweet. Can it be that we are 98 per cent temper and 2 per cent mental? Far be it from me to try to answer that momentous query.
